Mr. President, I also note with interest that the distinguished Majority Leader in the House, Mr. Albert Readinger, made the observation last week that if the Senate did not accept the reorganization bill as it was written, that they were prepared to submit specific plans to accomplish the same result. Perhaps Mr. Readinger talked out of turn. His remarks can only be construed to mean that concealed somewhere, either in the files or in the minds of the Democratic leadership, are specific plans for the accomplishment of the reorganization of the administrative branch of our government. If this be true, and I assume it must be or Mr. Readinger would not have stated so, I call upon the Democratic leadership to produce, in the form of specifically written acts, their plan for reorganization and allow the Legislature of this Commonwealth to consider those plans in an orderly and constitutional manner. Certainly, the citizens of this Commonwealth, and the Legislature, in particular, are entitled to no less. I am sure they will accept no less. We are not yet ready to surrender to the gentleman from York County those rights and duties which the Constitution has placed in the legislative branch of this government. If they have a plan we should have it. If they do not have a plan ready then they should say so frankly and sincerely. They should admit that the entire reorgization plan is only a scheme to distract the people of Pennsylvania from realizing that they have no legislative plan and no tax plan whatsoever.

Mr. President, we are further amazed when we hear them openly admit to the press of this Commonwealth that the Reorganization Bill if adopted would not permit them to abolish one single department. Wherein, then, do they propose to achieve the economy about which they boast so much, and about which they will do so little? The quilt will be the same; all they propose to do is to rearrange the patches. Perhaps it might better be said that they will be in the same position as the Dutch housewife who asked her neighbor how she could make a blanket that had shrunk, in washing, a little longer. She was told, "Ach, that is easy, just cut a piece off the bottom and sew it onto the top."

While I still have the floor, Mr. President, I am going to speak about a controversial bill that was given to my committee, namely, Senate Bill No. 89. Senate Bill No. 89 has been referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare and as Chairman of that Committee, I am anxious that the Senate know all the present circumstances. Because of the unusual presentation, on the part of my distinguished colleague from Cambria County, the interest in this bill has been widespread, and I have been contacted inferentially in the press as well as directly by interested citizens and my colleagues in the Senate.

Mr. President, it is the intention of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare to give this bill very careful study and I, personally, shall go into every aspect of it, because my interest in this problem is the same interest of all the other Senators—because if this thing is really good, it is our responsibility to see that the citizens of the Commonwealth are aware of it and if it is bad, it is equally our responsibility to inform the public of this fact.

Mr. President, there is a great deal of reading and research work to be done by our committee before this bill can be acted upon, and it is my expectation to have a detailed statement to make in a few days. In the meantime, however, I would like to read into the record some of the information which I have encountered that seems to be out of harmony with the statements made by the sponsor of the bill. Two points, in particular, should be kept in mind concerning these statements. The one is the allegation that no investigation had been made of the Hoxsey Clinic, and the other that there was no willingness on the part of a responsible person or agency to make a current investigation.

Mr. President, I am offering for the record a report from the Federal Security Agency, Food and Drug Administration, Division of Medicine, "Report on Background of Harry M. Hoxsey and Hoxsey Cancer Clinic," dated August 1952. This report by the Federal Security Agency was very carefully done and although I shall not read it in its entirety, I should like to call attention to a portion of it.

"The trial was based on the grounds that pamphlets and booklets used by Hoxsey constituted labeling which was false and misleading and misbranded the drugs when shipped in interstate commerce. These booklets contained testimonials from many allegedly cured patients. An extensive investigation was carried out involving more than 100 Hoxsey patients. At the trial much evidence was presented on results of experiments showing the ineffectiveness of the Hoxsey drugs, and the testimony of many medical experts was offered. Specialists who testified for the government included:

"Dr. G. B. Mider, now Research Director of the National Cancer Institute; Dr. R. L. Clarke, Director of the M. D. Anderson Hospital, Houston; Dr. David I. Macht, Sinai Hospital, Baltimore; Dr. M. A. Goldzieher, New York; and Dr. W. S. Murray, Jackson Memorial Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Maine.

"In addition to the foregoing, more than fifty physicians from throughout the country gave of their time to testify for the government. Many months of intensive work was required to prepare the case for trial. One Food and Drug inspector drove more than 17,000 miles to interview Hoxsey patients and physicians who had treated them at one time or another.

"The government presented scientific evidence that Hoxsey's claimed 'cures' fell into three categories: They included patients who had never had cancer and were treated for it at the Hoxsey Clinic; patients who had been cured of cancer before they went to the clinic and were treated for cancer; and patients who had cancer and still have it or who died under the Hoxsey treatment. In this connection, the government presented the physicians who attended these patients and the hospital records connected with them, and pathologists who examined the tissue to make the diagnosis of cancer."

A letter directed to the sponsor of this bill by the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Division of the American Cancer Society, dated June 1954, which I am also offering for the record, reads in part, Mr. President:

"June 22, 1954

"Senator John J. Haluska
"Patton, Pennsylvania

"Dear Senator Haluska:

"I have been informed that you were under the impression that the American Cancer Society does not engage in cancer research. While the Society itself does not undertake cancer research, it allocates twenty-five per cent of its funds to various hopsitals, universities, institutes and laboratories throughout the country in support of cancer research work under the advice and guidance of the Committee on Growth of the National Research Council. Enclosed you will find a separate report on the allocations of funds of the American Cancer Society since 1945 to cancer research, and a statement of the research activities in Pennsylvania being supported by funds from the American Cancer Society.

"The complete program of the American Cancer Society is three-fold. It embraces RESEARCH—to find the cause or cure of the disease; EDUCATION—to inform the people how they can best protect themselves against cancer; and SERVICE—to aid cancer patients and to provide the general public with the best possible facilities for detection, diagnosis and treatment.

"The Service Program of the Pennsylvania Division, Inc., particularly services to cancer patients, is so extensive that I am enclosing a separate bulletin on this subject for your information.

"I thought you would also appreciate a copy of the 1953 Annual Report which outlines in greater detail the scope of the program of cancer control of the American Cancer Society.

"I should like to learn from you whether or not Harry M. Hoxsey is interested in submitting the records of ten proven internal cancer cases who received no other treatment except at the Hoxsey Clinic covering a period of not less than five years which Dr. Charles S. Cameron offered to review as evidence to justify the kind of investigation at the clinic in which you are interested.

"I shall be pleased to hear from you and will be glad to submit any additional information that you may wish about the program of the American Cancer Society.

"Sincerely,

"L. F. Gerber
"Executive Director"

Mr. President, Mr. Gerber told me, as late as last night, that he has not heard from Senator Haluska or Mr. Hoxsey.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the gentleman has just baked a chocolate cake and then covered it with vanilla icing. I am in the position now of trying to dig out the cake first and then talk about the icing later. Mr. President, he started off condemning the Democratic Administration because of its position on reorganization and ends up down in Dallas, Texas, giving us a cure for cancer.

I am not going to go into the Hoxsey proposition, Mr. President, and I think that you and the Members of this Senate know that I am not expert in that line. I do believe, though, that last week I warned this Senate as to what would happen unless we took cognizance of the fact that that was a problem and it would become more and more irritable as the weeks go by. I suggested at that time that the Senate ought to do something about it. I still believe, Mr. President, that before we are through, we, as a group of men representing the people of Pennsylvania, will have to come up with some answers concerning the Hoxsey Clinic and its position in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

However, Mr. President, I am more concerned with the attack made on the reorganization bill as presented, House Bill No. 1. Mr. President, the reading of that statement was a little more thorough than the preparation of it, because of the person who prepared it would have looked at the resolution calling for an investigation of the Boxing Commission, he would have noted that it said that the report was to be made anytime up to the elapse of one year's time. It did not specify that the investigation had to be carried on for a year. It might be cleared up in ten days or two weeks or a month, or, if necessary, twelve months. It set, as most resolutions of investigations do, an outside limit as to the amount of time that might be consumed in the activities which the resolution prescribed.

Mr. President, to compare the investigation of the Boxing Commission with the plans of reorganization as are intended by this Administration and its Governor, is a ridiculous situation.

First of all, Mr. President, the resolution was presented by Members of the Senate. The Administration is not responsible for the actions of any Members of this Senate who intend to put in bills or resolutions, and, therefore, a comparison cannot be made of actions of individual Members of the Senate with actions of the Administration policy.

As you well know, Senator Pechan, the question of a thirty day limit is not new. The Federal Government has operated under its reorganization plan called "The Hoover Plan," by popular name, for many years, and it has been enacted and re-enacted every two years. The very specifics that are contained in that legislation governing the reorganization of Federal bureaus and commissions and departments are the same as those contained in this particular bill, House No. 1.

Further, Mr. President, there has been a companion bill introduced, which was intended all along. But, as I explained last week, first you must have the reorganization plan as law and then you come along and introduce legislation to create the commission to put the law into effect. On that commission, Mr. President, there will be eight members named by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Snate, and four named by the Governor. To say that this Senate is going to require more than thirty days to look at legislation is to not know anything about the records of this Senate. If we were to take thirty days to look at every major piece of legislation that comes before us, you would not need to worry about Annual Sessions; you would be in eternal sessions.

Mr. President, I have witnessed in this Senate, under the last four Republican Governors, in the passage of legislation affecting the health, welfare, and the very life of members of the State of Pennsylvania's great citizenry where the Senate would come in in the morning, call a five minute recess, and the bill would come out and be read for the first time and laid on the Governor's desk three days later after it had come over from the House.

Mr. President, I have talked delay in this Senate and I have preached and prayed for a one day delay to study important legislation dealing with the health and welfare of the peoples of this Commonwealth, and have been laughed at by the Majority when I said that we needed at least one day to study it.

Mr. President, the reorganization plan that will be presented to this Senate will specifically spell out in detail any reorganization that the Administration, with this commission, has in mind. I assure the gentleman from Armstrong County that there is no plan of reorganization that will not be clearly understood by any Member of this Senate within forty-eight hours after it appears in print. I would hate to think that there were any Members of this Senate who could not grasp a plan of reorganization in a period of time extending to thirty days. Why, the whole world was made in six, and the Lord said they would rest on the seventh. If a world can be made in six days, we can certainly change one commission's activities and integrate it with another one in thirty days.

The report of the Governor, Mr. President, is not ready. I do not believe that the Governor ever specifically said that he had a reorganization plan ready. He said that it behooved the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to take the time to study the necessity of reorganizing certain of the State's functions.

Mr. President, we have not reorganized government in this State in many, many years. You talk about not having the fiscal program ready for the General Assembly. We have been in Session less than one month and in that period of time, considering the fact that we have $357,000,000 which is required to meet the necessary cost of government in this biennium over and above the funds that are now available, you certainly would not expect Governor Leader, or anybody else, to come into this Senate in one month's time, with all of the facts at their disposal, and tell this Senate the type of legislation that will be needed to raise revenue. We are still trying to find out the true fiscal position of this Commonwealth. We have asked you to give us temporary taxes which will bring in approximately $400,000,000 and coupled with the permanent taxes of the Commonwealth, we will have approximately $835,000,000 to $860,000,000, in order that we have cash in the till box so that we can take time to do the job right.

Mr. President, for twenty years in this Senate, every time we come to the fiscal program it is rush, rush, rush, hurry, hurry, hurry. We have to pay bills. If we do not get the tax bills through, we become delinquent and so we are pushed into the position where we have to pass legislation that, in many instances, we, as Members of this Senate, know to be unsound.

Mr. President, I think that the Governor's plan for reorganization, with the Members of the General Assembly sitting in on the reorganization plans, is a very sound proposition. I believe that the Governor's proposal to pass the so-called taxes, which are now upon the statute books and need to be re-enacted in order to give us a cash groundwork from which to make appropriations necessary to carry on the functions of government while we are working out the details of our fiscal plan, is sound government. You cannot just stand idly by and try to milk political capital out of the fact that in less than one month we have not solved all of the problems of this great Commonwealth of ours. There will be many problems to solve after we are through, but I assure you that an honest effort will be made to solve the problems as we see them.

Mr. President, we are going to ask, and we have asked time and time again, for your cooperation and patience in the matter. There isn't anything wrong. You have had the bill for the passage of these temporary taxes and you have not taken any action. If you are interested in finding out what the fiscal program is, give us some base upon which to work. How do we know how much money we need until we know how much money we have to start with? How do we know what the intention of the General Assembly is in the matter of passage of legislation affecting the revenues of the Commonwealth unless you pass those bills which are now in your committees? You give us some footwork to start from and we will run a good course. All we ask of you at this time is that you give us the amount of money that will be basically raised by the taxes which we now have on the statute books and those to be re-enacted, and then from there we shall start to determine how much more money we will have to take from the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I have on my desk, if you care to hear it, a detailed report of the necessary funds that Governor Fine said would be required. We have had, since the 18th of January, under the Governor's auspices, a group of experts trying to determine the present fiscal status of the Commonwealth. How much money do we now have in the till? How much money has been earmarked for expenditures by law? How much money is required to round out this biennium's expenses? How much money will be required because of legislation passed in previous administrations which called for appropriations in this administration which Governor Leader had nothing to do with? How much money is going to be needed to add to the services of the Departments of Health and Welfare? How much more money is going to be required to carry the bonded indebtedness of this Commonwealth, through its General State and School and Highway and Bridge Authorities? We do not know the answers to these questions, and you do not know the answers to them, because if you do know now, it is more than you knew any time in any other biennium because time after time, when the fiscal program was on this floor, I asked those questions and never received an answer, and when we finally voted we still did not know the answer. We only had at our disposal the Governor's Budget Message and the Budget Secretary's estimates. I need not recall, for your benefit, the difference between his estimates and collections over th past twenty years. We are not trying to pull that kind of a legislative maneuver this time. When we say that we will need X number of dollars and that a certain tax will raise X number of dollars, we will be giving you the nearest thing to accuracy that will be humanly possible to figure.

Therefore, Mr. President, I want to say to the Members of the Republican Party on the other side, you complain about the newspapers saying that you are acting as obstructionists. You have not taken action on the temporary tax bill, and you have not taken action on the reorganization bill. I do not say that you are obstructionists, I have never called you that, but you say that the newspapers call you that. Do you think that this type of a speech just made now is going to be heralded as a great legislative maneuver? Do you think that you are adding anything to the dignity of the Senate by comparing the Governor's reorganization bill to an investigation on boxing? Do you think by saying that we Democrats asume it takes a year to investigate boxing is detrimental to our party? A gentleman Member of this Senate presented a resolution to investigate boxing. I have introduced resolutions for twenty years and so have all of you, and I have never, as yet, had them taken so seriously that they were compared with the Governor's actions on any of his administrative desires.

Mr. President, I would suggest to the Members of the Senate that we wait until we have passed the reorganization bill, wait until the plans of reorganization are presented to the Senate. I am sure that if any Member of this Senate is willing to stand upon the floor of this Senate, after thirty days' study of the said plan appearing on the calendar, and openly confess and say that he does not understand what is in that plan of reorganization, he will get a vote of sympathy from the other Members of this Senate. If he cannot understand it in thirty days, he will not understand it in thirty years.

Mr. President, at this time I yield to the only man who can answer the Hoxsey question.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I want to make a direct answer to my colleague from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

Mr. President, before I do that, I want to go back momentarily and talk about last Monday, when I gave the people of this chamber and the people of Pennsylvania a story that came from the tip of my heart, and the reaction of the newspapers to my story. Mr. President, most of the papers tried to give their story to the public as it appeared. I want to thank them for their coverage. I think the news services, the Philadelphia papers, and the Sun-Telegraph in Pittsburgh did a commendable job. However, I am not proud of the reporters who reported for the Pittsburgh Press and the Pittsburgh Post Gazette when they came out and talked about my diamonds and my tie pin flashing throughout the Senate Chamber. That has nothing to do with cancer. The Pittsburgh Press wrote about the gypsy medicine show.

Mr. President, I hope these gentlemen do not learn the hard way. There is no malice in my heart toward them. I hope their loved ones are not stricken as mine have been stricken. They might play a different tune if that should come back home to them. If I were to make a living by being a "stoolie," putty in the hands of the A.M.A. and write such stories, I would go back to the lowest job on earth. If I had to stoop that low to make a living, it would be a sad day in my life to write such miserable stories and make mockery of suffering humanity. What knowledge do they have of cancer? They were invited by me personally to go to Texas, and at least see something and come back and tell their stories about what they saw, at my expense. They did not have the courage to do it, but it is fine to sit back of a desk here and try to mislead the American public when people are dying by the millions.

Mr. President, I want to say to my friend from Armstrong County, Senator Pechan, and to every doctor in this Nation, that the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic has never been investigated, and I shall give my good friend from Armstrong County my personal check for $10,000 today if he or any doctor can prove that the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic has ever been investigated by the American Cancer Society, the Damon Runyon Fund, the American Medical Association or the United States Government.

True, Mr. President, there were a number of court trials; he spoke of one. There were thirty-eight in the last thirty-four years. Thirty-eight times Hoxsey has been taken to court and each time they tried to prove that he was advertising his medication in a way that did not meet Interstate Commerce Laws. The case about which Senator Pechan talks is one of them. The United States Government did say, "You cannot ship your medication under your present advertising," and they found him guilty. So, he changed it and he is now shipping every day. Just go to your local post office and see.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Armstrong said that they want ten cases, pathologically proven, of Hoxsey's cure. Permit me to read parts of a letter written to Mr. Henry R. Luce, Editor-in-Chief, Time Magazine, 9 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, by Doctor Hoxsey. In part, he said to them:

"You didn't consider it news in 1949 when the 44th District Court in Dallas awarded me a verdict in a libel and slander suit against the Heart newspapers. You didn't consider it news in 1951 when U. S. District Judge William H. Atwell, dismissing a suit brought against me by the United States Food and Drug Administration, ruled:

" 'That the respondent's treatment is not injurious. Some it cures and some it does not cure, and some it relieves somewhat. That the respondents do not guarantee to cure.'

"You didn't consider it news in 1952 when Judge W. L. Thornton and a jury rendered a judgment that I was slandered and libeled by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association. And you didn't consider it news" when ten M.D.'s last April, for the first time on their own, investigated the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic and approved his therapies. I put a copy of that approval on your desk.

The gentleman from Armstrong said ten cases. Well, we have more than ten and we have more than a hundred. We have more than a thousand and we have more than ten thousand people who were told they had to die by the American Medical Association; people who had surgery performed upon them, deep therapy, radium, cobalt, and then told they had to die. Thank God, they are living today, thousands upon thousands of them.

The National Cancer Institute of Washington, D. C., finally picked up some courage and said, "Send us ten cases. We will check these cases and we will write to their doctors, with your permission, for a complete investigation and then we shall see what the reports are from the doctors in the hospital."

In the same letter to Time Magazine, Dr. Hoxsey writes:

"June 15, 1950 seventy-seven cases of pathologically proven cases of over five years' standing were presented to the National Cancer Institute, Washington, D. C., a government agency sponsored by the taxpayers' money.

"They promised to make a thorough investigation of all the hospitals and doctors who did the biopsies on these cases, which would be the only way they could possibly be verified."

Now, Mr. President, get this. "Under oath in the Federal Court before Judge William H. Atwell here in Dallas, Texas, Dr. Gilcin Meadors testified that he nor any member of the staff of the National Cancer Institute wrote to the doctors to verify these reports."

Mr. President, under oath he said that he did not write one letter after seventy-seven pathologically proven cases were placed before them, with biopsies having been taken by outstanding American institutions. This is from a Federal Court record, and anybody can check it.

Now, Mr. President, I had no intention to rise in place today to talk about cancer. Believe me, if you made mud cakes and dressed them up with all the chocolate you wished, and put on all the candles you wished, they are still mud cakes. Whatever the doctors may say, they know down within their bosom that they lack the courage to go down to Texas and investigate the Hoxsey method because they fear the truth.

Mr. President, we are now coming to a climax in this great battle, thank God, because Time Magazine finally answered Doctor Hoxsey and last December 22, 1954, they asked whether he would come into New York City and meet with the heads of the Sloan-Kettering Foundation, a foundation for which I have the highest respect. Down in my heart, I believe sincerely that they are endeavoring to find an answer. Doctor David Karnofsky, M. D.—"Mr. Sloan-Kettering'" himself—met in the Belmont Plaza Hotel with two representatives of Time Magazine and Doctor Hoxsey for four hours.

This good doctor said, "Doctor Hoxsey, we as scientific men know that melanoma, or black cancer, is a deadly killer. There is not one case on earth that has ever been cured of black cancer. You prove to us that you can cure cancer patients. If you give us one case, only one, an absolute bona fide case of black cancer that you have cured, I, myself, will write a letter and place it in the American Medical Journal."

Mr. President, I have copies here of fifteen pathologically proven black cancer cases, dating back to 1930—that is twenty-five years ago. I shall only give you one. Why bother you with all of these? I have all the hospital reports here, all the slide numbers, all the serial numbers of the X-rays and permit me to place in the record only one. These cases now are in the hands of the Sloan-Kettering Foundation, where they said they had no record of one case ever being cured. This case was cured.

The pathologist was Mayo Brothers, and the pathology was cancer of the lung. This was the case of Mr. Frank R. Anderson—you can check it; I do not give names in circles—4921 West 23rd Place, Chicago 50, Illinois.

"Patient came to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic in May of 1930 with a cancer of the lung.

"Mr. Anderson advised us that he had been to Mayo Brothers at Rochester, Minnesota and that he was examined by the entire staff, underwent surgery, had one rib completely removed and after the surgen saw his condition, sewed him back up and advised patient and his wife that he was in a hopeless condition and it would be impossible to remove the cancerous tumor from the right lung because the entire right lung was involved.

"Mr. Anderson was placed on the Hoxsey internal treatment and in twelve weeks' time was able to return to his work on the railroad and in twenty-four weeks was discharged.

"We have kept in touch with Mr. Anderson since that time and the attached copy of letter dated April 5, 1954 reveals he is still alive. We are also attaching photostatic copies of letters written by Dr. H. G. Wood of Mayo Clinic to Dr. E. M. Hewish of Philadelphia, also one from Dr. H. J. Moersch to Dr. John H. Lyons at Washington. We are also attaching a copy of a letter in answer to a direct inquiry to patient, original of which is in our files."

Mr. President, this man had black cancer, or melanoma, of the lung in 1930, and the last report I received was on April 5, 1954 and he was enjoying normal health.

Mr. President, my good friend, Doctor Chapman, and he is a good friend of mine, last week introduced into the record remarks to the effect that some people who were cured by the Hoxsey treatment never had cancer. Mr. President, if Mayo Brothers say they had cancer, are they quacks? Are Johns Hopkins, who diagnosed it as a cancerous case, quacks?

What about the Gotham Hospital, Terrell Laboratories and so on down the line? Surely, we must put our faith in somebody. If these people are quacks, God bless America. What is happening to us?

Sloan-Kettering has fifteen bona fide cases of black cancer where the people have lived as high as twenty-five years, and then to have a doctor say, "They never had cancer."

Mr. President, I do not care whether we investigate the Hoxsey Clinic or not. Hoxsey's patients are living testimony. They are walking the streets. That is what counts, but thousands of others are pushing up daisies, unfortunately.

Mr. President, I would like to make one final proposition and when I make these propositions, they are made with the authority of Doctor Hoxsey. To settle the issue, once and for all, to convince the people of America how sincere this man is, and to convince my colleagues, the doctors and the cancer drives, I will make this proposition and let the newspapers tear this apart. Doctor Hoxsey asked me, gentlemen—and please follow me closely—to ask the American Medical Association or the American Concer Society, or the Damon Runyon Fund, individually or collectively, to bring to any hospital in Pennsylvania ten, twenty, thirty, forty or fifty cases that they say have cancer; not Hoxsey but people who they say must die and who they cannot cure; half of them to be internal cancers and half to be external cancers. Place the fifty names in a hat; Hoxsey would draw twenty-five, and the A. M. A. would draw twenty-five. Then place these persons in a hospital and Hoxsey will administer his treatment without any cost, and let the results be the answer to the American people.

What could be more fair, Mr. President? Ten, twenty, or fifty cases; they take half and Hoxsey will take half, with no charge. Give these people a chance to live and the results, then, should be the final investigation. See how many that Hoxsey treats are living and how many are living that have been treated by the modern, so-called approved therapy. Nothing else I can say will help, even if I talked for years.

Mr. President, I hope that the American Medical Association will take that challenge. I do not care for opinions. The American people are not interested in opinions, such as someone saying in a court room that in my opinon it is cough syrup. I do not care if it is butterfly juice. If it saves my life, that is what I want. We want no opinions. The American people are wise. Do not think, gentlemen, that we will sit here idly and prosecute people who may go to work for the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic on March 7, in Portage, Pennsylvania. That clinic will throw open its doors, and I am being told now that they will get an injunction against me and put me in jail, because I will be the administrator. Mr. President, if that will save one life, I am willing to go to jail. You will find a revolution in America; no longer are the people going to sit by.

I received eighteen letters this morning from Armstrong County—let my colleagues read those letters—from ministers and lay people, people who have been down to Hoxsey's. You cannot brush it off, you cannot laugh it off and you cannot talk about diamond rings; we are talking about cancer. People are dying a miserable death every day. God gave me the courage, that is all I have I am no medicine man, I am no cancer expert, I am not a surgeon or a doctor. Only through the courage of God above me do I continue this perilous fight for suffering humanity. I have nothing to gain. I am probably serving my last term in this Senate, because they have already served notice that they will spend a fortune to defeat me next year if I should run. I am willing to be defeated, but I shall never go backwards. I am thoroughly convinced, as I have my Maker to meet, that the Hoxsey method of treating cancer is the most advanced method in this entire world.

Mr. President, as I said last Monday night, I have been down at the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic in Dallas, where I saw planes pulling in from Brazil, from Germany and from Italy. Go down there and see. You cannot get near the place. Why do they come there if he is a quack? That is why I have asked the man to do me one personal favor.

The people in this part of the Country do not have the money to go to Texas. It cost $3,000 or better for a round-trip. Because of my sincerity, Dr. Hoxsey said, "Senator, I have no intention of expanding. I have been in court enough, but I will do this. I will take the blame for this clinic. There is nothing I want, no gratuities, no sympathy; only a fair break. If the newspapers will not give me a fair break and say this is what we found after we came back"—the papers should not prejudge it, approve or disapprove, no more than you men should. At least have the courage of your convictions, and at least go down and see. Since normally intelligent doctors will not go down, let us go down and see these reports and see these people. Dr. Hoxsey has agreed to bring people there from all parts of the Country, when and if we do go to Texas. We can then talk to people from all parts of the Nation who are living, we can see the reports, we can call these laboratories, and then come back and say that we have found enough reason for an investigation.

If you do not want to do that, let us do the other. Let us pass a resolution to investigate the American Medical Association to determine whether everybody is qualified to give deep therapy treatments. Why, that great pathologist in the Sloan-Kettering Foundation, Dr. Rhoads, who I think is the most renown pathologist in this Country, told me in plain words that he thought there were only six men in this Country who were qualified to administer deep therapy treatments. Those are his words, the words of the most renown pathologist in the Country who said that they are burning all the tissues by not knowing how to handle it. Yet, you will find in every hospital in the State ordinary doctors applying that treatment.

Mr. President, that is our job now; not Hoxsey. His case has been proven as far as the public is concerned. Let us investigate your doctors who are applying therapy without any knowledge of the complications and results.

Mr. President, I will not talk any more about Hoxsey unless someone challenges me. I am ready without any preparation to discuss it. I made my proposition. If there is any good American blood running through your veins, you will accept my proposition, and that is, have the people, whom doctors place in the hospitals, people who have to die from cancer, that they say have to die, divided. Let Hoxsey take half of them, they take half of them and let those results be the final answer, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I do not want to delve into this medical roblem. However, I listened with more than my usual interest to the prepared address of our distinguished colleague from Armstrong County, Dr. Pechan.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that the thinking of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania is based upon the lines that they won this past election. It seems to me, Mr. President, that they have taken that position and they have voted the committees. We are actually stymied here in the Senate, not on the part of the Democrats, but on the part of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania and, namely, those who are Members of this Senate.

Their thinking, Mr. President, in regard to this past election reminds me of a story that I heard a long, long time ago, and I hope you fellows on the other side get the moral of this story. It goes something like this.

A school teacher had been lecturing her pupils on the evils of the use of intoxicating liquors, and so one morning as she was walking down the street she decided to put on a demonstration. After she entered the schoolroom she said, "Boys and girls, I want you all to move up front and closely observe what I am about to do." She said, "I have before me two glasses, one contains water and the other contains whisky." She said, "In my hand, I have a worm. Watch what happens." So, she dropped the worm into the glass of water. That worm swam around quite lustily. She took it from the glass of water, and she dropped it into that glass of bourbon whisky. When the worm hit the whisky, he made a few wiggles and he dropped to the bottom of the glass, dead. She said, "Boys and girls, what have I demonstrated to you here today?" No one said a word. She said, "Come, come, at least one of you has some power of comprehension. What have I demonstrated here this morning?" One little boy in the back got up and he said, "Teacher, you have demonstrated to me that people that drink whisky will not have worms."

So it seems, Mr. President, that the Republicans here in the Senate feel that they won this last election, and Dr. Pechan, it appears, is the kickoff man.

Mr. President, we are getting these arguments started rather prematurely, too, because most generally it is in the fourth or fifth month when Members take the floor and point with pride and view with alarm. However, we have only been in one month and it has started already. Therefore, we must be prepared. If we are going to have debate every day on, I would say, problems which are not material as yet, and it seems that the Majority feels that way, then we will have to take them on, too.

Mr. President, I say to the Republican Party here in the Senate, and I respect each and everyone of them and all of them I feel are personal friends of mine, what you should do is take a lesson in political science and realize that it is the mandate of the people. Incidentally, I have heard that many, many times for sixteen long years—it is the mandate of the people that we run this State. I have heard that from the other side time and time again. Therefore, I would say that you should respect our position and go to work and report some of the bills out, because you have the power. We do not have the votes in committee; you have made sure of that and you have the power to report these bills out. If we have any trouble with reorganization, let us bring it out on the floor and debate it. After all, neither side has twenty-six votes. Therefore, it would be even-steven. Why sit back and prepare these long speeches and give us the needle, if you please, and at the same time hold up the legislation?

I, for one, Mr. President, am willing to work. I would like to get out of here before the snow flies again in December, and I hope that most of you feel the same way. Instead of burning your night oil on making and preparing these prepared speeches, I think it would be a good thing for you to get together with your policy committee, to decide upon what bills you are going to report out and report out the controversial bills. You have the power to beat them, and you have the power to recommit them. So, let us debate them on the floor and go to work, and I think the people of Pennsylvania will respect all of us more.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, there are so many layers on this valentine cake that I do not know which one to bite into. I am going to overlook the layers called cancer, boxing commission, and reorganization and just look a little bit at the layer called the plea of Senator Dent to vote for these temporary taxes.

I would like to ask Senator Dent, if he will, Mr. President, come in tomorrow or the next day and tell us how the Administration could raise any money by the enactment right now of these taxes. Take, for instance, the Real Estate Transfer Tax. That tax is on the books now. We pay one per cent of the consideration on a real estate transaction to the State, and we call it the State Realty Transfer Tax. That tax will not expire for some months yet. If we again pass the tax now, and that is part of this package, it would only go into effect from the time the present State Realty Transfer Tax expires and be in effect for another two years. Therefore, that tax certainly would not bring in any immediate money, and I do not believe that any of the others will. I understand that there is only one which we might possible lose a little money on if we do not immediately enact, and that is the postponement of the manufacturer's exemption. The only way we might lose a little money there by not enacting it immediately would be through any of the manufacturers moving out of the State between January 1 of this year and when we enact the tax. They might possibly escape paying it in this way.

Mr. President, if you want any money to spend in this current biennium, and you are down to the bottom of the barrel and you do not know where you are going to get the next nickel, the only way that I can see is to pass some new tax. I am not going to pick out one because I think that is up to the Administration. If they want us to consider a new tax they should, at least, initiate it. If we put a tax on some new commodity or some new thing, that might possibly bring in some new money right now, but the passing of these temporary taxes certainly will not do us any good.

Mr. President, we cannot be down there too far in the bottom of the barrel because the Senator has at least figured to get $5,000, I think it is, for some of us to take a trip to Dallas. As I said, I am not going to bite into that layer. I am just going to leave that right where it is. We evidently have some money in the till, but we do not know. That is what we would like to know.

However, Mr. President, before we can act on any of these temporary taxes, we certainly should see the budget and get some ideas on what new additional taxes might be considered. Perhaps some of these temporary taxes which we have been re-enacting year after year will not be needed if they have some bright ideas on some new type of painless tax that they might introduce and pass. Therefore, I still think that unless they can show us some pretty good reason, which they have not done up to the present time, why we should act on any of these taxes, our position is going to remain the same as far as all of them are concerned with the exception, possibly, of the gasoline and liquid fuels tax.

That is going to be our position, Mr. President, and I do not think we are going to get away from it. The fact of the matter is, I think that we can say to Governor Leader that we are going to go a little further than he did. In both the 1951 and 1953 Sessions of the Legislature, when Governor Leader was a Senator in this Chamber, I think the Journal will show that in both of those Sessions, when the State Realty Transfer Tax was before us for a vote, he did not vote for it. I think when it was brought up to a vote in the 1953 Session, we had a midnight Session here and the tax was going to shortly expire and that was the reason that we had to have such a hurry-up vote on the tax. We voted at midnight, as I remember. Even at that late date, Senator Leader voted "no" on that tax. Now here it is, the early part of February, and he wants us to vote "yes" on a tax that he voted "no" on.

I think, Mr. President, until Senator Dent, or Governor Leader or somebody speaking on behalf of the Administration can come in here and show us how we can get some money into the till right now by the passage of any of these temporary tax measures, our stand is going to be the same.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the gentleman gave an argument against passage of these taxes based upon the fact that they do not run out until May 31, and then he turns around and picks a specific tax which does not run out anyway until May 31, and he is willing to pass that one.

Mr. President, when I said money in the till, I meant that unless we know how much money we start with, how can we know how much money we are going to need to round out the fiscal needs of this Commonwealth?

Mr. President, if you are stalling and balking right now on passing the so-called temporary basic taxes of Pennsylvania, how can we expect any action on the program later which will be required to meet the deficiencies and added cost of government, which, through no fault of our own, we find on the statute books of Pennsylvania?

Mr. President, if the gentlemen from the other side would look at this problem a little less partisanly, they will find that there is nothing but an honest attempt to get a sound working basis for the compilation of the fiscal needs of this Commonwealth.

If we say to the Governor next week, "We have given you now approximately $835,000,000, or whatever these taxes raise. Now, you tell us, Governor, starting from this flooring, how much more is going to be required to meet the needs of the Commonwealth and where do you propose to get it?" He is then perfectly at liberty at this moment to say to the peoplpe of Pennsylvania that we have to raise additional revenues in Pennsylvania of approximately $1,000,000,000, because you are not giving me any moneys to start with. It is not the first time that the temporary tax program has passed before the fiscal program was passed in this Senate. The only difference is that before, when we passed it before the final program was passed, we were forced to a point of necessity by the arguments on the fiscal program. I believe that we ought to look at this more in a businesslike manner and say, "This is the money you have to start with, Governor. How much more do you want or need, and how will you raise the necessary moneys? What is your program?"

Mr. President, the Governor has given you now part of this program and you have already rejected it. He can very safely and honestly say, "Well, we wanted to pass a five per cent corporate net income tax and the Republicans say 'no,' we do not want it." Then tomorrow he can say, "Well, if you have to have the whole program at once, not being ready to give you a program which we know is sound, we will have to adhere to an unsound program." So, he may start through the House another tax program in the near future and maybe he will add two or three per cent to this, and add another per cent to that, because that is the type of taxation we have had in Pennsylvania for the past sixteen years. We do not want to do that. We want to know how much we have to start with against this need for two years, and then take from there and search into the fields of taxation and get a new program, one based more upon the ability to pay and the services rendered to those who pay the taxes. That is all we want.

Mr. President, if in the future, before this Session is over, we find that the new taxes which may be evolved have raised more money than what we need to meet the so-called added expenditures of the Commonwealth, it will be a simple matter to reduce any taxes that are now oppressive. You cannot just sit there and say, "We want to see the whole picture." How can the Governor give you the whole picture when you are holding out on him the framework of the picture to begin with? Any sound business administration would want to know how much it had to start with before it started to add new revenue-raising measures to its fiscal program. That is all we are asking you to do, but if you are determined to stymie it and kill it, then there is only one thing to do, and that is say to the Governor that we will not pass any tax measures at this time.

Mr. President, when you pick out a single tax, I think you have an ulterior motive in mind. I have not as yet determined why you pick only one tax which runs out on May 31, and say we will give you that one but it is unsound to give you the rest of them. What is back of your minds, gentlemen? Are you playing a little partisan politics? We are not. We are trying to put the State on a business basis. I think the trouble with you fellows is that you are afraid that we have some slick trick up our sleeves. The only magician that I have ever seen perform on the Senate floor is John Haluska, when he took a rabbit out of a silk hat. We do not have any tricks up our sleeve, and we do not have anything which is not out in the open. We want to know how much money you are willing to give the Governor to start with, in order that we can add that to what we may need and find out where we are going.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first I would like to clear up the question as to why we would like to take an early action on the gasoline tax. The Highway Department has to make certain plans for the next year and the only money which they have is derived through the gasoline tax, the selling of license plates, etc. Of course, another thing we want to make clear is that this particular tax does not go into the General Fund. It is not like these other taxes. We feel that we can go along with that, so that the Highway Department can plan accordingly.

Mr. President, in the 1951 Session and in the 1953 Session our Governor, Governor Fine, was troubled somewhat, as the Senators here know, in getting through a tax program. At no time did he ask the Senate to vote on these temporary taxes in February, so that he might know which ones we were going to favor. How do we know right now whether we will need these taxes? Perhaps the Democrat Administration might come up with a fine tax that would allow us to knock out the State Realty Transfer Tax or one of these other taxes. We do not know.

Mr. President, what I say the Governor does owe us is this. He should give us a budget, tell us his idea of what the estimated receipts will be, along with his expenditures, and then we will work from there. We certainly are not unduly suspicious, but every once in awhile we have an opportunity, and we believe we have a right, to wonder a little bit about the other side, but we will take it as they say. They tell us that they have no tricks up their sleeves, but we are going to be watchful all the time on this side of the aisle.

We again say, Senator, that we want to look at the budget. You have said that the budget should be along very shortly, and I asked you last week if you would confer with the Governor to ascertain when he would be in a position to present the budget to us. You have not answered that as yet, but I presume you have done that. We also are not shutting our door to House Bill No. 1, and we hope that we will be able to work something out on that one. If the Governor has any plan, and I doubt that he has, I hope that he will be able to give it to us very shortly.

Mr. President, the fact of the matter was borne out at the Governor's news conference last week. I think that the Governor said there would be very little, if anything, in the way of reshuffling or reorganization brought in at the 1955 Session. He thought most of it would come in during the 1957 Session.

Mr. President, we certainly have not held up anything. The fact of the matter is, there is another bill in here to set up some type of a resurvey commission—I do not know what they are going to call it this time—or perhaps a survey commission, to resurvey the survey that was made in the previous years and then they are going to come up with some type of a plan. We certainly are not holding up anything on this side of the aisle. We want to cooperate.

Senator, this is Valentine's Day and I send over a little message, not only to you but to all the Senators. I had it just for you, but I am also going to take it myself. Therefore, this valentine is for you and me both:

"Caution, be sure brain is engaged before putting mouth in gear."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that some of the men are anxious to go to the Ice Capades, and I am not going to delay them.

Mr. President, I was very happy when the Republican Floor Leader said that he was not too suspicious of trickery, but he was going to keep his eyes open on that side of the aisle and I appreciate that very much, because he was certainly turning his eyes in the right direction.

You asked whether the Governor was ready, and how soon he would be ready. I talked to the Governor this morning about that very thing. Since the 18th of January he has been trying, through public-spirited experts who are interrogating the various department heads, and some of them started prior to the 18th, to find out just what he has to base his requirements on. In order that you understand why he is not ready, I might just quote something here for your information. This is the last statement of the dying days of the Fine Administration. I should not have said "dying days." I should use the proper term and say the dead days.

The estimated deficit of May 31, 1955, according to John Fine's last statement, "Financial Statement of General Fund," shows that there was a deficit at that time, anticipated by the Governor, of $60,731,000, and here are the documentary proofs of his estimate on the so-called deficit.

Now, Mr. President, these experts are, I believe, men beyond reproach as to integrity and, incidentally, they have never been known publicly to favor the election of Democrats and so their findings would not be biased in our favor, I am sure. This analysis of the estimated deficit for the 1953-1955 biennium to date was, as of last Thursday, handed to me by the experts who are studying the so-called needs. These estimates, too, are based upon documentary evidence, and they find that the net estimated deficit for this biennium is going to be $89,194,000 or approximately $28,460,000 difference in the estimated deficiency in this biennium.

Mr. President, the Governor has time and time again said, and we have tried to say in our humble way, that we are trying to run the government this time on a businesslike basis. We are trying to find exactly what the deficit is, because the known cost of the future can easily be determined. However, added to the cost of the future must be added the sins of the past, and now we have not quite determined just what is the total of the sins of the past. Right now we find that they are close to $90,000,000.

Mr. President, Governor Fine, himself, said the needed income for the next biennium to balance the budget was $357,000,000. That, I believe, was based on a deficit of $60,000,000. If you add approximately $30,000,000 to that, then we may need $386,000,000 or $387,00,000 of new revenue. If you do not tell the Governor how much money you are willing to start with, how does he know how much money to ask for?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE THE LAWS RELATING TO JUSTICES OF THE PEACE AND ALDERMEN

Mr. FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate, February 14, 1955.

The laws relating to justices of the peace and aldermen are numerous and contain many inconsistencies.

There are, in this Commonwealth, approximately four thousand justices of the peace and aldermen.

Theirs is the great responsibility, in many instances, of initiating and sometimes concluding the necessary procedure in the determining of the rights, duties and liabilities of a great many citizens of this Commonwealth.

The General Assembly requires for its use, comprehensive factual information concerning the powers and duties of justices of the peace, and aldermen, as well as how these offices are conducted; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the laws relating to justices of the peace and aldermen; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE HOXSEY CLINIC

Messrs. DENT and YOSKO offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare:

In the Senate, February 14, 1955.

Whereas, There is to be established in Pennsylvania, a clinic commonly known as the Hoxsey Clinic, and

Whereas, The said Hoxsey Clinic is to be an extension of a similar institution situated in the state of Texas, and

Whereas, the said clinic is established in the state of Texas and reported to be rendering services and treatments to sufferers of the dread disease known as cancer and related maladies, and

Whereas, Said treatments have been condemned as being a fraud and contrary to the claims of the operators of the said clinic, by the Medical Profession, and

Whereas, It is the sworn duty of the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania to protect the health and welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth, therefore be

Resolved, And it is resolved, that a committee composed of the following membership of the Senate and others be named as follows:

(a) Five (5) members of the Senate

(b) Four (4) qualified doctors to be named by the Medical Society of Pennsylvania
(c) A registered nurse to be named by the Registered Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania whose duty it is to make an immediate investigation of the conflicting claims relating to the merit or demerit of the treatments administered by the said clinic, and be it therefore

Resolved, That said committee make an immediate report to the Senate of Pennsylvania prior to the announced opening day of said clinic, March 7, 1955.

MOTION TO ADOPT RESOLUTION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I move the immediate consideration of this resolution.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand the record to show that you, as Presiding Officer, have referred this resolution to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, and that it is now in the hands of the committee.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman is correct. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

The motion of the gentleman from Northampton will have to be changed in order to take action on that resolution at the present time.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I was on my feet before the Chair referred the resolution to committee. I was on my feet to make the motion which I made. It is unfortunate that the Chair did not see me. For that reason, I feel that the Chair should recall his statement, making the reference of the resolution to committee, and recognize my motion.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not want to put the burden on you for this thing. If the motion had been made before the resolution was referred to committee, I would have objected to the immediate consideration of the resolution. You need unanimous consent and, therefore, it would have been referred to committee anyway, Senator.

I think that this resolution is something which we should study in committee, Mr. President. The fact of the matter is, I think we should all agree on this floor, as long as we have this almost equal division, that just about every resolution, with the exception of certain congratulatory resolutions on people's birthdays and congratulating basketball teams for having a successful season, etc., should be, as a matter of fact, referred to committee. That is what we have these committees for.

When you take immediate consideration of some resolution which is introduced here, some of the fellows are off the floor, and some have left because they did not know that any more important business was coming up. I not only say that for today but in future days, I do not feel that it is proper to take immediate consideration of these resolutions. For that reason, I am saying right now that I am going to object to the immediate consideration of any resolution with the exception of these congratulatory resolutions to which I have referred.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair did not understand that anyone in the Senate wanted to have immediate consideration of this resolution and, therefore, it was referred to committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to state that the Majority Floor Leader stated that so long as this Senate was evenly divided, we ought to send everything to committee. He might remember that once anything gets into committee, it is no longer evenly divided.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would like to have the Majority Leader reconsider his decision of objecting to this resolution being considered at this time. I think we have heard the pros and cons on this floor ever since the first day of the Session, and we are going to continue to hear the pros and cons unless something is done.

Mr. President, I think that the resolution is fair because you give an equal number of those who belong to the medical profession, as well as the nursing profession, an opportunity to visit this Hoxsey Clinic in Texas in order to study and report their findings. I think we owe it to the people of Pennsylvania, because we hear people call each other fakers and quacks on the floor of the Senate. I certainly do not think it is dignified to continue this type of debate. It is also going to destroy the confidence of the people of Pennsylvania in both the medical profession and in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I hope that we will be able to do something on this. I, therefore, ask the Majority Leader to reconsider and let this committee be appointed and let this committee go to work, so that this commitee can make a report to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the medical profession is well represented on the committee, and I do not think that they should have any objection to the resolution. Let us resolve this subject and let us get to work. We are wasting our time down here on arguments which could be settled in a committee. Let us not continue, and continue and continue to stay here until 6:30 o'clock at nights, arguing about the approach to the budget and the approach to medicine, while all the time we are only trying to jockey for a political position.

Mr. President, there are many people in Pennsylvania unemployed, and there are many people in Pennsylvania today who are worrying about where their next meal is coming from. It is about time for we, who are elected to the Senate of Pennsylvania, to get into the unemployment problem of Pennsylvania, which is the most serious problem in any State of the Forty-eight States. People in the hard coal regions, and people in the steel industry and the automation industry, which is displacing persons, are the things which we should be studying if we have any heart for the people whom we are supoosed to represent.

Mr. President, let us not continue this long argument on Hoxsey; pass this resolution and let them report back when they have made a study. I think the Majority Leader should readily agree to have this resolution passed at this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I am going to ask the Majority Leader to withdraw his objection. I am going to ask him to withdraw his objection, because I am sure he saw me here at this microphone ready to make the motion for immediate consideration.

Mr. President, if the Majority Leader will do that and not take advantage of a technicality, it will certainly be appreciated by all of us here. Then, if he has a parliamentary objection, after he withdraws his objection, there is no objection to his taking advantage of it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not like to talk about a resolution that has been referred to committee. It is now in the committee's hands.

However, Mr. President, in looking over this resolution, I do not see any place where the President pro tempore of the Senate is to appoint this committee. It does not say how the committee shall be appointed, and there are several defects in it that certainly a committee meets to look over and tries to correct if the resolution has any merits.

Mr. President, for that reason, I think that the resolution was properly referred by the Chair to the committee and I think, no doubt, that the committee will give it early consideration. I hope that they do so.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Majority Leader that the Committee on Public Health and Welfare has not had a meeting as of today. I think that when the Chairman said, like he said in his talk about the committee considering resolutions—I am a member of that committee and I do not remember any resolution or any bill that was given any consideration at any meeting so far this Session.

Mr. President, I hope the Chairman will have a meeting on this particular resolution tomorrow. Let us get it off the books. I might add that Senator Pechan, who made the very good two-in-one speech today, is the Chairman of that Committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I want to thank my colleagues for the interest taken in this resolution. I hope that it does not become a political issue. This is no place to draw political lines. I have not asked my colleagues in caucus to support this resolution anymore than I ask them to act individually. I hope that my colleagues on the other side of the Senate will face the issue as men, individually, and not as a political party.

Mr. President, I know the answer. Although I am disappointed, I am not surprised. Some one must give orders. You saw Doctor Palmer standing up here a moment ago, waving his hands and walking around. If the order comes out tonight that the resolution should be reported out, it will come out of committee. If they say "no," that is what I am arguing about. Are we a body, a law-abiding body of men, who pass upon legislation, or must we wait for orders? This issue is for the Senate. They either believe that it is fair to have this investigation or they do not. But, they must go down to the Penn-Harris or the Harrisburger Hotel and have a few meetings. They must get their signals and come back up to the Senate tomorrow with their instructions. What is going to happen to those people who are dying with cancer? There isn't much danger of anybody going to Texas. As my friend, Senator Mahany, mentioned awhile ago, we have not quite reached the bottom of the barrel as yet, because we have $5,000 to spend in going to Texas.

Mr. President, if this committee agrees they shall not appropriate moneys for this investigation, I then will withdraw my bill, asking for $5,000. There is nothing more important in this world right now, and I think you will all agree, than to find the answer to the Nation's number one killer. But, I am so interested in my colleagues going down to Texas, that if you men agree that you shall not appropriate from the committee, I shall underwrite, myself, the expenses of this committee to go to Texas and come back here and tell the American people what they found. If it is money that is holding us back, I will pay the bills. However, I will not stand by and see them voting for appropriations for other investigations. They may laugh about it, but to me it is not a laughing matter. If it is money, I will pay it, but do not try to pass appropriations for thirty, forty or fifty thousand dollars for the Joint State Government and other commissions.

Mr. President, nothing is more important; nothing we shall do in this Senate is more important. If each of us can play a small part, only a small part, in helping to bring to light this great controversy, we have done a great job in this State. So, if it is money, forget about it. I will pay the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I certainly do not like the inference that my distinguished colleague from Cambria County made a moment ago, when he mentioned Doctor Palmer's name. I have not talked to Doctor Palmer in weeks. I prepared this statement strictly on my own.

Mr. President, I am interested in the people of the Commonwealth just as much as John Haluska is. I am not going to say whether I think that he has a hoax who is being hoaxed by a hoaxer. When he had the effrontery to call the gentleman of the Medical Examining Board quacks, I think that he should be censored.

Mr. President, about a committee meeting tomorrow or any other time, I said today that I was making a study and would be willing, when we came up with the facts, to have a committee meeting. I will call a committee meeting tomorrow morning. I have another meeting at Indiantown Gap tomorrow with the Minority Floor Leader at 9:30. However, if it is going to take a study by the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, I will call it at nine o'clock tomorrow morning. But, I do not want the people of Pennsylvania—and in my book, Hoxsey is a hoax. He has proven it. Hoxsey has a high school education. I did not read all of it; I gave it for the record. I want Senator Haluska to know it; he does know it.

Mr. President, when Senator Haluska calls doctors quacks, men who have spent eight, to ten, to twelve years in medical schools, making a study not only of cancer but of all medical diseases, and then to think that a fellow who does not even have a high school education, who, himself, testified that he got his high school education by a correspondence course in 1917, is selling a cough syrup as a cancer cure, I am just wondering who is a quack.

I want to say, Mr. President, that tomorrow morning, at nine o'clock, there shall be a meeting of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare and I am not takink any orders from anybody. I am going to call a meeting on my own.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks the gentleman for calling a meeting, because the Chair feels that he has caused a lot of this controversy inadvertently.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I thought I was taking you off the book.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I thought it would come to this. You can see what type of a chairman you have, when he has already prejudged the case.

Mr. President, we are supposed to be proud of this gentleman. He is Chairman of that important Committee on Public Health and Welfare, who has no knowledge of what we are talking about and has already prejudged the case and called Doctor Hoxsey a hoax, because he had no high school education. Mr. President, I did not either and I will match my wits with his any time, despite the fact that Senator Pechan has a college degree.

Mr. President, the Hoxsey medication was not founded by Doctor Harry Hoxsey. It was not founded by his father. It was founded by his great-grandfather and handed right down. Now they come out with that teeny-weeny stuff that Doctor Hoxsey, himself, did not have a high school education and therefore, he has no ability. That is why people are dying, because men like Doctor Pechan have no sincerity in their systems whatsoever. Just because he has a shingle hanging out, he will try to make others look small.

Mr. President, what chance has that resolution in committee? They will let it die a natural death, and then they will be happy. Let him take the responsibility upon his own soul for those who must go to an early grave because men of his type will sit here and hold a name-calling contest. He said that I should be investigated; I should be censored. Mr. President, they have taken now all but my last ounce of blood. They put me through a court trial last year. Somebody sent me three death notes. I was to be killed on August 13th, but despite the threatening letters, I continued. What else does he want? Does he want my blood? He may have it. Put me in jail? I will go. Do you want to throw me out of the Senate? I will go, but I shall never stop fighting for humanity. I have seen too many people saved and too many people cured.

Senator Pechan may say what he wishes, but the fact remains that they are afraid to face the issue. They are afraid of losing money. Your life is their toy.

I am not condemning all doctors. As I said last Monday night, and I said it sincerely, no man ever had more respect for the medical profession than I have. I have worked with it for years. They have paid an awful penalty to help us live. A man would be crazy to condemn them wholesale. However, I have a right to differ on one therapy, on one phase of life. I think they are wrong. My opinions should not be final; no opinion should be final. That is why Senator Dent and Senator Yosko offered a resolution, in order to have someone bring it to a head. But forget about it.

Mr. President, we shall open a clinic in Portage, Pennsylvania, March 7, come hell or high water. We shall start treating people. They may serve an injunction and put me in jail, but the clinic shall continue. We are going to do our part in saving humanity. They can cry like babies if they want to. They can come up with court trials, propaganda, lack of education, but that will not take anything away from the Hoxsey therapy.

Mr. President, Doctor Baldor, an outstanding M.D., in Miami, Florida, a crusader, who administered the Hoxsey treatment, was taken to court by the American Medical Association last year and found guilty of malpractice, for treating people with chemotherapy methods.

Mr. President, that great attorney, Benedict Fitzgerald, who was counsel for Tobey and Bricker, was called in on a case in my home at Patton. He happened to be in my home having dinner when the phone rang. Mr. Fitzgerald left my services and went down to Tallahassee, Florida, and I have here a ruling from the Supreme Court of Florida, October 19, 1954. The Supreme Court of Florida, composed of seven men, made this decision in brief:

"We do not propose to indicate what from the record in this case would appear to be the proper treatment in a given case of concer. We are not physicians and we have no light on the subject except such as is shed by the testimony of physicians who are not in accord.

"But we do have the conviction that the heroic effort being made by members of the medical profession and other scientists only emphasizes that an enemy is so far being fought in the dark and that one man should not be condemned from the fact alone that he chooses a weapon that another may consider a reed."

Mr. President, seven men of the Supreme Court reversed the decision, and chemotherapy for the first time in this Country has been approved by some court. Still, they say, "We don't know the answer. We are fighting in the dark."

Mr. President, I am sorry that my good friend, Senator Pechan, would prejudge a case and hold a name-calling contest on the eve of an important meeting, as he said, tomorrow, and that men of this body will sit in Session and discuss impartially what may be the next move to bring this to a head. Senator Pechan is Chairman and he, as Chairman, stands up and says, "I, as Chairman, believe Doctor Hoxsey is a hoax." That committee has a great chance of working, when the Chairman prejudges a case. So, I am not going to argue with him any longer. I feel sorry that he would stoop so low as to put a knife in the back of a man who is trying to give the American public the best of his knowledge.

As I have said many times, Mr. President, with the knowledge that the medical profession has, with what Hoxsey has, put it all in a pot and mix it up. Dig out what is good for us, so that you may live and I may live. There is no harm to be done by using Doctor Hoxsey's knowledge and that of medical men. But, no, they have made up their minds that they do not want any part of it. If they felt for a moment that Doctor Hoxsey had nothing, there would be no coaxing about going down to Dallas, Texas for thirty-four years. They would have gone down a long time ago. They won't go down. I challenge them to go down and face the truth, because there they will find a battery of attorneys, newspaper reporters, doctors and pathologists. They know Doctor Hoxsey won't be there by himself. They know full well that they will have pathologists and scientists from all over this Country. Go match their wits and then bring back the answer. They fear the answer; they fear it.

So, we shall continue and I serve notice now that they had better get ready to serve papers on me on March 7, because the clinic will open regardless of what they say or what they will do. We shall try to save a few more lives.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, first of all I want to clear up the matter of the power that a chairman has of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

I want you to know, Mr. President, and my colleagues of the Senate, that I have always been fair when I have held a meeting. I believe it was Senator Holland who said that I had not called a meeting of my committee. I had one last week, and Senator Holland was there. He voted on one important bill that we thought was very important. We called a special meeting and we reported the bill out.

Mr. President, I have not prejudged the Hoxsey treatment. I am just as interested as Senator Haluska. I may not be interested in the same manner as he is, but I think he is sincere. I think the things that have happened in his family have given him an urge, and I believe that deep down in is heart — — there have been comments made to the contrary that he is interested in it from a mercenary standpoint, from a financial standpoint. I have had people tell me that Hoxsey has given Senator Haluska —he says, no gratuities, but it is hearsay. I believe that the gentleman, deep down in his heart, is sold on the Hoxsey cure.

Now, Mr. President, it may be no better than putting vasoline on someone's arm who has pneumonia. I do not think it does any good, and I do not think it does any harm. However, I do believe this, that the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to know and tomorrow morning, at nine o'clock—it is not a Republican nor a Democratic committee meeting. It is not a political football. Republicans, as well as Democrats, Catholics, Jews and Protestants, all get cancer and if we can help to cure cancer, whether with the Hoxsey cure or whatever cure it is, I am for it one hundred per cent.

But, Mr. President, in looking over this resolution hurriedly, I see where five Members of the Senate are called to Texas. Now, what do five Members of the Senate know about cancer? It is not money out of my pocket, but I do not believe that the taxpayers' money should be thrown away. I think that perhaps the deans of the medical schools of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, somebody who is trained in medical science, should go down. What good are five Senators going to do by going on a junket to Dallas, Texas, and hear Hoxsey tell them that so and so has been cured of cancer because of his treatment? I think it should be a scientific study and ought to be done by scientists.

Mr. President, I have not prejudged the case. There shall be a meeting at nine o'clock tomorrow morning. I hope this is the end of it. One other reason I am going to call that meeting tomorrow morning at nine o'clock is so that we do not put on a medicine show every week in the State Senate, when we have more important things to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to make a brief statement on why I co-sponsored that resolution.

Frankly, Mr. President, I see no harm in it. We had a demonstration here the other day, at which time evidence was presented to us of people who were treated by the so-called Hoxsey method and were cured. I had a very, very dear friend of mine who unfortunately had cancer. Frankly, I influenced him to go to one of the most reputable hospitals in Pennsylvania. I am not going to name it. He went to that hospital and after he was examined, it was determined that he had cancer of the spine. He was given the Xray therapy treatment. As was pointed out by someone here, I think Senator Haluska, my friend was burned and burned badly, which hurried his death. I have sort of had a guilty conscience about it ever since.

Mr. President, I feel that I owe it not only to myself but to my constituents to find out whether there is anything to the Hoxsey method of treating cancer. For that reason, I, too, think it ought to be brought to a head and that representatives of this Senate, together with reputable doctors and representation from the Nurses' Association, ought to look into it and report back here to this Senate.

Mr. President, Senator Pechan wanted to know why Members of the Senate should go down to Texas. As I understand it, when the resolution was drafted, I understood from Senator Dent that Senators were included because they could go along and observe just what sort of an investigation would be made by the doctors. They could listen to the questions that were asked. They could observe everything that went on during the survey, and be able to come back here as Members of this body and report back in detail just what took place.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 14, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 21, 1955, at four o'clock, p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 21, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of this resolution.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, we have made it a practice for years to start our Session on Monday at 4:00 o'clock, p. m. Each Monday the same thing happens during the Session, and we do not get out until after 7:00 o'clock and, naturally, lose our regular hour of eating.

Mr. President, I think that most of the men in this Legislature know that one of the worst things we are doing to ourselves in this irregular eating which we practice in the Senate and the House. Many of our Senators are doctoring for their stomachs and paying money, to get into shape, to the medical profession. Then, we come back to the Legislature and break the rules, Mr. President. We start at 4:00 o'clock, which is the silliest time of the day to start because we either have to rush our Session, and, if we do not rush the Session, the hotel dining rooms are closed.

I ask the Majority Leader, Mr. President, to let us start at 1:00 o'clock on Monday. Let us start at a reasonable hour, a sensible hour, instead of coming in here at 4:00 o'clock when we should be adjourning.

Mr. President, I think that the newspaper men will agree with me. It will keep them from working late hours at night and also eating regularly. Let us start to run this Senate in a sensible way. I would like to see us start at 9:00 o'clock in the worning and work until 12:00 o'clock, and have lunch like the other people who work for a living do, but we have the most irregular hours of anyone.

All we are doing, Mr. President, is destroying our own health by these irregular hours. The rest of the year you go home and you eat and work regularly. Then we come down here and upset our whole system. I understand one of the reasons Mr. Propert had his attack was because he went without eating for twelve hours. The doctor said it was the effect of those hours which brought on the condition which exists with him.

Therefore, I ask the Majority Leader, Mr. President, to hold up this resolution at least until tomorrow, and see if we cannot agree to start at a reasonable, regular hour, at 1:00 o'clock so that we can get our work done in the time of day in which it should be done. It is now five minutes to seven. It will be eight o'clock before we are finished, and from the looks of the way this Session has started it is going to happen every Monday night and every Monday night.

Mr. President, I think that practically everyone here will agree that they would like to start at 1:00 o'clock and finish at a reasonable hour, at least at an hour when they can go to the hotel where they are staying and eat a meal instead of going and finding the dining room closed.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, what is the state of the record in relation to this resolution at the present time?

The PRESIDENT. The resolution has not been adopted. It is properly before the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to say to the Senator that it might take all this week, so that I may have some conferences with not only my own colleagues on this side of the aisle, but also on the other side and the Minority Leader and several others. If such a change is to be made, we should certainly take some time on it. We cannot do that today.

Mr. President, it is necessary, as you know, for this resolution to be acted upon by the Senate today so that it might be sent over and concurred in by the House. For that reason, I would like to put off, at least for a week, any change in our setup in order that we might have an opportunity to get together and see if we cannot work out some hour that will be agreeable to a majority of the Members of the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. LANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 136, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 7, 1947 (P. L. 1368) entitled "An act amending, revising and consolidating the laws relating to delinquent county, city, except of the first and second class and second class A, borough, town, township, school district, except of the first class and school districts within cities of the second class A, and institution district taxes; providing when, how and upon what property, and to what extent liens shall be allowed for such taxes; the return and entering of claims therefor; the collection and adjudication of such claims, sales of real property, including seated and unseated lands, subject to the lien of such tax claims; the disposition of the proceeds thereof, including State taxes and municipal claims recovered and the redemption of property; providing for the discharge and divestiture by certain tax sales of all estates in property and of mortgages and liens on such property, and the proceedings therefor; creating a Tax Claim Bureau in each county, except a county of the first class, to act as agent for taxing districts; defining its powers and duties, including sales of property, the management of property taken in sequestration, and the management, sale and disposition of property heretofore sold to the county commissioners, taxing districts and trustees at tax sales; providing a method for the service of process and notices; imposing duties on taxing districts and their officers and on tax collectors, and certain expenses on counties and for their reimbursement by taxing districts; and repealing existing laws," increasing certain fees, further providing for mail notices of the entry of tax claims, and for the distribution of excess money resulting from certain tax sales.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 14, 1955.

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou Maker of all things, we praise Thee for Thy creative power. Forbid that we should look upon the work of Thy hands, the glory of the heavens and the majesty of the hills, and give no thought to Thy unfailing goodness and mercy.

O Lord we pray, give us knowledge of Thee, to see Thee in all Thy handiwork, to feel Thy presence near unto us, and to hear and know Thy call.

Thou Eternal Father, whose mercy and love is over all, hear our prayer for all who are heavy burdened and anxious; all who are lonely and bowed down with sorrow, all who are baffled and defeated, all who are weary in continuous struggle; all who are despondent in failure, all who are overburdened with a sense of unworthiness. May we all understand anew that the Lord is our Shepherd, we shall not want, that He shall restore our souls and bodies. Teach us that to live in the light of God's presence is to live joyously, helpfully, creatively, kindly, lovingly and wisely. Accept our thanks for Thy kindly light, Thy abiding presence and Thy sustaining grace. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Monday, February 7, Tuesday, February 8 and Wednesday, February 9, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

PETITION

IN RE CONTESTED ELECTION OF HARRY "JERRY" BUTLER

The SPEAKER laid before the House a petition in re the contested election of Harry "Jerry" Butler to the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District, Luzerne County, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Office of the Speaker
Harrisburg

February 9, 1955.

Mitchell Jenkins, Esquire
Second National Bank Building
Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Jenkins:

The petition of Harry Jerry Butler contesting the election to the office of Representative in the House of Representatives from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County is hereby acknowledged this 9th day of February, 1955.

When the House of Representatives convenes on Monday, February 14th, 1955, this petition will be referred by me to the House Committee on Elections.

Very truly yours

(Signed) H. G. Andrews
Speaker

In the Matter of the Contested Election of Harry 'Jerry' Butler to the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania

IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Representatives assembled, the Petition of Harry 'Jerry' Butler of Luzerne County respectfully represents:

(1) That your Petitioner was a candidate for election to the office of Representatives in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District, Luzerne County, in the election held in the said District on November 2, 1954.

(2) That the Candidates for said office in the said election were Stanley Meholchick, Democrat, and Harry 'Jerry' Butler, Republican.

(3) That the final vote, both civil and military, for the respective candidates was Harry 'Jerry' Butler, Republican, 8,802 and Stanley Meholchick, Democrat, 8,796.

(4) That a Petition for Contest was filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County to No. 1379, December Term, 1954 wherein it was alleged that 26 specific votes were cast for Harry 'Jerry' Butler, 23 of said votes being cast contrary to the provisions of the Election Code of 1937 as it applies to assistance for voters.

(5) After hearing the court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County did reject the vote of the 23 assisted voters as set forth herein on the grounds that the oath of continuing disability was not administered to them by the Judge of Election.

(6) As a result of said finding the Court thereupon declared that Stanley Meholchick, Democrat, had the greater number of legal votes, to wit: 8,796 and that Harry 'Jerry' Butler, Republican, had 8,779 legal votes and therefore that Stanley Meholchick is entitled to election for the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County for the term beginning January, 1955.

That said Finding was made by the Court on the 21st day of January, 1955 at 3:30 P. M.

(7) Your Petitioner is advised by Counsel and therefore avers that the striking from his total of the 23 votes as set forth herein is contrary to law in that it deprives the elector of his right of franchise by the neglect of an election official to perform his duty and that if the 23 votes were allowed to stand it would have resulted in his election as Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County.

(8) Therefore, your Petitioner, Harry 'Jerry' Butler, in accordance with the Act of Assembly of June 3, 1937, P. L. 1333, Article 17, Paragraph 1747 makes this appeal to the House of Representatives of the General Assembly and respectfully prays your Honorable body to declare him the duly qualified and elected Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County, Pennsylvania.

AFFIDAVIT

COMMONWEALTH: OF PENNSYLVANIA }
COUNTY OF LUZERNE: } SS:

Harry 'Jerry' Butler being duly sworn according to law deposes and says that as the petitioner and the party aggrieved by the decision of the Court in the above entitled matter, that he believes that he was duly elected to the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District and that the statements set forth in the foregoing petition are true and correct to the best of his information and belief.

HARRY JERRY BUTLER

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 8th day of February, 1955.

G. REULY DAVIS (?)
Deputy Prothonotary

PETITION

Referred to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

MOTION TO QUASH APPEAL TO HARRY "JERRY" BUTLER

The SPEAKER laid before the House the motion to quash the appeal of Harry "Jerry" Butler, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

"MOTION TO QUASH APPEAL OF HARRY 'JERRY' BUTLER

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Representative assembled, the Motion to Quash filed on behalf of Stanley Meholchick by his attorneys, Flood, Brown and Kasper respectfully represents:

1. That Harry 'Jerry' Butler filed an Appeal with the House of Representatives pursuant to the Act of Assembly of June 3, 1937, P. L. 1333 Art. XVII Sec. 1747 on or about February 9, 1955.

2. Under the aforesaid section of the Election Code, it is mandatory that the Petition Appeal" shall have appended thereto the affidavit of the petitioner, setting forth that he believes that he was duly elected to the seat, and that the statements set forth in his petition are just and true, to the best of his knowledge and belief."

3. The Petition for Appeal of Harry 'Jerry' Butler does not have appended thereto the Affidavit in the language required by the aforesaid section of the Election Code.

Wherefore, it is prayed that the Appeal of Harry 'Jerry' Butler be quashed.

James Lenahan Brown, of Counsel for Stanley Meholchick

Referred to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

They are the guests of the gentlemen from Bucks, Mr. Brennan and Mr. Keller, and the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker.

The Chair thanks the Members of the delegation, their sponsors and their teachers.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Labor Relations to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ZIEGLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last summer the several veterans organizations held state conventions and a very important part of those conventions was the introducing and passing of resolutions. Many of those resolutions authorized that legislation be introduced which would be of benefit to veterans and veterans' families. And when many of us campaigned last fall, as part of our platform we had incorporated therein some of the things that we proposed to do if elected in the way of beneficial legislation for veterans.

In keeping with that platform we introduced last week in the House almost a complete package of so-called veterans' bills. Many of those bills were merely amendments to existing law and they did this, they included the veterans of the armed conflict more popularly known as the Korean war.

When a young man is called before his draft board I do not think they ask him whether he is a Republican or a Democrat, or has any political affiliation. I know just as well that when a man is wounded on the field of battle, or needs any assistance, he does not ask of those who help him, nor do those who help him ask the wounded person, whether he is registered as a Republican or a Democrat. That is the last thing we think about.

But now I see in the paper, I have a copy of that paper, and it bears the date of Wednesday, February 9, 1955, and I should like to read it; it is very short, and this is it:

> A package of veteran benefit bills was introduced in the House by the Republican side in keeping with the GOP platform, but Majority Leader Albert S. Readinger, (D., Berks), indicated they would die in committee.

And this part is in quotes:

> "We (Democrats) will have to put through some 'unfavorable' tax bills this session and you can be sure that we're going to put in veterans' benefit bills of our own to get some popular measures passed along with the unpopular ones," Readinger said."

Mr. Speaker, I think these bills are far too important, they carry too much of a human element, to have a criticism of this particular kind. Kill them in committee if you will and emasculate them by amendments to do anything you wish, but we ask you not to take these veterans' bills and use them as a pawn to try and get passed any other kind of legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened to the gentleman from Dauphin with great interest. I am also greatly interested to see this newspaper, which is the Patriot of February 9th. I do not know who wrote this "quote" but I am positive I said nothing such as the gentleman has just read, to the effect that we intend to use any veterans' bills, popular veterans' bills, as a means of getting through any unpopular tax measures.

I have not had a chance to consult the Journal of the day upon which this was supposed to have been said. But I assure you nothing would be further from my thoughts than to say what I am quoted as aying in this newspaper.

We have as much consideration and respect for the veterans as anybody in this House, on this side. When we start to trade any veterans' bills for the purpose of getting through any tax legislation then I am not going to be the leader on this side. This is not true as I am quoted in this statement, and I deny having said it.

I want to assure everybody in this House, and everybody in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that we will never, at any time, do any trading on veterans' bills on this side of the House.

It is true that if bills are introduced by the Minority Members which are right in line with what we intended to introduce and pass, we are going to do it. We are going to introduce them. We are going to pass them. We are not going to give the credit to the Minority side for things that we think are right and the things that we want to do.

Any time that I am accused of saying that I will trade a veterans' bill for some unpopular bill it is just not so.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOCKER. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I have been a Member of this House for, not as long as some of the Members, but for eight long years. I enjoyed every minute of it up until last Wednesday. Last Wednesday I was very much disturbed to see the majority in this House introduce a very vital piece of legislation on a consent calendar.

Mr. Speaker, — — —

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed but the Chair would remind the gentleman that he is not speaking on a question of personal privilege. He is speaking along another line and the Chair recognizes him for that purpose.

Mr. HOCKER. Then I will change my request and ask that I be given permission to address the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOCKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last Wednesday the walls of this House might just as well have fallen down after what I saw here, with a very vital piece of legislation that concerns not only the working man, it concerns the employer, it concerns everyone in this Commonwealth that participates in unemployment security.

This piece of legislation was put through here on a consent calendar, and the part that disturbed me more than anything else was the fact that we had a Member in this House, who is a jurist as of now in Pittsburgh, a man of whom I always thought very highly during my terms in this House.

I quote from the Journal from the remarks of the Honorable Homer S. Brown:

> "Mr. Speaker, I have the inclination to go back to 1935, my first term in the House. But I see the House is rather light this morning. I walked in here and I wondered what was happening. They told me the House was in session. Well it sure has dwindled since yesterday, and maybe the Constitution has been changed."

That is from a man who is a jurist and one of my dearest friends, a man whom I highly respected during the years.

Another thing that disturbed me was the fact that there were forty or fifty students from Delaware County in that balcony to see this House in operation.

What did they see? They saw about one-seventh of the Members in their places. What do you think their reaction was the next day when they picked up the paper and saw that a very vital piece of legislation concerning all the lives of the working people in this Commonwealth had been passed with twenty or thirty Members in their seats.

Mr. Speaker, we spend thousands, hundreds of thousands of dollars, to combat communism in this country. We are asking for it when we do that type of thing before our High School students.

I remember twenty-five years ago when I was a student in High School, that I went on tours of the different legislative bodies and I remember today everything that happened during that tour.

If we are going to continue that type of thing in this great House then we are tearing it apart; we are going to tear it down. No one will have any respect for any Member in this House that allows that type of thing to go on.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, let me say this particularly to you new Members, you will not be judged by the time you spend in this House, you will be judged by what you do in this House. When your High School students come in here, if you are not in your seats, and not voting on a vital piece of legislation I wonder what they tell their parents when they go home that night.

I want to say this right now, and I would be the last person, because I don't have an enemy in this House that I know of, who would issue a threat, but I want to suggest this, that if that happens again I will do as the present Speaker of this House has done on many occasions, I may rise in my place and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The SPEAKER. For the guidance of the Chair would the Minority Leader state to the House whether it is the intention of the minority to dispense with consent calendars?

An answer to that question will aid the Chair in formulating the programs which we will have to consider from week to week.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think the Chair understands the position of the minority. Prior to going into caucus recently, I think it was agreed between the Chair, the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader that there would be no legislation passed on a consent calendar day that would be contrary to the desires of the minority or the majority.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Does that answer the Chair's question?

The SPEAKER. It answers the Chair's question if that is the opinion of the Members of the minority, because, as the gentleman from Dauphin correctly stated, any Member at any time is privileged to raise the question of no quorum. I simply asked the Minority Leader whether the House is on notice by a responsible Member of the minority that if we have consent calendars the question of no quorum will be raised.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the only way I can answer that would be by saying that I hoped not to give the impression that seems to have been given to me at this time that it is at the suggestion of the minority.

This suggestion came from the Chair and the majority with perfect agreement by the minority. I have no right as a minority man to speak for all of the Members on this side, but I can say that it was brought up in our caucus and it was agreed there to go along with the desires of the Chair and the Majority Leader. I might stress that no important legislation would be moved on the calendar, for the record, either on second reading or third reading.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will return to Reports from Committee. The Chair hears none.

Mr. ROVANSEK from the Committee on Labor Relations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 229, entitled:

An Act prohibiting certain practices of discrimination because of race, color, religious creed, ancestry or national origin by employers, employment agencies, labor organizations and others as herein defined creating the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Commission defining its functions, powers and duties, providing for procedure and enforcement, providing for formulation of an educational program to prevent prejudice, providing for judicial review and enforcement and imposing penalties.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 27, 1929 (P. L. 84) entitled "An act to fix the fees to be charged by coroners in counties of the second class" increasing fees to be charged.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" by changing the provisions concerning service of notice to taxables upon change of assessments.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 185, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests creating and defining membership of county board of elections imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by further regulating the date of the primary election the duties of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and nominations to fill certain vacancies.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment for the purpose of further study.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we on this side of the House certainly are in complete agreement with the majority at this time. We feel that this bill probably would not do the job that the majority thought, and I hink they agree with us. It would have deprived some of the people of voting, it would have deprived a good many of the farmers who are working in the fields in July, one of their busiest times. As far as the city people, I believe that is the height of our vacation period and certainly we in the House, who are making the laws, should do everything possible to make it easier for people to vote, rather than make it difficult. I congratulate the majority on their thinking in returning this bill, and we on this side of the House will support the motion.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader used the word "deprived" in his remarks, and I would like to correct what I think he erroneously stated.

The bill as proposed would not deprive anybody of the right to vote at a primary. I think the gentleman probably had in mind the word "inconvenience" rather than "deprive." It is true some people are away in the summer on vacation, but I have known lots of people to be away in May on vacation.

After considering this bill more thoroughly it was brought to our attention in many ways that passing this bill at this time for the 1955 primary, which is scheduled for May 18th, would create quite a bit of confusion.

I understand a lot of forms have been printed preparatory to a ballot on May 18th. The actual bill which is before us would not be passed until about one day prior to the date upon which the candidates may circulate petitions to get their names on the primary ballot. Upon more thorough consideration we thought it would be wiser at this time to recommit this bill and then give much more consideration to the question of whether in the future we should have primaries in May or in July. That is the reason we are recommitting it at this time.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1955. No. 13.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 15, 1955.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend CHARLES N. SHINDLER, Pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Windber, offered the following prayer:

Blessed Lord God, Thou who art the abiding reality of the universe, we wait at Thy mercy seat in prayer. Again, the darkness of the unsearched realm has dissolved into twilight, daylight and noonday. Bless us with a deep undertone of Thy living presence. Inspire us to bear ourselves as citizens of an immortal Commonwealth, carrying with us princely courage and hope.

In the past, thou didst walk with out humanity "in the cool of the day amongst the trees in the garden." Enlarge our spiritual perceptions that they may be replete with the wonders of the soul. Stimulate us with knowledge and wisdom to apply it. Forgive our sins, dismiss any undue rivalries, unworthy ambitions and petty jealousies.

Do Thou so direct this Senate that it shall identify itself with whatever is truest in thought, purest in sentiment, and richest in wisdom, that the citizens of every section may feel the ground swell and recover from the lapses of the years.

O gentle One, whose soft touch fell upon the upturned foreheads of little children and who opened wide Thine arms to shelter the poor and neglected, enfold our country in Thy merciful care. Keep us worthy of life's "well done," and inspire us with the promise of the rainbowed throne.

We thank Thee that behind all energy, every blush of beauty and every throb of human life, standeth God within the shadows keeping watch above his own. Keep before us the unveiled heavenly hills where the great ones of earth stand clothed in the light eternal and where we hope to rest some day and unfurl the signal of victory. In our Redeemer's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. MALLERY, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, he Chair invites the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., from the Committee on Elections, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 110, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the title and the act of April 29, 1937 (P. L. 487), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in boroughs, towns, and townships as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; requiring the county commissioners of the various counties to act as a registration commission therefor; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," extending the act to include cities of the second class and making uniform certain provisions relating to time limitations affected by municipal and general elections.

Mr. WAGNER, from the Committee on Mines and Mining, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act, providing for anthracite mine drainage contingent on Federal aid; and making an appropriation.

Mr. WEINER, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 28, 1935 (P. L. 477), entitled as amended "An act providing for the payment of the salary, medical and hospital expenses of policemen, firemen and park guards by counties, cities, boroughs, towns and townships who are injured in the performance of their duty; and providing that absence during such injury shall not reduce any usual sick leave period," extending the provisions thereof to the State Police Force.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, may I ask whether or not House Bill No. 1 has been reported from the State Government Committee, as amended?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It has not been reported as yet. I believe, Senator Barr, if you would consult with the other side, you will find that they are holding it up, awaiting the amendments which were inserted in committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in committee this morning we offered amendments to House Bill No. 1. I will give you the pertinent sentence of these amendments: "that no reorganization plan shall take effect unless it is approved by a majority vote of the authorized membership of each house during the thirty day period, or unless no action disapproving the same has been taken by either house during that period."

These amendments, Mr. President, were defeated and in lieu thereof, the amendment by the Republican Members, the majority in the committee, reads that the vote must be taken.

I presume, Mr. President, that this bill later will go to a conference committee and if the bill is passed as it was amended this morning, I, for one, am sure the Governor will veto the bill because there is actually nothing left in the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I regret very much that Senator Barr has started debate upon this bill even before it has been reported from committee. However, I do want to say this.

The feeling of the majority of the committee was that they wanted positive action instead of negative action. In other words, any legislation which is going to be passed by the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania should be by record vote, so that we will know how each Senator voted. Certainly we do not want to have legislation passed by inactivity rather than by activity. I am ready to debate that point when, as and if we get to this bill on second or third reading with the Senator or any other Senator from the other side of the aisle.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think I have usurped the prerogative of the committee because I have been reading the papers rather diligently and this bill has been debated, since we left here last week, in public print. I simply want to get on record where the Administration stands.

As I told them in committee this morning, Mr. President, I have been here, as you know, since 1940 and I am pretty well aware of all the legislative tricks which can be accomplished with this amendment. I brought to their attention this morning one incident that happened at the meeting of the Committee on Executive Nominations in 1953.

At that time, as you remember, the then Governor of the Commonwealth sent to the Senate for confirmation the names of Stephen Stahlenker, Mr. Egan, and a gentleman from Luzerne whose name escapes me at the moment, Mr. Schwartz, as Chairman of the Public Utility Commission. We had a hearing before the Executive Nominations Committee and at that time we questioned them whether or not, if we confirmed these gentlemen, they would give a written order at the time that increased rates were permitted where there had been any exception provided by any municipality of any size in this Commonwealth. That agreement was bona fide and some of the gentlemen on both sides of the aisle agreed that that was what they would do.

I said that I would be a gentleman in the case, and I did not expect that they should issue the order the next day. However, I did not think that any members of any commission, particularly the Public Utility Commission, which is a branch of the legislative body, should be in the position where the people might think that they were browbeaten by members of the Minority Party. I said that it would be perfectly agreeable to us if this were done in a period of three or four weeks, and that was agreed to by not only the gentlemen on the other side but by the members of the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. President, we are now one day past Valentine's Day in 1955, and that order was never written and has never been announced by the Public Utility Commission. I just wanted to cite this as one example of the little tricks which can be pulled here in the Legislature.

I also would like to refresh the gentleman's mind concerning House Bill No. 615, which was amended in the Senate. It was just a technical amendment, but it came back and laid on our Calendar for a period of two and one-half months. I tried daily to get the bill called up. The amendment which was placed in the bill consisted of just two errors, and the bill was never sent over to the Governor's Office until the last day of the Session. As you know, the Governor, after the end of the Session, has thirty days in which to work on bills, and this was just another legislative trick, for the Governor waited until just one minute before midnight before vetoing that bill.

I say, Mr. President, that if House Bill No. 1 goes through the way it has been amended by the Majority in the Senate, you might just as well put the bill in the wastebasket.

Mr. President, I would like to tell the gentlemen on the other side that I have talked with the Governor since I came from the committee meeting and he said that if the bill arrived on his desk in that fashion, he would veto it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we usually do not get into debate on the order of business of Reports from Committees. I want to say, Mr. President, that I am ready to debate these amendments next week. I do want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, however, that the comparisons which he has touched on just a bit ago certainly do not apply to these so-called plans which will be submitted.

Mr. President, under the provisions of this bill, as amended, the plans would come before us, and they would be placed on the Calendar. The provisions of the bill and the amendments say that we shall act on them within thirty days. Certainly we are not going to hold up any progress which they intend to initiate. If they have a good plan that will be presented to us, and I might say, parenthetically, I do not think we are going to receive any such plan, we would like to see it.

I, for one, Mr. President, am ready to vote for any plan that they present which will show and give evidence of the fact that we are going to save the Commonwealth any money in the operation of the State Government.

Mr. President, this plan does not go to any committee when it is presented. It will go on our Calendar, and be immediately before us. Therefore, there would be no possibility of any kind whatsoever that any committee of the State Senate, which is presided over by a Republican chairman, would have any opportunity, even if he so desired, to bury it within his committee.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have to plead ignorance to a certain point. Will you tell me what happens after thirty days?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first I would like to ask the Senator if he would wait until next week when we can debate this matter. This is an odd thing when we debate bills even before they are reported from committee.

For your information, Senator, House Bill No. 1 has not yet been reported from committee. Sometime during the morning Session, I hope that it will be reported. Therefore, I cannot very well answer your question.

What do you mean, what is going to happen beyond thirty days?

Mr. DENT. Well, I, of course, realize that the bill is not before us, the same as the gentleman does, but I do not want the erroneous impression to get out that the Republican Majority has saved the good faith of the State of Pennsylvania and kept dignified the body of the Senate by insisting that positive action, or rather that action must be taken on the plans of reorganization by the Members of the Senate without explaining to the Members of the Senate, and to the people of Pennsylvania, that you have also placed a negative position in the bill, if my understanding of what I read in the newspapers is correct.

Mr. President, under the Governor's original plan there was a thirty day period of grace in which the Members of this General Assembly, and either body, would have the opportunity to study and take action.

What do you do now with that thirty day period?

Mr. MAHANY. The amendment, as I remember it, provides that we shall take action within thirty days. Now, we will say, according to your hypothetical case, that we do not take action within thirty days and we are here on the thirty-fifth day. The plan would still be before us, and we would have an opportunity of voting on it. However, I do not envision any instance when we will be beyond the thirty day period.

However, as the Senator so well said yesterday, if any of us cannot understand a plan within thirty days, we probably would not understand it within thirty years. If the plan is going to be held up, Senator, I do not think that you will find the Republicans holding it up. What we want to do is fix it so that you Democrats will not hold up the plan.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, that is exactly why I took the floor. It appears that certain individuals are more interested in the so-called newspaper impressions than they are in facts and the actual workings of this particular legislation.

The Majority Leader knows, and every sane and sober person knows, that unless you put some type of a restrictive time limit that calls for positive or negative action within a certain specified time that you can and will, with your majority on the other side, keep putting the bill over in order for so many days as you so desire. At the end of this Session, if a bill should come in or a plan should come before us, a reorganization bill, forty days before the end of a Session, what happens on the last day of the Session if you have not taken action on that particular plan? That is all that I want to know. What happens if you have not taken action?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, if you will just give me an opportunity to answer your question.

Mr. DENT. I have tried to get the answer to that question from you.

Mr. MAHANY. Your question seems so long. You make a speech in asking the question, instead of —

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might answer that by saying that I am getting an answer from him in the form of a speech, too. I asked a direct question. What happens at the end of thirty days?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, in the first place, Senator, you say that we have a majority. If you will look over the seats here, you will find that you have the majority now instead of us. You have twenty-four Democrats plus the Lieutenant-Governor, and I presume that he would go along with you, and we only have twenty-four. Therefore, you have twenty-five votes against our twenty-four. I do not know when we are going to pick up the other two votes, but it does not look as though we are going to do it for some time. Do not talk about our majority when you have the majority now, Senator, and I do not think that we are going to be able to put over any plans over and beyond the thirty day period. If we did, you certainly should be very glad. If the Republican so-called majority, that you say we have in the Senate, put a plan on beyond the thirty day period so that the people will not be saved some money, you certainly are going to be able to make some political hay out of that one.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY, Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Before the interrogation, may the Chair suggest to both the Majority Floor Leader and the Minority Floor Leader that he is probably in error in having permitted the latitude that he did in permitting debate on a bill that has not yet been reported from committee. The Chair would respectfully suggest to both of the gentlemen that you defer your debate until such time as it is before the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, will you kindly answer me what happens after thirty days?

Mr. MAHANY. On the thirty-first day, Senator Dent, if we have not acted upon the plan, we then could act upon it on the thirty-first day, thirty-second day or any day.

Mr. DENT. What happens on the last day of the Session?

Mr. MAHANY. We adjourn sine die.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, thank you very kindly. You may as well scrap the whole proposition, because what you have done with that amendment is wiped out any possibility, under any conditions, if you so desire to have any reorganization in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that same thing is true with every piece of legislation we have before us. If we do not act on legislation, then certainly it would fall. However, we are ready to act on it and how they can now come out and try to anticipate that we are going to, in some fashion or other, hold this up so that we would adjourn sine die without acting on these plans, I think is pretty farfetched.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the 7th day of March, one thousand nine hundred and one (P. L. 1163), entitled, as amended "An act relating to the orphans' court; conferring exclusive jurisdiction on such courts over the administration and distribution of decedents' estates, trust estates, minors' estates, and absentees' estates; conferring concurrent jurisdiction over the administration and distribution of incompetents' estates and the determination of title to real estate in certain cases; providing for the organization of orphans' courts, the procedure therein, the powers and duties of the judges thereof, and appeals therefrom," conferring on orphans' courts exclusive jurisdiction of all manner of proceedings affecting birth records.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, in 1953 I presented to the Senate, and the Senate and the House passed the bill which I am about to introduce.

Mr. President, at that time, the Members of the Senate may remember that there was a pleasant interlude when this bill was reported from committee, at which time Miss Inez Bull, the grandniece of the famous Norwegian violinist, Ollie Bull, was present and I believe rendered a number from the rostrum.

Mr. President, this bill is somewhat in the same form, although I have endeavored to remove the features which caused the Governor at that time to veto it.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. BERGER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 138, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Forests and Waters to build a replica of Ole Bull's Castle on its original site in the Susquehanna State Forest to commemorate the settlement of the colony fostered by the famous Norwegian musician.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Messrs. SCOTT and FLACK read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 139, entitled:

An Act establishing a bituminous and anthracite research laboratory; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Secretary of Mines; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. BANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 140, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929, (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof, and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers, providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," regulating the dismissal, suspension, demotion, reenlistment and retirement of enlisted members of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. LANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1933 (P. L. 1172) entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs, and incorporated towns as State highways, and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth," adding a new route in Greene County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. PECHAN and WOLFE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 142, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1949 (P. L. 872), entitled "An act granting credit toward pension or retirement benefits of certain members of the police force employed by political subdivisions for time spent in the military service of the United States," granting credit for military service during armed conflicts.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 143, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the purchase of fire fighting equipment for the Scotland School for Veterans' Children.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 144, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1945 (P. L. 837), entitled, as amended "An act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to and retention in public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States engaged; and in certain cases for the widows and wives of such persons," extending civil service preference to veterans of armed conflicts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 145, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 13, 1925 (P. L. 644), entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable, religious, benevolent, humane, and patriotic purposes," exempting armed conflict veterans' organizations from the provisions of the act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 146, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 11, 1935 (P. L. 326), entitled "An act relating to counties of the first class; defining deceased service persons; providing for contributions by the county to the funeral expenses for such persons and their widows; providing for the erection and care of markers, headstones, and flags, and for the compilation of war records," extending the definition of "deceased service persons" to include service personnel serving in an armed conflict.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Finance Committee.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on State Government, reported as amended, House Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act providing for reorganization of agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to disapproval by the General Assembly and authorizing the transfer abolition consolidation and coordination of agencies and functions and the authorization of State officers to delegate functions.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. FLACK, from the Committee on Finance, reported as amended, House Bill No. 35, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149), entitled, as amended "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are practically, and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," extending for an additional period the right to partial reimbusement of taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of certain tractors and machinery for agricultural purposes.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GIBBS and RIGBY.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 12.

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1955.

The laws relating to justices of the peace and aldermen are numerous and contain many inconsistencies.

There are, in this Commonwealth, approximately four thousand justices of the peace and aldermen.

Theirs is the great responsibility, in many instances, of initiating and sometimes concluding the necessary procedure in the determining of the rights, duties and liabilities of a great many citizens of this Commonwealth.

The General Assembly requires for its use, comprehensive factual information concerning the powers and duties of justices of the peace, and aldermen, as well as how these offices are conducted; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurirng), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the laws relating to justices of the peace and aldermen; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. KUBACKI. RESOLUTION No. 13.

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1955.

The current method of pricing fresh milk in Pennsylvania is regulated by the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission.

Recent pricing schedules have not adequately reflected the law of supply and demand and, as a result the consumers of this Commonwealth have been forced to pay prices higher than those of neighboring states.

This system is causing undue hardship not only on consumers but on farmers and retail grocers; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of seven House members to investigate thoroughly the pricing policies of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to the House of Representatives at this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1955.

The observance of daylight saving time has proven to be of great convenience during the summer months, and this observance is widely practiced from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September. There are many good reasons for extending the September limit. Even with the days growing shorter as Autumn approaches, there is still sufficient daylight left in the early evenings to warrant its use for productivity or for recreation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby recommends to every municipality which observes daylight saving time, that the time limit be extended to the last Sunday in October.

RESOLUTION No. 15.

In the House of Representatives, February 14, 1955.

The comic book, available on the newsstand and at the magazine counter designed primarily for juvenile consumption and purchased largely by its intended market, is a comparatively recent venture in the publishing world.

While many comic books provide wholesome reading for children and while the contents of many others are harmless, there is a type of publication masquerading as a "comic" book, the subject matter of which is lurid, gruesome, fear-inspiring and morbid, to say the least.

This type of "comic" book purports to be published subject to the publishers' self-imposed code of decency. If these standards are exemplified by the type of publication put on the market week after week, are the best publishers can arrive at, it is incumbent upon the Legislature to investigate the need for establishing standards of decency adequate to protect the impressionable minds of our children; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make a study of comic books available for sale to children in this Commonwealth and to investigate their contents particularly with reference to the gruesome, morbid type hereinbefore referred to. After completing its study it shall make recommendations, as it deems necessary, with respect to the establishment of standards commensurate with the proper education and protection of the impressionable minds of our children, together with accompanying drafts of necessary legislation and submit its report thereon to the General Assembly at its next regular session.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the House of a former Member from the Second Legislative District of Cambria County, Louis Evans.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. HOCKER for himself for tomorrow's session because of buisness.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, rise

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I object to the gentleman having leave of absence tomorrow. He is only a stone's throw from the capitol. He has nothing to do that cannot wait until the next day.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would have been delighted to have received the objection prior to the granting of the leave of absence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. HENZEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we are about to introduce a bill in relation to the "horror crimes" comic books and the importance as far as our juvenile problem of today is concerned.

The relationship of the horror crime comic books and the juvenile delinquency problem has caused much anxious debate and also positive action in an effort to do something about it. The FBI has stated from coast to coast that they have found a very definite relationship between these horror crime comic books and the problem of juvenile delinquency and they tell us that their elimination is one of the positive steps that we can take for doing something about this grave problem.

As far back as 1946 the crimes comic books publishers were prodded into conducting a cleanup of their own and a code was formulated. However, I hold in my hand a code book that has the date on it of October, 1954. either this code is not strong enough or else it has not been well enough enforced. For the type of horror crime comic book about which we are concerned is continuing to sweep across our news stands and into the hands of our children. No particular difference at all has been found in the type of comic book to which we refer.

One comic book publisher himself has said that there is no such thing as regulating this type of publication, that elimination is the only practical answer to the problem.

The Joint Legislative Committee on crime comic books of New State State has stated that it is the vilest of every conceivable crime—of sex, of sadism, contempt for family and authority and home life, for race hatred. It is the sort of thing contained therein that makes it necessary that this type of comic book must go. So keen has been the demand for a cleanup in this particular area that legislators in other parts of our country seem sensitive to the desire of the citizens to do something tangible about the problem, have probed the comic book industry and they have legislated against it.

Of course, we expect opposition from many sources but to those who say to us a child who comes from a secure home will not be bothered, we say no home is secure as long as these horror crime comic books are in existence. And for those who cry infringement on constitutional rights, we say certainly the framers of our Constitution did not mean these rights as a license for the publication of such material to contaminate for profit and minds and the morals of our young people.

This is an uphill battle. It is a battle that must be won daily. But one of the greatest victories that can be achieved in the battle is the fact that we as legislators in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall enact legislation which shall protect our children.

The bill that we are about to present has been formulated upon this premise and with these emphases, and with the well-being of the boys and girls of the Commonwealth, our boys and girls, the boys and girls who are the future citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We certainly hope that this bill will be put into the hands of a Committee that will look upon it with dispatch, will look favorably upon it and will bring it to the floor of the House for one hundred per cent Member support.

The SPEAKER. Sergeant-at-Arms, visitors are not permitted upon the floor of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mrs. MARKLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it was last November that Allentown became Comic conscious.

A country-wide battle against comic books that has hit everywhere from Hartford to New Orleans and forced publishers to organize a National Comic Book Code, broke out in Allentown when the city-wide Parent-Teachers Council named a committee to fight crime comic books.

Dr. Frederic Wertham, noted New York psychiatrist and author of "The Seduction of the Innocent" who has a home in Lehigh County, has called comic books "a do-it-yourself course in crime." He showed a comic book bought in Allentown which gave the exact technique that the Brooklyn thrill killers used. The thrill-killers, whom he had interviewed, admitted they got their ideas from the comics, their bull whip from the comic advertising, and even the idea for the bat-man costume worn by the leader from a comic character. On Feb. 4 Dr. Wertham testified to this before a New York State Legislative Committee on juvenile problems.

The committee called a public meeting which was attended by representatives of 25 civic groups, all of whom promised cooperation. Word soon got around about the Allentown campaign and the new Comic Magazine Association was notified through its advertising firm and President John Goldwater of New York City appeared in Allentown for a panel discussion. But when he tried to tell the crowd of parents that the new code had cleaned everything up, the president of the PTA Council ran two blocks to the nearest newsstand and came back with a handful of comics still full of violence, lust and horror. Goldwater quickly explained that the cleanup would "take time."

Posters for each newsstand to exhibit, assuring their cooperation were planned, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars took over the project of paying for the posters and distributing them. The VFW also planned a book-swap arrangement to give children better reading.

Pledge cards, printed by the PTA, for each parent to sign were distributed and speakers addressed each PTA group in the city.

Constant publicity was given the project through the news and editorials of the city newspapers. Members of the committee and others wrote letters to the paper emphasizing their interest in keeping the matter before the public.

Groups such as the Lehigh (County) Boy Scout Council, VFW, Quota Club, etc. are continuing to send in resolutions backing the movement. The new Council for Youth, a powerful city-wide advisory group appointed by the mayor on the whole juvenile delinquency problem is workig with the PTA Council.

In an interview in the Allentown Morning Call Dr. Wertham told just what was wrong with comic books:

1. Urging State Legislation, he said they give detailed instructions on how to commit crimes—shop lift, hit a man from behind and drag him into an alley, stick stolen money under a desk or chair with chewing gum, etc.

2. The crime and horror stories have only villians—never heroes. They teach, he emphasized, cruelty for fun. He said: "Even if children don't commit any obvious crime they are learning that the only way to get along is to be tough, to be smart and conceited, to pay no attention to law and order. The boys learn that women are vicious and the girls learn that men are greedy and hard."

3. The whole comic book technique is bad for the child who is learning to read. Where a child must learn the difficult job of identifying letters and words and reading line by line, the comic book shows him pictures with only a little reading in the so-called "balloons." The result, says Dr. Wertham, is that 90 per cent of our children are picture-gazers and more and more children are unable to read properly even when they reach college.

4. Finally, the comic book is doing America a great deal of harm in other countries. American comic books are sold in all countries with the balloons translated. A Swedish author has just published a book itemizing the damage they do. Communists use them as propaganda against Americans because they constantly show the superman, the hero, as a tall blonde while the villian is always a short and dark Mediterranean or Latin-American or Asian or Negro. The superman hero is above and beyond all law and he is anything but an exponent of American freedom, equality and justice.

Allentown has found that the much-publicized new Comic Code, like the one that failed several years ago, has done practically nothing to improve the books. Judge Charles F. Murphy of New York who is being paid $41,500 a year to clean up the books told the New York Legislative Committee that he did not see the books in manuscript form and did not look at them until they were ready for the press. He said his committee had substituted a fist for two boots hitting a man in the face and had removed a knife from the hand of an Indian but had not changed the stories themselves.

This was borne out by comic books bought in Allentown bearing the new Code Seal but as full of violence as ever. The PTA chairman declared them "still full of half-derssed girls, young boys drinking and boys killing policemen."

Allentown also has found that distributors are trying to force newsstands to sell their comic books even when the dealer tries to cooperate with the aroused public. Committee-people have made them back down but they also have found that there is no state law making it possible to control any magazine filth. The law on obscene literature carries no definitions and leaves the whole matter up to the judge.

Therefore, a law of this sort is a vital one for our children. Dr. Wertham put it this way: "There are bigger issues in the world today than comic books, but maybe we will lose those bigger things if we fail to defend the nursery."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, what I am about to say is in no sense whatsoever a criticism of the fact that we have listened this afternoon to two very able addresses on a timely subject. I agree most heartilly with what has been said by both of the ladies, and our time was well spent in listening to what they had to say about the bills they are about to introduce.

What I would like to request, though, at this time is that the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader always be advised of a Member's intention to request the privilege of the floor for speaking about a bill which is about to be introduced or some other matter. I say that should be done not because we want to veto anybody's request, but unless we know who wants to speak on a certain subject, and approximately how long it will take, the day will shortly come when everybody who has a bill in committee, or is about to introduce one, will ask for the privilege of the floor in order to discuss the bill fully, perhaps knowing that it may never come out of Committee, and obviously that will make it impossible for the House to function properly at a later date when we have a lot of things to do.

It has been the practice in the past, I believe, to advise both the Minority and the Majority Leaders of such an intention, and I am sure that the Members will cooperate in the future and do so.

I did not know today that either of these very fine addresses were to be given to us. I think perhaps the Minority Leader may have been informed, and I am sure the Speaker and the Parlimentarian were consulted about the matter, but may I make the request that before anybody asks for unanimous consent to address the House you advise the Minority Leader and myself about it, otherwise we might in the future have to object solely on the grounds that we do not know what it is about.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is probably in error. The Minority Leader cleared with the Chair, but neither the Chair nor the Minority Leader cleared with the Majority Leader, for which the Chair apologizes both on his own account and on account of the Minority Leader.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday's Harrisburg paper carried a considerable story from the Attorney General. I would like at this time to make a brief statement on his statement and to explain some things to the House.

Before I make my statement I would like to explain to those of us who do not understand correctly, or who think differently, that there is a great big difference between a deficiency and a deficit.

Deficiencies are honest. A deficit can be honest and is honest. A deficiency generally is created by a legislature not appropriating enough money to government. Government has to operate, and because of continually operating a deficiency is created in a department. In fact, a deficiency is generally created, and was created this time, by an economy-minded legislature. If you will remember two years ago, the then minority was in complete agreement with the majority. In fact, I can definitely remember the Speaker at that time, or the Minority Leader at that time, saying that there was fat in the budget. Possibly there was I do not know, but I do know that the majority in the House and the majority in the Senate in many instances not only cut the fat from the budget but we cut right to the bone, and because of cutting to the bone caused a deficiency in some departments. If there is a fault, I think the only fault some of us can be blamed for is the fault of being economy minded.

That is generally the way deficiencies are created. I bring that up only to clear some of our thinking, particularly for some of the newer Members.

May I say a little more about deficiencies? We have at this time a deficiency in the Public Assistance Department of approximately $15 million that has been caused, as most of us know, by an increase in the case load. Two years ago we again tried to cut the fat out of the budget and we cut public assistance to what has now proven to be a dangerously low spot. Nevertheless, it was done for economy reasons. We had no way nor did anyone in the House or Senate have any way, of predicting for the future over a two-year period.

A deficiency was also created with the School Authority because many of the school districts built schools far faster than we anticipated, which was something we could not foresee. Certainly we cannot foresee when school districts are going to make mergers or how fast they are going to make those mergers. Those of us who have sat on the School Authority Board realize that. And that has been another big basis for creating some of our deficiencies.

Now a deficit is just a little bit different. A deficit is caused generally by taxes not bringing in the estimated amount that the Legislature figured and the Budget Office figured they would bring in. For example we now have a deficit in our taxes on corporate net income of approximately $31 million. Now, again that is honest. It is nothing that the average public might think, that a deficit is a dishonest thing. It is rather difficult to foresee a two-year period and to say how business over the state of Pennsylvania is going to prosper. You know as individuals you cannot tell what you are going to make two years from now.

Again, our sales tax which was put through two years ago did not live up to the expectations of the estimated amounts. According to the Governor's statement in the paper, it will only bring in approximately $95 million against what we estimated, $135 million.

On the other side of the picture there were taxes that we passed two years ago and we made estimated figures on. Those taxes brought in many times more than we estimated, so we do not always create a deficiency by underestimation. Sometimes our estimates are wrong and we overestimate, as we did in these other taxes. That helped to bring the complete deficiency down quite a bit, in fact, we were $14 million wrong in estimation of some taxes. They brought in $14 million more than we anticipated. Now if there is a fault, I do not think that we who were then in the majority are at any greater fault than those who are now in the majority. I personally think the blame can be divided equally. If we remember, and I hate to bring up a very unsavory subject, for the now majority, if we had passed the sales tax and had some of the bipartisan support that is now so freely bandied around in the Capitol, if we had the bipartisan support from the then minority, our sales tax probably would have been passed and gone into effect June 1st, which would start our fiscal year, rather than September 1st, which would have brought in during June, July and August probably eighteen to twenty million dollars more. We would have been able to pass a sales tax that did not have all of the exemptions in that we had to put in to pass it in this House. Of course, that was not the minority's fault. We had a very scant working majority and not getting any help from the minority as bipartisan help we had to rely on bringing men, sick men, into this House on stretchers to pass a tax bill. If some of those exemptions had not been in the present sales tax, we would have ended up with a surplus and not a deficit of any kind.

I might bring to the now majority's attention that they were very willing at that time to be very bipartisan in the matter of appropriations. That was one thing for which we certainly had bipartisan support. They were more than willing to vote for all of the appropriations, but, nevertheless, we find ourselves here now with what the Governor states—and I do not want to use this figure because I just do not know how accurate it is—we now find yourself with a large deficit which is caused in some cases by the deficiency and also by the fact that some taxes did not bring in the estimated amount that we thought they would.

last night in the papers, as I say, there was quite a discussion, which was attributed to our Attorney General, and I would like to make a brief statement on that discussion by the Attorney General. I brought these facts to the attention of the House so that we would all at least be thinking on the same basis and in the same light. I think the time has come for the House to get some accurate information on the Commonwealth's financial situation. During the last four weeks every time some one speaking for the administration has talked or said anything about state finances they have told a different story.

First, the Governor told us in his inaugural address that there would be a deficit of $86 million in this biennium. Next, our now Majority Leader, after promising that there would be no budgetary mysteries, reported to the House on February 1st that the record shows that the deficit would be around $75 million. That is $11 million difference. Then last week we had another pronouncement from His Excellency, the Governor, in which he said the deficit would not be $86 million as he stated in his inaugural address, not $75 million as the Majority Leader told us, but $89 million. So now we have three figures, and that is the reason I say, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to quote in my remarks any amount of deficit because we do have three figures from very reliable sources.

I now ask you one thing, gentlemen, will you please make up your minds as to what the deficit is and please stick to it, because if you do not you are getting the minority in as chaotic and confused a condition as you are. We honestly do not know what it is. We ask you, and you come up with different figures every time. Frankly, we do not think you know what the deficit is, and that is our honest opinion on this side of the House. It is certainly time that someone in responsibility determines just what the financial situation of the Commonwealth is and give some accurate information to this House.

The Constitution specifically directs that all revenue raising bills must originate in the House of Representatives. But how can this House act intelligently when it gets information that changes from day to day and from hour to hour. The Governor has employed a staff of experts which are costing the taxpayers much more than it has ever cost before.

I might interject here, although we were saving this for a future reminder to the public, that the Governor's office as of this very minute is costing the state more by far, by several thousand of dollars, than it has ever cost before. He has so very many $10,000, $12,000, $15,000 a year men in that office—I don't know, I do not get in there very often, but I hear from very reliable sources that they are falling over each other's feet. Surely somebody among these high-priced experts must know how to add, must know how to subtract and some of them could decide to tell us just what the exact situation is in that connection.

I would like to call the attention of the House to the story of the Attorney General which appeared in a Harrisburg newspaper yesterday and, I suppose, quite a few other newspapers in the state of Pennsylvania.

This is the story quoting the Attorney General, who it appears has also taken over some of the responsibilities of the Budget Office. It is possible that the Attorney General can add and subtract a little bit better, and maybe a little bit faster, than some of the financial wizards who are now in the Budget Office, I don't pretend to know. At any rate, the Attorney General who is talking about deficiency appropriations and I am now quoting from the newspaper, this is the Attorney General's statement, "Deficiency requirements are not new and in the past have run as high as $50 million, but always in those cases," and I am still quoting, "surplus money was at hand in other accounts and legislation was required only to dip into one till and replenish another." I still am quoting, Mr. Speaker, "The situation this time is believed unprecedented, there is no surplus beyond the $16 million lapses and no deficiency appropriations can be made if the money isn't there."

Now let me repeat your Attorney General's quote, "No deficiency appropriations can be made if the money isn't there." Then the newspaper goes on quoting the Attorney General, "You cannot appropriate money you don't have." And again let me repeat, your Attorney General said, "You can't appropriate money that you don't have."

Now I would like to ask this House why, if the Attorney General is correct, and I certainly am not disputing the accuracy of his assertion, why, I ask, if what he said is true, that you can't appropriate money that you don't have, did the Governor in a special message to the Legislature in January urge the Legislature to appropriate more than $40 million in deficiency bills. Did the Governor know when he made that request that the Legislature could not make such appropriations, as his Attorney General now states? Did he not consult with his Attorney General before he sent that special message to the Legislature? Certainly he knew there was a deficit, the Governor, I mean, for on January 18th in his inaugural address, he made the following statement, and I quote, "As we must now forecast the deficit for this biennium it will come to a staggering total of approximately $86 million. This huge deficit must be financied in the budget which the legislature will adopt for the biennium which is ahead."

Of course, he made that statement, but according to our constitution this cannot be done, but nevertheless that does not detract from the fact that the Governor in January knew there would be a deficit.

These are very serious questions that I am asking today and I think we would all do well to consider their meaning. The Governor when he sent that message to the Legislature also requested this Legislature to reenact a number of temporary taxes. The minority's position at that time was that the Governor had by-passed a very clear provision in the Administrative Code by asking us to do that. That Code, which is just as binding on the Governor as it is on any employe of the Commonwealth, specifically requires the Governor to submit requests for revenue measures at the time he submits his requests for appropriations. If he had not been in such a great hurry, I am sure he would not now be in the very embarrassing situation of having asked the Legislature to do something which his own Attorney General now says the Legislature cannot do. Do you understand the significance of this, gentlemen? Your Governor says one thing, your Attorney General, who is the Governor's lawyer, says another.

Before I close I want to read to you one more short quotation from this newspaper story, "According to Cohen," the writer of the story is referring to the Attorney General, "It is up to the Legislature to decide without delay what is to be done.

I would also suggest to the Attorney General that he go back and take another look at Section 602 of the Administrative Code. I would suggest to him that until we have a complete and candid statement from the Governor, as the law requires, as to what the situation is, this House is unable to do anything, no matter how serious the crisis or how willing we are to act.

Now I also want to suggest to the Governor, and I mean it very sincerely and we have been suggesting this from the very beginning of the session, that he stop playing politics and please stop trying to place the blame on the Republicans for his errors. If there is a crisis, members, let's get to work and settle the crisis.

There is an old Chines proverb that a picture can tell far more than many thousands of words, and there is a cartoon in today's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. It shows George playing the fiddle here while Rome burns with a deficit. Let's stop playing the fiddle and get down to work and stop playing politics while your's fiddling.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the now majority of this House has just been accused of having shown great bi-partisan support in the matter of appropriations in the past but no bi-partisan support in the matter of a "sales tax."

May I say, that when we don't like a tax and don't think it is good for the people of Pennsylvania, we vote against it. And we did vote against the sales tax in 1953.

I am just waiting with bated breath to see what the present minority is going to do and how much bi-partisan support we are going to get when the appropriation bills are passed during this Session. I now prophesy that we will have the most excellent bi-partisan support on the part of the minority on all appropriation bills, and little or no support on the tax bills.

The Minority Leader has also spoken about three different figures being used in connection with the estimated defiicit for the present biennium. It is true the Governor's message. I believe, used the figure about $86 million as the estimated deficit as of May 31st, of this year. It is also true, that in my remarks the other week, I spoke about a sum of approximately $75 million as being the deficit. In a later figure given by the administration, I am sure, they spoke about the figure being about $89 million.

May I say that I was probably very, very conservative in using my figure of $75 million. But the Minority Leader complains that we should get accurate information now, and give them to your Members on the deficit for this biennium. How can we possibly do that at this time? We cannot do anything but estimate, because the revenues have not come in for this biennium and the biennium will not close until May 31st.

Governor Fine, if I recall correctly, estimated that the corporate net income tax would be short $31 million under the estimate made by his administration. He does not know whether that is going to be accurate, whether too high or too low. My guess is that it is going to be too low. There are other factors which make it impossible at this time to definitely and decisively say what the deficit for this biennium will be.

A great deal has been said about the statements made by the Governor and his Attorney-General. The Minority Leader would have us believe that the Attorney-General is saying one thing and the Governor is saying another, and that isn't so. We passed deficiency appropriation bills in every Session of this House or practically every Session. These were arrived at in the manner described by the Minority Leader, either the tax yield was over-estimated, didn't bring in that much, or the expenditures was under-estimated, as in Public Assistance and Public Instruction. When you are looking two years ahead, practically two years, it is impossible to determine with complete accuracy how much money you are going to need and how much money you are going to get.

We use a budgeting system under the law, and we should because wise men always plan in advance their expenditures as well as their estimated income. Otherwise we would have chaos in this Commonwealth. When the Governor sent a message over asking us to pass the deficiency appropriation bills he wasn't doing anything that the Attorney-General now says you can't do. We can pass deficiency appropriation bills and we should pass them. We introduced two today. They are in relation to Public Instruction and a deficiency in the judicial salary funds. The reason is that the State Senate has had them about a month and hasn't moved them and I introduced those and we hope to pass them, because if the funds are available in the General Fund then those payments will be made under the appropriations which we are making for the deficiencies.

What the Attorney-General says is true, if there is no money in the General Fund the appropriations that we passed, the bills that we passed to appropriate funds cannot be paid. But, as you know and I know, under the law, the government has certain primary functions. The main things that government does, and Public Assistance is one of them, supporting our people so they don't starve; running our institutions; running our Legislature; running our Courts; they are all primary obligations of the Commonwealth and as long as there are any available funds to pay anybody, they get paid first. If there are not enough funds to pay subsidies they don't get paid. But they do get paid out of subsequent biennium income. It is going to be the job of this Legislature to raise enough money during the 1955-57 biennium to pay the obligations of that period as well as the obligations of this perod. I have never known this Commonwealth to default in any of its obligations and I don't think you have, and I don't think we are going to see that day come in the near future.

It is nothing new, nothing unusual for us to pass deficiency appropriation bills even though the money isn't at the moment in the State Treasury. I believe it is estimated that there will be lapses of approximately $16 million in appropriations that will not be expended during the present biennium and that money we have either over-spent or under-estimated our revenues.

The Minority Leader would like us to believe that the Attorney-General says one thing and the Governor another, and that they don't understand each other. But, I think if he analyzed the situation a little more thoroughly he would find that what the Attorney-General is quoted as having said to the paper is accurate. If we don't have enough money in the General Fund to pay some of these bills this biennium or pass tax bills this biennium which will, or which can be estimated, to raise the amount of money necessary to pay these bills. What the course of action will be at the moment I don't know.

I don't see anything to get excited about, I don't think our Governor is fiddling while Rome burns. It may be some cartoonists's idea of how he would like to depict things down here, but it isn't so. We know what we are doing, we are going to do what must be done. The Attorney-General and the Governor and the majority side of this House are not fumbling around, creating any chaotic confusion on this side. If you gentlemen choose to become confused or you let your Minority Leader confuse you, that is something you will have to consider, we are not doing it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I am sorry I did not get clearance from the Majority Leader. In the future I shall.

In 1953 an average guy in this state was concerned over some of the problems of the knowledge of our people of our government. He persisted so strongly in his beliefs that he finally induced two Members of this House, the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, and the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent, to introduce a bill requiring the teaching of civics in our public schools. That bill was passed and approved by the Governor in 1953.

In 1954 my daughter came home from school one day and said, "Dad, how much expense allowance do you get every two years as a Representative?"

"Why," I said, "$3,600."

She said, "Why, our school teacher tells me only $2,400."

I said, "Where does she get her information?"

"Why in the textbook we have."

I said, "Would you mind bringing that textbook home and let me look at it?"

So she did. This is the textbook she brought home, published in 1953. I looked and found out that it was reported that only $2,400 expense was allowed to Members of the General Assembly instead of the $3,600. That whetted my appetite, so I proceeded to review the book and these are the things I found.

I addressed my letter under date of March 23, 1954, to Mr. H. F. Alderfer, Professor of Political Science, Pennsylvania State University, State College, Pennsylvania, one of the authors of the book:

March 23, 1954.

Mr. H. F. Alderfer
Professor of Political Science
Pennsylvania State University
State College, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

I have just received the publication "American Government For Pennsylvanians," of which you are co-author with Andrew S. Sukel and John J. Serff.

In the interest of accuracy, I am compelled to call certain items in said book to your attention:

1. On page 99 it is stated:

"On even-numbered years Pennsylvania primaries are held in the spring, when candidates for state and national offices are nominated. On odd-num bered years primaries are held in September when only local officers are nominated."

The Act of January 14, 1952, of the 1951-52 Pamphlet Laws, page 1937 changed this and provides that primaries shall be held on the 3rd Tuesday of May in each year, exceptiong in a Presidential election year, when the primaries shall be held on the 4th Tuesday in April.

This change was brought about by the lack of time to distribute absenteee ballots to our Military Forces overseas between a fall primary and the general election.

2. On page 157 and 158 you deal with the Superior and Supreme Court.

(a) The Supreme Court is a creature of the Constitution and its jurisdiction is defined in Article V Section 3. There you will find its jurisdiction much broader than you have stated. As a matter of fact, from 1874, the date of the Constitution until 1895, when the Superior Court was created, the Supreme Court was the only Court of appellate jurisdiction in this Commonwealth, and all appeals were taken to it.

(b) The Superior Court is a creature of the Legislature, Act of June 24, 1895, P. L. 212, as last amended by the Act of March 2, 1923, P. L.

3, No. 2, Title 17 Purdons, Paragraph 111 et seq. You will find that the Superior Court has jurisdiction in civil cases only up to amounts of $2500.00. Appeals over that amount must go to the Supreme Court. Its jurisdiction in other matters is specifically set forth. Excepting for jurisdiction specifically granted to the Superior Court, all appeals must go to the Supreme Court.

3. On page 171 it is stated: "All revenue from forests is placed in the State School Fund."

I am much interested in your authority for this statement.

The Governor's budgets since I have been a member of the General Assembly, assign this revenue, "Sale of Wood Products, Stumpage, Minerals, Camp Leases, Water Leases, Rights-of-Way, Housing Rents, Etc." to Miscellaneous Revenue of the General Fund. Furthermore, it was stated only last fall that revenues from gas leases on State owned lands should be assigned to Flood Control Projects.

4. On page 177 it is stated: "It (the Department of Public Instruction) pays State financial aid to local school districts—about three-hundred-million dollars every two years."

The amount of financial aid to local school districts is now approximating about four-hundred-million dollars every two years and still going up. Don't you think this figure should be revised? Your own current figures on page 186 show 398 million.

5. On page 180 it is stated: "Public Assistance was added in 1937 because of the great need for relief from unemployment caused by the great depression."

Don't you think it might be well to also state that in the creation of this central agency, several thousand Poor Districts which existed in each of the townships, boroughs and cities were abolished, and their functions which had existed from the creation of the Commonwealth were taken over by the Commonwealth Department of Public Assistance?

6. On page 146 it is stated: "In addition they (members of the General Assembly) are allowed $2,400 for the two year term for expenses."

This amount was increased beginning in July 1951 to $3,600 for the two year term.

7. On page 147 it is stated: "Early in January of every odd-numbered year Pennsylvania's legislators assemble at the Capitol in Harrisburg for their regular session."

This is true, but why not use the language of Article II, Section 4 of the Constitution which states—"The General Assembly shall meet at twelve o'clock Noon, on the first Tuesday of January every second year"; which just so happens to be every odd-numbered year.

8. On page 145 it is stated: "The House of Representatives, the 'lower house' has 208 members."

This was true when the book was published in 1953, but under the 1953 re-apportionment of the House, its membership in 1955 will be 210.

9. On page 147-48 it is stated: "When in Session, * * * lobbyists, representing the special interests of organized groups thruout the State, talk with legislators and others."

I would infer from this that lobbyists have free access to the members while in Session. This may have been true of another day, but during my tenure since 1947, a rule very strictly and rigidly enforced forbids anyone, including lobbyists, on the floor of the House while in Session, except members and certified employees. I think this misimpression should be corrected.

10. On page 148 it is stated: "In 1941 the Senate had thirty-one standing committees; the House had forty-four."

More current information is that in 1951 the Senate had twenty-two standing committees; the House had thirty-four.

11. On page 149 you state: "Many bills are thrown into the wastebasket by the Committee Chairman."

I do not know what past practices may have been in this respect, but having been a member of the House since 1947 and a Committee Chairman in 1953, I consider this a very unfair indictment of Committee Chairmen, and a most unjust impression to convey to the people, and especially young students, that there is any indulgence in such callous legislative practices.

The truth is that Committee Chairmen must receipt in a docket kept for that purpose by the Bill Clerk for every bill received by him. At the close of the session the Committee Chairman must account back to the Bill Clerk for all bills received by the Chairman. It is true that Committees reject many bills after consideration, and that some bills are not called for consideration of the Committee, but I can assure you that none are thrown into the wastebasket.

12. On page 118 it is stated: "Forest County, the smallest in population has only thirty thousand."

Coming from a small county myself, I certainly have no desire to deflate my good friend and neighbor, Forest County, but according to the 1950 census this county has a population of 4,944.

13. You use the words Commonwealth and State interchangeably thruout the text. No where is it explained that Pennsylvania is a Commonwealth; nor that it is but one of four Commonwealths in the United States; and that the designation of Pennsylvania is properly and correctly a Commonwealth.

14. On page 36 it is stated: "Citizenship means, therefore, membership in one of these political communities."

Are you not confusing citizenship as here used with that of residence?

15. On page 78 you state that one of the methods by which citizens control their Government is by joining an organized group. You conclude by stating—"Such groups have become more and more important in influencing the actions of government."

By way of editorial comment it might be added that such organizations have become known as "pressure groups" and are becoming an increasing concern of legislators and government. So many of them do not have the interest of the community as a whole at heart, but only the interest of their own private groups.

16.There are in my opinion some other inconsistencies appearing in the text, which could be made the basis for further discussion and analysis.

That book was published in 1953; I wrote this letter in 1954. The author of this book writes to me and admits that the errors were all his but there has been no enata published to this text book as yet. It is being used in our public scools with this information contained in it, and I think it is time that information which reaches the minds of our students should be accurate information and not information which tries to make a picture such as I have called your attention to in these remarks this afternoon.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, at the time the gentleman from Cameron decided to make his speech, I did not have any intention of doing what I am going to do right now. But the name just seemed familiar.

Press release from the Governor's office number 48:

"Govenor George M. Leader today appointed an advisory committee on governmental reorganization to assist him personally in implementing the provisions of House Bill No. 1, the Reorganization Act, and other matters pertaining to state government."

The Committee consists of Dr. Stephen Sweeney, University of Pennsylvania, as Chairman; Dr. William Willis, University of Pittsburgh; Dr. F. Alderfer, Pennsylvania State University.

Mr. Speaker, there is no wonder in my mind why we are so confused.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, even college professors are entitled to make some mistakes.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the Minority Leader rise?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, to make a brief statement. Very brief, Mr. Speaker. I thought there was someone under my desk here—that is the reason I was standing that way, sir.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was pausing until the gallery of admiring newspaper men ceased to gather about the Minority Leader's desk. And if he has no Correspondent concealed beneath his desk, without objection, the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, that any newspaper men who want to hide over by this desk, or come over, are perfectly welcome, if it so pleases the Chair.

But I would like to answer the Majority Leader by saying: Yes, even college professors are entitled to one, two, or three mistakes, but certainly not to be consistently mistaken and to be called in to reorganize the Commonwealth's government in Pennsylvania.

BILL ON FIRST READING

The SPEAKER. With the consent of the respective Floor Leaders, the Chair will now take up the calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 229, entitled:

An Act prohibting certain practices of discrimination because of race color religious creed ancestry or national origin by employers employment agencies labor organizations and others as herein defined creating the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Commission defining its functions powers and duties providing for procedure and enforcement providing for formulation of an educational program to prevent prejudice providing for judicial review and enforcement and imposing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second raeding.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 78, as follows:

An Act amending the act of March twenty-seventh one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 84) entitled "An act to fix the fees to be charged by coroners in counties of the second class" increasing fees to be charged

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 1 act of March twenty-seventh one thousand nine hundred and twenlty-nine (P. L. 84) entitled "An act to fix the fees to be charged by coroners in counties of the second class" amended July thirteenth one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three (P. L. 445) is amended to read

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That from and after the passage of this act the fees to be received and charged by coroners in counties of the second class in lieu of those now allowed by law shall be as follows viz

Viewing a dead body [twelve dollars ($12.00)] fifteen dollars ($15.00)

Summoning inquest and returning inquisition [six dollars ($6.00)] eight dollars ($8.00)

Summoning or subpoenaing each witness [two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50)] three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50)

Qualifying each witness [one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50)] two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50)

Each mile circular traveled to be reckoned from the court house to the place of viewing the body ten cents

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Banker,

NOT VOTING—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 89, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" by changing the provisions concerning service of notice to taxables upon change of assessments

Section 1 Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 65) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 15 At least thirty (30) days' written notice shall be given to any taxable person whose assessment shall be changed at any triennial assessment or between triennial assessments in a manner which would mean an increase in the taxes on such real estate if the same tax rate should prevail setting forth any change which has been made and the time and place set for hearing objections thereto

Such notice shall be served by the board or any member thereof or by an assessor or by any other person authorized so to do by the board upon said taxable person [if he or she can be found in the county] or may be mailed to him or her or served upon an adult person residing upon the property in question [in case the taxable person cannot be found in the county]

When no service is made upon the taxable person or upon an adult person residing upon the property assessed said notice shall be deemed to have been properly served if tacked or conspicuously posted upon the property assessed and a copy thereof mailed to the last known address of the taxable person

No defect in service of any such notice shall be sufficient ground for setting aside any assessment so made upon proof thereof being made the taxable person shall have the right to a rehearing before the board relative to said assessment and to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas as hereinafter provided

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

RESOLUTION

PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

Messrs. HEWITT, WOOD, ROBERT K. HAMILTON, JOSEPH J. BRENNAN, HELM, ROYER, READINGER, CHARLES C. SMITH, FROST and LAWYER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

A century of educational progress is being celebrated this year by The Pennsylvania State University.

A look at Pennsylvania State University on its Centennial gives little intimation of its humble beginning. Originally conceived as a small institution for training in agriculture, it has today developed into, not only the fourth largest agricultural institution in the Nation, but also a training ground for young men and women in virtually every field of activity needed for the advancement of this Commonwealth's various fields of endeavor.

Pennsylvania's finest institution of higher learning is located on a 3,627 acre tract in Centre County, in the geographical center of the State. Established as the Farmers High School of Pennsylvania in 1855, the institution became the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania in 1862; The Pennsylvania State College in 1874, and the Pennsylvania State University in 1953.

The University's prime purpose, which it has so well accomplished through the years, is to serve the educational interests of the Commonwealth and the Nation. This is being accomplished not only through expert instruction and guidance on the campus proper, but is extended to every part of the Commonwealth, through an extension program which every year brings vocational and cultural training which would not otherwise be available to a million Pennsylvanians.

The never ending quest of fundamental knowledge consistently displayed by The Pennsylvania State University has been immeasurably useful in developing the human and physical resources of our Commonwealth. Many important developments in agriculture and science can be directly traced to the introduction of new methods made possible by the research and experimentation there conducted.

One of the most important factors in the elevation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the position of respect which it enjoys today has been its educated citizenry, and no institution has contributed as much in this field as The Pennsylvania State University; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly hereby congratulates The Pennsylvania State University on its One Hundredth Anniversary and expresses sincere appreciation and gratitude for its contributions to Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to President Milton S. Eisenhower of The Pennsylvania State University.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

ADMONITION BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state to the Sergeant-at-Arms that the Chair will not, as a matter of practice, continue to countenance the gathering of groups behind the rail when there are chairs in which they can be seated.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notices the presence in the House of a former Representative from the Second District of Beaver County during the Session of '35 and '37.

RULE PERMITTING ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader might consider the advisability of a rule permitting the addition of additional sponsors, within limits, which would conserve the time of the House. They might consider this suggestion.

MEETINGS OF HOUSE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, during the past several weeks there has been much talk about a possible recess on the part of the House.

I would like to inform the membership now that after talking the matter over with the persons involved it has been decided it is not feasible at this time for the House to have a recess, even of one week. Perhaps during the month of March there may be a short recess but we will meet next Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday's session will be about 10 o'clock in the morning, so that the Members who would like to get away can get away possibly around noon.

A session will be held next Monday and Tuesday, and I understand tomorrow's calendar will be a consent calendar—there will be no controversial bills brought upon the floor of the House tomorrow.

I would like to ask the Democratic Members of the Committee on Committees to meet in the new House Caucus Room for a short time immediately after today's session.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. JOSEPH J. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 16, 1955 at 10:00 a.m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 3:42 p.m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1955. No. 14.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, February 16, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

This morning, O Lord, as the Members of this Legislative body pause in this moment of prayer, we present our petitions before Thy throne of grace for Thy blessing upon Thy servant who, in his capacity, presides over this body. We thank Thee for his devoted spirit of fair play, his vision of good citizenship and his love for all that is good in America. May he never feel alone in this place of responsibility, but always be aware of Thy loving presence and guiding hand.

To all who are in the service of this State government give health and strength. Grant they may have good judgment for delicate decisions and keen understanding for the problems of this difficult hour. We commend them all to Thy most gracious and loving care. Through Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, February 15, 1955, will be postponed until the Journal is in print. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN (Concurrent).

RESOLUTION No. 16.

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

The Delaware River has been an important factor in the development of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It has been used in the transportation of raw materials and products to and from the Commonwealth to all parts of the world.

Because of the size of sea-going vessels and the great volume of shipping, the Delaware River fails to meet present day needs and to play a great part in the progress of this Commonwealth, the channel in the Delaware River should be deepened.

The Governor, George M. Leader, and the several members of Congress from Pennsylvania have worked diligently and with perseverance in soliciting the Federal Government to use its facilities and funds to deepen the Delaware River; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly commend the Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania for the stand they have taken in the matter of the deepening of the Delaware River; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact legislation providing for the deepening of the Delaware River at Federal expense; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WOOD, ROYER, PAUL G. MURRAY and ESHLEMAN.

RESOLUTION No. 17.

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

This year marks the Centennial Anniversary of the Millersville State Teachers College. For one hundred years this fine institution of higher learning has conscientiously and succesfully trained the youth of our Commonwealth, particularly in the proud profession of teaching. The College began its highly beneficial existence as the Millersville Academy in 1854, later becoming the first State Normal School in 1859, and a State Teachers College in 1927. Millersville State Teachers College has truly proven that it is worthy of our highest praise by its consistent excellence in the imparting and dissemination of knowledge. That education is the mainstay of our Nation and the reason for our ever increasing prosperity will be disputed by no one; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their most hearty felicitations to the Millersville State Teachers College on its Centennial Anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the Board of Trustees and to the President of Millersville State Teachers College.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

CONGRATULATIONS TO PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSTITY ON ITS ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

A century of educational progress is being celebrated this year by The Pennsylvania State University.

A look at Pennsylvania State University on its Centennial gives little intimation of its humble beginning. Originally conceived as a small institution for training in agriculture, it has today developed into, not only the fourth largest agricultural institution in the Nation, but also a training ground for young men and women in virtually every field of activity needed for the advancement of this Commonwealth's various fields of endeavor.

Pennsylvania's finest institution of higher learning is located on a 3,627 acre tract in Centre County, in the geographical center of the State. Established as the Farmers High School of Pennsylvania in 1855, the institution became the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania in 1862; The Pennsylvania State College in 1874, and the Pennsylvania State University in 1953.

The University's prime purpose, which it has so well accomplished through the years, is to serve the educational interests of the Commonwealth and the Nation. This is being accomplished not only through expert instruction and guidance on the campus proper, but is extended to every part of the Commonwealth, through an extension program which every year brings vocational and cultural training which would not otherwise be available to a million Pennsylvanians.

The never ending quest of fundamental knowledge consistently displayed by The Pennsylvania State University has been immeasurably useful in developing the human and physical resources of our Commonwealth. Many important developments in agriculture and science can be directly traced to the introduction of new methods made possible by the research and experimentation there conducted.

One of the most important factors in the elevation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the position of respect which it enjoys today has been its educated citizenry, and no institution has contributed as much in this field as The Pennsylvania State University; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly hereby congratulates The Pennsylvania State University on its One Hundredth Anniversary and expresses sincere appreciation and gratitude for its contributions to Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to President Milton S. Eisenhower of The Pennsylvania State University.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

MISS FRANCES ROWE, EXECUTIVE SECRETARY, NATIONAL COUNCIL OF NURSES FROM GREAT BRITAIN AND NORTHERN IRELAND, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have the pleasure at this time to present to the Senate a guest of the Pennsylvania Nurses' Association, visting here in Pennsylvania, Miss Frances Rowe, the Executive Secretary of the National Council of Nurses from Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

BOY SCOUT TROOP NO. 79, OF THE BOROUGH OF TRAFFORD, WESTMORELAND COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. President, I have the further pleasure of presenting at this time Troop No. 79, Borough of Trafford, Westmoreland County, of the National Boy Scouts, headed by my friend and brother, Joseph Dent.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Members of the Senate, the Chair welcomes all the distinguished visitors here today. We hope you will enjoy yourselves, and come back and visit with us again.

REPORT FROM THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

DEALING WITH "MEDICAL TRAINING FACILITIES"

Mr. CHAPMAN, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, submitted the following report which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

P. O. Box 61, Room 450—Capitol Building

Harrisburg, February 21, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, Session of 1955, dealing with Medical Training Facilities.

Copies of this report for members of the Senate have been placed in their post office boxes.

Respectfully submitted,

BAKER ROYER, Chairman

The PRESIDENT. The Report will be noted in the Journal.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

SENATE RESOLUTIONS REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

RECOMMENDING INCREASED APPROPRIATIONS TO STATE-AIDED HOSPITALS

Messrs. FLEMING, TAYLOR and WHALLEY offered the following reslution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare:

In the Senate, February 21, 1955.

In the interest of the health and welfare of the citizens of Pennsylvania, it is imperative that appropriations to our State aided hospitals be made in the amount necessary for their continued effective operation. As the cost of living has increased for individuals, so too the cost of maintaining our hospitals has increased. Unless the amount now proposed for the maintenance of State-aided hospitals is substantially increased, it will result in a serious impairment of the medical and surgical services rendered to and the maintenance of persons entitled to free service who are treated in these hospitals; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate respectfully suggests that the Governor, in his budget, recommend the appropriation to the Department of Welfare for State-aided hospitals be increased fifty per centum.

ADVOCATING "BACK TO GOD" MOVEMENT

Messrs PECHAN, WOLFE and McMENAMIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics:

In the Senate, February 21, 1955.

Before our Pilgrim Fathers set foot on American soil they entered into a religious covenant with one another which began, "In the name of God, Amen". These ancestors will stand as eternal sentinels guarding the liberties of our Nation and those principles upon which we have achieved world leadership. Our ancestors were the product of man's alliance with God. There was no other way of beginning for them, and there is no other way of continuing for us.

So true is the axiom that it is not material wealth but moral worth, not broad acres but great principles, not gold but Godly men and the things of God coupled with a steadfast trust in Him, which makes a nation great and keeps it strong. Well lies our Nation's hope in the slogan engraved upon our currency, heard in every inaugural prayer and voiced in the halls of great decisions, "In God We Trust". As long as we trust in God and look to Him for wisdom upon which to build and for Divine guidance in national affairs, we may be assured of increasing honor, prosperity and human happiness.

The future of our Nation, what shall it be? Shall we forget God and lean upon our own understanding? God forbid. Let us hasten to retrace our steps and regain the road which leads to peace, liberty and security. A nation which forgets God is certainly doomed to destruction.

Seeing then that trust in Almighty God was the secret of our forefathers' power and the only basis of all true progress, let us maintain our trust in God, for a Godless order is a menace to life and a peril to our democracy. America was founded by men of great religious convictions, and no one can understand America today without recognition of this basic fact. Unfortunately some are prone to lose sight of these convictions about God, the dignity of man and our democratic processes. Herein lies our greatest National peril; hence the call for spiritual rebirth and a moral rearmament; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate declares the "Back to God" movement to be timely and imperative to our National progress and security, and calls upon our leaders and educators to remove any advocacy or teaching of a breakdown of the spiritual life that has made this the greatest nation in the history of the world. Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, just a short time ago, a resolution was sponsored by Senate Taylor and Senator Fleming, requesting the Budget Department of this Administration to increase the appropriations to hospitals to the tune of fifty per cent.

Mr. President, we, on the Democratic side, are very much in sympathy with their thinking. However, it seems to me that for sixteen long years, when the Republican Party was in control in Pennsylvania, they did not think of it then, but now, in view of the fact that the Democrats are in control in Harrisburg, they want to plead with us to increase the appropriation by fifty per cent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, when Senator Taylor, Senator Whalley and I presented the resolution which we just did, asking for an increase in State aid to the hospitals of Pennsylvania, we certainly did not do it with any thought in mind of attempting to embarrass the present Administration.

Mr. President, we admit that for the past sixteen years the appropriations should have been increased. We are cognizant, just as is the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, that today on a $7.00 per day basis of reimbursement for indigent patients in the hospitals, the hospitals are hard put to get the money to take care of their patients. I believe Senator Lane, as well as any other Senator in this Chamber, has been besieged by the trustees of the various hospitals urging us to do something about it. We are only suggesting to Governor Leader that when he does prepare his Budget Message, that he substantially increase this State aid to the hospitals of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I certainly do appreciate the concern expressed by the gentleman from Allegheny County at this particular time. However, if my memory serves me correctly, we have been besieged over the years by hospital administrators to increase their appropriations. We, on the Democratic side, have carried the ball along that line.

Today, Mr. President, we find that since we are faced with a financial crisis, the Republicans sponsor a resolution in order to embarrass this Administration, because they know very well that we will not be able to increase those appropriations by fifty per cent. I hope there is an increase and I am for an increase, but I fully realize that we cannot increase our State appropriation fifty per cent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, again I want to assure my colleague from Washington County that it was not with any intention of embarrassing the Administration of Governor Leader that we presented that resolution. We only want to try to help, if we possibly can, to get the money for the hospitals to take care of the free patients. I am sure that Senator Lane, himself, is in sympathy with that program.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny County, Senator Fleming, that the proper time to discuss the increases for the hospitals and other needed agencies in the Commonwealth would be after we had provided the necessary revenues for the essential costs of government. At that time, Mr. President, when we come to increases for the schools and increases for the hospitals and the necessary increases, we hope to be able to present to the Senate legislation creating additional revenues. The basis of the raise to the various institutions will be the action of this Senate.

Mr. President, if we provide the revenues, I am sure that the Governor will be happy to go along to give additional moneys to those needed agencies.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I do not know why all the tempest in the teapot. I would like to read the last three lines of our resolution:

"Resolved that the Senate respectfully suggests that the Governor in his budget recommend the appropriation to the Department of Welfare for State-aided hospitals be increased fifty per cent".

That would mean, Mr. President, that the per diem rate, approximately, would be raised from $7.00 per day to $10.50. Certainly we recognize the fact that we must supply the revenues, and I believe that everyone on this side of the Senate is waiting anxiously not only for the Governor's Budget Message, but for his recommended taxes to make up the necessary revenues. I am sure that they will receive favorable consideration from this side of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, and I am sure that all of us are happy to know that the Republican contingent is waiting anxiously to vote for the new tax bills.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since the gentleman from Allegheny County, Senator Fleming, expressed such grave concern in regard to the hospitals, I sincerely hope that he will prevail upon the Finance Committee to be so kind as to report out our tax bills, so we can get the money to pay the way as it is now. If he is so anxious to spend the money, he most assuredly should be anxious to help us get our tax bills out of committee which are now bottled up in the Senate Finance Committee, which is controlled by the Republican Party here in the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Lane well knows that there are none of those present tax bills, so-called emergency tax bills, in the hands of the committee that would raise presently any money of any kind whatsoever. I think we have gone into that previously.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to call an end to this, temporarily anyway, by moving that the Senate do now take a five minute recess for the purpose of having a Republican Caucus in the Conference Room to the rear of the Senate Chamber.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 21, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvenes on Monday, February 28, 1955, at three-thirty o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 28, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I move the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I want to be recorded as voting "no".

Mr. President, I would like to inform Senator Holland that it has always been my custom to have dinner at seven-thirty o'clock and not at five or six. It suits me perfectly and it suits my ulcers perfectly. I see no reason for getting here a half an hour ahead of time.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, had the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins, in mind when I spoke on this subject last week, because I knew that for quite a few nights here he did not eat until after eighty-thirty. I was worried about his ulcers, and I appreciate his worrying about mine.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the Senate and House of the Legislature of Pennsylvania have from time to time received bills dealing with the extension of the Turnpike System of Pennsylvania, most of which bills are laudable and desirable in their objective.

However, Mr. President, the resolution which I am about to introduce deals with the improvement of a highway of considerable importance to the entire State and to the Nation. Pennsylvania U. S. Route No. 6 is the most direct route from Chicago, and points west, to New York. Therefore, Mr. President, a great many citizens of northern Pennsylvania and central Pennsylvania have interested themselves in the improvement and betterment of that route. Consequently, Mr. President, it is my privilege, on behalf of my colleagues Senator Chapman, Senator Madigan, Senator Blass, Senator McMenamin, Senator Mahany, Senator Scott and myself to present this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

RECOMMENDING THE RECONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA U. S. HIGHWAY No. 6

Messrs. BERGER, CHAPMAN, MADIGAN, BLASS, McMENAMIN, MAHANY and SCOTT offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 21, 1955.

Whereas Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 extends across the northern part of Pennsylvania from east to west and comprises an integral part of a transcontinental highway important to the commercial and economic life of State and nation; and

Whereas, Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 is also a military road being one of two of such vital east-west highways in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 passes through one of the most scenic areas of our Commonwealth and is the access route for thousands of visitors who come from all parts of the nation and state to enjoy the hunting, fishing, and natural grandeur of the area; and

Whereas, the widening, straightening and complete renovation of said Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 would provide the shortest and most attractive highway from Chicago, Cleveland, Erie, and other large industrial and population centers to the urban industrial centers of the East, and as such is included in the proposed Federal Interstate Highway Program;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved that the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be requested to advance plans to make Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 a four lane, toll-free Highway to the end that said highway may form a real part of the vital defense system of trans-continental military highways, and to the additional purpose of further opening a vast area of the potential industrial, and existing recreational resources of Pennsylvania; and

Be It Further Resolved that the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania communicate such plans to the Director of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, to the end that the plans may be integrated and the reconstruction and improvement of Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 be commenced with all the celerity consistent with proper highway improvement practices.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 24, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WAGNER, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. DENT and YOSKO, on February 14, 1955, reported the same with amendments as follows:

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE HOXSEY CLINIC

In the Senate, February 14, 1955.

Whereas, It is reported that there is to be established in Pennsylvania, a clinic commonly known as the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic, and

Whereas, the said Hoxsey Cancer Clinic is to be an extension of a similar institution situated in the city of Dallas in the State of Texas, and

Whereas, the purpose of the said clinic is reported to be rendering services and treatments to sufferers of the dread disease known as cancer and related maladies, and

Whereas, said treatments have been condemned as being a fraud and contrary to the claims of the operators of the said clinic, by the Medical Profession, and

Whereas, the value of the so-called Hoxsey Treatment has been and continues to be the subject of controversy, and

Whereas, the Senate of Pennsylvania, deeply concerned with the health and welfare of the citizens of the Commonwealth, recognizes its unqualifiedness to evaluate so as to enable it to approve or condemn the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic and its treatment or the efficacy thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, That all qualified interests in the Commonwealth, both public and private, concern themselves with the operation, performance and value of the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic to the end that the health and well-being of the citizens of the Commonwealth may be protected and enhanced, and that the expert observations of those trained in the art of healing be made without prejudice or hardship to the professional personnel that may be engaged in the operation of the clinic; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be directed to the Pennsylvania Department of Health, the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, the Pennsylvania Medical Association, the Registered Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania and the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

A motion was made by Mr. WAGNER,

That rule 39, which requires resolutions reported from committee to lie over for one day be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the resolution?
It was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

GEORGE M. LEADER

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations read by the Clerk.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. WATKINS,

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nominations reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. WATKINS,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48

Bane,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stevenson,

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act providing for anthracite mine drainage contingent on Federal aid; and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate what I believe to be a serious fault with this bill in Section 1, as compared to Section 1 of the same act which is coming through from the House. If you will note, in our bill, which is before us here at this moment, we find that the bill is restrictive in that it ties our appropriation of $850,000,000 for anthracite mine drainage to a specific Federal act. If you will note, and I quote from the act, it says:

"In the event that the Congress of the United States enacts into law House of Representatives 38 of the 84th Congress 1st Session entitled 'A bill to provide for temporary measures'" and so forth.

Mr. President, if this bill is passed in its present form, the moneys which we are setting aside for mine drainage in the anthracite region can only be used if this specific Congressional bill passes. If, for any reason, the Congressional bill fails in enactment and instead of House of Representatives Bill No. 38 being the vehicle for mine drainage and for Federal assistance House of Representatives Bill No. 39 should be the vehicle for this legislation, then the appropriation made in Pennsylvania would be inoperative. In other words, I believe that the language used in the House Bill is more proper. Let us read that section and see if you agree. It reads as follows:

"Section 1 If the Congress of the United States enacts legislation providing for flood control in anthracite mine drainage and making available Federal funds for this purpose on a matching basis the Commonwealth will accept such contributions subject to the conditions and limitations attached thereto."

Therefore, Mr. President, having in mind that we do want to do this job and want to be of service to the anthracite region, which we all recognize as being very much in need of this assistance, I would suggest to the Republican leadership that we allow this bill to go over at this time on second reading so that we may prepare, if you so agree, the necessary amendments to make this act operative regardless of whether the Federal act is No. 38 or any other number.

I assure you, Mr. President, that this is no plan to stall the bill or to stop the legislation from being enacted.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in order that there might be no time lost in connection with this, and inasmuch as the bill does carry an appropriation and will have to go to the Appropriations Committee, I think the job can be done by having this bill read for the second time and then I will move that it be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1, the bill just read, be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations, for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act providing for reorganizations of agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to disapproval by the General Assembly; and authorizing the transfer, abolition, consolidation and coordination of agencies and functions and the authorization of State officers to delegate functions.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth sections were read and agreed to.

The seventh section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 7, page 9, line 6, by inserting after "BE": "proposed as a resolution and shall be;"

Amend Sec. 7, page 9, line 9, by striking out "DAYS" and inserting in lieu thereof: "calendar days of continuous session of the General Assembly;"

Amend Sec. 7, page 9, line 12, by inserting after "PERIOD": "or unless no action disapproving the same has been taken by either House during that period.";

Amend Sec. 7, page 9, line 19, by inserting after "ACT": "or the expiration of the thirty-day period after the delivery of the plan to the two Houses of the General Assembly."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the amendments just read be adopted.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for support in these amendments first of all because I believe that the Administration headed by Governor Leader has made an issue of the question of reorganization of governmental functions at the administrative level.

Mr. President, when this bill first appeared in the Senate, having passed the House, the Senate Republican Majority opposed this legislation because they said that in their opinion it was unconstitutional and not good legislative action to pass legislation whereby an act, any resolution or any plan of reorganization could become law by negative action of this Senate. By agreement, most of us agreed with the Majority that it ought to be positive action by a constitutional majority of the members elected to the Senate.

Therefore, these amendments, Mr. President, now say, if you will note, that the act in its title said: "agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to disapprovel by the General Assembly." In these amendments we strike out the word "disapproval" as it now appears in the title, and we say "subject to approval or disapproval by the General Assembly." That is in keeping with legislative custom, legislative action, and should answer the question of constitutional propriety.

Secondly, Mr. President, we have also cleared up the manner in which the plans would be presented to the Senate, and we have now instituted in our amendments the proposal that said plans will appear upon the Calendar as resolutions. Being resolutions, this body can act upon said resolution when it appears upon the Calendar simply by calling up from the floor action upon that resolution. We have further provided in the amendments, Mr. President, that the thirty day period should be calendar days of legislative Session and not just legislative days, because thirty legislative days, if you read the act to read thirty legislative days of action by the Senate would mean that we might be here two days a week for fifteen weeks before we would necessarily have to act upon the legislation.

We have also, Mr. President, decided that if we are a legislative body, thirty days ought to be sufficient time for a legislative body to study a reorganization plan and call for a vote. Therefore, in order not to be accused of stalemating the Governor's propositions or trying to stultify the Governor's administrative reorganization, we have said in these amendments that if at the end of thirty days no action is taken by the body, either the House or the Senate—either one has the same right in this bill—then at the end of a thirty day period the legislative resolution becomes in fact. That is the reason.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent ?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, is it your understanding that when, we will say, Plan 1 and subsequent plans come from the Governor's Office that they will go on our Calendar in the form of resolutions?

Mr. DENT. Yes, sir.

Mr. MAHANY. They would be taken up then as the first order of business on the Calendar or when would we reach that point?

Mr. DENT. Resolutions appear on the Calendar in both the House and Senate when they have to be printed for consideration of the House and Senate and they appear usually—in the House anyway, but I do not remember when we had any except that in some distant day in the past we may have had one or two resolutions printed and appearing before us—under the Final Passage Calendar. Usually the Senate Resolutions when they are printed and appear before us, have normally been resolutions on conference Committee Reports. In the House, they appear as the last item on the Calendar or following the Final Passage Calendar.

Mr. MAHANY. It is your understanding, Senator Dent, that any Senator may call that resolution from the Calendar and have action on it?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it is my understanding that any Member on the floor may call up, at any time after the resolution appears upon the Calendar in printed form, the resolution for action and this body is duly bound unless an adverse vote is given against the call of that Member, in which case there would have to be a change of Rule 37 which would set aside the right of that Member to call up the resolution.

Mr. MAHANY. What is your understanding of the word "action" in your amendment? Does that mean calling it up or voting on it, or how far would you say the word "action" would go?

Mr. DENT. Usually when the term "action" is used in a legislative body, parliamentary speaking, it means a vote by that body upon whatever matter is before it.

Mr. President, it is just like a round in prize fighting. A round is that time which they use up before they rest.

Mr. MAHANY. The reason that I am asking you these questions, Senator, is to clear up our procedure when these plans finally come, and in order that there will be no misunderstanding between you and me in regard to what we are to do with them.

Mr. DENT. That is all right.

Mr. MAHANY. I would like to ask another question, Senator Dent.

Under our present laws, any Senator may bring in, as you and I did in the 1953 Session of the Legislature, any bill which will shuffle or reshuffle any of the departments of State Government in the interest of economy or for any other reason. Is there any reason that you know of why that same procedure cannot be followed in this Session of the Legislature?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe that the answer to that is obvious. If we follow the usual procedure of preparing legislation, submitting it across the desk, and having it be sent to a committee, the action, as has been taken for instance on the Governor's bills relating to emergency tax moneys where the bills are resting in committee quietly and probably will rest there until the end of the biennium, would undoubtedly be the same. The Unemployment Compensation Bill, which is a bill that has passed the House almost unanimously, is now resting in committee. The bills as they are presented then would follow the constitutional requirement of rules, and be sent to the various committees and there they might die in committee and there would be no vote before the end of this Session on the Governor's or our own reorganization plan.

Mr. MAHANY. Well now, Senator, that was not the history of the famous Dent-Mahany Chesterman bills in the 1953 Session, was it?

Mr. DENT. If we could always be sure of a harmonious Session such as that one, and the harmonious accord that we gave to the great Chesterman report, I think that we could follow the procedure which you have outlined.

Mr. MAHANY. Why do you not take out one of those Chesterman Committee bills, the one that you and I sponsored—I think that we passed a couple or three in the Senate—and give it a trial run to see what might happen to it?

Mr. DENT. Well, I am hopeful, Mr. Mahany, that when these reorganization resolutions are given to the House and Senate that we will have more information from the fathers of these reorganizations than we had from the Chesterman Committee.

I assure you and all the Members of this Senate that the death knell for the Chesterman Report, as such, was not of our making. It was the making of the Chesterman Committee itself, which refused to come before the Senate or any inquiry committee of the Senate to give us the benefit of their investigations to sustantiate the changes which they advocated. If they would have come before this group, I am sure that if there were meritorious bills in that Chesterman Report, they would have received a great deal more consideration than we were able to give them under the limited knowledge that we had of the Chesterman Committee Reports.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, we did get two or three of the bills through in 1953, and I was wondering why we can't at least try it again. If these bills were referred to the Rules Committee, we would get them out the next day, or certainly within a week, and we would give you much speedier action on the Governor's plan to effect some economies than what he is getting under House Bill No. 1.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, not being a member of many committees in this Senate, I would be worried about which committees you might send them to. Therefore, I might suggest to you, Senator Mahany, that being a co-sponsor of the Chesterman Bills with me, if there are any that you particularly feel ought to be passed, you are certainly at liberty to reintroduce them.

Mr. MAHANY. I know that, Senator. However, I was wondering why we cannot use the same type of legislative procedure now to effect economy in government that we have in the past. Certainly, if we are not going to vote for the bill that would be presented to do that, then we would not be prepared to vote for a plan. There would not be much difference between voting for, say, Plan No. 1 which would do certain things, or voting for, we will say, Senate Bill No. 69, which would do the same things. We all feel the same way about that, I am sure.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might say to the gentleman that the record of the past, with the provisions that he now wants to re-enact and put into effect here, has not been very good. If we do not do any better on reorganization in the future than we have in the past, there will not be any reorganization.

Mr. President, this is done in an attempt to have a complete reorganization plan integrated, well planned and thought out with the idea in mind that the Governor, himself, as the administrative head of this State, is taking full responsibility for the complete integration of his organizational plans. In order that the plans will get the kind of action demanded when a bold move must be made in government, the Governor has suggested to the General Assembly that it allow him to present his plans in such a manner that they will be assurd of action within a priod of thirty days. Under the old plan of introducing laws on the regular conventional style preparation, passing over the desk, going into the hands of committees, delays and so forth in committee, the action of committee and all of the legislative procedure, you can easily understand how the multitude of a reorganization plans might be stymied not only for this Session but for the entire four years of the Leader Administration.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if that is good for these plans, why would it not be good for all legislation? Would the Senator be in favor of having all bills which are presented before us taking this type of course?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not see much difference in presenting a plan or a bill under this modus operandi than when a bill is introduced, because it is an administrative measure and is introduced across the desk. The minute it hits the committee, within five minutes after introduction, the committee meeting is called and the committee goes back into one of the neighboring rooms of the Senate Chamber and has a five-minute meeting. It is railroaded onto the floor, and we vote for it for the first time within fifteen minutes after its introduction. This procedure applies to legislation that may affect, and has affected, the health and welfare of the economy of the entire State.

Now, Mr. President, there is not much difference in this action and in that action. If you had absolute control, as you have had many times in the past sixteen years—you have put legislation on the calendar the very same half hour that it was introduced. There is not any difference in that procedure and in the procedure offered by the Governor now, except that he calls for a specific act of the Legislature to qualify that legislation.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, is the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, just accusing us of doing that or is he also admitting that he—

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, my memory does not go back twenty years too clearly.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if we just go back a week or so ago, when a bill was presented in the House and, as I remember it, the bill was in print before the member even introduced it. I think they had a quick meeting and got it out. It passed first reading on Monday, second reading on Tuesday and third reading on Wednesday. I think the Democrats are still in control in the House.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to say that when the Republicans did it, it was skulduggery; when we do it, it is efficiency.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, what a difference a day makes.

Mr. President, one more question.

The gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, stated that if they get this legislation through, we are going to get a plan and I believe the Governor, in his Inaugural Speech, said that we had been surveyed, and reviewed and so forth, and now it was time for action. About when may we expect Plan No. 1 to hit the desk?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might say that you have a companion bill and, incidentally, I believe that that bill is very important to the whole picture.

The companion bill to House Bill No. 1 creates a commission, and this commission is made up of eight members named by the Speaker of the House and the President pro tempore of the Senate, and four Members named by the Governor. As soon as you can get that legislation across the desk and enact it into law, the Governor then can start to function, or have his commission function, and it will not be long after that that the first plans will come in.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, does the Governor have any plan at all that he might submit to us while we are waiting for this committee to get into action?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, of course, there was some talk. However, it was not from the Governor. There was some talk on our side among some of the fellows that I thought was a pretty good reorganization plan. They were suggesting that any time that the Minority in the Senate wanted to pass a law, they only needed the number of votes that were elected as Democrats. We can present that one tomorrow.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not think that would be in the interest of economy.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it certainly would be in the interest of good government, though.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will with a great deal of fear, Mr. President. I have a great deal of respect for this gentleman.

Mr. BLASS. Senator Dent, I heard you say that a resolution could be called up at any time by any Member of the Senate. Is that right

Mr. DENT. That is right.

Mr. BLASS. Assuming that another Member of the Senate made a motion to defer action on the resolution, which was duly seconded and passed by a 24-23 vote, and the deferment continued for a period of thirty calendar days without any further action, would not that resolution then, under your amendments, become an act of this legislative body without any further action and without the necessary twenty-six votes?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I can assure the gentleman that that is why the restrictive clause of thirty days is put in there. If, for any reason, this legislative body would go into that type of dillydallying and stalling tactics, it should become a law.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, it could become a law. That is what I am afraid of in voting on these amendments offered by the Minority side.

Mr. President, I want to say this, and I think I voice the sentiments of my Party and the gentlemen on this side of the Chamber. The Republican Party is for economy. It is for cutting down the cost of State Government. It is for doing anything that will bring about a reduction in costs by reorganization. However, it should be done along constitutional lines, without the danger of opening a door that you may never be able to close.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman from Erie, Senator Blass, for his vote on economy. I am sure that we can count on his vote for these amendments.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, last week when we had a meeting of the Senate Committee on State Government, we reported this bill out as amended. There was a certain part of the amendment that was submitted to the committee which now appears in the amendments presented by Senator Dent, in which it provides that if no action disapproving the same had been taken by either house during that period, then the plan shall become operative after the expiration of thirty days.

Now, Mr. President, I could not see any reason for that part of the amendment that he included in the bill, because we all felt that certainly we would take action on any plan within the thirty day period. We did not feel for one minute that it would be expedient, either politically or otherwise, to hold up any plan which the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would submit to us which would effect economy in government.

However, Mr. President, it was, therefore, certainly odd for me to hear from the Senators on the other side—

Senator Barr and others—and also to read in the public press that if this amendment were not put in, the Governor would veto this bill and that we had cut the very meat out of House Bill No. 1. I do not see how they could possibly arrive at that conclusion. Surely, if that cuts the meat out of it, then there must be some reason to believe that by some reason or other, which does not now seem apparent, the Democratic Party is seeking to put on the statute books some laws without the recordation vote of the Members of the House and Senate, which is certainly contrary to Article III Section 1 and the following sections of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, under which I hope we are still operating.

Mr. President, because it does that and because by adding these words, by allowing a law to become a law without a recordation vote, I feel that this would be all the more reason why the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania, before which this act might very well go at some later date, might find reason to find that the act was unconstitutional. We are trying our best to see that Governor Leader gets a constitutional law so that if he does come in and present plans which will effect economics in State Government, then such plans will be constitutional and will not be thrown out because they were able to become operative without any record vote of the Members of the House and Senate.

Mr. President, for this reason we feel that we cannot go along—at least I, personally, do—with these amendments which have been presented. I feel that by the introduction of these amendments, if they are adopted, what the Minority Party is doing is making an unconstitutional bill out of House Bill No. 1.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, many times on the floor of the Senate I have taken the position that the question of constitutionality is one that I am not qualified to discuss, nor do I care to take away from the Supreme Court its prerogatives in a matter of that nature. I can only follow the judicial opinions, or the legislative opinions, handed down by the Attorney General of the Commonwealth when it comes to a question that is put to him on the question of a bill's constitutionality.

Mr. President, I have talked to the Attorney General and have a written opinion, if the Senate wishes to hear it, in which he states, in his opinion, this type of legislation would be considered constitutional. After all, it will be his job, as the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, if the question is ever taken up before the court, to defend our position if the Legislature passes the law and to defend his own opinion if it comes to a test.

Further than that, Mr. President, I believe that the good intentions, as clearly stated by the Majority Leader, that they will definitely take action within thirty days, and action meaning, as we have stated before, a vote of this Senate body upon any recommendation or resolution presented to us. If that is the intention of the Republican leadership, then they need have no fear of the thirty-day clause. If you have an honest intention of taking the matter up within thirty days, and have a recordation of the votes in this Senate upon that question within thirty days, then the thirty-day clause will not become operative and, therefore, the problem of its constitutionality on a negative action of the Senate cannot and will not be questioned in the courts.

Now, Mr. President, most of us who have lived through the various Sessions of the Legislature can well remember the Session of 1951 when the so-called Big Truck Bill stayed on the Calendar in this Senate for two and one-half months. Fnally, it passed the Session of the Senate on the last day of the Session, and was turned over to the Governor for his action and he acted upon it without any chance for the General Assembly to either veto his action or to consider any further action after the veto. To me, it seems that when a matter is controversial, and we all know that legislative reorganization is controversial and we know that administrative reorganization legislation would be controversial, and, therefore, when a controversial matter comes up, we must have some restraining hand upon that matter so we can get positive action.

Mr. President, for twenty years we have not had the opportunity to perform an operation upon the body politic of this State. We are now in a position to do that because at the turnover of the administration, after sixteen years of one particular party, it gives the incoming, or new administration, an opportunity to dismiss certain functions of government that are interrelated or overlapping, and if it means the relinquishment of certain juicy jobs on the Hill,a new administration is in a better position to relinquish those jobs and get rid of them than in a continuing administration. If we lose this opportunity of attempting a reorganization, it may be another twenty years before we find ourselves in a position to do that again, because it is my prediction that the present party will be in power at least twenty years. It will be difficult for us to fire people once they have been placed into a job on Capitol Hill. However, now is the time to take and amalgamate the various commissions and the various bureaus, and try to cut down the number of persons who perform or are supposed to perform duties that are related or overlapping.

Therefore, Mr. President, I plead with you to give this Administration an opportunity to do what it has told the people it will attempt to do, to try to reorganize our administrative government in Pennsylvania in order that, in the end, efficiency will be increased and costs will be lowered. The people of this State are harassed by high taxes, no small sum of which has gone into administrative government. The Federal Government has shown by its example that this is the only vehicle that they have found that has been workable in Federal reorganization.

Just two weeks ago, the Federal Congress voted to extend the life of the Hoover Commission which was based upon an act, almost word for word, the same as the one that we have before us at this moment. I plead with you not to attempt to try to cover up your lack of enthusiasm for reorganization by any cry about unconstitutionality. Let us allow the courts to decide the questions involved and let us decide the questions of legislation.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, you say that the reason you want this in is because by experience you have found that certain things can be wrong and hold up the wheels of progress in relation to legislation. We also are a little bit suspicious on this thing, because if the Governor follows the same plan in operating on the rest of these departments that he has in his own office over there, we are going to find that there is a whole lot more money to be spent in running the departments that what we are spending now. So far the experience has not shown that he is out to hack off very much, but rather it seems that he is trying to graft—the word "graft" is used advisedly—more people and more personnel onto his own department. Therefore, he has not made a very good start along this line, so you can excuse us if we are a bit suspicious.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might answer that and use the same word "graft". You know if you take—you ought to know this, Senator Mahany, you come from up around the agricultural districts of Pennsylvania—an old wild cherry tree, and take the roots which are good and strong and you graft on them a Japanese cherry, you will get a beautiful bloom upon that tree whereas you would not get anything from it if you tried to grow it from the Japanese cherry plant itself.

That is the way the Governor is operating. He had to graft some good strong worms onto that tree which had been rotted over the years of maladministration and, therefore, he now is trying to work out a proposition whereby the money that he is spending in his office will redound to the benefit of the people as a whole, because he now has an administrative force that is actually working up to its capacity and is trying to get reorganization started before we even give them the legislation.

Mr. MAHANY. If they are doing all that, Mr. President, why do they need this other commission? Why can they not come up with at least one little plan by next Monday?

Mr. DENT. Well, I will tell you, if the gentleman wants to get a plan by Monday I can assure him that if he will pass this law and give to the Governor, that I will go and plead with the Governor and say, Come up with a plan so that Senator Mahany knows you really mean business".

Mr. MAHANY. Thank you, Senator.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am in the same wing as the Governor, and I want to tell the Majority Leader how much money has been saved over there already.

Mr. President, I think that we heard Senator Holland in the Sessions of 1951 and 1953 talk about the clippers, assistant clippers and all those people down in the Commerce Department. I would like to say, in the language of the man who rides the rods, "they have ridden the rods". They are no longer employed. We found already that there were four different departments which had clipping services, and we have eliminated that situation.

We have also eliminated that political week known as Pennsylvania Week. I think that you will find over in that wing already that we have probably saved $175,000.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to say to the Senator that just because you knock off a certain amount, we will say, on Pennsylvania Week, and I understand that there was $100,000 set up for it but there was not that much expended, it does not necessarily mean that that is going to benefit the Commonwealth. Perhaps that was money well spent. You and I do not know that. Perhaps you could go into one of the large tobacco companies and be able to save $1,000,000 for them by not advertising. Would that be good for them or would it be bad? That is something which you and I could argue about all night long.

You have clipped the clippers, and if you can get the same amount of clippings now for less money than you did before then you have saved that, but you did it without benefit of legislation. Perhaps that is all right, but that remains to be seen.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. RUTH, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24

Bane,	Donolow,	McGinnis,	Seyler,
Barr,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Holland,	Mullin,	Toole,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Weiner,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,	Yosko,

NAYS—23

Berger,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Blass,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Kopriver, Jr.	Scott,	Watson,
Diehm,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Mahany,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Fleming,	McPherson, Jr.	Wade,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was in hopes that at some time during my legislative career I would see the Lieutenant-Governor cast a vote, but I was disappointed.

The PRESIDENT. I was hoping to make history myself by casting a vote.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, line 2 of Title, by inserting after "APPROVAL": "or disapproval".

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the 7th day of March, one thousand nine hundred and one (P. L. 20), entitled "An act for the government of cities of the second class," establishing a department of water in said cities; providing for its officers and employees, and defining the powers, duties and jurisdiction of said department.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 35, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May twenty-one one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled as amended "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are practically and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" extending for an additional period the right to partial reimbursement of taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of certain tractors and machinery for agricultural purposes

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to offer the following amendments to House Bill No. 35, in order to correct some technical errors.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 3, line 7, by striking out "the full"; amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 3, line 8, by inserting after "the": "full".

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate garee to the title?

Mr. KESSLER offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, line 6 of Title, by striking out "extending for an additional period the right to partial" and inserting in lieu thereof: "providing for full"; amend Title, page 2, last line of Title, by inserting after "purposes": for a limited period of time."

They were agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 35, Printer's No. 25, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 28, 1935 (P. L. 477), entitled as amended, "An act providing for the payment of the salary, medical and hospital expenses of policemen, firemen and park guards by counties, cities, boroughs, towns and townships who are injured in the performance of their duty; and providing that absence during such injury shall not reduce any usual sick leave period," extending the provisions thereof to the State Police Force.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 110, Printer's No. 13, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 22, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:34 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, February, 22, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 21, 1955

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi Moses N. Friedman, York, Pennsylvania, guest Chaplain offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, in this—our National Brotherhood Week—we humbly bow our heads and with emotions of profound gratitude praise Thy Name for the awakened consciousness to the responsibilities and privileges our place in the society of men bestows upon us.

Ordain Thou, O Lord, we pray Thee, that we utilize this ennobling occasion for a rededication of our puisance to promote good life and its highest ideals in a manner consonant with Thy Will. Keep us ever mindful of our neighbors' inalienable appanage to the freedoms we lay claim and seek to enjoy for ourselves, the inherent human rights that were first promulgated by the Hebrew prophets of yore and re-proclaimed by the fathers of our great country. Inspire us, we beseech Thee, with a firm determination to uphold the ideals which make man the minister of his neighbor and the keeper of his brother.

Ere this assemblage of representative government embarks upon the transaction of matters incumbent upon this high office, we fervently pray Thee to support the hands of the Speaker of this House in his unfeigned efforts to discharge his duties with prudence and equity. Cause Thy wisdom, we entreat Thee, to reign supremely within the walls of this chamber and constantly abide with the chosen representatives of our commonwealth Keep them ever sagacious in their deliberations, and help them legislate wisely and beneficently in their sincere desire to best serve the cause entrusted into their hands by the citizenry of our State. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Monday, February 14, Tuesday, February 15 and Wednesday, February 16, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TOMPKINS. RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

Henry Ward Zimmer, better and affectionately known as "Ward" came to his death on Friday, January 28, 1955 after a brief illness.

He was born at Gardiau, Cameron County, Pennsylvania, on June 20, 1897, the son of Fred K. and Cora Zimmer.

He was educated in the Public Schools of Cameron County and the Westbrook Academy of Olean, New York. He was married to the former Ethel May Dandois, August 27, 1924

His first industrial experience was with the Aetna Explosive Company. In 1919 he joined, Nilco, the predecessor of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., and began his career of thirty-six years which saw him rise through the ranks to the presidency of the firm, in which capacity he was serving at the time of his death.

Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., from modest beginnings thirty years ago, has risen to the ranks of one of the Nations leaders in the lighting, radio tube, television and electronic field, with 18 industrial operations in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as well as operations in 10 other States of the Union, Puerto Rico, Brazil and Canada employing more than 25,000 people with holding operations in England and France.

He is ranked as a pioneer in his theory and practice of decentralization of manufacturing facilities and managerial responsibilities. He also developed many new manufacturing techniques and processes, especially in the mass production of radio, electronic and T.V. Picture tubes.

He was for a number of years a member of Emporium Borough Council, and for several years its president. He was for many years Republican State Committeeman from Cameron County. He was a member of the Governors Council for Economic Development and for a brief time served as its Chairman.

He was vitally interested in the youth of his community, state and nation, directing his energies in this respect through the channels of the Boy Scouts, and in 1938 was the recipient of Scoutings highest honor, the Silver Beaver Award. He served on the local and district Scout Councils, and at the time of his death was a member of the National Executive Council.

He was always a leader in the work of public charities as well as private charities. He always loaned a hand to all local and National drives, and one year served as Pennsylvania State Chairman for the U.S.O.

He was a member of the several Masonic Bodies, and a Past Master of Emporium Lodge No. 382. He was an active member of the Methodist Church and at the time of his death, president of the Board of Trustees of the Emporium Church. At the time of his death he was serving as one of the Trustees of Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pennsylvania. He was also a Director and Vice-President of Emporium Trust Company.

He was always vitally interested in his family, his friends, his community and his fellowman. He was always thinking of and doing things to better his home town, state and nation. Everywhere you look in his home community, you see evidence of his handiwork and vision. Truly his life and accomplishments are an outstanding proof that America is still the great land of opportunity.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter Kathryn and a son Henry W. Jr., his mother, Mrs. Frederick Zimmer, all of Emporium, Pennsylvania and two sisters Mildred Zimmer of Emporium, and Mrs. Robert (Doris) Henderson of Tucson, Arizona; therefore be it

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to each of the above named members of the family of Henry Ward Zimmer, as a token of the sympathy extended to them in their hour of grief by this House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. JUMP. RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1955.

When Soviet Russia, in conspiracy with Nazi Germany, invaded Lithuania in 1940, occupied the country and subsequently, by means of force and deception, incorporated it into the Soviet empire, it was an inexpressibly painful blow to all freedom loving people of the world. As American citizens we were proud of the quick and decisive action by the United States in condeming publicly the flagrant Soviet acts of violence against Lithuania and the other Baltic states of Latvia and Estonia; an official attitude of our government which has never changed.

The Kremlin conspirators are constantly trying to seduce the free nations to enter into agreements with the Soviet Union in hope of splitting their common defense efforts and gaining their tacit consent to the status quo of enslavement of millions of people under the heel of international Communism. The people of all the world are putting their hopes and the destinies of their future in the steadfast and unconditional adherence by the free democracies to the principles of justice and humanity; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, as Americans, pledge all possible aupport to the governments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the United States in their efforts to combat the Communist forces of aggression and to achieve an international peace and stability founded on principles of justice and freedom for all nations, great or small; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to develop an overall dynamic program of foreign policy for the defeat of the international Communist conspiracy; to make liberation of all Soviet enslaved countries, including Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, one of the principal aims of such a policy; to reject entering any agreements with Soviet Russia at the price of sanctioning past, present or future injustice inflicted upon many peoples in the last decade; to use all suitable means and ways to encourage liberation movements of the enslaved nations and to enlist their cooperation in the combined efforts to combat international Communism; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WORLEY. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WORLEY. House Bill No. 309, pink bill, states that it was introduced by Marion E. Markley and Mr. Steckel, February 15, 1955. The History of House Bills and Resolutions of February 21, 1955, page 59 of said history, states that House Bill 309 was by Worley and Steckel.

The index of the same History records me as a co-sponsor of House Bill 309. The white record of the bills to the press and the Senate Sergeant-at-arms room made before the bills are printed in pink, stated that the bill was introduced by Mrs. Worley and Mr. Steckel. Now the fact is that I never introduced, sponsored or co-sponsored House Bill 309 of the 1955 regular session.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

RESOLUTION

PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY

A century of educational progress is being celebrated this year by The Pennsylvania State University.

A look at Pennsylvania State University on its Centennial gives little intimation of its humble beginning. Originally conceived as a small institution for training in agriculture, it has today developed into, not only the fourth largest agricultural institution in the Nation, but also a training ground for poung men and women in virtually every field of activity needed for the advancement of this Commonwealth's various fields of endeavor.

Pennsylvania's finest institution of higher learning is located on a 3,627 acre tract in Centre County, in the geographical center of the State. Established as the Farmers High School of Pennsylvania in 1855, the institution became the Agriculture College of Pennsylvania in 1862; The Pennsylvania State College in 1874, and the Pennsylvania State University in 1953.

The University's prime purpose, which it has so well accomplished through the years, is to serve the educational interests of the Commonwealth and the Nation. This is being accomplished not only through expert instruction and guidance on the campus proper, but is extended to every part of the Commonwealth, through an extension program which every year brings vocational and cultural training which would not otherwise be available to a million Pennsylvanians.

The never ending quest of fundamental knowledge consistently displayed by The Pennsylvania State University has been immeasurably useful in developing the human and physical resources of our Commonwealth. Many important developments in agriculture and science can be directly traced to the introduction of new methods made possible by the research and experimentation there conducted.

One of the most important factors in the elevation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the position of respect which it enjoys today has been its educated citizenry, and no institution has contributed as much in this field as The Pennsylvania State University; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly hereby congratulates The Pennsylvania State University on its One Hundredth Anniversary and expresses sincere appreciation and gratitude for its contributions to Pennsylvania: and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to President Milton S. Eisenhower of The Pennsylvania State University.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

MEDICAL TRAINING FACILITIES

Mr. ZIEGLER presented the following communication and report from the Joint State Government Commission.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, I want it clearly understood here today that I have no quarrel with fair employment practice, for I believe that no person nor groups of persons should be discriminated against in receiving employment for the reason of race, color, religious creed, ancestry or national origin. Nor, Mr. Speaker, do I believe that any American worker should be discriminated against because he has reached the age of 40 or more. We have a large segment of American workers who, I might say, during our emergency carried the load for this country and in case of another emergency they would be called upon to carry the load once again.

These amendments were introduced to make a good bill a better bill. I do believe the bill in its present form does not cover enough, does not have a wide enough latitude. If these amendments are defeated we are telling a large segment of the American workers that we are no longer interested in their welfare and I do not believe the feeling of the Members is such.

I repeat that I have no quarrel with FEPC and if these amendments should be turned down, it will not make much difference whether you be black or white, Catholic, Jew or Protestant, or what your national ancestry might be, you will be denied the equal rights to seek employment and certainly, Mr. Speaker, that is not the American way.

I am going to ask the Members of this House to vote favorably on these amendments because I certainly think it is the American way of doing things.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Rigby permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RIGBY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether he stated a moment ago that he favors a Fair Employment Practice bill?

Mr. RIGBY. That is right. I voted for it in 1951.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether he has made a study, or is any study available at this time relative to the effect of putting "age" in this bill as a discriminating factor?

Mr. RIGBY. I do not believe that this would require extensive study. I believe that certainly just common good judgment would tell you that we all know that where you find most discrimination is on account of age.

I come from a highly industrial section, I come in contact with a great many people. I have had very few cases or heard of very few cases, where anybody has been discriminated against only on age and if you are past the age of 40 you can't even buy a job.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman know what effect, if any, this addition to the bill would have on existing policies concerning pension plans for employees in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. RIGBY. I do not believe it should have any effect or do anything that would hurt.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman admit that certain industries require persons who are more physically fit than other industries?

Mr. RIGBY. Well, physically fit, yes. That is right, physically fit. I would certainly agree that if a person is not physically fit to hold a particular job that he would not be hired for it, whether he be black or white, Catholic, Jew or Protestant, and I do not believe if he is not physically fit that he would even apply for the job.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman admit that age might be a very important factor in determining personnel for heavy industry such as steel, coal and so forth?

Mr. RIGBY. Well, we still come back as to whether you are physically fit. You wouldn't take a 100-pound man and put him in a steel mill or a coal mine. But I certainly believe there are certain jobs that he could perform and do well.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I am asking the membership of this House to vote down this amendment. I do not think there is a man or woman in this House who does not have complete sympathy with people who have arrived at the age where it is difficult to obtain employment.

But there are so many factors involved in the determination of whether a certain industry should or should not employ people over a certain age, which are not present when determining the question of whether a person of a certain origin, ancestry, nationality or color is involved that I think we are doing a disservice to the people who have advocated the passage of a Fair Employment Practice Commission bill for years. Certainly those people who are interested in minority groups, who have been discriminated against in seeking employment, have not completely forgotten the fact that many of their people are getting older every year and someday will be faced with the problem of whether or not they can get a certain job despite their age.

This matter of age might seem to Mr. Rigby a very simple thing but let us see what happens if this amendment goes into the bill, and becomes part of the law.

The man might be 70 years of age, in good health; he might know there is an opening in a refrigeration plant, so he goes and asks for the job. Perhaps that company has a policy that they will not take anyone over the age of 45 or 50, because perhaps by experience they know that the infirmities of age, when related to a business of that kind or, we will say, where the employe goes in and out of refrigerators, from one temperature to another temperature daily or many times a day, would lead to arthritis or many other ailments. That to me would be a very good reason why the employer would not want to employ a person of the age of 70.

So what happens? Under this bill that is amended concerning the word "age" this individual could go to the Commission or its representatives and complain that he was discriminated against because he was 70 years of age. The employer might have the most excellent reasons for having turned him down for the job so that the Commission or its representative would eventually say, "We agree one hundred per cent, you should not be made to take this man." But what has happened in the meantime? The employer or his employes have been put to the expense and the time necessary to substantiate the reason why they did not give the 70 year old man the job. I say you are complicating this thing beyond all reasonable requirements if you insert now the word "age."

I call to your attention the fact that this is the first time that I know of where age was offered as an amendment to a FEPC bill. The fact of your color, the fact of your origin, your nationality, and so forth is a fixed thing, and of course your age is a fixed thing too, but I say if three people apply for a job and they are all physically fit and competent to do that job, a person should not be discriminated against because of his color or his creed. But if another person who is away up in years applies for that same job, I say a lot of different facts are involved. It is not a matter of discriminating because they do not like people over the age of 40 or they do not like people over the age of 50 or 60. I think industry has made a study of these things and in many instances has very excellent reasons for not wanting to employ a person over a certain age, and I think one of the surest ways to kill this bill, if that is the desire of anybody, is to vote for this amendment and insert this as a factor of discrimination.

I am asking the membership of this House to vote against this amendment. I call attention to the fact that if anybody wants to introduce a separate bill making age a factor in discrimination, that can easily be done. It can be studied, it can be thought out carefully and we will not complicate and ruin the effect of this piece of legislation by putting it in this bill.

Mr. RIGBY. I would like to call the gentleman's attention to Section 3, page 3, starting at line 11, where it reads "Section 3. Right to freedom from discrimination in employment. The opportunity for an individual to employment for which he is qualified———"

I would also like to call to the attention of the Majority Leader that the state of Massachusetts passed an FEPC bill including age. I understand it was passed by referendum and I understand the bill is working very successfully there. I believe it would do the same in Pennsylvania. It passed in 1950.

Mr. READINGER. I have been informed that Massachusetts had an FEPC bill on it's statute books which was in operation and that some years after, I don't know if it was one year, two years, or five years, the factor of age was added. I would be happy if the gentleman had available today the terms of the Massachusetts bill.

For example, does it speak of age 40; does it speak of age 50; does it differentiate between industries? I say we do not have that information here. That is why I asked him at the beginning of our discussion whether he had any study available or had made a study of this matter himself. I believe he said that he did not.

The fact that some other state has an FEPC bill with age as a factor does certainly not mean that he is creating the same type of a statute in this state by his proposed amendment.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the Majority Leader that I have written to the Secretary of the State of Massachusetts, asking for a copy of the bill, and if the Majority Leader would be willing to postpone this bill I would be glad to furnish him with the copy of it when I get it.

Mr. READINGER. I will not be willing to postpone action on this bill, Mr. Speaker. I believe the gentleman has had several years' time in which to get this bill that he is speaking about, and I do not think now we should wait for its arrival.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, line 2, of title, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 5, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 14, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 5, page 5, line 5, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 5, page 5, line 17, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 5, page 8, line 1, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 7, page 13, line 8, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 7, page 14, line 2, by inserting after "ancestry" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 7, page 14, line 9, by inserting before "or" physical handicap

Amend Sec. 8, page 14, line 12, by inserting after "ligious" physical handicapped

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this amendment provides that "physically handicapped" be added to this bill.

I know in past sessions there have been separate bills introduced to take care of the physically handicapped, that they should not be discriminated against. They are a group, those who are disabled through no fault of their own, and they are entitled to work.

Great educational programs have been in process over the years—in the last eight or ten years as you know—to get the physically handicapped back to work. I see no reason why, while we are dealing with the question of discrimination of groups, a physically handicapped person, who is capable of performing a job, should be rejected just because of his physical disability.

Among these physically handicapped today, of course, we have a great number of ex-service men. Why we shall say to an ex-service man or a physically handicapped person, we do not want you because of your physical disability even though you can do the job, I do not know.

For that reason I have introduced this amendment relating to the physically handicapped and would ask that you vote "aye" in favor of this particular amendment.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman was a Member during the 1953 session when an FEPC bill passed this House, may I inquire whether the gentleman at that session introduced this amendment to that bill or sought to have it put into the bill?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I did not. I see no relationship to that question in this particular amendment here today.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman vote for the FEPC bill that passed in the 1953 session?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, no sir. That has nothing to do with this particular bill. I stated my reasons in full at that time and you will find it in the Journal of 1953.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, but the gentleman did not make any effort to insert the factor of physically handicapped in that bill, did he?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, at that time I did not, and I see no relation to this particular bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to vote down this amendment.

The gentleman who has offered it, in my opinion, is not in sympathy with any FEPC bill, and it is my opinion that the more amendments he could succeed in inserting in this bill to make it impossible, or at least very difficult of administration, the more it would suit his purpose.

As I said concerning the aged, the people who are getting old, all of us have a great deal of sympathy and consideration for people who are getting old or who are physically handicapped. We want to see them employed. We passed numerous bills in this House seeking to do something to help the physically handicapped, but the FEPC bill is not the place for it.

Every time you insert something more in this particular type of legislation, upon which somebody can make a claim of discrimination because of things other than race, color and creed, you are making the task of my commission that would have to administer it practically impossible. You will make life so burdensome for all employers that you would probably have employers revolt in the state of Pennsylvania, and perhaps that is one of the best ways to kill this type of legislation.

I say that no matter how deeply we feel toward the physically handicapped we are not doing them any favor by putting this into this bill. I ask that the membership vote down the amendment.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want it distinctly understood by the Members of this House and by the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the fact that I voted against the FEPC bill that was in this General Assembly in 1951 and 1953 has absolutely no relationship to my position in connection with FEPC.

I have never been against FEPC, but I have been against the particular pieces of legislation which have been put into this General Assembly for the purpose of accomplishing that purpose. Let that be known to the whole Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Talking about having so much work if we put the physically handicapped into this bill, I wonder where so much of the work has been created? Previous bills decided that we could do the work with three men at an $8000 a year salary. This bill provides for five men with $12,000 a year salary. With such an increased personnel, they ought to be able to handle a few of the other distressed and discriminated against folks in the state of Pennsylvania. I certainly think the physically handicapped are one of these groups, and that we ought to give them consideration.

I would just like to know, and I would like to ask the Majority Leader at this time, just exactly what his understanding of the definition of discrimination is?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

I have head the question, Mr. Speaker. I would say that under this bill it is unlawful to discriminate against a person because of race, color, religious creed, ancestry or national origin. It is on page 5 of the bill, lines 8 and 9.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the bill says that. I am asking the Majority Leader his definition or understanding of discrimination.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, there are so many types of discrimination that it would be impossible to answer the gentleman's question without spending the next two hours on this microphone. But we are only dealing here with the discrimination spoken about in the FEPC Bill bearing House Bill No. 229.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman wants to limit his definition to the various factors contained in House Bill No. 229?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, that is all we are concerned with, the factors involved in House Bill 229.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, Mr. Speaker, I am concerned with more than that. If we are to eliminate discrimination in employment because of certain disabilities or because of certain groups or classes and so forth, why do we not do that?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman asking me?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, after all the physically handicapped and aged persons get just as hungry as anyone else that I know of.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman asking me?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, my answer to the gentleman would be that no employer discriminates against a person who is physically handicapped. He uses the man or the woman if he can, depending upon what type of business he is in. If the person's eyes are good and they might fit well in his employment, then he employs them. He does not care if they have a club foot or a cleft palate. On the other hand, if a person is in a different type of business which requires two good strong hands, he cannot employ someone with only one hand.

I say that is the answer to the problem that you are raising right now—the physically handicapped. Employers by and large do employ people who are physically handicapped if they can fit into their industry or their particular occupation. We do not need them in this bill and we should not have them in this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does that not apply to all the other classes that are in the bill? Are they not only supposed to hire them if they are capable of filling the classified job that they apply for?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. They are supposed to employ them if they are capable of doing it. But apparently the studies have shown very clearly that even though they are completely capable of doing the work they are required to do if they are employed, they are being discriminated against not because they cannot do the work, not because they are physically well or not well, but because of their nationality, their color, or their creed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, how about the physically handicapped that can do the job and they will not hire them because they are physically handicapped?

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Amend Sec. 8, page 14, line 12, by inserting after "ligious" selective service

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this is just a simple amendment, to take in another class in the Commonwealth that has arisen during the period since the last war. It is with us today, and we don't know how long it is likely to continue. Here is a group young, vigorous, physically able, capable of performing work, and occupations, and so forth, otherwise they would never have been classified 1A by a Selective Service Board. Yet how many of those men who go out today to look for work cannot get work because of that 1A classification. Employers do not want to take them on because they do not know when they are likely to be called into service.

We are worried about the youth today, we are worried about juvenile delinquency, we are worried about that section of our society, and what is going to happen to us. Certainly I think this group of individuals should be accorded the privilege of being able to get a job when they apply for one. That is the purpose of this amendment, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. May I interrogate the gentleman from Cameron?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me whether he knows whether the Selective Service Act was in effect during the Session of 1953?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I believe it was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman advise me whether or not selective service was a factor of discrimination in the 1953 FEPC bill which passed this House?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Whether it was there to the extent it is today or not, I couldn't say, but what 1953 has to do with this bill I don't know.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Floor Leader?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The Majority Floor Leader will proceed to interrogate himself.

Mr. READINGER. I shall be very happy to interrogate myself.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Floor Leader will proceed to interrogate himself; it will be an intelligent interrogation.

Mr. READINGER. I was just about to observe, Mr. Speaker, that I will be talking to myself soon.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman could not talk to a nicer fellow. Will the temporary Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. When he gets tired talking to himself, he may interrogate me.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the Minority Leader whether during the 1953 Session when he was the Majority Leader the civil service status of a person was included as a discriminating factor in the FEPC bill passed during that Session?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe the gentleman means selective service.

Mr. READINGER. Selective service, I mean.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. At that time, being a bipartisan Speaker and not being too interested in either of the sides and trying to be honestly bipartisan, I couldn't answer the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. I beg the gentleman's pardon. I am thinking of the 1951 Session.

Mr. CHARLES C. Smith. What was the gentleman's question? Would he repeat it? I didn't hear it quite clearly.

Mr. READINGER. Whether the FEPC bill that was introduced by the majority side at that time included selective service status as a factor?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would be able to answer the gentleman's question truthfully that it was not, but, nevertheless, if we were in error at that time, we don't intend to be in error at this time.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

May I interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman advise me whether the FEPC bill which passed during the 1953 Session when he was the Majority Floor Leader, included as a factor of discrimination the selective service status of individuals?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, the bill passed did not have selective service in it as an item of discrimination.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, the amendment offered is so politically obvious that I do not think I need do more than ask the Members of this House to vote against it. What was good enough for you in 1953 is good enough for us at this time.

This is a factor which again should not be inserted in a bill of this type. As the gentleman well knows, there have been many persons who have been in Class 1A who have been turned down for certain jobs and usually the reason for turning down an applicant in that class is because the job itself requires a training period of several years. There are very few employers who wish to make an investment in a boy who is about to be called into the service under the law of this nation when several years of expensive training are necessary to use that person. It is an unfortunate situation, I agree with you, but to put that into this bill by way of an amendment is just another way to kill a good FEPC bill.

I am asking the entire membership, including the minority which voted for the bill without this amendment in it, to vote this amendment down.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I still cannot understand the relation of the 1951 and 1953 FEPC bills to the one that is now before us. Because we made a mistake in 1951 and 1953 by having omitted selective service status is no reason why we should continue that mistake. I can assure you that if I am a Member of the majority here in 1957 I certainly will insist upon selective service status being incorporated into any FEPC bill that the Republican Party will sponsor.

Mr. READINGER. I would suggest that we would be happy to take the same roll call as on the last amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the Minority Floor Leader does not desire to take the same roll call. The question recurs,

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the Democratic platform, at least the one that got into my hands and the one I saw in the paper, stated that they would provide that women in industry would receive equal pay for equal work. I am wondering why they stopped there and say that women should not have the same rights in connection with job opportunities as they do with pay. If we are going to be fair to the women, let us be fair to them.

Furthermore, borrowing a phrase from my good friend, Mr. Lovett over there, the charter of the United Nations takes due recognition that there should be no discrimination in sex. Certainly while we are dealing with groups and as long as women are capable of performing the job, I do not know why we should not include them.

Of course, we are talking here principally of women, but by the same token maybe a man can do a job in a woman's factory. Why should we say that the man should not be employed to do their job if he is capable of doing it? He should not be discriminated against there on account of his sex. I believe while we are on the subject of discrimination that sex should be added as a feature of this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this amendment I approach with the utmost fear and trepidation. Being a happily married man, I certainly would hate to have my wife misunderstand what I am about to say, because I certainly am not against women and I do not believe the gentleman from Cameron is, but he has just said he is not against men either. It seems obvious that this is just another device to scuttle the FEPC bill by making it impossible of administration that I must again ask the membership of this House to vote down this amendment.

None of us like to see women discriminated against, or men discriminated against, by an employer. I think by and large most employers, if they pick any particular sex, pick that sex which is best suited to the industry.

But while I am asking the membership to vote against this amendment, we certainly hope that the women of Pennsylvania do not think that we are against sex.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask for a roll call on this amendment and I would be willing to take the previous roll call if it is satisfactory to the Members of the House.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say to the gentleman, Mr. Thompson, that I certainly would like to be fair. The ladies in my mind seem to get along pretty well with the men, and I think we are being perfectly fair in this thing. I do not see any need for Mr. Thompson to get excited and think that sex is not being taken care of in this particular legislation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in order that I might not have a mistaken identity, my name ends in "kins." The one with the "son" sits right down there, from Pittsburgh.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Cameron for his willingness to accept the previous roll call. The Clerk will call the roll.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have another amendment, but I would like the privilege of making a brief statement before I offer the amendment.

The SPEAKER. There being no objections, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I just want to make an observation at this point.

The bill before us provides for discrimination in connection with race, color, religious creed, ancestry and national origin.

This House has just voted down age, physically handicapped, selective service status and sex.

The SPEAKER. Oh, no! Sex remains.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Not according to the vote of this House. Does anybody want to change their vote? I can come to but one conclusion———

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf, rise?

Mr. SARRAF. This sex problem really bothers me———

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny is out of order. The gentleman from Cameron has the floor unless he chooses to yield it.

Mr. SARRAF. I will not ask him to yield it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I just call your attention to the fact that the bill provides for five items in connection with fair employment practices. We have voted down an additional four, and I can come to but one conclusion, that for every minority you try to define a new minority springs up, and once you start tampering with the quality chain reaction sets in.

The Pittsburgh Press in an editorial on May 27, 1951, referred to the then bill, which was similar to this one, as a "forced employment" bill. I come to the conclusion from the vote in this House this afternoon that this is a "preferential" employment bill instead of a fair employment bill.

Mr. Speaker, I would like unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will send his amendments to the desk.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 5, page 7, lines 16 to 19 both inclusive by striking out all of said lines

Amend Sec. 5, page 8, lines 1 and 2 by striking out both of said lines

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I want to read the section which this amendment purposes to strike out. It is Section 5(g) of the bill which reads as follows:

> "* * * it shall be an unlawful employment practice 1 * * "For any individual seeking employment to publish or cause to be published any advertisement which specifies or in any manner expresses his race color religious creed ancestry or national origin or in any manner expresses a limitation or preference as to the race color religious creed ancestry or national origin of any prospective employer."

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire, under the provisions of that Section 5(g) which I have just read, while looking for work would I dare to advertise or disclose that I am an American?

Mr. READINGER. I do not think that would be forbidden.

Mr. TOMPKINS. You do not think it would be forbidden.

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then you say that an American has no national ancestry or national origin?

Mr. READINGER. I did not say that. He might have been born in Italy, an Italian citizen, he might have come over here and been naturalized, he might be an American.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, if I should elect or choose to say that I am an American, it would be perfectly all right according to this bill?

Mr. READINGER. I am expressing my personal opinion. I am not voicing the majority's opinion because I do not know what it is. I have not talked to them about it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, I would like to have a definite answer on that because I want to know whether or not we have Americans in this country.

Mr. READINGER. I suggest the gentleman poll every Member of this House, then, and get his own personal opinion. I have given him mine.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I take it your answer is yes, you would dare to advertise?

Mr. READINGER. My personal opinion is that if I want to say I am John Smith, I want a job, I am an American, I do not think there would be anything wrong with that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It would not be prohibitive under the provisions of this bill, under this section?

Mr. READINGER. I think not. It does not deal with national origin, it does not deal with ancestry, it does not deal with creed, does not deal with my race or color. It is just a statement of fact.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Aren't you by race an American? Aren't you by national origin, an American?

Mr. READINGER. I am, but I can think of a lot of people who are not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. If you are an American by national origin, then you would be violating the subject of national origin by stating you are an American, would you not?

Mr. READINGER. I would not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, it seems that you blow both hot and cold. First you say you are an American, then you say by national origin you are an American, but it is not a violation of the bill to say you are an American.

Mr. READINGER. All right, for the purpose of closing the argument, I will agree with you. Now where do we go?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I just want to get your answer. For the purpose of argument you say it would be a violation of the act, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. I did not say that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What did you agree with?

Mr. READINGER. I agreed that I was an American.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What does that imply?

Mr. READINGER. It implys a great deal. I am very happy and proud to be an American. Everything that it implies.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Your national origin is that of an American?

Mr. READINGER. I say, Mr. Tompkins, the fact that I stated in my advertisement that I am an American does not necessarily mean that is my national origin, because I could have been born in some other country, a citizen of some other country, and become an American citizen by naturalization. When I state the fact then I am an American, it does not mean that was my national origin. If I made the statement that I was born in America and was an American citizen, I would say that is probably forbidden by this bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then you do not think that Americans as such have any national origin?

Mr. READINGER. No, I did not say that. Everybody born here in the United States has his national origin as an American. I say that a statement in a newspaper that John Smith, an American, wants a job does not mean that is his national origin at all. He could have been born in Greece, Italy, Germany, or some other place.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And if an employer asked him that question, that according to your contention would not be a violation of the act?

Mr. READINGER. I do not think it is a violation of the act to ask a person facts about his life, no. When you discriminate and do not employ them because they were born in some other country, then you are violating this act.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, supposing I tell them I was born in America, what happens to me?

Mr. READINGER. You would probably get the job. You are a good man.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What would it do to me under the provisions of this bill? I contend my national origin is that of an American, born in this country. What does that do to me under this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Nothing.

Mr. TOMPKINS. National origin, then does not mean anything?

Mr. READINGER. It is an unfair labor practice for any employment agency under this sub-section to fail or refuse to classify properly, or refer for employment, or otherwise to discriminate against any individual because of his race, color, religious creed, ancestry, or national origin. I say it is a fact that it is discrimination. For that reason that is forbidden.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Very well. If while looking for work

I should advertise or disclose that I am a Christian, would that be a violation of the provisions of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Yes, I would say it would, because the bill sets forth religious creed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then under Section 9 of the bill, if I should advertise that I am a Christian while looking for work, I would have to confer, conciliate and try to be persuaded that I have no right to profess my faith, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. You would have no right to profess it for the purpose of seeking employment, because the very statement of your creed, your color, and so forth, is specifying a part of you which is the basis for this discrimination which we are trying to eliminate. If you are going to stop employers from discriminating because of race, color and creed, you have to stop the people seeking employment from saying, I want employment because I am white, or because I am colored, or because I am a Jew, or a Catholic, or something else. You do not stop it at one end, you stop it at both ends.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, then, I would have to confer, conciliate and try to be persuaded I have no right to say that, according to you?

Mr. READINGER. I presume that under the bill the commission and its representatives could do that to the individual involved, yes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And if I refuse to do so, then under Section 11 I could be put in jail and fined, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. If you violate any law of this Commonwealth that carries a penalty you can be put in jail or fined. This is no different than any other law that carries a penalty. If you determine by legislative act a certain thing is bad for society and is not to be done and prescribe a penalty, those who choose to violate that order of society as decided by this Legislature will have to suffer the penalty.

Mr. TOMPKINS. While looking for work, would I be allowed to advertise and disclose that I am a citizen under the provisions of this section of the bill?

Mr. READINGER. Which section are you referring to?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Section 5(g), the one I read at the start of this debate.

Mr. READINGER. I do not understand which section the gentleman is referring to?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Section 5, sub-Section g.

Mr. READINGER. On page 7?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Page 7, that is right.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think not. It does not relate to national origin, color, race, religious creed or ancestry.

Mr. TOMPKINS, Mr. Speaker, then I could advertise that I am a citizen, is that right?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if you were a citizen, you could, I think. You are speaking impersonally here, I take it, are we not?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that is right. I am trying to get some information.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, we were not referring to you or to me personally. We are speaking about a person.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think it would be quite proper to state in an ad that I am aged 46, I am aged 21, 22, seeking employment, in certain employment. I see nothing wrong with that and nothing in the bill which would prohibit it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, age has nothing to do with citizenship rights.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not speaking of citizenship. I simply commented on another matter which a person could insert in an advertisement seeking employment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would call attention of the gentleman from Berks and the gentleman from Cameron that a debate and interrogation are different. The Chair wishes they would interrogate and then debate.

The gentleman from Cameron will proceed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I shall ask the question again, if I were looking for work would I be allowed to advertise and disclose that I am a citizen?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I gave as my opinion the fact that under subsection g, you could.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would I be allowed to advertise that I am an alien?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think so.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, if I were looking for work, would I be allowed to advertise or disclose that I am a Communist?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think you could. That is not a religious creed. It certainly does not have anything to do with national origin, race or color.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I still do not know from the answers of the Majority Leader whether or not I would be allowed to advertise I am an American. But certainly, he gave a clear answer with whether or not I was a Christian. He said that if I advertised that I was a Christian I would be in violation of this act and I would have to confer and conciliate as to whether or not I had any belief as a Christian, and if I refused to do that I could be put in jail.

He gives a pretty clear cut answer to the fact that a Communist can advertise his wares as such. He will not allow a Christian to advertise his ware as such.

I would merely like to call your attention to one thing in that connection. I wish that all of you before you vote on this issue, would walk over to the main door of the Governor's reception room and look at one of the paintings over there depicting the life of William Penn, the founder of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and sit down with him in that prison cell and ask him why he was in that prison cell. When he would answer you, I am sure he would say "I am in this prison cell because I insisted upon my right to say that I am a Quaker." He stood by that belief and on that belief he founded this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Are we doing right to tell William Penn that he founded this Commonwealth upon the sands instead of the rocks? Are we doing right to send people to jail because they are Christians?

We today are in the beginning of brotherhood week. Can it be that we are going to try to promote brotherhood by putting people in jail? Just how far are we going to go in some of these matters?

When you see the full implications of what is contained in this mesaure you will discover why I voted against this measure consistently and persistently. We are trying to develop ourselves as a Christian nation. We recently wrote into the pledge of the flag the word "under God," and yet we say to a person that while he is looking for work, if he discloses that he is a Christian, he will put you in jail.

We will let the Communist advertise his wares up and down the street. And don't forget that this particular bill in '51 and '53 did not include our schools; but the '55 bill does. Are we going to say to our students in school today and to our school boards whom we have compelled by legislation, that I sat here and voted for, to teach American history and to teach civics in our schools, that you can say all you want to about a Communist but you dare not say one single, solitary word about a Christian? How much longer are we going to seal the lips of our people in the profession of their faith?

That is the reason I have been against this legislation and voted "no" on it twice before. That is reason why if this section is left in this bill, I shall vote against it again. If we can deny the people of this country their freedom in that one respect, we can go on and start to deny them in other respects. I am going to ask for a roll call vote on this amendment.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has just finished an eloquent and very ingenious argument in support of his amendment.

I do not think many of the Members in this House are going to be confused as he is confused, in my opinion, by mixing up the things he has chosen to mix. He tries to make a great point of the fact a person under this section could not advertise that he is a Christian but that he could advertise that he is a Communist. You can certainly advertise that you are a Republican, or a Democrat, or an anarchist as long as they are a political belief and not a religious belief.

If the gentleman will go back over the history of employment in this state and many other states in this nation, he will find that the people who have been discriminated against mainly have been the minority groups because of their religion, their ancestry and their color. Nobody is going to stop anybody from professing his faith. You can shout it to the mountain tops and we should do it. We should not only be Christians, if that is our faith, but we should live that way.

I can put a big ad in the paper any day in the week stating that I am a Christian or I am a Jew or I am a Catholic, if we choose, but we cannot do it in connection with seeking employment, because as long as you continue to do that, you are going to continue to have discrimination by employers against a certain group.

Christianity means a great deal, and I know it means a great deal to the gentleman who has just spoken, but to me it means among other things the fact that we should not discriminate against people because of the place where they were born, or the faith to which they belong when it comes to seeking employment. The facts are clear that there has been that type of discrimination. We are trying to get rid of it by this bill. We are not telling anybody that he cannot profess to be a Christian, or that he is Communist or something of that kind; but when it comes to advertising for employment we are saying, "You can't do it," because as long as you do, you are going to foster and spawn more discrimination on the part of certain people who are looking for an opportunity to discriminate against a certain religious person or a certain color of person and so forth.

I do not think the gentleman's argument is valid in any respect. I say I respect his opinion and how he feels about it but I do say that it is confused thinking. This bill does not do anything such as he has talked about except in respect to advertising for employment. If that is wrong, then I want to be wrong because any time I can do something to eliminate prejudice because of race, color and creed, I will help to eliminate it. I think that is real Christianity.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I am not confused. I have made a definite statement to the effect that I can be put in jail if I say I am a Christian while looking for work. I still think if they can put me in jail when I say I am Christian for that reason, they can come along and say that I can be put in jail if I say that I am a Christian while I am walking down the street to my church. They can say that I can be put in jail for saying I am a Christian when I go out on a political campaign. If they can seal my lips once they can seal them a second time. That was the very foundation of the fight of William Penn. You may not seal our lips and you would start to make sand out of the rocks I spoke about.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, and I am going to be very brief. This matter has been covered quite thoroughly, I think. But there are times when we must seal people's lips from saying certain things, depending on the objective in saying them.

It is a crime in this state to cry out the word "fire" in a public theater, as the gentleman well knows, because the normal result would either create a panic, a riot, and probably injury and death.

If we can say to the people of this state you may not cry "fire" at will, whether a fire or not, we certainly should have the right to say you should not advertise your religious beliefs when you are seeking for work. Because you are creating an unhealthy, anti-social and bad situation when you continue to do it. That is about what we are doing in this bill. We are telling people they may not do a certain thing because of the effect of it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to clarify a couple of things.

First of all I wish to state that the opinions expressed here this afternoon are entirely my own and are not party endorsed.

Secondly, I am perfectly willing to take the same roll call on this amendment as we had on the previous one, if it is satisfactory to the Members of the House.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask a question and I do not care which side answers it pertaining to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order.

Mr. VAUGHAN. I would like to know if as a candidate for the Legislature, when the Women's Voters League sends out a request asking your qualifications and so forth, as most of us do we finish up by stating that we are members of the Catholic Church, or we are members of the Methodist Church, or the Jewish Church, or whatever Church it may be, would it be unlawful under this bill, in seeking employment?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to vote "no" on this amendment if you are going to take a fast roll call. I voted "aye" on the previous amendment and the one before that I voted "aye." I desire to vote "no" on this one.

Mr. LAFORE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" on this amendment. I voted "no" on the previous amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 11, page 22, lines 16 to 20 both inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 11, page 34, lines 1 to 4 both inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 12, page 23, line 5 by striking out "12" and inserting "11."

Amend Sec. 13, page 23, line 19 by striking out "13" and inserting "12."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this amendment merely strikes out Section 11 which is the penalty Section providing for a fine of not more than $100.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I vote "aye" on the previous amendments and I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on this one.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no" on all of the amendments and I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on this amendment—without any apologies.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Parliamentarian informs me that the Minority Leader requested the Chair to recognize Mr. Davis.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, the hour grows late. May I therefore request unanimous consent of the House to have admitted to the Journal for this day a statement embodying the remarks I would have made by voice at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman. Without objection the remarks will be recorded in the Journal.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, the need for fair employment legislation in Pennsylvania is clearly recognized.

But, as a member of the opposition party of this House, I feel that House Bill No. 229, the FEPC bill, should not pass this body without some critical notations.

At the outset most students of FEPC must face the fact that to some extent it opens the door for members of minority racial, color and religious groups to blackmail their ways to jobs and privileges at the expense of the more numerous competitors; competitors not so specifically protected by the FEPC laws. In other words a minority group members has the leverage of a nuisance value against an employer. He can, all to easily hail the employer before the Commission, a sequence which can with little enough action prove costly in terms of the time and money of the employer. To escape this burden, many employers may choose to employ minority group applicants whose competence and technical qualifications are inferior to applicants from the majority groups and this solution may be especially prevalent under this bill which contains no equal competence clause.

However, if extremes of such minority group tendencies to coerce employers do not become commonplace, I believe, that these anti social lapses can be accepted—as Samuel Lubell in his "The Future of American Politics" terms it—towards—"forging a discipline of tolerance to restrain those prejudices . . ." racial, religious and ethnic.

But there are other features of House Bill No. 229 which cannot be so readily condoned.

As a first count, I cite two provisions, Mr. Speaker:

Subsection 7, Sub paragraph (i), page 12, empowers the Commission:

> "to utilize voluntary and uncompensated services of private individuals and organizations . . ."

Section 8, Sub paragraph (b), page 14, authorizes the Commission:

> "to accept contributions from any person . . . and may seek and enlist the cooperation of private, charitable, religious, labor, civic and benevolent organizations."

These provisions, although of limited scope, advance recognizances for opening up avenues of fiscal powers for the executive branch beyond the reach of control of the legislative. It would seem to be a tendency, if not countered at the start, which could ultimately upset the constitutional balance of powers; adding to the powers of the Governor at the expense of the General Assembly.

In his great work, "The American Commonwealth," Lord Bryce defines the issue:

> ". . . there remains the power which in free countries has been long regarded as the citidel of parliamentary supremacy, the power of the purse. Congress has the sole right of raising money and appropriating it to the service of the state. Its management of national finance is significantly illustrative of the plan which separates the legislative from the executive."

This brewing breach of the Legislatures' "power of the purse" is a precedent, Mr. Speaker, of far reaching and serious possibilities. Its constitutionality, I doubt. Its direction is clearly unwise and potentially destructive.

Then the proposal, cited above, to empower the Commission to accept private contributions, is in support of an educational program, set forth under Section 8, page 14. This section authorizes the Commission:

> ". . . to prepare a comprehensive educational program designed for students of the schools . . . and for all other residents . . . to eliminate prejudice against groups."

Now it is one thing to teach ethics and moralities and patriotism in the schools. Such objectives are broad and manifestly in harmony with fitting growing youngsters for the responsibilities of citizenship.

But just where is the line to be drawn between teachings of broad, universal application and of the specific?

If it is justifiable to direct teachings against the sins of several kinds of prejudice . . . racial, religious and ethnic, for example . . . why is it not justifiable to undertake teachings against others kinds of prejudice?

To illustrate, perhaps a bit in the vein of hyperbole, why would it not have been in order to have attached an educational proviso to the 1953 Act which set up the sales tax, directing public school courses to show the value to our community of a broad based tax. It would have countered the spread of much misinformation.

Certainly, Mr. Speaker, there have been few more out and out appeals to prejudice in recent years in this Commonwealth that the politically slanted crack at each purchase "And a penny for the Governor." Here is prejudice in the raw. Here is pre-judging by a wisecrack, here is a real McCarthyism . . . guilt by association.

Seriously, it is an unwholesome trend for a government to set up state educational courses to propagandize a policy. It smacks of the methods of Hitler and Goebbles.

Moreover, this specific proposal to set up educational courses against prejudice would seem entirely unnecessary.

If the schools are doing their work well, then they are bringing our youth along the roads of clear, honest, objective thinking. And such quality of thinking inherently rises well above the murky levels of prejudice.

But if our schools are not doing their work well, then it is up to us legislators to find out why, and to help by corrective action. Surely, government propaganda programs are not the remedy. If they were, could thought-control be so very far ahead?

Now from my point of vantage, House Bill No. 229 suffers from these defects. As such, it is not to well designed to do the job intended.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, on page 4, section 4b, it states that any person employing six or more persons within the Commonwealth are subject to bill. May I inquire the basis of the magical figure of "six"?

Mr. READINGER. You may. I am not too familiar with the history of this particular section. But I would say that the purpose was to eliminate the persons who employ one or two persons. While it is the same in principle if such a person discriminates, it is being placed in this bill to make a start against the great amount of discrimination which takes place in industry and other places where many people are employed.

I presume that some day in the future, after this bill has been on our statute books and has been found to work well, no doubt people who employ less than six will be covered.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now I am all confused. I admit that I am confused this time, Mr. Speaker. We are trying to eliminate discrimination, why do we start with those who employ six or more? Better, why not make it fifty before we start on the discrimination stuff. I am really confused on this one. I must admit that. To eliminate discrimination why do we start at any particular figure. Why don't we start with employment?

I have no desire to further prolong this debate. For the purposes of the record I would like to insert an editorial from the Meadville Tribune Republican which was reprinted in the Harrisburg Patriot News, February 20, 1955, which states my position entirely in connection with FEPC.

FEPC

> Meadville Tribune-Republican: "Job discrimination should be banned in Pennsylvania—not by statute but by the inherent decency and fair-mindedness of our citizens. It cannot be expected, by even the most optimistic, that old prejudices and old habits would disappear with the advent of another law. . . . We do not believe that prejudice can be dispelled by law and we doubt if minority groups wish to receive treatment forcibly, rather than voluntarily, extracted from their fellow citizens. Great progress has been made in enlarging mental horizons and human understanding. The time surely will come when discrimination no longer will be a problem. But it will come through education, enlightenment and good will—not by law . . . We would prefer to see this session of the Legislature remembered as the session that reaffirmed the rights and liberties of Pennsylvania citizens—one that sought to protect them from bureaucratic inquisitors. We would prefer to see it remembered as the session that reduced rather than increased government interference in the lives of Pennsylvania citizens and stated again that the end does not justify the means. We don't approve of discrimination; it's wrong. But we believe the people of Pennsylvania have the right to be wrong in their prejudices, their emotions and their opinions."

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I would just like to state my reasons for voting against this bill.

First, I believe it is the wrong approach. I am not opposed to the idea. I think discrimination if it does exist, and we understand that it does in some isolated cases, is certainly entirely wrong. But I do not believe that we will be able to legislate morals or tolerance. I think we could educate to it. I think much has been done toward educating the people to bring about an understanding between the different races and creeds, but when you try to tell a man that he shall love his neighbor it is pretty hard to do.

We tried telling them that they could not drink back in the prohibition days under the old Volstead act. That probably was one of the greatest farces that was ever imposed upon the people.

I think this bill as it stands is even worse. I think it is discrimination in itself. Under this bill it would be entirely possible for a perfectly innocent person to be fined, jailed and so on and so forth, even though he may not have discriminated in his own mind.

Why I say that is this. If a man would come to me for employment and I might know something of his background and I did not choose to hire him, but I hired someone else and he happened to be one of the minority, he could charge me with discrimination and claim it was his color or creed. The burden of proof would be on me. Maybe the reason that I would not want to hire him might not in the eyes of those who were trying me, be ample reason and yet I would be justified in my own mind that I was doing the right thing, not taking into consideration his color or his creed.

I believe the thing will build up resistance and prejudice. I think that when you try to tell a person that they must do a thing you immediately are building up a wall as to why they are not going to do it, or they do not want to do it.

So I would be only too glad today to vote for ten times the money that it is going to take to administer this bill, and that is going to be plenty, to be used in education but not to be used in persecution. I think a man is innocent until he is proven guilty, under this bill he is guilty until be is proven innocent.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to be too long because I think we have talked enough and I think we understand each other.

I did want to, just as a matter of record, state that during the 1951 and 1952 and the 1953 and 1954 Sessions, this House passed with Republican aid and Democratic aid an FEPC bill.

I am quite sure this bill is going to pass today. We want to assure you that there will be sufficient votes on this side of the House that will vote for an FEPC bill. They are doing it because of their own feeling. They are doing it because of a strong plank in the Republican platform and I would like to quote from that platform in its civil rights plank. It says that the Republican party of Pennsylvania pledges vigorous action for the immediate enactment of effective FEPC legislation.

While we may have varied in our type of bill, the methods of the bill, probably we would not have been quite as expensive in administrating it., we nevertheless are for an FEPC bill. There will be a sufficient number of votes on this side of the House to support the now majority.

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker I am going to make this very short, I really don't want to detain you any longer than you have already been detained today.

This bill prohibits discrimination because of race, color religious creed, ancestry or national origin, by persons in position to give employment, such as employers, employment agencies, labor organizations and others.

America is composed of many types of people of various religious beliefs, different colors and coming from many countries, in addition to those who are native born. Now all people are entitled to equal treatment and equal opportunity and in this way, this country will demonstrate to other lands of different political thoughts that this country has the fairest laws for the betterment of all people regardless of birth or position.

The passage of such a bill will be a stepping stone in the progress of brotherhood, which we all preach but which unfortunately is not practiced. This type of bill will promote unity among more people and will add to the strength of this country because of the spirit of good will and equality of opportunity. Many communities in this State now have such laws and it would benefit our population for the entire State to enjoy the provisions of fair treatment in employment which are now available to only portions of our citizens.

I, therefore, urge each and everyone of you here to vote "aye" on this bill today.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I will be very brief. I think we are all going to be proud and happy of the fact that we passed an FEPC Bill today. I think we can be assured that whoever serves on the Commission to enforce this bill, to administer it after it becomes a law, will do so wisely and with understanding.

Some of the Members have expressed concern about people being arrested, put in jail or fined because of something which might be defined as a crime under this bill. I think the experience of New York and some of the other states has indicated that these acts are administered wisely. The main emphasis is put upon education, but there are times when education simply doesn't go far enough. You could educate many people, you can persuade many people, but there are always a certain minimum number who will not be persuaded or will not be educated. Those are the ones who have got to be compelled and that is the reason why we have penalties in this bill. Too many years have gone by before we have taken this step, and it is my hope that we not only pass it in the House today but the Senate will also pass it so that it will get on the statue books of Pennsylvania and then we will know we have done a fine thing.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority Leader desire a full record roll call?

Mr. SMITH. I think that is what the minority side would desire, yes.

The SPEAKER. The Chair instructs the recording clerks to record only those who are in their seats and voting.

(The roll was called.)

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we do not intend to ask for a verification of the roll under the assumption of the Chair's instruction that only those who are in their seats and voting be recorded. We have been given that assurance and because of that assurance we do not ask for a verification at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has instructed the Recording Clerks that only those Members answering to their names themselves and are present in the Hall of the House shall be recorded as voting.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, if there are those who care to know my reason for voting in the negative on this bill, I would respectfully refer them to my statement in connection with my record vote on a similar bill recorded in the Journal of 1953 session.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks will be recorded in the Journal.

REASONS FOR VOTE

MRS. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, when a legislator votes on a piece of legislation, he is voting not upon the philosophy behind that particular legislation but upon a specific bill which spells out item by item, the details that shall become law.

The implementation of spelled-out Fair Employment Practices are both necessary and desirable. The intents and purposes of this bill, in philosophy, are excellent. However, there are certain specifics within it, as it is now written, that make it unacceptable to this Representative and it would be this bill which would be enacted into legislation if passed by the General Assembly in its present form.

Among my reasons for opposing this bill, I respectfully cite:

a. The administration of Fair Employment Practices within the Commonwealth shall be conducted by a five member Commission appointed—not on a bi-partisan, civil service or meritorious basis—but by the Governor with, of course, the technical two-third approval of the Senate. Three members only shall constitute a quorum to sit in judgment on any such charged discrimination within the Commonwealth, public or private.

b. The duties and powers of this Commission shall be sweeping: to initiate, receive, investigate and pass upon such discriminatory employment practices; shall appoint attorneys, other employees and agents as it may deem necessary, fix their compensations and prescribe their duties; provide expenses of uncompensated Advisory Agencies and conciliation councils and provide for payment for such technical or clerical assistance as these might need; adopt, promulgate, amend and rescind rules, regulations to effectuate the Act—an apparent "blank check" with no brakes.

The Commission, the Attorney General or any organization interested in combatting employment discrimination may sign or file such a complaint and after filing of such complaint or whenever there is reason to suspect unlawful employment practice a prompt investigation upon the employer shall be conducted.

c. In carrying out its powers and duties the Commission may utilize voluntary and uncompensated services of private individuals and organizations as may be offered or needed. In the function of its educational program it may accept monetary contributions from any person to assist in the effectuation of the program and may seek and enlist the cooperation of private, charitable, religious labor, civic or benevolent organizations.

d. The bill further states that this Act shall be deemed an exercise of the POLICE POWER of the Commonwealth; that heretofore because of lack of such legislation large segments of our population have been deprived of earnings necessary to maintain a living and have had to resort to relief (a highly questionable statement to be contained in legislation); that freedom from such discrimination is hereby recognized as and declared to be a civil right; that no person shall be excused from testifying etc. "on grounds that testimony may tend to incriminate him" (the 5th Amendment is still a part of the Constitution even though debatable immuniy is granted by this Bill); and that a complainant has as long as six months after the alleged act of discrimination to file his complaint.

"If corrective features are applied to certain aspects of such stipulations as some of these, an FEPC Bill could have my support."

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 28, as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three

Section 1 The sum of fifteen million six hundred forty-four thousand dollars ($15,644,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Public Assistance for the payment of the deficiency in the appropriation for the payment of assistance and administrative expenses as provided by the Public Assistance Law and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department of Public Assistance for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and for the payment of assistance and administrative expenses attorneys' fees and court costs accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three

Section 2 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate funds from time to time for the several assistance programs (old age assistance aid to dependent children pensions for the blind general assistance and other programs provided by the Public Assistance Law) for administrative expenses of the several county boards of assistance for such administrative expenses incurred by the department which are chargeable to such boards and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the department

Section 3 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act quarterly allocations shall be made to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department respectively in such amounts as may be deemed necessary to pay the administrative expenses of such departments in auditing and disbursing appropriations for or relating to public assistance including any Federal sums supplementing such appropriations. In the case of the Department of the Auditor General said allocation shall be made by the Governor President pro tempore of the Senate Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Auditor General or a majority therof and in the case of allocations made to the Treasury Department such allocations shall be made by the Governor President pro tempore of the Senate Speaker of the House of Representatives and the State Treasurer or a majority thereof

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I just have a very brief statement that I would like to call to the majority's attention on this bill.

We on this side of the House are going to vote for this bill, because we certainly do not want the needy and the aged to be short-changed. I can only reiterate what I said last week, until the administration finds money this bill is nothing more than a scrap of paper.

Last week I read to this House a quotation from the Attorney General on this subject, "You can't appropriate money you don't have." At that time I raised the question whether the Attorney General and the Governor were not saying different things. I was assured at that time by the Majority Leader that they were in complete agreement.

I am very happy to report to the House that the Governor now appears to be in agreement with the Attorney General. The Governor very recently had a press conference, in fact, last Thursday. I would like to read you the account that appeared in the Pittsburgh Press of that date:

> "The administration may resort to some sort of of financial juggling act in a desperate effort to solve its current fiscal problems. This was indicated today by Governor George M. Leader in a press conference in which he discussed the state's needs for funds in the current biennium ending May 31st.
> "He appeared hazy on what can be done, but he admitted there isn't enough money in sight to cover Pennsylvania's obligations in the next three months."

I also would like to call attention to a statement recently made by Senator Joseph M. Barr, who is also Chairman of the Democratic State Committee. Mr. Barr said in today's press, and again I quote:

> "The deficiency appropriation will have to be studied in detail. You don't spend money if you do not have it."

Mr. Speaker, that is exactly what we have been trying to convey, that there has been a lot of hurry-up, but your own State Chairman, your own Governor and your own Attorney General now are in complete agreement that you don't spend money if you don't have it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 22, 1955

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ISAAC D. WAREHAM, Pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Everett, R. D., offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the many evidences of the power of Thy goodness.

Help us, O Lord, to stay our minds on Thee that, kept in Thy peace, we may be enabled to fulfill Thy holy will, both toward Thee and our fellow men.

As we observe the birthday of the Father of our Country, help us to keep in memory his exalted patriotism, his official integrity and his wise statesmanship. May these qualities be incentives and influences that shall be exerted upon generations to come.

Renew our faith, O God, that we may feel Thee near and hear Thy voice speaking to us each day. Guide us this day. Make us bold to do what is right, that Thy Name may be glorified now and evermore, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, the resolution which I am about to offer is sponsored by my colleagues, Senator Chapman, Senator Schmidt and myself.

Mr. President, today, in addition to being the birthday of George Washington, it happens to be the birthday of one of our girl friends. This resolution has to do with her. She is not as young as she used to be.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY ON ITS ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY

Messrs. HAYS, CHAPMAN and SCHMIDT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 22, 1955.

On February 22, 1955, Pennsylvania State University celebrates its one hundredth anniversary as an educational institution.

As a land-grant university it possesses a unique position in the educational system of the Commonwealth, and has set a high standard of education and accomplishment which speaks well for the far-sighted of those instrumental in its establishment.

It presently has fourteen thousand students, and over forty thousand alumni and sixteen hundred members on its faculty and research staff.

The growth of Pennsylvania State University from its small start as Farmer's High School, to its current preeminence as one of the nations leading universities which trains its students in a broad field of both theoretical and practical knowledge, is a tribute to its administrative officers, faculty, students and the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates the Pennsylvania State University on its one hundredth anniversary and on its growth and accomplishments during this period of time; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the Pennsylvania State University and that a copy of this resolution also be sent to Jesse Arnelle, president of the student body of that University.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOLFE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, the Honorable Harry Shapiro, Secretary of Welfare, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, recently made an investigation of Laurelton State Village. He called a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Village, some nine members, and in a closed session he heard some testimony about two nurses and a welfare worker.

Mr. President, the two doctors, Doctor Edgtt and Doctor Ireland, the Superintendents of the Village, were not invited into the closed session. Following the meeting, Secretary Shapiro no doubt released to the newspapers some statements that are refuted by the Superintendents of the Village and other persons concerned. These statements are derogatory to the professional abilities of Doctor Ireland and Doctor Edgett, the Superintendent and the Assistant Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village. They are reputable doctors; they have wonderful reputations. Doctor Ireland has been associated with the institution for some twenty-seven years. She has been Superintendent since 1940. We have never heard any complaints about the conduct or the misconduct of the officials of the institution with reference to the treatment of the patients.

Mr. President, Secretary Shapiro took exception to a building known as the safety building, recently constructed I think in 1951 by the General State Authority. This building is to take care of incorrigible girls, girls who perform acts which are not condoned by the officials of the institnution. For instance, they are mentally deficient, and they are placed in this safety building for discipline and training. They are taught various things while they are in that detention building, or whatever it is called. At times, these girls become unruly and incorrigible. They destroy the mattresses; they destroy the pillows, the bedclothing and place them down the commode. Then they pull the string and flood the room.

Now, Mr. President, in this room where these girls are incarcerated, they have a nice bed, the same kind of beds that they have in other parts of the institution. They have a commode and a washstand. It is true that they have a door there with just a peephole, in order that food can be placed through the door. There have been times when these girls have been so unruly that even the attendants were afraid to go into the room, and they had to call men attendants to come and quiet these girls. On one occasion, one of the girls had a can opener, one of those sharp can openers, and she defied anyone to come in. It is my understanding that they called members of the State Police from the Milton Barracks to come down, and the police said they would not go into the room unless they had permission to use the girl in some rough method. She had this can opener, and she was liable to pounce on somebody and kill them.

Mr. President, these statements have been broadcast throughout Pennsylvania in the various newspapers, and we feel they are disgracing the Superintendent and the Assistant Superintendent and we feel that unjust charges have been made against them. If Mr. Shapiro desires these women to resign as Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent, all he needs to do is to ask them to retire and they will be very happy to retire.

I would like to say this for Doctor Ireland. As long as two years ago, she said that she would like to retire from the Laurelton State Village. Up as late as last August, when I had a talk with her, she said that she was going to retire after the first of December.

I and another persuaded her to stay on, because I felt that she was doing a wonderful job there. However, she said she wanted to get back home to Jeannette, Johnny Dent's hometown, where she lives. She said that she would like to get back there and practice medicine. At any rate, she has been persuaded to stay on from time to time, and now this uprising comes and it seems to ruin her entire character and reputation as a physician and an expert on mental diseases.

Mr. President, I have heard the charges of Mr. Shapiro that have been broadcast in the newspapers. We have heard these things and read these things, and so far the two doctors, the Superintendent and the Assistant Superintendent, have not been given the opportunity to face Mr. Shapiro.

Mr. President, Fred W. Maue, President of the Board of Trustees, called a meeting of the Board last Saturday, and he invited the doctors in to this meeting and he opened up the book of facts, or data, that was presented at the meeting the Wednesday before, which was the first time they knew what the charges were. They denied all these charges. They asked for an investigation. Mr. Maue has asked, also, for a private investigation by experts on mental diseases. A man, I understand from New York, a doctor, said that he had selected three men who he would be glad to put on the case and make a thorough investigation and report.

I would like to say this about Doctor Mary M. Wolfe. She has had long experience in mental diseases. She was at the Norristown State Hospital before she came to Laurelton State Village. She was one of the organizers of the Village; she was the first Superintendent there and was the Superintendent for some twenty years. She said that she trained Doctor Ireland in mentally defective cases and also in administration. I quote this from the Sunbury Daily Item, which appeared on the fifteenth of February:

"Dr. Mary M. Wolfe, of Lewisburg, first superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, said that Harry Shapiro, State Welfare Secretary, has shown by his handling of the Laurelton State Village inquiry that he 'is not fit' to hold the position to which he was appointed by Gov. George M. Leader."

Further on in the article, she said:

"I think that Mr. Shapiro has shown by what he has said and done at Laurelton State Village that he is not fit to be Secretary of Welfare, and doesn't know the first thing about mental institutions."

Mr. President, Doctor Wolfe is a registered Democrat and when called for an interview, she made those statements. Further, the newspaper article said:

"Dr. Ireland was Dr. Wolfe's assistant when she was finishing her administration, and had served for 10 years with Dr. Wolfe. She succeeded Dr. Wolfe as Superintendent, a position she has held continuously since."

Doctor Wolfe further said:

"I am afraid that Mr. Shapiro has done a great deal of damage to Governor Leader. I am a registered Democrat, I voted for Governor Leader and I am afraid this whole affair will reflect to the disadvantage of the Democratic party."

Mr. President, I would like to say that Doctor Wolfe is an expert on mental diseases. No doubt, she will be called by this board to give testimony when the committee sits.

Mr. President, before presenting this resolution, I would like to yield to my colleague, Robert D. Fleming, who is co-sponsor of this resolution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I am very happy to be permitted to co-sponsor this resolution with Senator Wolfe, and I would say to the Members of the Senate that this resolution should be adopted in the interest of fair play.

I want to assure the Members of the Senate, Mr. President, that it is not the intention of Senator Wolfe or myself to ask for the immediate consideration of this resolution, as we want it referred to the proper committee. We do feel that the issue is of enough importance that it should be brought to the attention of the entire membership of this Senate, in order that they can be fully aware of the situation which has arisen.

Mr. President, Americans have always believed in fair play and a square deal.

Mr. President, here is the case of two women who have served this Commonwealth long and faithfully. Dr. Ireland, the head of Lauretlon State Village, has earned an enviable reputation in the field of mental defectives. Her work with these unfortunates has been recognized as outstanding by others in her profession.

Mr. President, to have her reputation blasted and blighted at the end of a long career without a single opportunity to answer or face her accusers is not the American way. It is the way of the Gestapo or the Russian Secret Police.

Mr. President, you can vote this resolution down. You have the power to say to this woman, to these faithful public servants, "We will not give you a hearing." You have it in your power to do this, but let me say to you now, if you really believe in fairness and decency do not do it. Give this woman, these women, a chance to defend themselves, to clear themselves.

If the Secretary of Welfare has been right in the charges that he has made public, Mr. President, he has nothing to fear from a full hearing, from a complete and impartial investigation.

If he has been hasty in his actions, Mr. President, let us find it out now while we can still rectify some of the wrong which may have been done in this case.

Mr. President, let us not publish it abroad that there is no justice in Pennsylvania. Let us not tell the world of the medical and mental health professions, "Do not come to Pennsylvania institutions to work, because in Pennsylvania you will run the risk of having your reputation destroyed without a hearing, without even a chance to defend yourselves."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOLFE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I would like to further say that we have heard both sides of the case, Mr. Shapiro's side and Doctor Wolfe's and the Superintendent's side, and we feel that there has been some misjudgment by Mr. Shapiro in claiming these women inefficient. We have heard both sides, and in order to bring it to a head we are presenting this resolution.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE COMMITTEE OF SENATE TO INVESTIGATE THE LAURELTON STATE VILLAGE

Messrs. WOLFE and FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare:

In the Senate, February 22, 1955.

Harry Shapiro, the Secretary of Welfare, has accused the Board of Trustees and the Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, a State institution, of condoning "inhuman treatment" of patients. Frederick Maue, President of the Board of Trustees, and Dr. Effie C. Ireland, Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, have denied the charges and requested an impartial investigation to clear their names.

These charges cast reflection upon the integrity of all public officers and must create serious doubts and grave apprehensions among the people concerning the good conduct of our government. An immediate impartial investigation of these charges is necessary in order to remedy this conduct, if true, or to protect the good name of our public officers and institutions, if false; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Senate, in the interest of fair play, be authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all the charges made. The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglest or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the Public Health and Welfare Committee be authorized to call in impartial authorities in the field of mental health to assist in its investigation, and be it further

Resolved, That the Public Health and Welfare Committee shall make its report to the Senate at the earliest possible moment before the adjournment of this session of the General Assembly.

Section 13 This act shall take effect immediately

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I have had a lot to say about this bill in the Republican Caucus and in the State Government Committee, but I have not said anything for the record and I would like to before the matter is disposed of.

Mr. President, I realize that the die was cast yesterday and probably, for all practical purposes, the roll is almost a matter of record this morning.

This morning's paper, Mr. President, had an article that yesterday, for the first time in eighteen years, the Democratic Party won a straight line party vote in the Senate. Eighteen years is a long time and I, for one, would certainly not be bitter or nasty or mean or sore because they won on this occasion. I do feel, however, that some of us are going to be recorded this morning as voting "no" on the bill, and for the record, and for our own constituents probably, we should let our reasons be known.

Mr. President, the discussion pro and con on House Bill No. 1 has resolved largely upon the question of constitutionality. Like the Minority Leader, I am hardly in a position to pass judgment upon that. My vocation is salesmanship. As a salesman, I am never sure of what is constitutionally certain. In that respect, salesmen are like lawyers. However, Mr. President, I am aware of the fact that the Republican Party has been considered to be the party of constitutional government. I do not say that it is the only party, but that is the reputation of the Republican Party. Therefore, they are concerned that these things be done in the proper order.

I doubt, Mr. President, whether Governor Leader, and I do not say this in disrespect to him, is going to offer any plan to reorganize the government that would be very damaging to the State of Pennsylvania if it were not passed this year instead of next year, or this month instead of next month.

We have many pieces of legislation, Mr. President, like our tax bills, for instance, which are probably far more deserving of by-passing the constitutional procedure by throwing them out on the desk and having them acted upon when time is running short, instead of going to committees and having the benefit of deliberation.

As I say, Mr. President, the die is probably cast. I vote against this bill at the risk of being called by some an obstructionist, but I do not think that this is true. I intend to make every effort to be here and to vote one way or another on any recommendation which the Governor makes for changing the structure of the operation of the business of the Commonwealth.

I want the people of Schuylkill County to know, Mr. President, that their Senator will stand up and be counted, as he has never failed to be counted in sixteen years since he came to the House of Representatives in Harrisburg. Where there is an advantage to the people, we will try to forget our partisonship, we will be for it, but we do not like the negative approach, as has been said on a number of occasions.

Mr. President, I regret the suspicion which seems to exist in the discussion of this bill. The Majority Leader of the Senate has said very clearly, very loudly, and has said repeatedly that there was no intention on the part of the Republicans to be anything but coperative with any program which Governor Leader has for the good of the State. I repeat that in our Caucus, in private conversations and at committee meetings, I have not, to this day, heard any Republican say or imply that he wished we could be in position where we could kill or block or postpone or defer action on any proposal or recommendation that the Governor makes.

Mr. President, the State Chairman of the Democratic Party said one day last week that we acted as though we suspected them of having some sinister motive in this replanning of the structure of our government, and that we should not feel that way because they did not know what they were going to do but theye were sure that it was not going to be bad. However, about seven minutes later he said that he objected to the Republican amendment to this bill, because he knew Republicans from way back and he was certain of what they were going to do.

Mr. President, I have only one hope out of this discussion, and that is that never will any plan or changes go into effect without a legislative vote.

The record is very clear, Mr. President, as of yesterday. The Majority Leader, on previous occasions, has said that we would always be ready to act on such proposals. The Minority Leader yesterday stated very clearly and very emphatically that there was no intention on their part to do anything but act on these bills.

I was interested in the shuffle, Mr. President, when Senator Blass asked the question as to whether or not this could be put over for thirty days. In reply, Senator Dent, said that was what they wanted to prevent. Of course, his idea of preventing it was to put the Democratic Party in the position where, if it were done, they probably would have to be the ones to do it instead of the Republicans being given the opportunity. I do not think that that was done with any plan or any careful thinking.

I do say this morning, Mr. President, for the Senator from Schuylkill and for the other Senators who shall be recorded as voting "no" on this reorganization plan, that we do not do it to obstruct, we do not do it because we are partisan but we do it because we feel that the people who elected us to come to Harrisburg are expecting that we will stand up and be counted and reflect their feelings on any matter which is pertinent to the State of Pennsylvania. That is why we take this particular position. I would hate to go back home on any occasion and have to say to the people of Schuylkill County, if they asked me why in the world such a plan was put into effect in Pennsylvania on the part of the Governor, I would hate to have to shrug my shoulders, Mr. President, and say that I did not get a chance to vote on it.

I think now, Mr. President, as matters stand, I shall have a chance to vote, but for the record I am voting "no" on the bill as an expression of my desire to protect my legislative prerogative, and to try to insure, in so far as one person can, the kind of representative government that Pennsylvanians have the right to receive.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I also expect to vote "no" on House Bill No. 1 and I want to give to the people in my District some of my reasons for doing so.

Mr. President, the most important reason is that there has been no showing by anyone ,the Governor, or any Senator or any House Member, why we should have this legislation. There has been no showing why, if the Governor or anyone else has a plan to effect economy in government, they cannot introduce the legislation according to the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and have it brought in here and have it voted on in the usual manner.

Mr. President, it was brought out yesterday by Senator Dent that this might cause some delay because he said that the Big Truck Bill was on our calendar for some time and did not get any action. Now, that was going pretty far to find some reason for this. Certainly, by past experience, it was shown that all of the bills, which we called the Chesterman Committee Bills and which were introduced at the last Session of the Legislature, were referred to the Rules Committee and reported out very promptly. Most of them were reported out within a day or two and there were hardly any that went beyond a week. They were put on the calendar; they were promptly voted upon and those that passed were sent over to the House where prompt action was the case there.

So, Mr. President, inasmuch as there has been no showing by anyone why we should go so far and make such a radical change in our legislative procedure and delegate the legislative powers which we have to the Executive Branch of the Government, which is certainly contrary to the Constitution of Pennsylvania, I certainly cannot vote for these bills.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to carry this debate too far. I just want to clearly state that I deny that we are in any manner delegating the powers of the Legislative Branch to the Executive Branch of Government.

Mr. President, the underlying purpose behind the passage of this legislation, or the proposing of this legislation, is to enable us, as a legislative group, to have a great deal to do with the reorganization of State Government. I tried yesterday to impress the Senate with the importance of passing this legislation and the companion bill setting up the commission. If we do not pass this bill and the companion bill, then the Legislature as a body will have nothing to do with the preparation of the organizational plans.

Mr. President, the Administrative Branch admittedly can, of its own, investigate, interrogate and promote a change in any department that it feels ought to be changed. However, in doing that the Administrative Branch would be entirely on its own. We, the Members of the General Assembly, duly elected by the people to represent them, would not sit in on the reorganization planning. This is the only method whereby we, the Members of this General Assembly, will sit in on the reorganization planning of the departments. That is the main underlying reason for the passage of this vehicle today. If we as a group and, incidentally, we will have two-thirds of the membership on the Planning Commission that will reorganize State Government. There will be four men named by the President pro tempore, four men named by the Speaker of the House and four men named by the Governor of the Commonwealth. In that manner, we, the Members will be able to help to devise and plan the reorganization setup.

Mr. President, unless we pass this legislation it will be entirely out of the hands, and out of the province, of the Members of the General Assembly. When the plans are finally prepared and agreed upon by this commission, then they become legislative babies, we then have the only right to say whether or not this plan or that plan will go into effect. They will appear on the Calendar in the form of resolutions.

Mr. President, I need not go back through that again and explain why this is necessary. We all know the power of a chairman of a committee. We know from experience of long standing that the chairman of a committee can call a committee meeting, and you can go into that committee with copies of the legislative bill that is resting in that committee, and ask for action upon it and the committee chairman bluntly says, "Gentlemen, we are not going to discuss that bill today." That could easily happen. Why would it happen?

Supposing we were going to amalgamate two functions of government, supervised by two individuals, and put them into one single department or bureau. Someone, or both of the directors of the bureau, would have a friend or two somewhere in the General Assembly. They would reach the chairman of the committee and say, "Have you passed that bill? I am out of a job." Do you mean to tell me that would not have any influence? It took us almost three and a half weeks to discharge certain people who were holding offices, mainly on the strength of the fact that if we acted upon their successors' confirmation, they would be out of a job. It is historical that a chairman of a committee does not take orders from anyone but himself, and he will not act unless he wants to act. His committee has no say whatsoever, except on that legislation which he, as the dictator of that committee, declares shall be considered that particular day. That has been the procedure in here and I do not look for any change.

Therefore, Mr. President, in order that Members of the Senate on both sides cannot be accused of obstructionism, we have to place this new so-called reorganization piecemeal upon the legislative calendar, and allow each and every man to vote his conscience regardless of party affiliation. There is great justification for the passage of the bill; there is no justification for the defeat of this bill. We are not opening a new course of action. We are not starting a new parliamentary procedure. This is not a new legislative route that we are traveling. It has been traveled for twelve years in the Federal Government. They are now continuing to travel the same course by extending the life of their Reorganization Commission, which has gone on under Democratic Presidents and under a Republican President. Incidentally, although the Democrats passed the reorganization plan, a former Republican President of the United States was named as the Chairman.

I am sure that I could say to this membership today that Governor Leader will look more to the ability of the men that he names, rather than to their political affiliation. He has demonstrated since he took office that although he is a Democrat, he believes that good government is the best political activity. He has named men and women to high positions in this government ,without regard to their political affiliation. He is the only man in the State's history that I know who has named a Cabinet Officer who is registered Nonpartisan. He believed that the man was the proper man for the position and respected his desires politically, under the American Constitution, and named him to the job that he thought he would fit in. He did this because he wants to give Pennsylvania good government.

I believe that if we pass this bill today, Governor Leader will choose as his representatives upon this board of inquiry and investigation and reorganization, men and women of high caliber, integrity and ability. I believe that the Governor feels that he would like to reorganize, and help to reorganize, this government of ours in order that we can have in Pennsylvania twentieth century government.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have no desire to prolong the discussion on House Bill No. 1. I wish simply to make a few brief statements to clarify the position of some of us on the Republican side who do not feel that we can conscientiously vote for House Bill No. 1.

Mr. President, Senator Dent has stated here this morning that it is not the desire of the Democratic Party to delegate to the Executive Branch the law-making powers of this Legislature. Yesterday, I believe Senator Dent also said that the constitutionality of this bill had been affirmed by an opinion from the Attorney General. Now, Mr. President, I had the privilege of reading the opinion of the Attorney General on this subject, and a very good opinion it is. However, my recollection is that it related chiefly to the constitutionality of the delegation of the law-making powers of the Executive to the Supreme Court or, if you will, to the voters by way of referendum.

Mr. President, it is the position of some of us on the Republican side that the unconstitutionality of this particular bill lies not in the delegation of the power of the Executive, but the manner in which these plans are to be presented and passed upon in the House and in the Senate. Under the Constitution, the law-making procedure is that every law shall become so by a bill, which bill shall be referred to a committee and voted upon and passed only by the affirmative vote of the majority of the duly elected members of each house.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 110, Printer's No. 13, on second reading, go over in its order as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE URGING THE RECLASSIFICATION OF U. S. ROUTE 219 BY THE FEDERAL BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I as unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. BERGER, STEVENSON, WHALLEY, HALUSKA and HAYS offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 22, 1955.

Whereas, U. S. Route 219 is an important artery of traffic running north and south through Pennsylvania, particularly as it extends northward from Bedford, Pennsylvania to the port of Buffalo, New York, and southward to the Maryland State Line; and

Whereas, the projected Saint Lawrence Seaway will result in a greatly increased volume of commercial traffic to and from the Buffalo area through Pennsylvania to Johnstown, Pittsburgh, Altoona, and to the southern states; and

Whereas, a great program of Federal Interstate highway improvement and construction is presently contemplated under the Federal Bureau of Public Roads;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be requested to communicate to the Director of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the desirability of including U. S. Route 219 in the interstate highway classification for Federal aid under the proposed construction program.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 22, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Father of humanity, we thank Thee for the heritage and privilege of our beloved country, and for the wisdom with which Thou hast led it from its perilous beginning through all difficulties and dangers to this day.

We thank Thee for George Washington, a peerless leader; for his great stability of character, his keen intellect, his irreproachable integrity, his fortitude and determination in meeting every crisis, his deep seated love of the union, and his faith in the destiny of the United States. God, in Thy infinite wisdom teach these Representatives of this great Commonwealth and all of us, that today's problems are not insurmountable, but that they will yield to the same steadfastness, courage, determination and justice which Washington possessed. Deliver us from every evil, turn us away from every wrong and injustice; and keep us on the highway that leads to fraternal righteousness. In the holy name of our Lord and God, even Jesus Christ, we pray it. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from McKean to preside at today's session.

Mr. JOHNSON IN THE CHAIR

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, February 21, 1955 will be postponed until the Journal is in print. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. CAPANO and PETROSKY.

RESOLUTION No. 20.

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1955.

Resolved, that the House of Representatives hereby requests the Governor to have an impartial appraisal made of the recent purchase of a flour mill, in connection with the activities of the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Camp Hill, Cumberland County, ascertaining the real value of the assets thereby acquired, and further requests that the Governor at the earliest convenient date furnish the House of Representatives with the results thereof.

RESOLUTION No. 21.

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1955.

The importation of residual fuel oil has assumed such stature as to be a matter of great concern to a large economic segment of the American population.

These oil imports adversely affect the sale of coal from both deep mining and strip mining operations.

Incalculable damages has been inflicted on the bituminous and anthracite coal industries through closing of existing mines and permanent loss of valuable coal property already developed, and on the national economy because of unrestricted importations of residual fuel oil from foreign sources.

The importation of high quantities of foreign residual fuel oil causes the loss of millions of dollars in wages of coal miners in both bituminous and anthracite regions, the loss of employment by many railroad workers, and injures and in many instances destroys small business enterprises located within the trade area of mining communities which depend upon the production and sale of coal for their prosperity.

Unemployment in anthracite and bituminous areas serve as a blot upon the American economic scene, and can be rectified to a large degree by eliminating much of the competition afforded by foreign residual fuel oil.

Existing tariffs, as well as trade agreement legislation and policies afford wholly inadequate protection for the great American anthracite and bituminous coal mining industries, which have played a great and indispensable role in the development of our great American economy and way of life; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to provide for an investigation of the need for an adequate limitation upon the quantity of foreign residual fuel oil to be hereafter imported into the United States, in order to avoid further loss of employment in the United States, impairment of the anthracite and bituminous coal industries, and unwise dependence on foreign sources of fuel, contrary to the best interests of this nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. OGILVIE. RESOLUTION No. 24.

In the House of Representatives, February 22, 1955.

Before our Pilgrim Fathers set foot on American soil they entered into a religious covenant with one another which began, "In the name of God, Amen." These ancestors will stand as eternal sentinels guarding the liberties of our Nation and those principles upon which we have achieved world leadership. Our ancestors were the product of man's alliance with God. There was no other way of beginning for them. and there is no other way of continuing for us.

So true is the axiom that it is not material wealth but moral worth, not broad acres but great principles, not gold but Godly men and the things of God coupled with a steadfast trust in Him, which makes a nation great and keeps it strong. Well lies our Nation's hope in the slogan engraved upon our currency, heard in every inaugural prayer and voiced in the halls of great decisions, "In God We Trust." As long as we trust in God and look to Him for wisdom upon which to build and for Divine guidance in national affairs, we may be assured of increasing honor, prosperity and human happiness.

The future of our Nation, what shall it be? Shall we forget God and lean upon our own understanding? God forbid. Let us hasten to retrace our steps and regain the road which leads to peace, liberty and security. A nation which forgets God is certainly doomed to destruction.

Seeing then that trust in Almighty God was the secret of our forefathers' power and the only basis of all true progress, let us maintain our trust in God, for a Godless order is a menace to life and a peril to our democracy. America was founded by men of great religious convictions, and no one can understand America today without recognition of this basic fact. Unfortunately some are prone to lose sight of these convictions about God, the dignity of man and our democratic processes. Herein lies our greatest National peril; thence the call for spiritual rebirth and a moral rearmament; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives declares the "Back to God" movement to be timely and imperative to our National progress and security, and calls upon our leaders and educators to remove any advocacy or teaching of a breakdown of the spiritual life that has made this the greatest nation in the history of the world. Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord.

RESOLUTION No. 25.

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

The City of Scranton was shocked in the passing of one of its most distinguished citizens on February 13, 1955.

Worthington Scranton, known as Scranton's first citizen died in Florida at the age of seventy-eight.

He and his forebearers devoted their full energies in the development and advancement of the City of Scranton and the Lackawanna Valley.

He was born in Scranton August 29, 1876, a son of W. W. and Katharine Smith Scranton; was graduated from Yale University in 1898 and from Harvard School of Law in 1901.

For many years he devoted his time to the management of the Scranton Gas and Water Company, of which he became president in 1916.

He was widely known for his keen interest in industrial, civic, welfare and philanthropic activities.

He and his wife established a one million dollar trust fund, known as "The Scranton Foundation" and the people of the Scranton area will be forever mindful of his beneficence.

He is survived by his widow, Marion Margery Scranton; a son, William W. Glenburn and three daughters. Mrs. Edward B. Mayer, Dalton; Mrs. H. N. Rozendeal, Schenectady, New York, and Mrs. James A. Linen, III, Greenwich, New York.

His passing is a great loss to be borne by the Commonwealth and the city he served so unselfishly; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their individual sympathies to his wife, Marion Gargery, and to his son and daughters in their hour of loss and bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to his widow and children.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 226, Printer's No. 31,

was passed over at the request of the Speaker pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 240, entitled as follows:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of July twenty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 996) entitled "An act creating an Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission for the purpose of making a study, investigation and legislative recommendations relating to the drainage of anthracite mines and making an appropriation," by authorizing the commission to act in an advisory capacity in the allocation of funds.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, first I want it clearly understood that when I rise today I have as much honest concern in my mind for the welfare of the coal fields as anyone.

I feel that the basic difficulty with our coal today is the hard fact that we are facing a continually diminishing market for anthracite coal. Everyone knows there has been increasing competition from oil and from gas, even though these facilities may cost more than hard coal. The chief outlet for hard coal has been for domestic heating and cooking. We all know the evolution of the electric stoves, gas stoves, bottled gas, gas furnaces and oil furnaces. In my opinion in the foreseeable future I can see no increase in the demand because we are told today that if this world should ever reach the point where atomic power can be used for peacetime use, that all the facilities of our houses could be run for an indefinite period on a piece of atomic material about the size of a penny match box.

I have made some investigation because I do not live in the hard coal regions, although I live close to them and in one of the areas that used to be their chief market I find that in talking to people there are apparently workable mines which do not need a great degree, if any, of pumping to be workable, and yet there is not sufficient demand on the market to take up the production of these mines. Other persons I have spoken to in this area are somewhat concerned about the effect of continual pumping on the water table. That is the water table which is tapped by the residents of this area for pure water to be used for domestic consumption and other purposes.

I rose to speak on this bill because I feel that this bill and the next bill are apparently companion bills. What I say applies equally to both. If this plan as set forth in these two bills is carried to its logical conclusion with the cooperation of the federal government, we will be obligating upwards of $17 million of the taxpayers' money to be put into this mine drainage proposition, which I submit will not create any great employment because I can not see the point in trying to rehabilitate mines when there is a falling market for hard coal.

I am also informed that there is a plan in the mill consisting of about $10 million for the purpose of encouraging municipalities to build facilities for new factories with a view to apparently bringing some diversified industry into the hard pressed areas, particularly around the coal fields. Therefore, I feel that this $17 million could be put to a much more advantageous, much more lasting use, if we were to take this money, make our studies, do something to bring into these areas not one other industry but a number of other industries so that you would have a number of diversified fields of activity.

I am aware that when I rise today that this is a consent calendar. I am asking no one to follow me on this matter, but I do respectfully request the Chair that on this bill and the one following it I be recorded as voting "no."

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I am concerned on this particular appropriation myself and the reason I am vitally concerned about this bill myself is because it is an appropriation that we are going to vote on right now, not knowing whether the federal government is going to appropriate at the same time. I am vitally concerned, not knowing, as I say, if we appropriate the $8 million as to what happens to that money if the federal government does not appropriate with us. As I understand the federal government as yet did not appropriate $8 million as a matching fund with us, nor did we.

I want to ask this House, and I am going to ask you people that are from the coal fields what is going to happen to some of these communities? I am going to particularly cite two instances in my district where at the present time the mines are flooded, and if they should take this water out tomorrow we would have two beautiful residential sections, and at the same time two beautiful business places that I would say would be imperiled by subsidance.

I am in sympathy with the poor taxpayers in my particular district and in the coal fields in the four counties that I know of. I say this, this is a giveaway to the coal companies and nothing for the poor taxpayer in the event they pump this water out of the mines and his home subsides. He has no come-back.

I am going to vote "no" on this bill, and in the near future I am going to present a bill and by the same token, if this bill goes through, that the homes of the people in the coal fields be protected, and that we appropriate money to them the same as we are appropriating to the individual coal companies. I do not see any value in the drainage of these mines. You can pump for the next million years and you will never get the water out of the mines because of the stripping situation.

I think we should have a commission to go into the coal fields and investigate the fact and, if I am wrong, come back here and tell this House. It is a waste of money in pumping because I say they will pump for a million years and never get the water out.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair withdraws its direction for a roll call. The Chair hears no objection.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 240, Printer's No. 32, be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a statement. If we are to operate this House in an orderly fashion, we must have channels through which it is possible to arrive at the will of the various caucuses.

It was reported to the Chair and to the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader that there was only one negative vote against this bill. I repeat, if we are to conduct this House in orderly fashion, we must have correct information concerning the will of the respective caucuses.

The Chair requests the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, to resume the Chair.

MR. JOHNSON IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in connection with the remarks of the Speaker with regard to determining the will of the House, I merely wish to state that until such time as the gentlemen from the hard coal regions, who are going to be affected most by this bill, took the floor of this House and expressed the will of their territory, we had no knowledge as to what the will of this House was, particularly that of the Majority.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 241, entitled as follows:

An Act providing for anthracite mine drainage and making an appropriation therefor contingent on Federal aid.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 20, entitled as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Assembly for the payment of expenses of its Inaugural Committee

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the General Assembly for the payment of the expenses of its Inaugural Committee in making and carrying out the arrangements for the inauguration of the Governor-elect on January eighteenth one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

Section 2 This act shall take effect immediately

RESOLUTIONS

RESOLUTION No. 8

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from today's calendar, House Resolution No. 8.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1955.

Whereas The Westinghouse Electric Company has long been a leader in the field of electrical research to such an extent that it has achieved world-wide renown for its activities in this and related fields and

Whereas The Westinghouse Electric Company established radio station KDKA in Pittsburgh as the world's first commercial radio station and has maintained high standards of quality in presenting fine entertainment to the homes and families within the large area receiving the program transmitted by radio station KDKA and

Whereas At noon today television station WDTV becomes known as station KDKA-TV thereby opening the field of television transmission to the ever growing field of fine services rendered by the Westinghouse Electric Company to the greater Pittsburgh area and to this entire Commonwealth therefore be it

Resolved That this House of Representatives hereby extends its hearty congratulations to Westinghouse Electric Company and its officers and employes for the long years of service to the citizens of this Commonwealth and to the residents of Pittsburgh and surrounding areas in particular and for its entrance into the field of television transmission as another field of public endeavor in which it will now be of great service to an appreciative public

RESOLUTION No. 10

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 10 from today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1955.

Lithuania became a free and independent Republic on January 16, 1918, by declaration of the Council of Lithuania.

Obliteration of the sovereign rights of the Lithuanian people and the suppression of that people by the inhuman practices of mass murder, exile and confinement in concentration camps by her communist rulers is a matter of great concern to free peoples now resisting communist tyranny; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extends its sympathy to the Lithuanian nation in her hour of great duress, and to all American citizens of Lithuanian descent who are distressed by the sufferings of their friends and relatives in the country of their ancestors; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends its wishes to Lithuania for the ultimate liberation of that nation and for the reestablishment of the sovereign rights of that country which formerly was a sister democracy of the United States of America.

RESOLUTION No. 11

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 11 on today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1955.

Albert Kennedy (Rosey) Rosewell, voice and conscience of the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball club, passed away on February 6th, a few days before he was to begin his twentieth season with the Pirates. He was 71 years of age.

Rosey was born in Alton, Illinois in 1884, and was raised in Tarentum, Pennsylvania. His first connection with the Pirates dated back to 1909, and since that time he well earned his title of "Pirate Fan number 1." Albert Rosewell's broadcasts of the Pittsburgh Pirate's games over the past two decades did much for the advancement not only of the Pirate club, but also the advancement of basball and sportsmanship in general.

Mr. Rosewell's energies, which he used unsparingly, were spread wide over other fields apart from baseball. He excelled as a master of ceremonies and after-dinner speaker, to which tasks he brought a natural good humor, nimble wit and exceptional talent as a popular poet.

By the death of "Rosey" Rowswell we have lost one of the great humanitarians of our day; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their heartfelt condolences to the surviving members of Albert Rowswell's family, and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to his widow, Mrs. Myrrel Hayden Rowswell.

RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Messrs. LEONARD, OLSEN and LUTTY offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 22, 1955.

The 22nd of February marks the birthday anniversary of that traditional American, George Washington.

To adequately set forth the attributes of this patriotic and inspirational hero would be an endless task. Let it suffice, therefore, to review briefly a few of the innumerable reasons why George Washington has gone of this great Nation.

The willingness of George Washington to sacrifice both position and fortune for the establishment of our Nation has been an inspiration to all. Throughout his entire life he was a man of steadfast courage and indomitable perseverance. In victory George Washington was stern and uncompromising, but yet merciful. In his defeat he retained complete poise with an alliance of coolness and determination. Had it not ben for the unsurmountable energies of this fabulous patriot as a soldier, statesman and President, the freedom and prosperity which we now accept as commonplace might never have come into being, theerfore be it

Resolved, That we pause to pay tribute to our first President, George Washington, and that we draw inspiration from his greatness and pledge anew our loyalty to the United States of America.

THE SPEAKER (HIRAM G. ANDREWS) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson. He survived the storm in magnificent fashion.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GRANVILLE E. JONES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to call to your attention, a condition now existing pertaining to the Department of Public Assistance.

It has recently come to light that the employes of the District Offices of the Department of Public Assistance are not discharging the obligations of their office with dispatch or thoroughness.

The resultant injustices in processing of claims for public assistance place the Commonwealth in an unfavorable light in the eyes of the public.

The constituents of my district have come to me to intercede into these matters that affects their health and livelihood. Children and elderly people are made to suffer to the extent that some are dying from malnutrition, pneumonia and exposure for the want of help or aid, which the Department of Public Assistance or Welfare should do.

I have called the District Offices in my district to seek some information, or help and I have even given these recipients a card or a letter. As a Member of this General Assembly, either they or I am insulted or embarrassed by these superiors, interviewers, or visitors as being pressured by these politicians.

From one District the interviewers made the statement that he didn't care if it was the Governor he would not be pressured by politicians. My opinion is that the employee is too big for the job he holds as a public servant.

Must the citizens of this Commonwealth be continuously insulted and denied their right to ask for aid or help from the employees who serve in our State Government?

I have visited some of the offices as a spectator to see what really happens; its pathetic to see and hear what these employees would say to these people; many of them would be crying on the way out.

Some of these parents would have to keep the children out of school because of no food, no clothing, no money and some with no place to stay because of not being able to pay the rent or the Constable would evict them, which is happening daily.

I hold a constable's notice in my hand which is to put a family with three children in the street because the visitor fails to get the information they seek that would further maintenance of this family.

Members, I could not accept the people's mandate on election as their Representative and permit this condition to continue without voicing their sentiments and protests in the House of Representatives.

I therefore urge the Governor, the Attorney General and the Secretary of Public Assistance to investigate every district office of the Department of Public Assistance, to make a study of the methods and procedures of the supervisors, interviewers and other employes in processing of claims of applicants for recipients of Public Assistance.

SENATE MESSAGE

An Act requiring the Department of Public Assistance to increase maximum amounts in allowance schedules used in making assistance grants to needy persons.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, several weeks ago, my collegue from Washington, Senator Lane, and I offered a resolution memorializing Congress pertaining to a public works program in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, since that time there have been a number of bills introduced in Congress; one which has had some attention from my own Congressman, Congressman Saylor, from Johnstown. We should realize at this time that unemployment is increasing daily, and the least we can do in this body is to bring that resolution out and take action on it.

Mr. President, we have a number of problems confronting our Commonwealth; sewage disposal, for one. Last week, we talked about the anthracite flood control. The local municipalities are not in a position to carry that burden. If we should be called upon now to enact sewage disposal plants, it would break every community in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, since we have unemployment and Congress is seriously debating and discussing such legislation, I trust that the chairman of this committee will consider calling a meeting, and bring this resolution out of committee and put it before this body for some action. I think it is most important, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, Senator Haluska has spoken about something which I feel is of great importance to the State of Pennsylvania. I believe that the unemployment problem in this great Commonwealth of ours is something which should be eliminated. There is about only one way in which we can do it.

Mr. President, we talk about industrial committees. We talk about bringing industry into Pennsylvania. Each and every political subdivision in western Pennsylvania has an industrial development committee. You know, and I know and all of us know that we are not going to bring enough industry into Pennsylvania to take care of the vast army of unemployed that we have, especially in the western part of our State.

Mr. President, when we sponsored this resolution, we were very sincere. We felt that even the President of the United States realizes the seriousness of the unmployment, especially in our industrial States, because he, himself, has advocated a multimillion dollar road program.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is my opinion that the committee should meet and give this resolution some consideration. If there is anything wrong with it, call the sponsors in. I will be glad to testify. Let us get it out on the floor and let us get moving, because we are meeting here two days a week and passing a few bills. We must get moving because we are facing a crisis right here in this great State of ours. The thing to do is to provide these people with employment, these people who are now trying to get public relief.

Mr. President, while I am on the public relief situation, I want to say this to you. In western Pennsylvania, the relief boards must change their policies because they have demanded that the coal miners, temporarily out of work, get rid of their automobiles. Out our way, automobiles are their only means of transportation. They say, too, that they must get rid of their insurance policies, cash them in. Also that they must cash in and get rid of any assets they may have in order to receive a little unemployment compensation.

So, I say to you, Mr. President, the time has come for us to move. Let us get this committee going, and get this resolution out and see what is wrong with it.

SENATE RESOULTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PECHAN, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. Wolfe and Fleming on February 22, 1955, reported the same with amendment as follows:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE LAURELTON STATE VILLAGE

In the Senate, February 22, 1955.

Harry Shapiro, the Secretary of Welfare, has accused the Board of Trustees and the Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, a State institution, of condoning "inhuman treatment" of patients. Frederick Maue, President of the Board of Trustees, and Dr. Effie C. Ireland, Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, have denied the charges and requested an impartial investigation to clear their names.

These charges cast reflection upon the integrity of all public officers and must create serious doubts and grave apprehensions among the people concerning the good conduct of our government. An immediate impartial investigation of these charges is necessary in order to remedy this conduct, if true, or to protect the good name of our public officers and institutions, if false; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Senate, in the interest of fair play, be authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all the charges made. The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglest or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate be authorized to name a committee of four members of the Senate; be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives be authorized to name a committee of four members of the House of Representatives; and be it further

Resolved, That said joint committee shall make its report to the respective branches of the General Assembly within a period, not to exceed thirty days.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

A motion was made by Mr. PECHAN and Mr. WADE,

That rule 39, which requires resolution reported from committee to lie over for one day be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, tell this body just what he intends to do about this investigation?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, we are going to make an impartial investigation. I do not know whether I am going to be a member of that committee. It was my purpose, as Chairman of the Public Health and Welfare Committee, to hold a meeting of my committee, which was held at one o'clock today, and the resolution was reported out as amended. I do not know whether I am even going to be on the committee. That is up to the President pro tempore of the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in the event that the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, is chosen as a member of that committee, will he state whether he considers himself qualified to be a member of that committee?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, Mr. President. I do not see why not.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the gentleman think he possesses the qualifications to discuss, interrogate and take affidavits of patients on matters to their own welfare and health? Does he have any knowledge of health?

Mr. PECHAN. I think so, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, has he changed his mind since last week?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, let us not talk about Hoxsey.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am talking about this resolution. When I want to talk about Hoxsey, I will talk about Hoxsey.

Mr. PECHAN. I was afraid of that, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week Senator Pechan disqualified himself as a member of a committee to go to Texas and talk to people on matters pertaining to their own welfare and health. I am asking now, Mr. President, is he qualified now to talk to the people in Pennsylvania along the same lines? Does the gentleman feel he is qualified to discuss health?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Could he discuss health in Texas?

Mr. PECHAN. That is too far away, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is what I was afraid of, Mr. President. That is all.

Mr. President, I am not against investigations. I think it is our duty to investigate irregularities of any condition in any institution that we feel has complaints. However, Mr. President, I cannot quite understand or comprehend a Member getting up in place and disqualifying himself, and telling the newspapers and telling the world that Members of this body are not qualified to talk to a person who may say that he had cancer and now he is cured. Senator Pechan said that we are not qualified.

Then, Mr. President, out of a clear sky, he qualifies himself in this position. I think we are all qualified. I think we are all of sufficient normal intelligence to discuss with a patient his condition in a hospital or a public institution. I think we are qualified to discuss his treatment, his nourishment and his health. I think it should apply to all cases, not to one.

Mr. President, I want to point out definitely that one day Senator Pechan is qualified and the next day he is not. It is a sad state of affairs in Pennsylvania when a man will rise in place and disqualifies one investigation and accuses all of the Members of being unqualified to act. Then, in the next breath, he says we are all qualified to conduct investigations.

Mr. President, I am for the investigation, whether it is good or bad. Let us bring out what may be good or bad about it. However, I hope in the future that the same gentleman will qualify himself because, before this Session is over, he will have the opportunity, I assure him.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know where the two questions that the Senator from Cambria is talking about have any connection. The one is about a junket down to Dallas, Texas, to see, or to verify, a certain cancer cure. The other question concerns an investigation into the affairs and the manner in which the Laurelton Hospital is being managed. They are entirely two different things.

Mr. President, one is a cure and the other is to find out how the place is being managed, whether some of the people who have resigned, or have been asked to resign, have done it under pressure and whether their reputations have been hurt. They are entirely two different questions.

Incidentally, Mr. President, the one is a State institution and the one that the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, is talking about is something that belongs to another world, Texas.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, believe me, he put words into my mouth. I had no intention of talking about Hoxsey. He mentioned it first. It wasn't even in my mind. I was talking about this resolution. Before I got started, he talked about Hoxsey. He should blame himself, not me. He brought the issue into the discussion, himself. I confined my remarks to this resolution, but throughout his discourse, he talked about Hoxsey.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this resolution for no reason connected with the competency of Senators to conduct the investigation, but because I do not believe that investigations should be started by this Senate unless for good and reasonable cause.

Mr. President, in this particular case and instance, I fail to recognize any legitimate cause for the expenditure of the time and energy that this investigation would take.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 3 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. Mr. President, I call from the table House Concurrent Resolution No. 3, Printer's No. 15, for consideration at this time.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

PRESIDENT AND MRS. EISENHOWER WELCOMED AS VOTING RESIDENTS OF ADAMS COUNTY

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1955.

The President of the United States and his gracious wife Mr and Mrs Dwight D Eisenhower have purchased a farm in scenic Adams County and have expressed the desire of making it their home in the near future therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania welcome President and Mrs Eisenhower to become voting residents of Adams County and be it further

Resolved That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 3 UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read by the Clerk be adopted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 28, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 7, 1955, at three-thirty o'clock p.m., E.S.T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 7, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p.m., E.S.T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, there has been some criticism back in Allegheny County because a bill was introduced to take the toll off of the proposed tunnels under Mount Washington. Nobody in Allegheny County is any more interested in the highways than I am. I think my past experience in highways in Allegheny County proves my interest in Allegheny County. I am not averse to bad publicity and I am not worried about it, but what I am interested in is this.

The Eisenhower million dollar road program contains certain specifications in order to qualify for the road building program. Many millions of dollars have been spent by the Commonwealth in Allegheny County and in the western part of Pennsylvania.

This resolution, Mr. President, if acceptable, will put Allegheny County and western Pennsylvania on the ground floor to get more Federal money in completing that highway.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

REQUESTING FEDERAL FUNDS FOR THE COMPLETION OF PENN-LINCOLN PARKWAY

Messrs. KOPRIVER, JR., FLEMING, BARR, SCHMIDT, McGINNIS and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 28, 1955.

The one hundred one billion dollar road improvement program recommended to Congress by the President, if adopted, will be used only on interstate highways.

It is to the credit of this Commonwealth that it has spent many million dollars on the Penn-Lincoln Parkway in Allegheny County, in order to facilitate travel from east to west and from the west to the east, in this highly industrialized center in western Pennsylvania.

This parkway and the work done on it has shown real effort and ingenuity on the part of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania citizens in the promotion of modern highway transportation.

Unless the Penn-Lincoln Parkway is designated as an interstate highway, Allegheny County the industrial heart of western Pennsylvania will be left with only old route 30 as the only interstate highway going into it from the east, and then going west into West Virginia, the starting point of the newly industrialized South and a link to the great West.

If the Penn-Lincoln parkway is designated as an interstate highway, and thus made eligible for completion with the aid of Federal funds, the industry of western Pennsylvania and the neighboring State of West Virginia will receive a tremendous boost, through the completion of a newly modernized highway artery which will provide transportation both east and west taking a large portion of the traffic from routes 22 and 30 and aid in providing easy transporation to the southern and western United States thus helping an easy interchange of the essentials of commerce which is so highly important to this Commonwealth if it is to maintain its leadership as a center of commerce; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That this General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereby strongly urge the Governor of Pennsylvania, United States Senators Martin and Duff, the four Congressional Representatives from Allegheny County, and the State Secretary of Highways, to take necessary steps to make available Federal funds from the forthcoming program recommended by the President of the United States for aiding the completion of the Penn-Lincoln Parkway; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to United States Senators Martin and Duff, the Governor of Pennsylvania, the four Congressional Representatives from Allegheny County and to the State Secretary of Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, recently the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania lost one of its first citizens. He was the late Worthington Scranton, of Lacakawanna County. Mr. Scranton in his lifetime embodied, in his code of living, all that is good in citizenship.

In this memory, Mr. President, I offer on behalf of myself and Senator M Harvey Taylor, this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE OF SENATE EXTENDED TO WIDOW AND CHILDREN OF WORTHINGTON SCRANTON

Messrs. McMENAMIN and TAYLOR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 28, 1955.

Worthington Scranton, one of the foremost businessmen and philanthropists of our Commonwealth, was fatally stricken with coronary thrombosis on February 13. He was seventy-eight years of age.

Worthington Scranton was a continuance of the lineage which was devoted to the pioneering, developing and advancement of the Scranton area. Born on August 29, 1876, a son of W. W. and Katherine Smith Scranton, he received his elementary education in the former Cann's Private School, and went on to graduate from Yale University and Harvard Law School. For many years he served as president of Scranton's great water works, one of the finest utilities of its kind in the nation.

The memories of Worthington Scranton will long remain with us, not only because of his prowess as a businessman, but also for his contributions to the benevolence and well-being of his fellow citizens. His tireless energies were available to any worth-while cause, and he was a life-long leader in nearly every civic and welfare activity. His gifts to the University of Scranton were largely responsible for its continued success, and his contributions to other educational institutions and charities were manifold.

Because the life of Worthington Scranton meant so much to Pennsylvania, and particularly to the Scranton area, it is fittiing that we pause at this time to show our appreciation of his fine contributions; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania extend their deepest and most sincere sympathies, both individually and as a body, to the widow and children of Worthington Scranton; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his widow, Marian Margery Scranton.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, of recent days many of us have been receiving a great deal of mail concerning the so-called machinery tax bill. There has been a misinterpretation of the intent of the legislation that we, as the Democratic Party Members, are sponsoring relative to this subject.

Mr. President, during the last Session of the Legislature, after a heated and lengthy debate, a bill was passed exempting machinery from real estate taxation at the county level. We pointed out at that time that machinery, as such, was not taxed in many counties. However, it was considered part of the real estate value when the assessments were being made by the county assessors. I pointed out, if you will remember, that in my county it equalled twenty-five per cent of the assessed valuation of the county and if this bill became law, the local real estate owners, particularly the small home owner, would be faced with the possibility of a twenty-five per cent increase in his real estate taxation.

Now, Mr. President, we are sponsoring legislation to put the act back into the same form that it was in prior to the 1953 Session of the Legislature. In other words, the status quo will be maintained. The present condition of machinery in relationship to local taxes will be maintained. There will be no change whatsoever in the assessment or taxing laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania if our bill passes.

Mr. President, someone has put out a false impression to the effect that if this bill passes, machinery as such will be taxed. Machinery will not be taxed if this bill passes any more than what machinery is now taxed under the real estate tax laws of the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, let us understand each other even if we cannot have everyone understand us. All we are trying to do is protect the small real estate owner from an increase of twenty-five per cent in his real estate taxes. Therefore, those who are promoting the idea among industrial leaders in Pennsylvania that we are attempting to pass a tax upon machinery are misleading the people to whom they are talking. We are not interested in creating a special tax on machinery. We are only hoping to maintain our communities in the manner in which we have maintained them over the years, without increasing the taxes upon the small home owner in that community.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Dent has talked about the machinery tax exemption bill, and it certainly bears out my contention that it is unwise to discuss bills which are not before us. If I had the bill before me, I think I could show Senator Dent that the bill, as written and introduced, definitely places machinery as one of the items which must be taxed.

I think there was more added to the bill than what Senator Dent said. I believe that the word "must," or some word such as that is placed in the bill, and it states there that machinery must be an item of assessable property for taxation.

I would appreciate if the gentleman will give me time to get the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think if the gentleman will review the remarks which I made that he will find that I spoke for the Democratic Party and the Democratic Administration.

Mr. President, the Administration bill has not been introduced in the Senate. The Administration bill which I talked about, and for, was the bill that was introduced in the House, and will only do exactly what I said it will do. Individual members may have their own ideas, but speaking as the leader of the Democratic Party in the Senate, I wanted to make it clear to industry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that Governor Leader is not, as the Chief Executive, sponsoring legislation to pass a specific tax upon machinery. We are only interested in reverting back to the position we were in in the local communities prior to the passing of the 1953 act.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I did not understand you. You are now asking us to be against the Lane bill. Is that understanding correct?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if I could ask you to be against the Lane bill, if the Lane bill puts machinery specifically under the tax laws of the Commonwealth as real estate, I may be tempted to do so. However, knowing from history how much influence I have on the Republican side, I will not waste my breath on that effort.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I did not want to get my oar into this, but I guess I am going to have to.

In 1953, as you recall, Mr. President, legislation was passed here in Harrisburg, and it was expressed on this floor that they were trying to correct a condition which existed in the city of Erie and in the County of Erie and so they passed two amendments; on which amended the Second and Third Class County Assessment Act to exclude the City of Pittsburgh and the County of Allegheny, and the other amendment amended the Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Act which took in all the counties, including Washington, Cambria and all the rest of them in Pennsylvania. In that bill, it was specifically written out that all industrial machinery and other equipment, if you please, would be exempt from taxation by the assessment locally and in the county.

Now, Mr. President, the legislation which we introduced was specifically planned to delete from the present law, which will become effective I think the first Monday of January of next year, the provisions which were put in the act in 1953. If the words "must" or "shall" are in there, I will amend it myself. What we want to do is to restore the legislation to its original form. This is something which should be done because, I say to you on this floor, it was the biggest deal that ever took place in 1953. They kept it out of the campaign, and that is the reason that they postponed the effective date until the first Monday of January of next year.

I say to you, Mr. President, that it is our intent to restore the act to its original form, and if Senator Mahany or the Chambers of Commerce anywhere has any questions to ask me, I will be ready and willing to answer them. All that we want to do is revert it back to the way it was, and if the word "must" or the word "shall" is in that bill, we will amend it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am glad that Senator Dent has cleared up what appears to be a gross misunderstanding in the minds of some people at least.

In our end of the State, Mr. President, I think that no one in Pennsylvania has done a better job in bringing new industries into an area than the people in our community have in Scranton. We certainly are not interested in a machinery tax bill.

Mr. President, I have felt from the beginning that it was not Senator Lane's intent to put a tax on machinery. I am sure that it is not the Democratic Party's intent to do so. I know that I am not down here to vote to place a tax on machinery. What we need, as has been said here before today, is more new industries to alleviate our crucial unemployment problem in Pennsylvania.

At the same time, I believe that the tax burden should be fair so that the home owners do not have to pay any more taxes on their homes. I, for one, am a payer of real estate taxes on my home, and I am paying about all that I think I can pay and I am not going to do anything down here by voting for any legislation which will increase the property taxes to the small home owners in Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, as one of the co-sponsors of the bill which is being discussed, I feel some responsibility for it, although it is being referred to as the Lane-Holland bill.

The word "shall" is in the bill, Mr. President, and has been in the bill since 1830. At that time, the bill was passed and it made machinery subject to taxation. It does not say that anybody shall impose a tax on it. However, it does say that it shall be considered as property which can be taxed.

I would like to read for Senator Mahany, Mr. President, the exact language of the bill:

"Machinery, tools, appliances and other equipment contained in any mill, mine, manufactory or industrial establishment shall be included as a part of the real estate in determining the value of such mill, mine, manufactory or industrial establishment."

That has been the language since 1830. It has been in the courts of Pennsylvania, the Supreme Court of the United States and has been upheld as constitutional. At the present time, two counties, as I understand it, have imposed taxes; all counties have had the ability to tax since 1830. It seems to me that there is no more likelihood that the other counties will see fit to act upon this right, this ability to tax which they have, in the next 100 years than they did in the last 100 years.

Now, Mr. President, what happened in 1953 was this. They struck out the word "be" where it says "shall be included as a part of" and they inserted the words "not be considered or," which made it read "shall not be considered or included as a part of the real estate tax." By striking out the words "not be considered or" and resubstituting the word "be," which is all that Senate Bills Nos. 47 and 48 do, we are simply putting back the language which has stood the test for 130 years.

Mr. President, Senator Mahany's county, to the best of my knowledge, and all the other counties with the exception of the two I have mentioned, have never chosen to use that ability, and, presumably, with the wise guidance of the gentlemen here who represent those counties, they will not do so in the future, but they would have that ability.

My interest in this matter is simply this, Mr. President. I believe in home rule. Some people believe in home rule but they do not really mean it, but I believe in it and I think that implies that local governments are going to have to be asked to assume a part of the financial burden, and they cannot look to the State to go on adding to the burden of the State in supplying moneys to run local governments.

It seems to me ridiculous to talk about home rule if you really mean it, Mr. President, and at the same time take away from local governments ability to tax which they have had for 100 and some odd years, since 1830. For that reason, I think that there is no danger in that word "shall." Let us not be afraid of words. It is not saying that you shall tax machinery; it is simply saying that machinery shall be considered as a subject for taxation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BLASS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I am rather familiar with the situation in connection with the old act of 1830, in so far as it affects my County of Erie. That act was almost obsolete and forgotten for over 100 years until, through the connivance of some young Democratic attorney who is connected with the school district of the city of Erie, this act was stirred up in order to provide more revenue for the Democratic school district of my city and county. The result was far-reaching. We have no complaint, and industry has no complaint, in the taxation of such machinery as forms an integral part of the real estate. That is, and always has been, the law of the Commonwealth.

What they are complaining of is that they embrace, in the category of machinery subject to real estate taxation, such other machiney which is not part of the real estate but is incident and in conjunction with the operation of the industrial establishment such as cranes, cars, cabooses, loose tools and machinery. As a result, what has happened in the County of Erie, and what has happened in the city of Erie? We have lost one of the biggest industries that we had in the city of Erie by the transfer of that portion of the General Electric Company, which went to Louisville, for the manufacture of electrical appliances. What else has happened to the city of Erie where they have invoked this old law, old, obsolete law, of 1830 which was considered dead upon the statute books? They have driven industry out of the city of Erie, and a great many of the industrial plants have had to resort to moving to the States of the South, like Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia.

As a result, the city of Erie has lost thousands of people; the city of Erie has lost thousands of dollars in revenue; manufacturing has left the confines of the city; and if you adopt that and bring back that form of taxation in other counties of the Commonwealth, you are going to put a strain upon the State of Pennsylvania which is going to absolutely drive industry from its borders.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened with more than my usual interest to the remarks of the distinguished gentleman from Erie, Senator Blass.

Mr. President, what confuses me is that I wonder why, since Senator Blass is such an eminent attorney, he did not recommend that they pass special legislation for the city of Erie. I think the gentleman well knows that the city of Pittsburgh, the city of Philadelphia, and I believe Wilkes-Barre and maybe Scranton, I am not sure, are exempt from the provisions of the act.

Why in the world did the representatives from Erie County come down here and try to sell us a bill of goods that they could amend the Second and Third Class County Assessment Act, and the Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Act, and claim that they were going to correct a condition which existed in Erie County? Why do they not pass special legislation for Erie, and I will vote for it? I do not understand why this should be pushed upon all the rest of the counties in the Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am certainly surprised at Senator Lane making a statement such as he just made, being a Member of the Local Government Commission for many years and a Member of this body for many years. He certainly should know by this time that we cannot, even though we wanted to, pass special legislation for the city of Erie. The city of Erie is one of the third class cities of the State of Pennsylvania, and any legislation which would be passed that would affect Erie in any way whatsoever would necessarily have to affect every third class city in the State of Pennsylvania.

The same is true with the County of Erie, Mr. President. It is within a particular class of counties, and we can only pass legislation which would affect that particular class of counties.

Now for Senator Seyler to rise and say it is within the discretion of the taxing body as to whether they want to put machinery in or take it out, I think is erroneous. I think if Senator Seyler will examine the case of the Hammermill Paper Company, he will find that in that case the City Council of Erie, or the School District of Erie, was mandamused to include the machinery within the assessable property. They did not have any discretion; even though they themselves may have chosen to have excluded machinery from the assessable property, that discretion was taken away from them.

I would like to have someone tell me how, after we pass this bill and it becomes law and it states that machinery shall be included as part of the real estate, any assessor could possibly just forget about the provisions of this law and not include it. If he did so, any taxpayer of the city or of the county could come in with a mandamus action, just as was done in the Hammermill Paper Company case, and mandamus him to include all the machinery within his jurisdiction as part of the real estate. That would be the purpose of the law. If we just left it up to the discretion of a tax assessor as to what he should include and what he should not include, you would have a different setup in every jurisdiction of every tax assesor in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We surely want to have the law certain.

Mr. President, it says here "shall be included," and that takes it out of his discretion. If we pass this law, we certainly are going to have machinery placed under taxation in the State of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with one thing that the Republican Majority Leader said, and that is that we should not discuss legislation before it appears on the calendar. However, Mr. President, with the positions that are being expressed here this afternoon, there is a danger that this legislation may not get to the Calendar. Therein lies the whole program that we have before us. Therefore, a dress rehearsal at this time is not out of place.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I believe all of us recognize the wisdom that John Fine, as Governor, in one of his more lucid moments, disclosed when he refused to sign the bill unless the effective date were changed until after he went out of office. He recognized then the danger to sixty-five, at least, out of the sixty-seven counties in the Commonwealth, in that they would immediately have to raise the assessment upon the small home owners' real estate.

This bill, as the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, has so well explained, does nothing except put us back into the position we were in prior to the 1953 Session in that, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, every county has had this right since 1830. Most of the counties have included real estate, or rather machinery as real estate, in their assessment upon industrial and mining industries. However, in so doing, they took it on the basis of what they set the evaluation at and not at any specific evaluation in relationship to cost or in relationship to depreciated value. In so doing, they have gone along over the years without being too injurious to industry, and still allowing the small home owner the privilege of living in his home with as nearly as low a tax relief as he could possibly have.

Now, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, if the contention of the gentleman from Crawford is right, then is it true that every county in the State of Pennsylvania, and every assessor in every county in the State of Pennsylvania, can now be taken to court because he has not placed a specific tax upon machinery? If that is so, don't you think that the Chamber of Commerce, in its big drive with the Manufacturers' Association, to raise all the hullabaloo about the repealing bill before us has done a great injustice to industry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? Is it not also true that most of the counties are now in the position of needing finances and, therefore, with the explanation given by the Majority Leader on the other side we will not have to search too far to find the source for the revenue?

Is it not also true that former Governor Duff passed an act of this Legislature expanding the taxing powers of the local authorities, and heralded himself all over the United States as one of the greatest Governors this State has ever had because he did that same thing? He said that under Act 481, local communities could tax anything, including the air we breathe, if they could find some way of measuring that air.

Now, Mr. President, they are not being consistent on the other side. This side fought that bill until four o'clock in the morning. If it would not have been for a little deal—and we will call it by its right name—being made with the anthracite members, the bill would never have gone into effect. To prove my contention, they were told that coal would not be subject to taxation. The local authorities differed with them, and went out and taxed coal. The first amendment to Act No. 481 was to take out of 481 the right to tax coal in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We have now developed the position, Mr. President, where the only thing that really is taxed under Act No. 481 is amusement, wages of the workers in the factories and mills of this great State of ours, and the mercantile tax.

Mr. President, if they take this form of real estate revenue from the local communities, it means that they will have to go in and take a bigger bite out of the wages of the individuals working in the mills to meet their budgets, or they will have to increase the real estate valuation of the properties back home. I say to you that if you do that, you are directly responsible for placing the tax burden of this Commonwealth more severly upon the shoulders of those least able to pay.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say that this bill should be considered immediately so that the local communities can prepare their expenditures and budgets, knowing full well that they will not be disturbed in their local real estate assessment or taxation. This bill ought to come out of committee this week in order that we can clarify the situation for all concerned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think we are all out of order in talking about bills that are not before us. As I started out saying, I think it is wrong and it bears out my contention of getting into arguments over bills that are not properly before us.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland just said he thought we should consider this bill this week. Just a little while ago, he said he was not talking about this particular bill at all, and that he had an Administration bill over in the House that he wanted to have us consider.

You can see what we can get into, Mr. President. I am going to quit right now by saying that I think it is wrong, and we are all out of order in discussing matters that are not properly before us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would just like to say one word.

First, Mr. President, in regard to Senator Mahany's remarks, I was reliably informed by quite a number of legal lights that we can pass special legislation pertaining to Erie. Secondly, Mr. President, after going over this legislation, it seems to me that Senator Mahany is reading something into the bills which actually does not exist. All we have done is placed the bills back in the proper form in which they were before the 1953 Session.

Incidentally, Mr. President, I have no objection to this legislation. Should they consider this bill, I believe this bill would serve the purpose.

STUDENTS OF SENIOR AND JUNIOR CLASS OF UPPER SOUTHAMPTON-WARMINSTER HIGH SCHOOL, SOUTHAMPTON, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I have the privilege of introducing to you and to the Senate, seventy-five students who are part of the Senior and Junior Class of the Upper Southampton-Warminster High School, situated in Bucks County. They are in the gallery.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair might say that we are very happy to have the distinguished visitors from Senator Watson's county here with us today. We hope that they will come back to see us many times.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, while my colleagues on the other side are in a very generous mood, I have a bill which I would like to call to the attention of the gentleman of the Senate here today, and I hope that they will certainly give proper consideration to this bill and move it out of committee just as fast as it goes in.

This bill pertains to the cancellation of the wage tax upon nonresidents in the counties of Delaware, Bucks, and Montgomery. I know that Senator Lane is very much in favor of this bill, and I im in great hopes that my great friend, Senator DiSilvestro, and my other colleagues from Philadelphia, will search their hearts and feel guilty for what they have done in the past and find some way in which they will be able to vote favorably on this bill.

Mr. President, seriously, the people in my county are up in arms. Today, we have not built barriers between the County of Philadelphia and the County of Delaware, but I can say just this to you, it is the most distasteful tax, the most unfair tax, we think that has ever been imposed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania upon its people.

Mr. President, the city of Philadelphia every year receives approximately $10,000,000 from the pockets of Delaware County taxpayers. We feel as though the tax is absolutely unjust for one reason in particular. We have no say and we have no vote whatsoever in the government which this money is going to support.

I think that with proper consideration and with the thought in mind today of how the boys feel on the other side, and I know the way some of my colleagues feel, they will realize that an injustice has been done to our county, including Montgomery and Bucks and the others which are victims of this tax, and that they will help this bill along and bring it out and put it on this floor for discussion as soon as possible.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WATKINS, WATSON and HARNEY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 184, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 5, 1932 (P. L. 45), entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy, assess and collect, or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of, certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes, authorizing the establishment of bureaus, and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes; and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced," prohibiting the imposition of wage income or occupation taxes on non-residents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, all I want to do is to suggest to Senator Watkins that we defer debate on this bill until it reaches the calendar.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I find that this bill is being met with so much success over here, and I wish to apologize to the grand Senator from Chester County, Senator Harney, as he also would like to join as a co-sponsor.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Watkins, is it not true that taxation without representation is what brought about the Boston Tea Party?

Mr. WATSON. I centainly concur in that.

Mr. LANE. Thank you, Senator.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 185, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1933, (P. L. 1172), No. 290), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways, and providing for their construction and maintenanse at the expense of the Commonwealth," adding a new route in Upland Borough.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 186, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 720), entitled "An act providing for the taking over by the Commonwealth, under certain terms, conditions and limitations, of certain streets in cities of the second class, second class A, and third class as State highways, and for the improvement, contruction, reconstruction, resurfacing and maintenance by the Commonwealth of certain defined widths of said streets; imposing duties on such cities and on public utility companies using such streets; providing that no assessment shall be made upon the Commonwealth in the elimination of any grade crossing thereon; authorizing cities, persons, associations, or corporations to enter into agreements with the Commonwealth to bear a portion of the cost of construction or maintenance; providing for the assessment of certain portions of the cost of street improvements on abutting property owners; regulating the replacement of certain facilities of public utility companies; prohibiting the opening of said streets after improvement without a permit, and providing penalty therefor; regulating the maintenance of detours; authorizing the increase of city indebtedness in certain cases; and appropriating money in the Motor License Fund for the purposes of this act," adding a new route in the City of Chester.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. DIEHM. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

CALENDAR

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 35, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1931 (P. L. 149), entitled, as amended "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are practically, and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," extending for an additional period the right to partial reimbursement of taxes paid on liquid fuels consumed in the operation of certain tractors and machinery for agricultural purposes.

be re-referred to the Committee on Highways, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, is the bill so complicated that you cannot understand what it does?

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President, I can understand it but there are others who do not understand it.

Mr. MAHANY. You mean there are some other Senators here in this hall who do not understand the provisions of this bill?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there are Members of the Senate who have told me that they would like to have the bill go back to committee and we hope to have enough of us feel that way about it.

Mr. MAHANY. You mean you are now trying to get off of a hook of some kind? Is that the reason?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not know what the gentleman is talking about unless he has been reading fairy tales. The last time I hear of Mr. Hooke, he was out on Treasure Island somewhere.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if this were a complicated bill I could understand, perhaps, why it might be necessary to send it back to committee to have some study made of it, but the bill is a very simple one. It provides that the farmers shall have the full refund of the gasoline tax which they pay instead of half of the tax, as the law now stands.

Mr. President, this bill is intended to carry out some of the promises which Governor Leader made when he was a candidate for Governor; particularly one made in April 1954, at Scranton, where Governor Leader, as a candidate, boasted of his efforts to obtain for the farmers 100 per cent refund of the gasoline tax which they paid the state on fuel used in the production of food. Governor Leader, when he was a Member of this honorable body, the State Senate of Pennsylvania, introduced bills in the first Session in which he was a Senator in 1951, and again in 1953, to refund to the farmers up to 100 per cent of the state tax they paid on their gasoline used in farm production.

I certainly cannot feel, Mr. President, that Governor Leader is instructing his Minority Floor Leader to take this action. I understand that Senator Dent is supposed to act for the Governor, and how he would now get up here and try to kill off a bill by sending it back to committee is more than I can understand. I think it is a bill which certainly by the promises made by Governor Leader in his campaign, and also his actions while a Member of the State Senate, shows that he wants it very much.

We will be ready to vote on the bill tomorrow on its merits when it moves up to Third Reading and Final Passage, Mr. President, and if the Democrats do not want to vote for the bill they will know that we cannot pass it because we do not have twenty-six votes.

Mr. President, why they would now try to run away from their obligation to vote on this bill by trying to get it back into committee, is more than I can understand. Of course, the only conclusion which I can draw from this action is that they are trying to get away from it by putting it back into committee, so that they will not have to be called upon to vote "yes" or "no." This is one of the few times in the history of the State Senate, since I have been in here, that I have seen Senator Dent try to run into a closet.

Mr. President, I am so surprised that I ask him now to reconsider that action and allow us to vote on this legislation tomorrow.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate no end the solicitous attitude that the gentleman from Crawford has for the Governor's feelings and for my own feelings. However, the bill is not going back to be killed, because sooner or later before the Session is over we will have to pass a bill of this nature.

Mr. President, we have a long-range program in the making on highway funds. We are trying to pass, or will attempt to pass, legislation which will give the farmers far greater benefits than they will receive from the passage of this act in its present form. That is why, Mr. President, I have suggested that the bill be re-referred to the Committee on Highways where it can be studied in relationship to the broad highway program.

We all know that rural roads need attention. We all know that city streets need attention. We all know that the broad highways crossing our State from north to south and east to west need attention. We also know that the program in the past has not been a modern program and, therefore, Mr. President, all legislation dealing with the highway problem must be considered at the same time when we take up the over-all program.

Mr. President, there is no intention on the part of the Democratic Members to kill the bill, and I assure you that I have not talked to the Governor concerning our action this afternoon. I have not asked him whether he would approve or disapprove of it. We are trying to operate, at this time, Mr. President, in our capacity as Members of the Senate, duly elected to represent the people of our Districts and the people of Pennsylvania. Legislatively, we are independent of the Governor and the Governor is independent of us. Therefore, we are exercising our prerogative this afternoon to try to pass upon legislation on the basis as Members of the Senate.

I am sure that the Governor, Mr. President, who is interested in good government, would approve of the Senate enjoying its prerogatives.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. Mahany, you made a statement that the bill was a very simple one. While the reading of it is simple, where we are reimbursing full instead of half the gasoline tax, could you tell us what this change will mean in dollars and cents in the way of taking revenue from the Highway Fund?

Mr. MAHANY. Why, the farmers will get back about twice as much as they get back now, Senator.

The PRESIDENT. It seems that the gentlemen are debating the merits of the bill, and the question before the Senate is on the motion that this bill be re-referred.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I come from a rural area of Pennsylvania, and before this bill appeared on the Senate Calendar I received numerous letters from granges, farmers and persons who were interested in this type of legislation. I was extremely glad when this bill was reported from committee, as amended, to be able to write to all those people and tell them that I believe that this bill, which was to provide a full refund to them for the gasoline tax which they paid on the consumption of gasoline on their farm machinery on the highways, would be before us and would probably be approved by all of the Members of the Senate.

At that time, Mr. President, I could not conceive of any of my colleagues on either side being reluctant to carry out their pledges to the farmers of Pennsylvania to have this gasoline tax refund made.

Now, Mr. President, unfortunately I am going to have to write to all of these people and tell them that this is not going to be so. I underestimated, or overestimated, my colleagues' enthusiasm for this bill and, consequently, a great burden has been placed upon me in writing a lot of extra letters.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would suggest to the gentleman, Senator Berger, that he just look up the letters which he wrote two years ago when he voted against this amendment and send the same letters.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MAHANY and Mr. TAYLOR, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24.

Bane,	Donolow,	McGinnis,	Seyler,
Barr,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Holland,	Mullin,	Toole,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Weiner,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,	Yosko,

NAYS—24.

Berger,	Harney,	McPherson, Jr.	Wade,
Blass,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Kopriver, Jr.	Peelor,	Watkins,
Diehm,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watson,
Flack,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Wolfe,

The PRESIDENT. A tie vote of twenty-four "yeas" and twenty-four "nays" having been received, the Chair casts an affirmative vote on this motion.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 110, Printer's No. 18, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the House to the foregoing bill, and that a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate be appointed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE APPOINTED ON HOUSE BILL No. 1

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of Messrs. MAHANY, FLEMING and DENT as a committee of conference on the part of the Senate to confer with a similar committee of the House if the House shall appoint such committee) to consider the difference existing between the two houses in relation to House Bill No. 1.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, March 1, 1955, at 11:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:54 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, March 1, 1955, at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 28, 1955

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi Moses N. Friedman, York, Pennsylvania, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, with implicit faith in Thy sovereignty, omnipotence and omniscience, we reverently bow before Thee to seek Thy blessings upon us and Thy benison upon all our endeavors.

O Thou, who art the source of penetration and acumen, receive, we pray Thee, our oblations of gratitude for the conscience to help us guide our actions and govern our deeds with which Thou hast endued us. We thank Thee, Omnipotent God, for our ability to serve fellow men in the vocations of our choice; and in the presence of this distinguished body of legislators we are particularly grateful for the privilege Thou hast so benignly bestowed upon them to serve the cause of our Commonwealth.

Illuminate the path of our representatives in this chamber with a ray of Thy divine light, we beseech Thee; help them find joy in the trust and confidence we placed in their keen sense of judgment; and cause their resolves to meet with the sincere approbation of a grateful constituency. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, February 21, and Tuesday, February 22, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GRANVILLE E. JONES, Mrs. MONROE, Messrs. HOLT, PETTIGREW and MATT S. ANDERSON.

RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, February 22, 1955.

It has recently come to light that the employes of the district offices of the Department of Public Assistance are not discharging the obligations of their office with dispatch or thoroughness. The resultant injustices in the processing of claims for public assistance place the Commonwealth in an unfavorable light in the eyes of the public; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives does urge the Governor, the Attorney General, and the Secrtary of Public Assistance to investigate every district office of the Department of Public Assistance, and to make a study of the methods and procedures of the supervisors, interviewers, and other employes in the processing of claims of applicants for and recipients of public assistance; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor, the Attorney General and the Secretary of Public Assistance make a report of their findings, together with their recommendations for improvement to the Department of Public Assistance.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. OLSEN and THOMAS.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1955.

Thousands of motorists each year travel over one of the finest highways ever engineered, the Pennsylvania Turnpike, conceived and constructed not only as a convenience but as a safety measure to motorists in their trans-state auto trips.

One of the safety measures conceived for the preservation of motorists' lives was the construction of tunnels with the purpose in mind of avoiding the steep inclines, the railroad crossings, and the dangerous intersections with their cross-roads found to be the grim reaper for many motorists.

Despite the foresight and ingenuity in incorporating the tunnels as safety precautions into the turnpike system, their very purpose is being nullified by the use of inadequate lighting, as evidenced by an increasing number of fatalities and which makes it mandatory that remedial action be taken at once; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission maintain the tunnel system in a safe and proper manner by the installation of a lighting system of sufficient candlepower to eliminate any blind-vision areas while traveling through the tunnels.

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission make a report to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible after the improved lighting system is installed.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 6—GEORGIA

The SPEAKER laid before the House Concurrent Resolution No. 6 adopted by the Georgia House of Representatives, concurred in by the Senate and approved by the Governor, memorializing Congress to call a convention to consider an amendment to the United States Constitution relative to the school systems in the respective states.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 20.

An Act making an appropriation to the General Assembly for the payment of expenses of its Inaugural Committee.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 3

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1955.

The President of the United States and his gracious wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, have purchased a farm in scenic Adams County and have expressed the desire of making it their home in the near future; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania welcome President and Mrs. Eisenhower to become voting residents of Adams County; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows.

In the Senate, February 28, 1955.

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 7, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock p.m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 7, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p.m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Royer, to preside for a brief interval.

MR. ROYER IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

The Speaker (Mr. ANDREWS) asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I hold in my hand an admonition and also a newspaper clipping. I commend to your attention the admonition which reads, "Caution. Be sure the brain is engaged before putting the commend to your attention the admonition which reads, mouth in gear." I will repeat that admonition: "Caution. Be sure the brain is engaged before putting the mouth in gear.

I shall endeavor to observe that admonition which I commend to the attention and the respectful consideration of all Members of this House.

I hold in my hand a clipping from one of our papers in this Commonwealth quoting a Member of this House. I am not one who would for a single instant contend that those who write and compile the daily press and the weekly press are infallible, that they always quote exactly correct. And I am not contending on this floor at this time that this House has jurisdiction over statements made back home in the bosom of one's political family. But I do say that there are statements of a kind which if correctly reported deserve protest upon the part of those who may feel aggrieved.

This newspaper clipping includes a criticism of the majority party in this House by saying: "When I see those 110 faces on the other side of the House, I am glad I am a Christian and a Republican."

If this statement is correctly reported, we on this side would indeed be glad that the Member responsible for it was a Republican, and we would all be infinitely glad that he was a Christian, speaking in Brotherhood Week, saying that when he surveys 110 faces on this side of the House that he was glad, glad he was a Christian, an indictment of our character, of our faith and a gross attack upon the comely beauty of the intelligence displayed in these faces who comprise the 110.

I am speaking concerning a statement allegedly made by the gentleman from Crowford, Mr. Magee, and I would desire to interrogate the gentleman from Grawford, Mr. Magee, if he is within the Hall of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Magee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Crawford to what extent he was correctly reported.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. Speaker, my first knowledge of the statement the Speaker has referred to occurred yesterday morning while I was eating breakfast.

I must remind this Assembly that on February 17th last past, we celebrated Lincoln's Birthday. This was commemorated by a larg turn-out of Republican stalwarts in Crawford County, numbering some 450 people. Among those in attendance also were our two Congressmen and many others from Crawford County who serve in the Legislature.

Now in answer to your question, I will admit that certain statements as reported in the Pittsburgh Press were true, but the context of the full statement, which I made among oher things does not conform with the actual facts as I stated them.

In the report of the paper in Pittsburgh, I will quote the sentence: "If you know what is going on down there in Harrisburg, you're better off than I am."

No, in explanation I was referring, if you please, sir, to the bills that we had presented to us on February 14th last. And I was giving a short statement concerning my stewardship to my constituents at home, and in relating my stewardship I said this: "And I sat here on this side looking over at the 110 faces on the other side and I wondered if they were as perplexed as I was." And that is the statement I made.

As relates to the second paragraph, "When I see those 110 faces (Democrats) on the other side of the House then I am glad I am a Christian and a Republican." Now, on first flash, when I saw that statement in the paper yesterday morning, I sizzled, too. I resented any implication that I was attempting to beguile, or condemn anyone of my brothers on that side. I want to assure you gentlemen right now that in the condensation of my remarks in their entirety the true context has been left out and excerpts have been placed clear in it in such a fashion that it has given me a lot of unfair publicity, and no doubt has created an open season on George Magee.

I deny vehemently that I ever attempted in any manner, shape or form to beguile, bewitch or condemn my legislative brethren on the other side. I had never knowingly in my life, and people who know me well will agree that I have never deliberately attempted to hurt anyone, irrespective of their religious affiliation or station in life. And, in fact, the record here will show that my broadness of, I think, humility stands on the fact that I voted for the FEPC bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Cambria wish to further interrogate the gentleman from Crawford?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, just one further word with the indulgence of the House.

I have listened to the statement made by the gentleman from Crawford. On the basis of his statement, as far as I am concerned, I will regard the incident as closed.

Mr. MAGEE. May I personally thank the gentleman from Crawford, and may I offer this further explanation to clarify the record.

When I stated that I was proud I am a Christian and a Republican, I had reference to subversive and communistic activities. And as we were at that meeting celebrating a memorial situation in which we commemorated the background and hopes of Abraham Lincoln, I want to say this right now, that I did say that I am proud that I am a Christian and I am proud that I am a Republican, in that I can work with you gentlemen, or all of you to liquidate the influence of subversive activities in communism.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, in order that we may still further clarify the situation, and in view of the statement just made by the gentleman from Crawford, we can then consider as a matter of record that the reporter for the Tribune Republican of Meadville interpolated that portion of your remarks in which he said "When I look across at the 110 members."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair requests the Speaker to return to the rostrum.

THE SPEAKER (HIRAM G. ANDREW) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Royer, for presiding.

The Chair requested the gentleman from Lancaster to preside, because the Chair knew of none in the House who is his superior in fairness and integrity.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. OLSEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. JOHN J. MURRAY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. STONE asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. STEPHENS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by her.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 37 together with communication from the Senate be taken from the table.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 216, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 16, 1951 (P. L. 1240), entitled "A supplement to the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 858), entitled 'An act establishing a State employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve excepting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties,' by permitting certain members to obtain credit for military service who were not eligible members at time of entry into military service," permitting additional members to obtain credit for military service.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 19, Printer's No. 26

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 55, entitled as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article two section four of the constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof

That section four article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Upon adoption of this amendment the General Assembly shall meet at twelve o'clock noon on the first Tuesday of January of the year following such adoption and shall meet at such time annually thereafter and at other times when convened by the Governor At regular sessions convening in even-numbered years the General Assembly shall not enact any laws except laws raising revenue laws making appropriations and laws pertaining to subjects designated by proclamation of the Governor prior to the first Tuesday of January

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Leader a few questions about this bill, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman as to whether or not if this bill is adopted by the voters in November, we would have a Session in 1956.

Mr. READINGER. We would.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like further to inquire as to whether or not if we had a Session in 1956, would we be compensated for that session? Would we draw our regular salary or what would be the decision?

Mr. READINGER. If you will pass the bill I am holding in my right hand you would be compensated to the extent of $3,000 for the annual session.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Then Mr. Speaker, the bill that he has in his hand is a separate bill. In other words it is not House Bill 55. Is that right?

Mr. READINGER. That is very correct.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Then I am to assume that if this bill, House Bill 55, or in other words if the amendment is adopted by the people and the bill that he proposes to introduce is passed by the House and the Senate and signed by the Governor, that would take care of the salary situation?

Mr. READINGER. It would. Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in further reply to the question asked by the gentleman, there could be some question about the validity of the bill that I am about to introduce in the near future, providing for a salary for the Members of the House and Senate for the session which would be held next year if this constitutional amendment passes.

As you know, the Constitution forbids us from increasing our own compensation while we are in office. However, it is my thought, and I believe it will be construed to be the law, that if the people themselves by amending the Constitution impose upon us the obligation of having an annual session, the Courts would uphold the passage and validity of a bill providing for compensation for the Membership for attending that additional session.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 10 Effective Date The provision of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we have before us today, House Bill No. 226 creating a commission. I hope that you people in the majority, the Governor's office and whoever has drawn up these bills, I hope you know what you are doing.

Five weeks ago you introduced a bill to give Governor Leader blank check authority to reorganize the state government, which has now been passed by both the House and the Senate. Today it was sent back to the Senate, we non-concurred in it. Previously it was placed on the table.

Today we are called to consider a second bill, House Bill 226, establishing a twelve-man commission to make recommendations to the General Assembly on the reorganization of State government. Now, both of these measures have been requested by His Excellency the Governor and from what I can find out have been drawn up by His Excellency the Governor's staff.

The Governor has led the voters to believe that he would save up to, and I certainly want to impress this on you, Mr. Speaker and the Members of this House, the Governor has led the voters of Pennsylvania to believe during his campaign that he would save the voters up to $100 million a biennium, and let me repeat that, a biennium, through governmental economies.

When the Governor on January 24th requested prompt action on House Bill 1, he said and I quote, "I now suggest that we have been surveyed enough and the time for action is at hand". The ink was hardly dry on that statement when we got another request from the Governor that we set up a twelve-man commission to make surveys, studies and recommendations.

Now I ask you, as I have had to ask time and time again, what are you up to? Who are you trying to fool? Do you honestly know what you are doing? Are you really trying to save money? Or are you still playing politics trying to fool the people? Is this the last bill on reorganization that we are going to get or will there be another bill, and then another, and another, each one designed for one reason, to stall for time? What are you trying to do?

Here we have the Governor telling us on January 23rd, when he requested passage of House Bill 1, and again I quote "it is my hope that since time is so important the Members will regard the government reorganization as a matter of urgency." That is what he told the General Assembly in January, yet here in February, a month later, when he has practically received blank check authority that he has asked for, we are told by the Democratic State Chairman not to expect reorganization this year. I do not know if your Democratic State Chairman was playing politics, but that is what your Democratic State Chairman said just very recently. Senator Barr said, and I quote, "There just is not enough time to do it in this session and still do a good job. The entire subject must be studied and given thought", end of quote of Senator Barr.

Here is what Governor Leader told newspaper reporters last Thursday, and I quote, "We have more an approach to reorganization rather than a plan. I don't have a plan that has crystallized". I think this coming from the Governor is down-right amazing, particularly after the previous statements that he has made. He went up and down this state last October, promising to reorganize the state government, department by department, if he were elected Governor. He said that he would save so much money by doing that reorganization, that he would balance the budget and be able to cut taxes. That is what your Governor said during the campaign.

He even went much further than that, he said after he had reorganized the state government, and I quote, "then and only then would it be honest of us to propose any new taxes".

Now, let me re-emphasize that, the Governor says after he reorganizes the state government then and only then, and these are his own words, would it be fair for him to suggest any new taxes. Now we are told by your State Chairman that there can not be a reorganization this year. Does that mean that we are not going to be asked to pass on any new taxes this year? That is what your Governor said. Is that the reason we are now being asked to pass House Bill 226? Again let me ask you, what are you up to, and who are you trying to kid? Are you trying to kid us, the Republicans, or the people of Pennsylvania?

Now let us take a close look at House Bill 226, and this is the reason I stated that I hope you had considered this bill fairly.

In the first place House Bill 226 before us today shifts the entire burden of reorganization from the Governor to the General Assembly. There is not one time in this bill when the Governor is even mentioned. We in the General Assembly have now the responsibility to reorganize Government. This bill would create a twelve-member commission, with eight of the twelve members named by the Legislature, and while I do not find any appropriation in the bill, let me assure you, Mr. Speaker, it is going to cost money. Obviously you will have to pay money when your own bill says that six of the commission members are to be paid $40 a day plus expenses, plus travel, plus hotels and meals, is giving somebody a blank check. You tell me what it will cost. It could be $70, $80, $100 a day for those six members. Of course, let me remind you that none of the legislative members collect one penny, nor do we even collect expenses, but the other six citizen members can collect practically unlimited amounts as long as they are legal expenses, legal travel, and legal hotel bills.

Also Mr. Speaker, we are not only going to have to pay them, you are certainly going to have experts that you will have to pay, but there is no appropriation in this bill. I imagine before this bill is passed, or this complete job is done, it could involve an expenditure of a couple of hundred thousand dollars.

Now what will the commission do? The bill states in section 8, that the commission shall study and investigate the present organization and method of operation of all departments, bureaus, agencies, boards, commissions, offices, independent establishment and instrumentalities of the government, except the judiciary and the general assembly, to determine what changes therein are necessary in their opinion. In a few words, the commission will be a branch of the General Assembly and will report to the General Assembly, not the Governor. That is what the bill says. The General Assembly is given the responsibility of cutting down the cost of our state government, not the Governor. But you have already directed the Governor to do that same thing in House Bill 1, at his request.

Now let me read from Section 3 of House Bill 1, and I quote, "the Governor shall examine and from time to time reexamine the organization of all agencies of state government", and let me be emphatic here, "and shall determine what changes therein are necessary to accomplish the following purposes."

Then he refers to reduction of expenditures and promotion of economy, increased efficiency and so forth. Now you ask for a commission in House Bill 226, which is a distinct duplication of effort and a waste of money if ever I heard of one.

Here, you have two bills, one directing the Governor, the other directing the Commission, each to do the same thing. Again, I say please make up your minds what you want. Either the Governor is going to do it or the Commission is going to do it. If the Governor is going to do it then you do not need the Commission. If the Commission is going to do it why do you and the Governor accuse us of obstructionism, or delaying tactics? It was even reported that the Governor threatened to go on television to push this bill, House Bill 1.

You want to know something members, when you throw a boomerang sometimes it comes back. Nobody should know better that chickens come home to roost than the Governor. I think you never expected to pass House Bill 1, and we mouse trapped you, we passed it.

I think the whole thing is an alibi behind which the Governor expects to hide when he comes in here in the near future and asks this Legislature to raise half a billion dollars in new taxes. I think you got afraid a couple of weeks ago that the Senate might pass House Bill 1, and then you hurried up and brought in House Bill 226 to save the Governor's face and to save your face, because he admits in his own words that he does not have a single, solitary idea where to start with organizing our state government to save money. But the boomerang came back and you got House Bill 1. Go ahead and pass this Commission bill, we are going to give you some votes for it on this side of the House, because we think this is the proper way, by way of a commission to go about reorganizing the state government, even though we know that this commission will be just retracing the route followed by the Chesterman committee in 1952.

Whether you pass this bill or not, House Bill 1 still provides, and let me be explicit on this, that the Governor shall go ahead at once with his investigation of our state agencies and submit his findings to the General Assembly in the form of reorganization plans. He does not have discretionary power under House Bill 1, he is directed by law to do this. He can not sit around and wait until a commission is organized and makes independent investigations and submit reports to the General Assembly a year or two from now, as your State Chairman says, he has to act now, and this I want to make very clear. This is the power and the authority that he has asked for, and we Republicans are going to see to it that the taxpayers get some benefit from it, now that he has it. We are not going to permit him to hide behind a commission or anything else. The Governor has promised to reorganize our state government, department by department. Let him go ahead and do it and see if he can save $100 million, as his platform led the peaple to believe, in a biennium.

For the sake of the Majority Leader if he has not read his platform lately I would like to quote from the Democratic platform, the one that Governor Leader ran on; "To pass a government reorganization act modeled after the Federal reorganization act empowering the Governor to eliminate waste, inefficiency and overlapping of state services, using as a basis the Chesterman committee report which revealed that after proper reforms, savings of $100 million could be effected" and this was a little added clause to fool the people, "each biennium." That is a quote from the Democratic platform, word for word.

Governor Leader said he would carry out his platform one hundred per cent. We on this side of the House are going to help him carry out that platform, at least in this agreement here. Personally, we do not care if he brings in one, two, three or four different plans, let him bring them in. These two different plans are completely opposite, we are going to vote for them because we are very anxious to see, and I know the people of Pennsylvania are anxious to see, the Governor save $100 million as he promised, a biennium. We shall support the bills and we shall keep reminding him of the $100 million that he promised to save when he was running to be Governor of this Commonwealth.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think the remarks just made by the Minority Leader would be a great deal more meaningful if they were not so prematurely made.

If you will recall, when we were debating House Bill 1, which passed this House several weeks ago, one of the Members on the minority side was complaining that since our plan was supposed to be modeled after the federal plan we should have a commission in connection with the reorganization idea because that is what the federal government has.

You are asking us what are we up to. We are going to ask you, What are you up to? Did you not at that time think that the spokesman on your side was right when he spoke about having a commission in the same manner as the federal government has? We think it is a good idea. You are complaining now, because several weeks after the reorganization bill passed the House, we came forth with a commission bill, that the Governor is trying to hide back of a commission. That does not make sense to me.

The Governor meant what he said in his message when he sent it to us concerning the reorganization bill, House Bill 1. He wants to reorganize the executive branch of the government by submitting a plan of reorganization to us either to accept or reject. Is that inconsistent with his request, or our request, that in addition to the study being made by the Governor, and his associates and his advisors, that we now set up a commission to also study and make recommendations to us.

Do any of us here think that the Governor is coming over in a week or two weeks with a reorganization plan which will affect all parts of the government? I never expected it, and I do not think you did, either.

This is a vast government which we have in Pennsylvania. It is not something that can be turned over overnight. That is one of the reasons why the Chesterman Committee recommendations were not processed more fully during the last session when that report came in.

This is an intricate and a difficult problem, and if a twelveman commission can assist in some way in making recommendations to us which will help us determine what reorganization should be had, then I think it is a good idea.

The Minority Leader speaks of something the Governor said during his campaign about saving $100 million a biennium. If I remember correctly, one of the Chesterman Committee conclusions was that if all the recommendations made by the Committee were followed out, and some of them, of course, required constitutional amendments, savings up to $100 million a biennium could be made

We do not expect the Governor to come over here next week with a reorganization plan which is going to save us $100 million in the next biennium. We are not trying to fool the people, and the people are not fooled. They know what Governor Leader said when he campaigned, and I think they know what we are trying to do now. We are making an honest effort to put some power into the hands of the present Governor whereby he can come to us with a reorganization plan and have some hope that it will be accepted and put into effect.

In addition to whatever plan he might devise, or his advisors might recommend to him, this commission, the subject of this present bill which is now before us, may also have some very fine recommendations for which we will be happy some day.

I will conclude these remarks by saying again: What are you up to? I did not hear anybody on your side take exception to your Member when he spoke about the fact that we did not have a commission plan attached to House Bill 1.

We sincerely want reorganization of this state government. We think this is the way to do it. We do not think we are going to spend very much money on this commission getting it accomplished.

We do want something done. We have been here, many of us for sixteen, eighteen years, and no real reorganization has taken place in that time. If we are going to save money we must make a start. We think this is the way to do it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we just heard a very nice lawyer's answer.

We on this side of the House are up to one thing. I will tell the gentleman what we are up to. When we first came into this session this year I said the minority at that time had one desire for the people of Pennsylvania, to see that the Governor carried out his platform pledges and the promises he made.

We are not, and I hope I have made it clear, but I want to reiterate for the gentleman, because he evidently did not understand me, that we are not objecting to the commission. If you remember, when we discussed House Bill 1 we discussed it on the basis that you were doing a cart-before-the-horse job. This has proven it.

If you want to take a little history, the Hoover Commission was appointed and made a study two years before any plan was given. So, theoretically, on this same basis house Bill 226 in Washington was enacted two years prior to House Bill 1 ever coming into this session. That is why we suggested that you have a commission to do it the right way, and we do not object to this commission.

We do want to remind you that your bill says that this commission shall report to the General Assembly. The Governor is not a member of the General Assembly. House Bill 1 directs and says "shall," that the Governor "shall" examine. Suppose that House Bill 1 goes into effect, and also House Bill 226, which I imagine you want to go into effect, that theGovernor re-examines and comes in with an idea of his own, which he has a perfect right to do under House Bill 1 and which House Bill 1 directs him to do. Suppose that under House Bill 226 the commission that reports to the General Assembly comes in with a completely different idea. Of course, I think it is democracy. I will agree with you, if you are trying to prove that point. Personally, I think it is rather chaotic to have two plans before the House, one from a commission and one from the Governor. That is exactly the position you have jockeyed yourself into in these two bills.

We have not said that we did not want a commission. We want the commission, I particularly mentioned that.

We are not kicking about it. We are not even kicking about House Bill 1. But the commission bill, let me again remind you, places the burden of reorganization on the General Assembly.

Theoretically, after the Governor's statements that burden should not be placed on the General Assembly. It is a stall and you know it is a stall. It is a stall to save the Governor's face after he makes a statement to the Press that he has no plans crystalized.

During the campaign in October and also in August he had a lot of plans. He could save $100 million. I want to remind the gentleman that he did not say that, that is in your platform. I would also like to remind the gentleman that the Chesterman Committee plans for saving $100 million was up until 1960. That is not in two years, that was in 1953. The Chesterman Committee stated that if all their studies were completed $100 million could be saved from 1953 to 1960, but your Governor, and whoever wrote your platform, got brave because you must have needed votes. So what did you do, you went out and promised it in a biennium, in two years. That was your promise it is not ours. It is in your platform; it is in a quote, read your own platform. It is in the record.

Furthermore we are not doing anything except what you are doing, making it more complicated to get reorganization. We will vote for any reorganization bill you want to give us and save $100 million. Give it to us. If you want two of them, we will give them to you. But don't come back into this House, don't let anybody get on the radio, don't let anybody get on the stump and start saying that we are obstructionists, that "the commission has not reported to the General Assembly, therefore, I cannot save you $100 million. I cannot make any savings because the commission has not made a report for two years."

Mr. Speaker, we might need a tax on shoe strings, we might need this because he could not save you a $100 million. I am just warning you do not come back with that in the future.

We are giving you your opportunity now and that is the only thing that I am calling to your attention.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I think I can talk to you like one farmer to another. Over the weekend when I was home feeding the hogs, I kind of got to thinking about this man Leader and about his problems. I do not want you to misinterpret this, That just happens to be what I have to do when I am home, and that has no reflection on any Member of this body or on any body in the administration.

I got to thinking that maybe Charlie and Al here were going to take this thing so seriously that they might blow a fuse, or something. I just figured it all out how Leader could get his money. He would not be embarrassed, he could keep his promises and it would be sort of a bipartisan approach.

You know we had a commission called the Chesterman Committee. They say it was a good one. The Senate said it was good, that is, the minority. Over here they even told us it was good, and it should have been because it was appointed by a Republican Governor.

Now, if the present Governor would adopt all the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee he could throw out House Bill 1. He could throw out this commission bill. He would save his $100 million a biennium. He would not have the headaches, Charlie would not have a stroke, Al would not have to answer him, and we would all be happy.

So that is just a suggestion from one farmer to another. I wish you would convey that to the Governor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might observe to the gentleman from Erie, that the Chair is a farmer, not a hog raiser. Since the gentleman has addressed the Chair in such familiar fashion, the Chair might also be privileged to observe that there has been an unusual amount of debate concerning a measure that everyone seems to be for.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, pardon me for taking more time of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I got a Christmas card and the outfit the person on the picture had on certainly looked as though he might have raised hogs too.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Erie wins that round.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I don't want to prolong this debate on a bill that apparently everyone is for, but I would like to assure the gentleman from Erie that my fuses are in good shape, and I would like to further advise the Minority Floor Leader that his statement does not require a lawyer's answer.

I think anyone in this House can very easily understand there are two things involved here. First, a plan under which the Governor can go abead and submit to us a reorganization plan. He does not have to wait for any advisory committee to give us any report, interim or final, on what type of reorganization he would suggest to us. We are going to make the decision concerning the type of reorganization, not the Governor. The burden is on the Governor to go ahead on House Bill 1 and propose a plan of reorganization and submit it to us. I ask you, is there something wrong with that?

I said a while ago, the Minority Floor Leader's remarks were premature. If he comes back here in about three months and the Governor has devised no plans, has submitted no plans to us, I say he has just reason to critize because the Governor in his message did urge us to pass House Bill 1 because he wanted to get started on reorganization. But to come in here before us in a sense, criticizing his Excellency, the Governor, even before House Bill 1 is on the law books, what are you doing, where is your plan? You say "you have a commission to hide back of." No, I say, we are not hiding back of any commission. The Governor is not hiding back of any one. We know that he will submit a good reorganization plan, and if he does we will accept it. If later on the Advisory Commission comes along with something still better, we will revise it again and keep revising it until we have this Government in such shape that we do spend less money than we are spending now for the amount of service we are getting.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker. I did not intend to speak on this bill. I don't intend to vote "aye" on it, I intend to vote "no" on it.

My opposition to this bill is the same as my opposition to the reorganization bill, and in all the arguments both pro and con on both of these bills, no one has yet shown to me the need of any reorganization bill, or the need of any so-called commission bill.

If I am not mistaken, and I don't think I am, and if I am I certainly will be glad to be set right, on the matter, the Governor at any time has the perfect authority and the perfect right to submit to his majority in the House or the Senate, whichever he happens to have, and at this time he happens to have the House for two years, we hope only, to submit a plan at any time for reorganizing departments, abolishing certain commissions. That recommendation can be put in the form of a bill and it should be by our Constitution, submitted to the proper functions and passed to the proper Committees and brought out on the floor of both Houses for a vote. I cannot see any reason why such a committee for instance, was ever appointed. They did a job possibly of pointing out here or there, but certainly we know now, that they could not point out where any money could be saved. I say to you, on this side of the House, and I say to his Excellency, the Governor, if you come in with a bill or bills reorganizing different departments, or putting certain commissions that are now independent of administrative bodies under certain administrative departments for the purpose of saving money and personnel, and submit it in the proper manner and be able to show us and show me facts and figures where it is planned to save money, I guarantee you that I will vote for it if I am the only Member on this side of the House that votes for it. That is the proper way to proceed. We have sat here now for two months and Governor Leader was elected two months before that. He has had four months to submit some kind of a reorganization bill for any department or any commission. He could have started first on the Milk Commission and abolish that body and put it under the Department of Agriculture, probably abolishing a lot of personnel, possibly abolishing the iniquitous price part of the Milk Commission. You can not legislate prices against the law of supply and demand that is of small magnitude possibly.

I said this in '53 and I say it again, as to those immense subsidies that the State is appropriating to help school municipalities, for school transportation and school buildings away out of all proportion, in many cases, to their needs, made an amendment to that and when the assessments of those local school municipalities are on a par with assessments of third-class cities and cities of the second-class A and second-class and first-class, you could save a few million dollars. So I will end with this, do those two things and a few more like it, pass your two percent sales tax, without any exemption, and you won't have any worries.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I want to lend some support to our Leader, the Majority Leader, in connection with the questions which were raised by the other side relating to the Chesterman report. I do not know whether the gentlemen on the other side have read it recently, but in view of the fact that I was one of the co-sponsors of the bill, I had the occasion to dig out this report, and I find that this report substantiates the need for the commission which is now being proposed in this House Bill 226.

As a matter of fact, reading of the report will prove to you clearly that there is a need for both bills, House Bill 1 and House Bill 226. There is no duplication.

For fear that you have forgotten what the Chesterman Committee report says about the conditions of the State Government and the various departments, let me remind you that in the beginning of the report, page 8, the commission says that recommendations of the survey committee are directed at the accumulation of years of inadequate administration, but this accumulation will not be eliminated with a submission and an approval of this report.

It must be kept in mind also that due to the limitations of time not every department of the state Government was studied. Each of them deserves the same careful analysis of its operations and functions as was accorded those departments covered by this report.

In the same column it refers to forty-two departments, boards, commissions and authorities that are directly responsible to the Chief Executive. In certain situations from the standpoint of efficient administration, the committee made certain recommendations with respect to the consolidation of these boards.

At the end of the report the commission makes a recommendation that after this basic decision has been made the Governor appoint a committee to examine the necessity for each of thirty-eight bodies that have not been covered by this report and their relationship to the associated elements of the new form of governmental organization, and make a study aimed at determining which of the bodies should be continued on their present basis, which should be continued on a modified basis, which should be made an advisory board to the administrative officials or which should be discontinued.

If the administration is following out its platform, and it is apparent that it is, it follows that House Bill 226 is directly in line with this Chesterman report, and it is necessary to have a commission in order to complete the survey of the thirty-eight boards, commissions and authorities which appear on page 90, which were not covered by the Chesterman Commission. How can you complain about it at this time?

As far as House Bill 1 is concerned, the Governor does have the authority to make recommendations and he can make recommendations with respect to those departments which were covered by the Chesterman report, such as Agricultural, Banking, Commerce, Forest and Waters, and so forth.

I recommend that the gentlemen on the other side dig out their old copy of the report and read it. The gentleman from Altoona will undoubtedly see the real and clear logic for the introduction, and for the necessity that these two bills be passed at this time.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. STANK.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 240, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of July twenty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 996) entitled "An act creating an Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission for the purpose of making a study investigation and legislative recommendations relating to the drainage of anthracite mines and making an appropriation" by authorizing the commission to act in an advisory capacity in the allocation of funds

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The title and all the sections of the act of July twenty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 996) entitled "An act creating an Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission for the purpose of making a study investigation and legislative recommendations relating to the drainage of anthracite mines and making an appropriation" are reenacted and amended to read

An Act creating an Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission for the purpose of making a study investigation and legislative recommendations relating to the drainage of anthracite mines authorizing the commission to act in an advisory capacity in the allocation of funds and making an appropriation

Section 1 There is hereby created a commission to be known as the "Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission" which shall consist of the Secretary of Mines and six other members who shall be appointed by the Governor as follows Three from the employes' bargaining agent of the anthracite mining industry and three from the mine owners or their association The Secretary of Mines shall be chairman of the commission The members of the commission shall serve without compensation but shall be reimbursed for all expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties Vacancies occurring in the membership of the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the member whose place is vacated

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the commission to make a complete study and investigation either independently or in conjunction with any other State or Federal agency of economic social or governmental problems related to connected with or resulting from the flooding of anthracite mines and feasible solutions thereof

Section 3 The commission shall have power to employ and fix the compensation of such engineers experts assistants clerks stenographers and other employes as may be deemed necessary to carry out the work of the commission The commission shall require and secure the cooperation of the Department of Mines and any State official who may be of assistance to the commission in the discharge of its duties

Section 4 The commission is authorized to act in an advisory capacity in the allocation of funds made available for the alleviation of the mine drainage situation

Section [4] 5 The commission shall make a final report to the Governor and the General Assembly on or before the first day of [February one thousand nine hundred fifty-five together with such proposed legislation as it deems necessary to carry its recommendations into effect] July one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven

Section [5] 6 The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission for the payment of the expenses and compensation of the engineers experts assistants clerks stenographers and other employes of the commission for the purchase of supplies material and equipment for printing postage telephone telegraph rent and miscellaneous expenses and generally for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall take effect immediately

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that House Bills 240 and 241 relate to the same subject and are companion bills, may I request that the debate on House Bill 240 include House Bill 241 also.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, we will proceed on that basis.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, we have before us today a bill that involves the anthracite coal fields. It became my duty as a Member of this General Assembly to get up and defend this bill due to the necessities and requirements of our valley.

I want it definitely understood that this bill has been referred to as a "give-away" bill in the newspapers of the anthracite coal fields. I want it further understood that never in my life did I think I was going to be accused of being affiliated with giving something to people that have denied me the right to earn a livelihood.

To clear up that statement, in the year 1928 I was a mine worker and worked in the mines for a good many years. The coal company denied me the right after all those years to ever enter their mines again and earn a living. So I do not want it to be understood that my feeling toward this bill has any connection whatsoever with the coal company. Further, I want to say I hold no ill-feeling towards those coal companies because my presence here today requires that I support this bill.

Yes, it is the duty of every Legislator to oppose what he feels is right to oppose. It is also my duty to defend the people back home that are not here to defend themselves. We in the anthracite coal fields for a good many years were able to survive without appealing to the federal government or to the Legislature in Harrisburg to correct some of the evils that do exist.

Now let me see if the public Press is still going to call it a "give-away." I want to be a part of it and let them call it what they like.

In the anthracite coal fields, my friends, I worked in the bowels of the earth, to the surprise of many of you people. I want to tell you the purpose of this bill and the interpretation that I get, not to mislead the Legislators on the floor of this House who must decide, but to give you the actual facts that I know are true.

This bill may be called a "drainage bill." Let them call it "the drainage bill," but let's see if the administration can drain the mines unless we stop the water from going into the mines. That's right, isn't it? To drain water from the mines, we first must stop it from entering the mines.

Now, what does exist in the anthractite coal fields through the neglect of coal operators who no longer exist? They have allowed what is called today "strip mining," which makes cavities in the earth as deep as 200 feet, piles of earth 200 feet high. They have left those cavities in the earth, and what are those cavities doing but gathering all the water that comes within their reach. Where does it drain? It drains into the mines. It lost its regular, natural watercourse to flow into our rivers. Now what must be done?

This bill to my interpretation will backfill those cavities. Give us back again the anthracite coal fields as they were when our forefathers landed here. How do they look today? Oh, some of you people who do not know ought to see it. You would think that the atomic bomb fell on every town. Let me tell you that I am ashamed, ashamed to say that this condition does exist. Yet today many people are in doubt as to whether we should accept $8.5 million from the federal government. We are going to refuse to match that money to relieve that burden from the mine workers who are employed by coal companies that sometimes are to blame, but upon who no responsibility has been placed in the past. Now, why? Are they responsible because the coal mining indsutry has played out? Are they responsible because the so-called scavengers left the conditions they did leave? Today, my friends, we must help the anthracite coal fields. Yes, the anthracite mine workers—I was one. If we have a bone to pick with any individual, let us not pick upon the poor mine worker who knows how to do nothing else but work, and he craves to work in the mines.

Let me see what this money is going to do, according to my interpretation. Let me also remind you people that someone will say, what is going to happen if they drain the mines? The intention, in the first place, is not to drain the mines. The coal seams in the anthracite coal fields run the same as the surface on the outside; up and down the mountains. There are water basins within those abandoned mines. There are pumps in those mines that must keep that water the proper level so that it will not overflow into the mines that are working. Those coal operators, if all of this helps them, I am pround to say it also helps the mine worker who is employed by them.

Let me see what is wrong with what we are trying to do today. If my recollection is right, back in the 1953 Session—do you Members who were here in 1953 recall that there was $1.5 million appropirated? For what? What was it appropriated for? Wasn't it for the same thing that is before this House today? Can it be denied? It cannot be denied because it is on our books that the money was appropriated.

Let me explain the plan for this money. Yes, many of you people wish that this Session was over so that we could go home, go to our hotels for supper. But, no, please no. Our people back home cannot speak for themselves. We should stay here and decide honestly on this bill.

For surface earth ditches the estimated cost is going to be $1,007,320; total man days are going to be 63,470; total men employed are going to be 500. That is in the northern part of the anthracite coal fields. I am speaking for all the anthracite coal fields.

But not to hold you up, I will run down the line. If you understand, in the anthracite coal fields sometimes those great flumes are built of lumber, sometimes they are tubing, cement, and so forth. For those it is $668,-220; 15,330 man days; 150 men put to work.

Now comes the item that I have so much complaint about, backfilling stripping pits in which many of our people lost their lives, young children playing in those cavities, automobiles that lost control and went into those cavities. In this bill that is $813,750; total man days 16,-395; total men employed 150.

Now come down to stream bed improvement. Stream bed improvement you will understand. They must be corrected to their natural course. That is $1,295,360; total man days 54,680; total men to put to work 400.

Total—that is only for the northern part where I come from—$3,784,650; man days 149,875; 1,200 men put to work.

The watercourses, $243,750; total man days 6,000; 16 men put to work.

Underground dams that you hear so much about $37,-500; total man days 1,000; men put to work 20.

Total watercourses and dams $281,250; total man days 7,000; total men put to work 36.

Total surface and underground, $4,065,900; total man days 156,875; total men put to work 1,236.

Pumps. Now, here come the pumps that you bought in 1953. You paid for some pumps in 1953. You are going to deny it now because the federal government wants to pay half. For pumps $3,877,125; total man days 38,551; total men put to work for pumps is 248. Grand total $7,943,025.

Now let us see if I have the right to appeal to you Members of the House. Those people back home cannot speak for themselves. I have been in this House for four terms. I do not want to impose upon your time, but it is necessary now. And I ask that God will guide you, regardless of how you vote. I am only asking God to guide you. Whatever bone you have to pick, please don't take it out upon the anthracite coal fields.

I further want to make a statement to clarify some remarks that have been made, that in draining the mines there is no protection for property damage. I am not speaking about property damage. If you people will remember, in the Session of 1951 I worked for a bill to protect the property holders from damages from mining, and my appeal fell upon deaf ears. I am in accord with protection of property, but today property is not in this bill. Therefore, I make a special appeal that you vote "aye" in favor of this bill. May God bless you.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to defend House Bills 240 and 241. House Bills 240 and 241 are "if" bills, providing $8.5 million as "matching money," if the 84th Congress in Washington passes any one of five identical bills.

Four of these bills were introduced in the House of Representatives: Congressman Fenton H.R. 38; Congressman Carrig H.R. 77; Congressman Flood H.R. 2391; Congressman Walter H.R. 2444.

The fifth identical bill, S. 483, was introduced in the Senate of the United States by Pennsylvania's two United States Senators Mr. Duff and Mr. Martin.

Mr. Speaker since there seems to have developed some opposition to House Bills 240 and 241 due to misunderstanding of sorts, I would like permission at this time to read the provisions of one of the identical bills introduced in Washington. I shall read the bill introduced in the 84th Congress in the Senate of the United States on January 18, 1955:

S. 483

A BILL

To provide for temporary measures of flood control and anthracite mine drainage, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assmbled. That it is hereby recognized that the presence of large volumes of water in anthracite coal formations involves serious wastage of the fuel resources of the Nation, and constitutes a menace to health and safety and national security. It is therefore declared to be the policy of the Congress to provide for the centrol and drainage of water in the underground anthracite coal formations and thereby conserve natural resources, promote national security, prevent injuries and loss of life, and preserve public and private property.

Sec. 2. The Secretary of the Interior is authorized, in order to carry out the above-mentioned purposes, to make financial contributions on the basis of programs or projects approved by the Secretary, to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (hereinafter designated as the "Commonwealth") for control and drainage of water which, if not so controlled or drained will cause the flooding of underground anthracite coal formations, said contributions to be applied to the cost of drainage works, pumping plants, and related facilities but subject, however, to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) The amounts authorized to be contributed by the Secretary of the Interior to the Commonwealth shall be equally matched by the Commonwealth;

(b) The total amount of contributions by the Secretary of the Interior under the authority of this Act shall not exceed $8,500,000; and

(c) The Commonwealth shall have full responsibility for installing, operating, and maintaining projects constructed pursuant to this Act, and shall give evidence, satisfactory to the Secretary of the Interior, that it will enforce effective installation, operation, and maintenance safeguards.

Sec. 3. The Commonwealth shall furnish to the Secretary of the Interior a statement with respect to the project showing work done, the status of the project, expenditures and amounts obligated, at such times and in such detail as the Secretary of the Interior shall require for the purposes of this Act.

Sec. 4. Whenever the Secretary of the Interior, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing, finds that there is a failure to expand funds in accordance with the terms and conditions governing the Federal contribution for such approved projects, he shall notify the Commonwealth that further payments will not be made to the Commonwealth from appropriations under this Act until he is satisfied that there will no longer by any such failure. Until he is so satisfied the Secretary of the Interior shall withhold the payment of any financial contributions to the Commonwealth.

Sec. 5. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated such amounts as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act.

I have concluded reading the copy of the bills as introduced in Washington.

I would now like to read a copy of a letter from the United States Department of The Interior to the Hon. Clair Engle, Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., in which the Department expresses views on the same provisions as those in our House Bills 240 and 241.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

January 19, 1955.

My Dear Mr. Engle:

I am taking this opportunity to submit the Department's views on H. R. 38, H. R. 77, H. R. 2391, and H. R. 2444, identical bills "To provide for temporary measures of flood control and anthractite mine drainage, and for other purposes.

The Department RECOMMENDS ENACTMENT of this legislation.

The legislation would provide for a statement of policy on the part of the Congress to provide for the control and drainage of water in underground anthracite coal formations so as to conserve natural resources, promote national security, prevent injuries and loss of life and preserve public and private property.

The Secretary of the Interior would be authorized to make financial contributions to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, where such formations are located, on a matched funds basis, the Commonwealth assuming the responsibility for installing, operating, and maintaining each project and giving evidence that it can and will enforce adequate safeguards in such installation, operation, and maintenance. Provision is made to insure proper expenditure of the Federal contributions and it is expressly provided that such contributions will be expended for drainage works, pumping plants and related facilities.

For some time there has existed a highly critical water drainage problem which not only threatens the future operation of the anthracite mines of Eastern Pennsylvania by the waste of a unique natural resource but also constitutes a health and safety menace.

The Pennsylvania Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission has developed a general program involving the building of extensive surface drainage facilities to prevent surface waters from entering the mines and the provision of certain pumping facilities. The implementation of this proposal would require an expenditure of $17 million, and local interests have requested that the Federal Government join with Pennsylvania in this project. This proposal, along with others, has been given careful consideration by Federal and State officers. On October 25, 1954, representatives of the Departments of Interior and Commerce met with the Pennsylvania Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission at Hazleton, Pennsylvania, to determine precisely what steps were necessary to resolve this problem.

The Federal represenatives were impressed with the gravity of the situation and the immediate need for action. Because of a serious mine flooding condition, a state of emergency exists, which, in addition to health and safety problems, endangers important coal reserves and the economic future of the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania, directly employing approximately 30,000 men. Because of the rapidly declining production, many anthracite coal companies have closed their mines and abandoned pumping. Until these conditions are overcome, the jobs of these men are in jeopardy.

The problem was outlined by the Commission as follows:

"The abandonment of the mines through the years has thus resulted in accumulations of water which flow through the connections into active mines where it must be handled by the operator in order to continue mining. This increasing burden has greatly affected the economics of the industry since the year 1930 and its effect can best be illustrated by records of the United States Bureau of Mines which show that during the year 1944 there were 14.4 tons of water pumped for each ton of coal mined and the comparable figure for the year 1951 was 27.1 tons. The coal production used in arriving at the above quantity of water pumped included production from both water level and other mines from which no water was pumped and the inclusion of such quantities of coal reflect a lower water load than was actually handled. In the year 1953, 48 tons of water were pumped to the surface for each ton of coal removed from the deep mines."

It is estimated that the completed project will reduce the present pumping load by 25%, thus ameliorating to a considerable degree the problem referred to above.

The closing down of anthracite mines in recent years has aggravated the water flooding problem for those mines remaining in operation to the point where the availability of the entire anthracite coal resource for future generations is now imminently threatened.

In light of this condition, it seems prudent national policy to assist in preserving this basic natural resource of the nation which is concentrated in this area. Apart from other factors, the preservation of this unique natural resource will provide:

(1) A continuing source of supply for present users,

(2) Fuel insurance during national emergencies,

(3) Availability to national economic expansion as technology develops new uses,

(4) Insurance against the ultimate depletion of domestic oil and gas resources,

(5) Continued employment of miners.

Beyond this, there is also a national responsibility intertwined with a greater state and local interest in the economic stability of an important region of the nation. This area has been designated as a distress area. The proposed project will contribute measurably to the immediate relief of this area. It will create direct employment for over 2,000 people on the drainage project and indirect benefits to many others throughout the general area engaged in the production of tools and equipment necessary to the work.

Accordingly, it is strongly recommended that this legislation be enacted.

The Bureau of the Budget has advised that the enactment of the legislation would be in accord with the program of the President.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ FELIX E. WORMSER
Assistant Secretary of the Interior

Hon. Clair Engle
Chairman, Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs
House of Representatives
Washington 25, D. C.

Mr. Speaker, I have finished reading the copy of the letter.

The contents of the letter and the provisions of the bill just read should certainly erase from the mind of any Member of this House that House Bills 240 and 241 would serve to be a "handout" to any "hard coal" mine operators as alleged, or that the removal of the water from the flooded mines will cause damage to property by the subsidence of the surface of the land above these mines as alleged.

I submit, Mr. Speaker, that on the contrary the provisions of these concurrent bills definitely will protect and preserve life and property.

The most important reason for the passage of this legislation to my way of thinking is the National security angle. Over 50 per cent of our heavy oils are imported from other countries. In the event war again breaks out, I can visualize submarines cutting off this oil supply, and our great dependence on anthracite coal to replace this imported oil, as was the case during World War II. If we wait until such a national emergency occurs, it would require months and months to do what House Bill 240 and 241 provide.

We are spending millions for civil defense. I submit that this mine drainage accomplishment is most important to the defense of our country.

Another important reason for the passage of this bill is to reduce the great number of unemployed in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania. The number of men employed in the hard coal industry dropped from 50,716 in 1953 to 34,050 in 1954. In one year unemployment was increased by nearly 17,000 in the anthracite region.

I was born and reared in the hard coal region, yes, I am proud to be referred to as a "Hard Coal Cracker." I know the people in the anthracite region, they are a very hard-working, unassuming, honest, brave and lovable lot. All they ask is a chance to work and earn an honest dollar. They dislike to draw unemployment compensation or accept any other kind of public assistance.

It is not of their own choosing that the anthracite industry is sick and ailing. I repeat, they are a lovable lot.

Many loved ones in Pennsylvania are suffering from cancer and other diseases thought to be incurable a few years ago. Should we have abolished drives for funds for cancer, polio and heart research? Certainly not, we should continue to provide all the money necessary to overcome these dreaded diseases. Likewise, Mr. Speaker, I think we should agree to pass House Bills 240 and 241 to provide the necessary funds so that our "sick and ailing" anthracite industry might recover to such an extent that the fifty-some thousand hard coal workers could again be employed.

As a parting shot, may I remind the Members of this House, both Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor pledged themselves to this mine-drainage program and that it is in accord with the program of the President of the United States.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I wish to refer back to the remarks I made on this Bill last Tuesday, February 22nd, and ask that they be incorporated in the Legislative Journal of the proceedings today.

(From Journal of February 22, 1955)

> Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, first I want to it clearly understood that when I rise today I have as much honest concern in my mind for the welfare of the coal fields as anyone.
> I feel that the basic difficulty with our coal today is the hard fact that we are facing a continually diminishing market for anthracite coal. Everyone knows there has been increasing competition from oil and from gas, even though these facilities may cost more than coal. The chief outlet for hard coal has been for domestic heating and cooking. We all know the evolution of the electric stoves, gas stoves, bottled gas, gas furnaces and oil furnaces. In my opinion in the foreseeable future I can see no increase in the demand because we are told today that if this world should ever reach the point where atomic power can be used for peacetime use, that all the facilities of our houses could be run for an indefinite period on a piece of atomic material about the size of a penny match box.
> I have made some investigation because I do not live in the hard coal regions, although I live close to them and in one of the areas that used to be their chief market I find that in talking to people there are apparently workable mines which do not need a great degree, if any, of pumping to be workable, and yet there is not sufficient demand on the market to take up the production of these mines. Other persons I have spoken to in this area are somewhat concerned about the effect of continual pumping on the water table. That is the water table which is tapped by the residents of this area for pure watter to be used for domestice consumption and other purposes. I rose to speak on this bill because I feel that this bill and the next bill are apparently companion bills. What I say applies equally to both. If this plan as set forth in these two bills is carried to its logical conclusion with the cooperation of the federal government, we will be obligating upwards of $17 million of the taxpayers' money to be put into this mine drainage proposition, which I submit will not create any great employment because I can not see the point in trying to rehabilitate mines when there is a falling market for hard coal.
> I am also informed that there is a plan in the mill consisting of about $10 million for the purpose of encouraging municipalities to build facilities for new factories with a view to apparently bringing some diversified industry into the hard pressed areas, particularly around the coal fields. Therefore, I feel that this $17 million could be put to a much more advantageous, much more lasting use, if we were to take this money, make our studies, do something to bring into these areas not one other industry but a number of other industries so that you would have a number of diversified fields of activity.
> I am aware that when I rise today that this is a consent calendar. I am asking no one to follow me on this matter, but I do respectfully request the Chair that on this bill and the one following it I be recorded as voting "no."

There are just one or two points that I wish to reaffirm. The first is that my concern for the welfare of the anthracite industry and the area is just as deep and just as sincere as the other gentlemen who have spoken here today. In fact, hard coal is used in my home for heating simply because I felt that it was loyalty to Pennsylvania to use it.

We are faced with this with one hard fact no matter how you look at this problem, and that is that there is a steadyily declining demand for the product of the anthracite mines. Everything you do, everything you analyze, you come back to the fact that year after year less and less is sold. That is not anybody's fault, that is just an economic development that has come about over the years.

Another important point, let us not kid ourselves about this $8½ million that the federal government is going to put up. It is awfully easy to figure, well, we only appropriate half of it, the federal government will give the rest of it to us under grant. It is the taxpayers' money any way you slice it.

Another thing, remember this, that we will probably act upon this before the federal government does. If this Legislature today passes it, many of the Congressmen who subsequently might approve the matching funds and who are criticised for their actions would say, "Well, Pennsylvania wanted it, their Legislature passed it, so we went along with it."

So I say to you today there is $17 million of responsibility before you now. True, if this were to be spent in the coal fields there would be temporary advantage and temporary relief from unemployment, but for this sum of money are you going to achieve anything permanent? What is going to happen when the $17 million is spent and your coal miners are still out of work from the basic economic fact that you have a steadily declining market?

It is my desire, Mr. Speaker, to ask for a slow roll call upon this bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, my inclination was to vote against this bill because I am against subsidies. I don't believe you can subsidize the heartaches of the world today and there must be a limit to the money which the taxpayers can and must pay.

However, I have been assured by the sponsors of this bill that the bill should be passed because of national security. I have been informed that the federal government wants the mines to be opened for the reason that in the event of national emergency, such as war, residual oil and any other oil which comes by tankers might be attacked by submarines. For the reason that it is a national security measure, and for that reason alone, I will be recorded as voting "aye." If it were not for that reason, I would vote "no."

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, I too rise in defense of these two bills. Both my colleagues, Mr. Strausser and Mr. Musto, covered it pretty well, but there are a few items they have missed that I would like to express at this time for the membership of this House, particularly the new Members.

During the last Session of the Legislature, in this House we passed legislation directing a commission to be appointed known as the Pennsylvania Anthracite Mine Dainage Study Commission. This commission was formed, and I might say, it was formed of seven members, seven outstanding members, if I may say. The Chairman was the former W. J. Clements, who was the Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Mines; and three United Mine Workers officials and three coal operators, viz, H. A. Lippi, President, District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America; M. F. Brennan, President, District No. 7, United Mine Workers of America; J. T. Kershetsky, President, District No. 9, United Mine Workers of America; Edward G. Fox, President of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company; Francis O. Case, President of the Glen Alden Coal Company; Edgar C. Weichel, Vce President of the Hudson Coal Company.

Mr. Speaker, they have submitted a final report to the present Governor. Their estimate is very much in support of this legislation that we are about to vote upon. It was through their recommendation, from what I understand of this study, that these bills have come about.

I might add that during the 1953 Session we appropriated $1.5 million. This money has been and is at present being used to de-water the mines and also has been used to fight mine fires.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to take up too much of your time. As I say, my colleagues have given you most of the details on these two bills, but I would like to call your attention particularly to the fact that in Lackawanna County pumping of mines is going on at present, and if that were to stop there is a barrier right on the Luzerne-Lackawanna County line at a point known as Old Forge, and, if that water were to stop being pumped from the mines in Lackawanna County, it would hit Luzerne County and go on down through. I might call your attention to the fact that by pumping the abandoned mines and keeping the water at a certain level it would keep the water from going into the mines that are workable.

I have here yesterday's Sunday Independent of Luzerne County. On the front page it shows two funnels, one leading from the national capital and the other funnel leading from the state capital, where they both come together and are joined at the other end, we find a coal miner holding the bag, "Hard Coal Industry." It means the security of the present 34,000 coal miners that we have working in the anthracite region. It means another added 2,600 to about 3,000 employes.

My colleague, Mr. Moscrip, mentioned an article that was in the paper about a give-away. I have an editorial from yesterday's paper, the same paper that carried this cartoon, and it is headed with two lines, "Mine Pumping Aid Is a Give-away; But it's One the Industry Must Have."

I ask the Members of this House unanimously support these bills.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, last week I rose on this floor and opposed this bill. I am sorry I couldn't get to Harrisburg earlier today; but I drove down with my Senator and we had an accident. I was hoping that I could make the Caucus and probably explain my point in caucus and maybe stop a lot of this debating.

I would like to ask the Pages while I am talking to pass some pictures around. We are talking about the economy of the coal fields which comprise seven counties, but nobody is thinking about the welfare of the people who are on top of them. De-water the mines. If I come back here for 20 years you will be saying the same thing. I say to you as I said last week, and if you will please turn to page 474 of your Journal, I made the statement that if you get the best engineers in the United States you won't pump the water out of a mine, because the coal companies created such a monstrosity that we have man-made mountains that even the atom bomb couldn't make deeper holes.

I will give you an example of what some of you people have said about back filling. I went to the Department of Mines, and I said "Will you come to my town? Will you back-fill?" They said, "Sure, wel'll come to your town." They came to my town and I took them to the location. They went to the coal company and the coal company said, "That's nothing; we are going to dig a deeper hole."

I would like to interrogate somebody who knows something about this bill as to who wrote these bills, Bill 240 and 241—anybody.

The SPEAKER. Does anybody desire to submit to interrogation? (No response)

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, no, I'll tell you why. It's been told to me in a meeting that this bill originated with the United Mines Workers and the operators in the seven counties of the anthracite belt.

As was stated here by one of our Representatives, one of our editorials in yesterday's paper stated that it was "give-away," but we need the employment. Let me tell you about another editorial in this morning's paper—this is another newspaper. I wish you people could read between the lines when I read this.

WATER THREATENS MINES

> Anthracite industry engineers and other mine officials know full well the vital character of the problem which goes with the presence of excessive quantities of water in the mines or with the threat of that condition. Currently we have a controversy over a bill now before the General Assembly calling for a State appropriation to match a Federal appropriation to deal with the problem.
> Daniel H. Connelly, deputy secretary of mines, did much to clarify the issue when he appeared before a Kingston Taxpayers Association meeting yesterday afternoon. The aim is not to dewater the mines. Rather it is to prevent surface water from entering and to keep water from the Lackawann basin away from this area.
> Importance of having this done is apparent to anybody acquainted with this growing problem. If it could be shown that the industry can and ought to shoulder this burden alone then you have a valid argument against public appropriations. But under present conditions it is probable that at least some of the companies involved could not bear even their fair share of the cost.

Then you get to the question whether public aid is essential if the industry is to be preserved. From the testimony thus far that seems to be the case and the need, if it exists, cannot be dismissed by arguing against subsidies, or whatever name is given.

Apparently the present bill is open to more than one interpretation. If one more tightly drawn is needed, it should be forthcoming. We share the conviction that the mine water question cannot be set aside as one of no public significance.

The reason I have in mind this editorial is the fact that if I had gotten here earlier this afternoon I would probably have brought this to the attention of our Caucus and told them just what is needed in this bill. I could ask somebody, if somebody will answer me.

You follow this bill, House Bill 241, Printer's No. 33, and it says, "operate and maintain drainage works, pumping plants, related facilities for control drainage of water the Commonwealth shall assume."

I made a statement sometime ago that this is a controversy in Luzerne County as far as I am concerned. What I am interested in is this: there is nothing in the bill that guarantees a company from going into a mine, an abandoned mine, and pumping the water out.

I come from a district that comprises one town, one borough of 26,000 people, another district of 16,000 people, another district of 7,500 people, and those mines are flooded now. Even at the present time there is no guarantee that the mines will not subside. Water does preserve timbers, but my point is this: there is no guarantee in this bill that an opertaor who still owns that mine, somebody owns the coal, they can go and give a contract and go into the mine. That is why I tried to get an amendment into the bill so that these people will be protected.

There is an industry we have had in Kingston borough, and at the present time it is a community of 26,000. We have a factory employing 1,200 people in that particular borough. What happened? A coal company came in, the mine caved, the state condemned the factory and 1,200 people were out of work. I think somebody, a Representative, has mentioned on the floor about keeping the men working, the miners. I am in sympathy with their working for the sake of the economy, that is what they need, they tell you that it is good for business and so forth. When 1,200 men are out of work, what have you got to say about that? Who is going to help to build up industry? That is why I am arguing in this way on this bill for $8.5 million to present water going into the mines. That is perfectly all right.

You say that the bill says they will shut up pumping plants. We had a meeting in Kingston yesterday where the taxpayer groups are concerned because their mines are flooded, and they are concerned whether their mines are going to be pumped out. If they are going to be pumped out there is more danger. I say, that the business section is going to cave.

When I mention these three towns, I would say approximately there is a valuation of about $5 million concerned, and maybe $10 million in these particular areas because there are churches there, there are schools there and you do not know from one day to the next when they are going to go down.

Here is what gets me. I was a very busy man last week going from one meeting to the other. I have been pressurized to the effect that if I did not give an answer I would probably be reprimanded. But I don't know what that reprimand is going to be . . . that is, by the United Mine Workers of America.

But one group questioned me and they said, "Frank, in your particular area it is going to mean at least three to seven hundred men working in your particular area." Now any one of you Members who is interested in the coal mines in this particular bill, if you will go up to the Department of Mines, my particular area I think they call No. 3, there will be only 45 men employed and only $114,000 spent. But that doesn't concern me so much insofar as this bill is concerned. It provides for a Committee which consists of three operators, three members of the United Mine Workers and the Secretary of the Department of Mines. The operator says, "Now look here, I own this mine. I am going to give it to Joe Doe. Ok Joe Doe, you go work that mine. I only have a hundred dollars in it. There is water in that mine. Go to the Department of Mines, they'll probably give you $150,000 or $400,000. Go and pump it out and go to work." Now what happens? As I mentioned before, the mine goes down.

I am talking on this bill with reference to what is going to happen in my particular district. I don't know about the other districts, but I say that they are confronted with the same conditions. There is nothing in the bill that says they will flush them.

By the same token, I say there is no guarantee in it. Why can't we send this bill back to Committee and make it a fair bill? I'd like to see the money come in to the anthracite belt, but let's go give the person that I mentioned the same protection that it is going to give the operators.

I'd like to read a few excerpts from the papers just for one moment and I'll be done.

To the Members of this House, I have been ostracized by a good many people. Maybe I'm going to be the only one. But if I am the only one I am fighting for a principle. Because I have proof here. In all the letters and telegrams there is not a defensive letter or telegram. All they are saying is "Frank, carry that fight into Harrisburg and give us some protection." I am surprised at some of the Legislators who come out of the coal fields who will not speak up for the man who isn't getting any protection out of this bill. If you would only tell me where there is an abandoned mine. You Members who are interested go up to the Department of Mines and get the maps. You will find the Lackawanna Basin and the Wyoming Valley Basin and you will find that we are practically on top of an ocean, and if they drain the water out of the abandoned mines, there is no guarantee in this bill we are not going to be hurt. We are going to lose industry; we are going to lose people; we are going to lose the economy which has been mentioned here and if we don't give aid to the coal mines we are going to lose the economy of the valley. By the same token if industry caves in on the surface we are going to lose it there also.

My point in this is, I definitely ask everybody, let's treat everybody alike in this particular bill. I would merely like to make this statement insofar as the United Mine Workers are concerned, because there is a lot of pressure being used on me and I would like to make just this one statement and briefly state just what I'd like to ask you to do with this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to give these excerpts from the newspapers that I have here . . .

WALLACE PUTS UNDER ADVISEMENT UNION'S SUGGESTION TO BACK BILL TO HELP DRAIN MINES OF REGION

2-hour Explanation by UMA Leaders at Session In Larksville Hears Representative Base His Opposition to Act on Lack of Surface Support

Rep. Frank A. Wallace (D) of Fifth Legislative District last night told UMW officials he would "put under advisement" their request he support the mine-drainage bill, after a two-hour explanation by John Sabol and Frank Cardoni, District 1 UMWA board members, on the need for the project.

Failure of Wallace to take a definite stand in favor of the bill resulted in officials of six UMW locals from Fifth Legislative District unanimously passing a statement reprimanding the state representative.

"Representative Wallace appears to be badly misinformed," the statement opens. "If he has at heart the best interest of the community in general and the men of the mines, in particular, he will do well to reconsider his opposition to the measure," it adds.

Wallace was given an opportunity to explain the reason for his stand in opposing the bill at the meeting in Larksville High School, attended by approximately 75 UMW members and other interested constituents of the Fifth District. Lack of provision for surface protection if mines now abandoned are reopened was offered by Wallace as his reason for opposition to the measure.

Wallace expressed fear about scavenger operations moving in if water is pumped out of the abandoned tunnels. He asked if there was any guarantee voids would be flushed or restitution made for damage caused by surface subsidence, noting that no provision was made in the bill to take care of the property owner if such damage occurred.

In reply, Sabol commented the project is not intended to "de-water" the mines, but is to "prevent seepage from going into the mines." The bill, he explained, has a three-fold purpose: To prevent seepage from going into the mines, to keep water in abandoned mines at a level where it does not threaten adjoining working operations and to provide employment for some of the idle mine workers.

The UMW resolution adds:

"The project was endorsed by the United Mine Workers of America because it would protect the jobs of thousands of our people and support the economy of the region as a whole. It is not merely a proposal to protect property, but to preserve a natural resource which is so important to the welfare of all of us.

"Representative Wallace will perform a service for his constituents if he gets behind the appropriation bill, instead of putting obstacles in its way. We are sure his attitude will change when he becomes aware of the wishes of the people he represents on this vital matter."

The statement was adopted by representatives of Locals 20, 311, 699, 1069, 1174 and 1635. It was signed in behalf of District 1, UMWA, by August Lippi, president; John Sabol and Frank Cardoni, board members, and David Cummings, secretary-treasurer.

Relating the history of the water problem from the 1940s, when it first became serious in the anthracite area, Cardoni told of the original plan to construct a tunnel from Glen Lyon approximately 37 miles at a cost of $400 million. He said the plan was abandoned in 1953 and the problem was approached in interest of immediate relief for the anthracite industry.

Cardoni and Sabol gave figures showing the excessive burden to coal companies caused by the water problem. Sabol said Glen Alden Coal Company spends $1,200,000 a year pumping water from its mines. Cardoni reported Lehigh Valley Coal Company pumped more than 15 million gallons, approximately 150 billion tons, of water during 1954 for a ratio of 49 tons of water for each ton of coal. Prediction was made by Cardoni that unless the Legislature and Congress approaches the problem to relieve the water condition in the anthracite fields, the 15,000 men now employed in UMW District will be cut in half.

The present mine-drainage bill before the House was recommended by an investigative committee appointed in 1953 after the idea of a drainage tunnel to the coast was abandoned, the UMW officials reported. The committee, headed by the Secretary of Mines and consisting of three operators and three UMW representatives, was appointed to study the water problem in the anthracite mines and report back February 7 of this year.

Commenting about the employment which would be offered if the bill passes, Sabol reported temporary employment would be given 2,600 people installing pumps and relocating creeks. The bill provides for the relocation of creeks and also backfilling of some mine strippings of control seepage of surface water into the mines.

Under the present proposal, the State would pay one-half the cost of $17 million with the Federal Government to pay the other half, Sabol reported. He said Rep. Daniel J. Flood is scheduled to appear March 4 before the U. S. House Appropriation Committee "to put up a battle for the appropriation."

Kingston Group Backs Wallaces Stand on Bill

Kingston Borough Taxpayers' Protective Association backed Representative Frank A. Wallace of Fifth Legislative District in his stand of opposition against the mine-drainage bill during a meeting last night. The action followed a report by Wallace to the group on his view of the bill.

A spirited debate was held on the proposed measure, now in committee and ready for passage on third reading. Decision was made the organization, together with Wallace, would request a meeting with Secretary of Mines Joseph Kennedy to discuss what guarantee the public, especially in Kingston, will have on protection for surface support if the drainage bill becomes law.

The organization members expressed particular interest in what would happen in the abandoned mines of Kingston Borough which have been flooded should they be drained. They voiced a desire that some guarantee be written into the bill to protect the property owners.

Joseph Morris, president, was in charge of the association meeting. Letter indicating purposes of the organization was outlined and approved for mailing to all property owners of the borough.

WALLACE URGES PROTEST ON BILL TO DRAIN MINES

West Side Legislator Also Asks for Public Hearings on Subject

Protests against a bill providing for anthracite mine drainage were urged by Fifth Legislative District Representative Frank A. Wallace, Larksville, last night, and he counseled a demand for a public hearing.

The local solon, armed with copies of the bill and another amending an act creating a mine drainage commission, urged all persons interested in the proposed legislation to telephone or telegraph their protests to Gov. George M. Leader. Wallace became a central figure in the proposed legislation, when he forced a delay in the House this week, as the drainage bill came up for a vote. He termed the bill "a giveaway to the coal companies."

The United Mine Workers of America called a meeting Thursday night and asked Wallace to explain his opposition. The same night Kingston Taxpayers' Association went on record supporting Wallace.

The legislator produced a copy of House Bill 240, which would reenact and amend a 1953 act creating an Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission. The seven-member commission would be made up of the Secretary of Mines and six to be named by the Governor, three from the United Mine Workers and three representing the producers. The commission would serve without pay, but would be reimbursed for all expenses and would be charged with the duty of making a complete study and investigation, either independently or in conjunction with any other State or Federal agency, of economic, social or governmental problems related to, connected with, or resulting from flooding of anthracite mines and feasible solutions to the problems.

The commission would have the power to hire and fix the pay of engineers, experts, clerks, stenographers and others to carry out its work. It also would be empowered to obtain the cooperation of the Department of Mines and any State official and would be authorized to act in an advisory capacity in allocation of funds made available for mine drainage. The bill would require the commission to make a final report to the Governor and the General Assembly on or before July 1, 1957. It would appropriate $10,000 to the commission for expenses and would take effect immediately upon passage.

House Bill 241 requires the Commonwealth to accept any Federal funds for flood control and mine drainage made available on a matching basis subject to conditions and limitations attached. It would require the Department of Mines to install, operate and maintain drainage works, pumping plants and related facilities with the Commonwealth assuming full responsibility. The bill requires the Secretary of Mines to give evidence satisfactory to the U. S. Secretary of the Interior that the State will enforce effective installation, operation and maintenance safe-guards.

The Secretary of Mines also is required to furnish the Secretary of the Interior a statement showing work done, status of the drainage project, expenditures, and amounts obligated in detail and when the Secretary of the Interior requires such information.

The bill would appropriate $8,500,000 to the Department of Mines to match the Federal appropriation. It would become effective immediately upon enactment.

MINE UNION ASKS WALLACE EXPLAIN DRAINAGE OPPOSITION

The United Mine Workers has arranged a public meeting for 6 tonight in Larksville High School to ask Rep. Frank Wallace, Democrat of the Fifth Legislative District, why he opposed the mine drainage bill.

Wallace on Tuesday in Harrisburg caused indefinite delay to the drainage project that would cost $17 million and provide an estimated 2,200 jobs when he prevented a vote on the measure. At the time of making his flght, Wallace said the project would be "a giveaway to the coal companies."

John Sobol, UMW official also of Larksville, last night announced he had called the meeting for tonight in behalf of the United Mine Workers.

"We want to find out what goes on here," Mr. Sobol said. "The main drainage project has been indorsed by the United Mine Workers as a means to provide jobs in the near future for some of our idle members and also help the coal industry put back to work permanently some of the thousands now unemployed. The drainage project has been supported by a commission of three union district presidents, three coal operators and the State Secretary of Mines."

Rep. Wallace said last night that this bill "could be for the good and be for the bad of this region."

He said he had been invited to attend the meeting and that he possibly would have further comment later on his stand.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may submit them for the record.

Mr. WALLACE. I would like to submit them for the record and I am going to ask this House in all sincerity to return these bills to Committee so that we can place an amendment in it to the effect that there will be no water pumped out of abandoned mines.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. ROBERT K. HAMILTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce House Bill No. 461.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. OLSEN. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. OLSEN. Mr. Speaker, there appeared in the February 5, 1955 issue of a Philadelphia paper, a news item stating that I sponsored legislation to amend a support law to exempt married children from supporting their parents.

Mr. Speaker, I definitely state now that I did not introduce that legislation, nor do I intend to introduce such legislation at any time. I wish to state further that there is no record in the house history nor in the Legislative Journal implicating me with such legislation.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE INSISTS ON AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY HOUSE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act providing for reorganizations of agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to approval or disapproval by the General Assembly and authorizing the transfer abolition consolidation and coordination of agencies and functions and the authorization of State officers to delegate functions.

And has appointed Messrs. Mahaney, Fleming and Dent a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee), on the subject of the differences between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on said bill, Messrs. Readinger, Stank and Charles C. Smith.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 1, 1955.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Father and our God, humbly do we bow before Thee. We acknowledge Thy great and manifold blessings to us, the children of men. We know that Thou art the great and eternal worker Who hast wrought through the ages upon the fabric of the nations and the on-going progress of men.

May Thy guiding Spirit direct and bless the Governor of this State. May Thy wisdom guide the Lieutenant-Governor as he presides today. Endue the Senators with Thy wisdom in the discharge of their duties.

May Thy Kingdom come and Thy Will be done on earth among men. And always through Him Who is the Prince of Peace and the Saviour of the world, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to make a brief statement apropos of the Journal, which we have just approved.

Mr. President, it has been suggested to me that in the discussion yesterday on the machinery tax bills, I said that the exact wording of the original act prior to 1953 would be restored by those bills. I have no way of checking that since the record is not printed. However, if I said that, I was in error.

What I should have said was that the exact meaning of the bill prior to 1953 would have been reinstated because prior to that time the word "real estate," which appeared in the act, had been interpreted by the courts to include machinery, and Bills No. 47 and 48 explicitly stated that interpretation of the courts in legislative language and did not change the meaning of the act prior to 1953.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 1, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Herbert C. Schnepf, Box 345, Conneaut Lake, Conneaut Lake Park, Crawford County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Conneaut Lake, Crawford County, until the first Monday of January 1956, to fill a vacancy.

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," prohibiting abandonment of refrigerators and iceboxes from which doors have not been removed.

STUDENTS FROM WYOMISSING HIGH SCHOOL, BERKS COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I am very happy to present to the Senate this morning a group of forty-four students from the Ninth Grade Civics Class, of Wyomissing High School, who are here under the supervision of their teachers, Mr. Charles Gebensleben and Mr. John Reity.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Members of the Senate, the Chair welcomes the students from Senator Ruth's county. We are glad to have you here today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CHAPMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I have a letter from Doctor Robert Schaeffer, of Allentown Hospital, who is one of the State censors of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania and also a Trustee of the Allentown State Hospital.

I wish, Mr. President, that the Clerk would read this letter. I also request that it be spread upon the Journal.

"ROBERT L. SCHAEFFER, M. D.
"30 North Eighth Street
"Allentown, Penna.
"Feb. 15, 1955

"Senator Leroy Chapman
"The Senate
"Harrisburg, Pa.

"Dear Senator Chapman:

"There appeared in our morning paper today an article stating that Mr. Yosho, Senator from Northampton County, introduced a bill yesterday asking for an appropriation of $10,000 for a Mr. Powell, claiming this man's hands were injured while a patient at the Allentown State Hospital. The article stated that a verdict in the local courts was given to Mr. Powell in the amount of $10,000.00. This is not correct—a number of local physicians testified in this case, and the verdict was $5,000.00.

"A number of Lehigh County physicians felt the verdict was unjust against two of the physicians on the staff of the State Hospital, and I as Trustee and Councilor of District No. 2 of The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania brought this matter before a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Medical Society of the State of Pa. and we had the testimony reviewed by the attorneys for the State Society in Philadelphia and they were of the opinion this verdict would be reversed by a higher court.

"We therefore appealed to a higher court, the decision was reversed, and the physicians were freed of charges. Even though it cost the medical society some money, we felt this was a victory for organized medicine in the interest of its physicians.

"I was happy to see that you have asked to review the testimony and the decision of the higher court. I think you will find there was no evidence of negligence on the part of any of the doctors at State Hospital in the care of Mr. Powell.

"If I can be of any further assistance to you in clearing this case, I will be glad to help. At the Allentown Hospital we are anticipating a visit from you and your committee. Kindly let me know a few days ahead of time if possible, when you are coming so that I will be able to be with you on that occasion.

"Thanking you for many past favors, I remain,

"Very truly yours,

"/s/ ROBERT SCHAEFFER
"Robert L. Schaeffer, M. D."

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Chapman, together with the letter, will be spread upon the Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I instructed the Legislative Reference Bureau to prepare an amendment to the bill which I introduced, to change the figure from $10,000 to $5,000 because I was misinformed on the amount of the verdict rendered by the jury. That amendment was prepared for me, and it is in my possession. I intended to give it to the Chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare for its consideration by that committee when the bill was brought up in the committee for consideration.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STEVENSON, BERGER and MALLERY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 187, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 20, 1919 (P. Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I neglected to say that Senate Bill No. 194 and Senate Bill No. 195 were presented on behalf of not only myself, but also my colleagues, Senator Holland, Senator Lane and Senator Yosko, who were co-sponsors of the other bills which had been discussed previously.

Mr. President, I now have another bill to present which is on a very important topic; namely, the subject of wire tapping.

Just recently, the Philadelphia Bar Association's Committee on Criminal Justice and Law Enforcement studied this important topic and on February 11, at a special meeting of the Philadelphia Bar Association, this bill was adopted by the Bar Association as a model bill on wire tapping. It follows the prescriptions of the Federal Communications Act of 1934.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE PENNSYLVANIA TRAINING SCHOOL AT MORGANZA

Messrs. LANE and HOLLAND offered the following resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare:

In the Senate, March 1, 1955.

The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza is purportedly reminiscent of ancient and generally out-moded practices in its treatment of female prisoners.

Recent reports from reputable sources state that the girls at Morganza are confined in cells with inadequate heat, clothing, food and no toilet facilities. Conditions such as these are certainly not in furtherance of the new and enlightened concept of training school techniques which our Commonwealth has adopted. An immediate investigation is necessary to ascertain the truth of these reports and to determine how these conditions can best be remedied. If such conditions exist there is little possibility that these girls will ever regain their position as useful citizens.

In order to aid in the development of the program of this administration through the Department of Welfare for the enlightened treatment, cure and rehabilitation of these unfortunate patients; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint committee, to make a thorough investigation of the alleged cruelties and foul and unsanitary conditions now existing at the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have the power to hire counsel and whatever further personnel is necessary including trained investigators to carry out its assignment; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make investigations. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before this Committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties, provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation at the earliest possible date before the adjournment of this session of the General Assembly.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 1, 1955

The House met at 2:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi Moses N. Friedman, York, Pennsylvania, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, "may the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart find favor in Thy sight, O my Rock and my Redeemer," as I humbly invoke Thy benign blessings upon this assembly, our land and nation and upon all of Thy children.

In these days when man's progress in the realm of science manifests an acceleration that exceeds his moral and spiritual maturity, we fervently pray for Thy protective hands and shielding wings. Save us, O Merciful Runler, from the evil power man is generating to an enormity that may lead to his self-destruction. Remove from the minds of all mankind, we beseech Thee, every trace of fear of man and implant into our hearts a reverence for Thee alone.

Shield our beloved country and its institutions from its adversaries, foil their ambitions, we implore Thee, and thwart their schemes. Cause our flag—the symbol of freedom and democracy—to fly undeterred by forces from without and be never marred by subversive hands from within.

Impel all of Thy children towards goodwill and friendship, and help them grow in respect for all those who —in whatever path they choose to approach Thee—walk humbly in Thy light. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the approval of the Journal for Monday, February 28, 1955, will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. MORAN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 28.

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

The movement to encourage special attention to the sick and shut-ins is being sponsored by Shut-In Clubs and various other organizations throughout the Commonwealth and the Nation.

Few people deserve or appreciate kindness and attention more than those confined in homes, hospitals and institutions because of illness or infirmities.

Neighbors and relatives most frequently provide the solace therapy of friendliness to these shut-ins, but there are many who are denied these comforts.

Earl Rutter, the founder of Shut-In Day for the past thirteen years, has energetically and humanely visited these shut-ins, bringing them the joy and attention and the pleasure of thoughtfulness.

In this activity, which is done as a hobby just to bring a little laughter and sunshine into the lives of the shut-ins, Earl Rutter has traveled more than 134,000 miles and visited and entertained 150,000 persons in private homes, hospitals, institutions, orphanages and old folk's homes; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Governor of this Commonwealth is hereby requested and authorized to proclaim September 19, this year and annually thereafter, as "Earl Rutter Day" in appreciation by the people of this Commonwealth for his efforts as Pennsylvania's No. 1 Shut-In Entertainer; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to send a copy of this resolution to Earl Rutter, Turtle Creek, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

The procedure followed by viewers in condemnation proceedings is fixed by innumerable laws and varies greatly as between the acts governing this procedure.

This variance necessarily leads to confusion and litigation, and does not tend to further the orderly carrying out of public functions.

The assessment of damages in condemnation proceedings is a function which effects many property owners in our modern civilization due to the many governmental, quasi-governmental, and other bodies performing public services which must use the right of condemnation of property, conferred upon them by law; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the various methods of procedure prescribed in condemnation proceedings with a view to making uniform that procedure; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with a draft or drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. MULLEN, McGEE, BAZIN Mrs. ANDERSON and Mrs. PASHLEY.

RESOLUTION No. 30.

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

Investigations are now under way by the Attorney General's office and by the Department of Property and Supplies of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania looking into the legality of certain leases made during the previous State administration.

In one of these leases it appears that the State Bureau of Employment Security leased a new West Philadelphia branch office at a rental nearly twice as high as it is now paying for larger quarters in a more advantageous location.

It appears, further, that in negotiating said lease the parties employed by the Commonwealth to represent the Commonwealth's interest either have been careless to the point of gross negligence or have deliberately misrepresented the Commonwealth's interest to the detriment of the taxpayers of this State.

Developments indicate that the same or similar patterns of leasing space for the Commonwealth existed throughout the State in the past and it would be advantageous to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth if such corrupt practices were exposed and remedial legislation adopted that would prevent happenings of this type in the future; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Law and Order of the House of Representatives be empowered to investigate thoroughly the leasing policies of the various departments and agencies of this Commonwealth in cooperation with the Attorney General's office and other State agencies; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to the House of Representatives at this session of the General Assembly, as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. THOMAS, JOHN J. MURRAY, OLSEN, FILO, WALSH, KAMYK and McLAUGHLIN.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 31.

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

Whereas, The House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States on February 25, 1955 voted a twenty (20) dollar per person income tax cut effective next January 1, for each taxpayer and each of his dependents, and

Whereas, Such measure is now before the Senate of the United States for its deliberation and passage, and

Whereas, The American people are engaged in the greatest conflict for economic survival in their history, and

Whereas, High income taxes are given as a major cause in forcing the little wage earner into bankruptcy, and

Whereas, A reduction in taxes as passed by the House of Representatives would provide relief particularly for small income families where the help is most neded, and

Whereas, Such reduction in taxes would produce the greatest increase in purchasing power, thus bolstering the economy of the nation, and

Whereas, Today's crushing tax load is carried by the individuals who work in the factories, mills and plants behind counters or desks; who drive taxis and trucks, busses and streetcars; who work on our farms; or as carpenters, electricians, bricklayers, steamfitters and plumbers; or who work as waitresses, clerks, nurses and secretaries, all from whose pockets comes the billions of dollars the government is spending; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Senate of the United States to support, enact and vote favorably on the House of Representatives Bill that would grant a twenty (20) dollar per person income tax cut effective next January 1, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent forthwith to the President of the United States, to the presiding officer of the Senate of the United States, to the Honorable James H. Duff and the Honorable Edward Martin of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. LOVETT and JOHNSON.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 32.

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor of this Commonwealth is hereby requested and authorized to proclaim the week of June 19, this year, and the third full week in June annually thereafter, as "National Amateur Radio Week," in appreciation by the people of this Commonwealth for the services performed by amateur radio communication hobbyists in times of national and local disasters.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. HEAVEY. RESOLUTION No. 33.

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its agencies acquire annually many parcels of valuable real property.

In many instances the properties have to be condemned under eminent domain proceedings.

In this Commonwealth there are numerous statutes under which property is condemned and because of their variations and inconsistencies, the Commonwealth, the agency or the owner of the property, frequently feel that an injustice is done in arriving at values.

A codification and standardization of the laws relating to condemnation proceedings would result in savings to the public as property owners and to the public as taxpayers; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the various laws dealing with eminent domain proceedings with a view to standardizing and making them uniform; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION (SERIAL No. 28)

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, March 1, 1955.

Harry Shapiro, the Secretary of Welfare, has accused the Board of Trustees and the Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, a State institution, of condoning "inhuman treatment" of patients. Frederick Maue, President of the Board of Trustees, and Dr. Effie C. Ireland, Superintendent of Laurelton State Village, have denied the charges and requested an impartial investigation to clear their names.

These charges cast reflection upon the integrity of all public officers and must create serious doubts and grave apprehensions among the people concerning the good conduct of our government. An immediate impartial investigation of these charges is necessary in order to remedy this conduct, if true, or to protect the good name of our public officers and institutions, if false; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs) that the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Senate, and a committee from the House of Representatives, to be named by the Speaker of the House, in the interest of fair play, be authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all the charges made. The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate be authorized to name a committee of four members of the Senate; be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives be authorized to name a committee of four members of the House of Representatives; and be it further

Resolved, That said joint committee shall make its report to the respective branches of the General Assembly within a period, not to exceed thirty days.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 173, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment of police pension funds or pension annuities in boroughs towns and townships and the regulation and maintenance thereof providing for continuance of existing funds or transfer thereof to funds herein established prescribing rights of beneficiaries and repealing certain acts

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 134, entitled:

An Act to amend section six of the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand eight hundred thirty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 376) entitled "An act providing for the election of Aldermen and Justices of the Peace" by further providing for the giving of bonds by justices of the peace and aldermen and regulating the amount of money to be handled by such officials.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

House Bill 242 not called up.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 340, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 17, 1947 (P. L. 29) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering cities of the first class of this Commonwealth to acquire by purchase lease or condemnation any land within said cities with the buildings thereon if any to construct buildings and facilities thereon to operate the same as parking lots or public garages subject to certain conditions or to lease such parking lots or garages for private operation and to fix the terms and conditions of such leases" extending the provisions of the act to cities of the second class

The first section was read,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "section 1" where it appears the second time and inserting in lieu thereof "sections 1 and 2."

Amend Section 1 (Title), page 2, lines 15 and 16, by inserting brackets before "or" where it appears the first time in line 15 and after "leases" in line 16.

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, by inserting between lines 9 and 10 "Section 2. Whenever any lands shall be acquired by any such city for parking lots or garages, they may be operated by such city as parking lots or garages for parking motor vehicles only, but not for the sale or distribution of any commodity. [or when so provided by ordinance, they may be let to and for private operation as parking lots or garages on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by ordinance]."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. First of all, Mr. Speaker, I want to say I am absolutely in favor of any legitimate legislation to solve the parking problems of the city of Pittsburgh, just as any other parking problems throughout the Commonwealth.

The purpose of this amendment is to prevent what I believe would be an injustice to the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh. It is somewhat complicated, and I hope the Members will bear with me in my analysis of the proposed act.

The proposed bill is supporting legislation making it possible for the city of Pittsburgh as a second class city, to acquire by the right of eminent domain, or by lease, parking sites and then gives the city of Pittsburgh the authority also to lease these parking sites to private individuals. I am in favor of the city of Pittsburgh having the right of condemnation. I am in favor of the city of Pittsburgh having the right to operate these parking lots, but I am opposed to the proposed bill unless it is amended for this reason.

I was very anxious to find out what the purpose of this bill was and I consulted a responsible member of the Parking Authority of the city of Pittsburgh whose name I shall not disclose unless he gives me his consent. Here is what I asked him, "Why is this particular legislation required?" Briefly, he told me as follows, that under the present law the Parking Authority of the city of Pittsburgh has gone into the downtown district and has acquired certain parking sites. However, they desire to acquire parking sites in other districts such as East Liberty, Squirrel Hill and Southside, all districts I am familiar with, and with whose problems I sympathize greatly.

He stated that in the acquisition of parking sites in these areas they might be considered as sub-standard risks for bonding purposes and that the only way bonds could be floated is in the following method: The Parking Authority would acquire the proposed parking sites, that the Parking Authority in turn would lease on long term lease to the city of Pittsburgh the parking site, and that they in turn, the city of Pittsburgh, would lease it to an operating authority and in that way, with the credit of the city of Pittsburgh attached to a long term lease the bond could be approved by responsible bonding houses.

I say this particular form of legislation is an evasion of the Parking Authority Act of 1947, which reads as follows:

> "The Authority shall have no power any time, or in any manner, to pledge the credit or taxing power of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any political subdivision, nor shall any of its obligations be deemed to be obligations of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or of any of its political subdivisions, nor shall the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or any political subdivision thereof be liable for the payment of principal or of the interest on such obligations."

The purpose of this bill is to do indirectly what the Act of 1947 prohibits directly, because armed with a thirty or forty year lease with the city of Pittsburgh as the lessee, the city of Pittsburgh would be contractually and legally obligated to pay for the lease even though the lease might tend to be a financial failure.

I believe it incumbent upon us to make certain that the citizens of Pittsburgh are not burdened with long term leases which will tax the taxing powers in decades to come.

If the city of Pittsburgh has a bona fide parking site and wishes to lease it in its own way, that is perfectly proper, but I feel that it is improper to do these things in an indirect manner and thus burden taxpayers in years to come.

Another objection I have to the bill as stated is this: under the Parking Authority Law of the city of Pittsburgh the parking lots cannot be used for private purposes. If this legislation is passed, the following provision of the Parking Authority Act of 1947 will be circumvented, and I shall read that section too:

> "Provided, however, that the Authority shall not have the power to engage in the sale of gasoline, the sale of automobile accessories, automobile repair and service, or any other garage service and shall not engage in the sale of any commodity of trade or commerce."

If this bill is passed the city of Pittsburgh will be able to lease a parking site to an individual who will be able to engage in competitive business with the taxpayer. I believe the amendments are well considered; I believe in the interests of the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh legislation of this character should not be passed at this time.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I merely want to emphasize this point. I am in favor of the Parking Authority's power to carry on this business in a proper manner, and if legislation will be introduced to give the Parking Authority of the city of Pittsburgh the same right of condemnation as in first class cities, boroughs and townships, then I will favor that legislation because in that manner the credit of the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh in 1960, '70 and '80 will not be endangered.

Mr. McLAUGHLIN. Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask the Members of this House to vote down these amendments because we are only asking for the same right that the other cities are now enjoying.

The purpose of House Bill 340 is to amend the Act of 1947 so that the cities of the second class (Pittsburgh) will have the same power as the cities of the first class (Philadelphia) with respect to the acquiring, leasing, and operating of parking lots and facilities. Similar powers are already enjoyed by cities of the third class, boroughs and townships, second class cities and other cities. We are the only ones without this power, that is, the second class cities.

At the time of the passage of the 1947 Act, it was not anticipated that Pittsburgh would require this power because of the Parking Authority Law that was being enacted at the same session.

This organization has quite successfully met the demand for off-street parking in the downtown area of the city.

However, the problem is quite different in the secondary business districts. Therefore, it is desirable to give Pittsburgh the same powers as Philadelphia and other cities and boroughs of the Commonwealth which now have this parking in operation.

The principal purpose will be to enable the Authority to finance parking facilities in second class business districts. The power of condemnation is the same as it would be for other public purposes, and property already devoted to the public use could not be taken.

As I said before, Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask that this amendment be voted down.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. McLaughlin, or anybody sponsoring the bill, whether they would subject themselves to interrogation on this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McLaughlin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McLAUGHLIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Am I correct in my statement that it will be possible to have the city of Pittsburgh enter into long term leases under this bill and have the city of Pittsburgh obligated by virtue of said leases

Mr. McLAUGHLIN. Yes.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. In other words, was I correct in making my statement that a plan is possible under this bill that the authority would acquire the land, in turn lease it on a long term lease to the city of Pittsburgh, and then the city of Pittsburgh would lease it back to an operating authority? Was I correct in that statement?

Mr. McLAUGHLIN. Yes, sir.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GOLDSTEIN and Mr. AGNEW and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might observe that Members can conserve the time of the House by being in their seats and answering when their names are called.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, withdraw his amendments to the title?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair apologizes to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Weidner, and to the students from Wyomissing School. We did not know that so much time would be spent on this bill, and the delegation, a fine looking delegation, got tired and left. The Chair does not blame them.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair will return to House Bill 242 on the Second Reading calendar. The Chair hears none.

Agreebaly to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 242, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 28 1953 (P. L. 723) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second class amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" changing provisions relating to incompatibility in office of civil service commissioners

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 15, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 5, 1947 (P. L. 1335) entitled "An act to provide for an inventory of existing hospitals for a survey of the need for additional hospital facilities and for the development and administration of a hospital construction program which will in conjunction with existing facilities afford hospitals adequate to serve all people of the State and appropriating money establishing methods of administration and control providing for compliance with the requirements of the Federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act and regulations thereunder authorizing the acceptance and expenditure of Federal funds in accordance with such requirements and placing additional duties upon the Department of Welfare" bringing the act within the scope of the Federal Medical Facilities Survey and Construction Act of 1954 and making an appropriation.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 19, Printer's No. 26

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Conservation and Wild Life to meet during the session of the House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AGNEW. I rise to a belated point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, on page 2, of today's calendar I believe, House Bill No. 340 was called before House Bill No. 242. I wonder if that was a normal mistake or if there was some particular purpose for it.

The SPEAKER. That was not a mistake. That was a matter of agreement, as I understand, between the Floor Leaders. It is not subject to a point of order because it is business that has already been passed. A point of order must be made at the time the offense is committed.

Mr. AGNEW. I just noticed it now, and I wish to thank the Speaker.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 16.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

The Delaware River has been an important factor in the development of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It has been used in the transportation of raw materials and products to and from the Commonwealth to all parts of the world.

Because of the size of sea-going vessels and the great volume of shipping, the Delaware River fails to meet present day needs and to play a great part in the progress of this Commonwealth, the channel in the Delaware River should be deepened.

The Governor, George M. Leader, and the several members of Congress from Pennsylvania have worked diligently and with perseverance in soliciting the Federal Government to use its facilities and funds to deepen the Delaware River; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly commend the Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania for the stand they have taken in the matter of the deepening of the Delaware River; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact legislation providing for the deepening of the Delaware River at Federal expense; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, I call up resolution No. 17.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1955.

This year marks the Centennial Anniversary of the Millersville State Teachers College. For one hundred years this fine institution of higher learning has conscientiously and succesfully trained the youth of our Commonwealth, particularly in the proud profession of teaching. The College began its highly beneficial existence as the Millersville Academy in 1854, later becoming the first State Normal School in 1859, and a State Teachers College in 1927. Millersville State Teachers College has truly proven that it is worthy of our highest praise by its consistent excellence in the imparting and dissemination of knowledge. That education is the mainstay of our Nation and the reason for our ever increasing prosperity will be disputed by no one; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their most hearty felicitations to the Millersville State Teachers College on its Centennial Anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the Board of Trustees and to the President of Millersville State Teachers College.

CITIZENSHIP SEMINAR FOR YOUTH WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notices with interest the presence in the gallery of a group of 70 attending the Citzenship Seminar for Youth, sponsored by the Youth Department of the Pennsylvania State Council of Churches. It is a splendid group.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 20. The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1955.

Resolved, that the House of Representatives hereby requests the Governor to have an impartial appraisal made of the recent purchase of a flour mill, in connection with the activities of the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Camp Hill, Cumberland County, ascertaining the real value of the assets thereby acquired, and further requests that the Governor at the earliest convenient date furnish the House of Representatives with the results thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I offer amendments to Resolution No. 20.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend resolution, page 1, line 2, by inserting after "an" "investigation and".

Amend resolution, page 1, line 4, by inserting after "ascertaining" "the surrounding circumstances and".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I am presenting the amendment to this resolution as the result of a study made by a special committee of the Pennsylvania Millers and Feed Dealers Association, an organization of private businessmen who are taxpayers of this Commonwealth.

This Association, of which I am a member, is opposed to transaction of a project as important as this in the way this was done.

We feel that no appointed public official has the authority, without specific legislation, to go out and spend $350,000 of public funds, without bids, on a project as important as this.

Here we have the Commonwealth entering into competition with private industry in a manner that has never occurred before in our industry and without ever establishing that this is the most economical way of doing things.

We want to make sure that through this investigation something like this can never occur again.

We have ample facilities in our privately owned mills to meet all the needs of the state institutions and there is absolutely no reason for the state to enter this business on its own.

We felt that Resolution No. 20 introduced by Mr. Capano and Mr. Petrosky does not go deep enough into the circumstances of this transaction. For this reason, I am offering this amendment to House Resolution No. 20. I hope the amendment has the support of all the members of this assembly.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, the amendments are in accord with our thinking. It widens the scope, and therefore, we are heartily in accord with them and we shall support the amendments on this side of the House. We hope you all will support the amendments as introduced.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

It was adopted.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 21. The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1955.

The importation of residual fuel oil has assumed such stature as to be a matter of great concern to a large economic segment of the American population.

These oil imports adversely affect the sale of coal from both deep mining and strip mining operations.

Incalculable damages has been inflicted on the bituminous and anthracite coal industries through closing of existing mines and permanent loss of valuable coal property already developed, and on the national economy because of unrestricted importations of residual fuel oil from foreign sources.

The importation of high quantities of foreign residual fuel oil causes the loss of millions of dollars in wages of coal miners in both bituminous and anthracite regions, the loss of employment by many railroad workers, and injures and in many instances destroys small business enterprises located within the trade area of mining communities which depend upon the production and sale of coal for their prosperity.

Unemployment in anthracite and bituminous areas serve as a blot upon the American economic scene, and can be rectified to a large degree by eliminating much of the competition afforded by foreign residual fuel oil.

Existing tariffs, as well as trade agreement legislation and policies afford wholly inadequate protection for the great American anthracite and bituminous coal mining industries, which have played a great and indispensable role in the development of our great American economy and way of life; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to provide for an investigation of the need for an adequate limitation upon the quantity of foreign residual fuel oil to be hereafter imported into the United States, in order to avoid further loss of employment in the United States, impairment of the anthracite and bituminous coal industries, and unwise dependence on foreign sources of fuel, contrary to the best interests of this nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker I desire to speak very briefly on Resolution No. 21.

The economy of Pennsylvania has been adversely affected by the unrestricted importation of residual oil and the following facts concerning the bituminous and anthracite coal industry in Pennsylvania illustrate what is happening to one of our basic industries:

Bituminius coal production dropped from 91,938,156 tons in 1953 to 69,676,699 tons in 1954, a decrease of 22,261,457 tons. The number of bituminous employes dropped from 69,126 in 1953 to 44,334 in 1954, a decrease of 24,792.

Anthracite coal production dropped from 30,495,339 tons in 1953 to 26,093,954 tons in 1954, a decrease of 4,401,385 tons. The number of anthracite employes dropped from 56,952 in 1953 to 33,682 in 1954, a decrease of 23,270.

Unemployment in the coal mining industry increased in proportion to increased importation of residual oil. Over 100,000 men employed in the coal mining industry have lost their jobs in the last few years. Further unemployment is anticipated unless the situation is corrected. It is true that other causes have contributed to this unemployment but the chief reason for this unemployment was the unrestricted importation of residual oil.

Estimated U. S. Imports of Residual Fuel Oil—1954 (Source: Bureau of Mines) Residual Oil (Net barrels)—131,846,000; Coal Equivalent (Net tons)—31,654,000.

In 1954 nearly 132 million barrels of residual oil were imported into this country, equal to approximately 32 million tons of coal.

The coal equivalent of approximately 32 million tons, lost to American production resulted in the following estimated economic losses to American industry and labor:

Coal Producers—$155,000,000

Railroad revenue—$89,000,000

Coal Miners (wages)—$79,000,000 (equal to 30,000 jobs for one year)

Railroad labor (wages)—$40,000,000

Taxes (Federal, state and local—Direct)—$40,000,000.

Coal mining is our basic industry and this loss of tonnage not only affects coal mining but it also adversely affects related industries.

I ask the unanimous support of the House for this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DAVIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. The bill I am about to introduce (House Bill 494) is designed as a safeguard toward preserving of the priceless natural beauty of Pennsylvania's Cook Forest Park located in Clarion, Forest and Jefferson Counties.

Need for this additional safeguard arose two years ago. At that time the forest management had well underway certain cutting operations to further a plan, authorized by the Department of Forests and Waters in 1949.

"In brief," wrote an investigating committee months later," the plan calls for cutting dead standing trees and green trees that have obviously bad defects or exceedingly poor form . . . and to lessen the danger of insect and windthrow damage."

The entry of the investigating board into Cook Forest affairs came after wide-spread expression of public concern as to the wisdom of the execution of the 1949 cutting plan.

This concern, first initiated by a series of articles appearing in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, and subsequently echoed by most of the leading newspapers in the Commonwealth, culminated in the appointment of the investigating committee.

Honorable Samuel S. Lewis, the then Secretary of Forests and Waters armed the committee with broad powers, consistent with the commanding stature of its three members: Dr. H. L. Shirley, Dean of the New York State College of Forestry; Dr. P. B. Sears, Chairman of the Conservation Program at Yale University; and C. M. Granger, retired Assistant Chief of the United States Forest Service.

Although the Committee found that: "Cutting operations under the 1949 plan, in certain vital spots, have been supremely well executed and that the cutting elsewhere shows evidence of care and effort to adhere to the 1949 plan," still the Committee recommended a radical departure from such operations.

". . . It is evident," noted the Committee, "that Cook Forest Park is regarded by many as the preeminent area of virgin timber in Pennsylvania, and as the only large state owned area designated to be preserved as nearly as practicable in its natural state. Hence, this Forest calls for special treatment."

Further, the Committee noted that, "the enabling Act which set up the Park in 1927 has apparently been interpreted by administrators and the public alike to mean the area as a whole is to be managed as a park in the true sense of the word, and no part of it is to be handled as a forest to produce commercial timber products."

> Then, the Committee added that, "It appears that such public criticisms . . . of the 1949 plan are voiced not on conflicting views as to the objectives, but rather on differences of opinion as to the policy and practices . . ."
> In a summary of its findings and recommendations, the committee recommended this policy: (a) "For virgin stands, cut only dead trees or badly leaning green trees which will seriously damage other valuable trees when they fall or will obstruct the main trails. Leave standing other dead trees and snags
> Do not remove felled trees or those which fall naturally except to clear trails. Lop the branches to hasten decay. This treatment will preserve as nearly as possible the natural appearance of the forest."
> (b) "For other natural stands—leave alone except for removal of masses of inflammable material along roads."
> (c) "For plantations—cleaning and thinning until plantation is well established and beyond danger of stagnation."
> "This form of management, continued the Committee Findings, should result in the maximum feasible preservation of the natural beauty of the forest and allow nature to go through the same processes of producing virgin stands, as it has in the past."

Now, Mr. Speaker, many people in Forest County, in the other two counties with Cooks forest acerage, and in fact most western counties, harbored a helpless feeling that the renowned and irreplaceable aesthetic values of the forest were in jeopardy during the cutting operations of 1952-53.

These people, Mr. Speaker, have been deeply stirred. In a great many ways they have made known their determination that the aesthetic security of the forest must be placed beyond the pendulum swings or fluctuations of executive policy in the generations to come. These people are unwilling to settle for anything less than statutory guarantees.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege for me and for my co-sponsors, to introduce this bill which embodies the specific policy recommendations of the distinguished men of forestry who formed the investigating committee.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to introduced by him.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The House Rules Committee will meet immediately after this session.

CONSENT SESSION

Mr. READINGER. For the benefit of the Members that may not have heard, tomorrow will be a consent calendar day. No controversial matters will be brought up during the Wednesday session.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. ESHELMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, March 2, 1955 at 10:00 a. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 2, 1955.

The House met at 10 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi Moses N. Friedman, York, Pennsylvania, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, we humbly tender our inner-most thanks for the manifold boons Thou, so profusely, shower upon us, for the felicities and beatitudes life on earth proffers, for the fellowships and friendships we cultivate which give purpose to our earthly life and spiritual import to our minds, and for the privilege of American citizenship which—by Thy grace—has fallen into our happy lot.

Keep us ever conscious, O Beneficent God, of Thy munificence so that all our endeavors may be free of error and delusion, unadulterated by selfishness and untainted by vanity and vain, and cause our essays to be prompted by a sincere desire to promote only that which is right and just in Thy eyes.

Bless us with perspicacity in our discernment and with acumen in our judgment as we discharge the duties of our respective offices and the obligations our positions in society place upon us.

Bless this house, we pray Thee, with concord and harmony, our Commonwealth with solidarity and our communities with cooperation and unity. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, March 1, 1955 will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to call attention to some interesting statistics.

As of this moment at the last Session, 1953, five hundred and fourteen bills were received. As of the present time five hundred bills have been received and referred to Committee.

At the 1951 session the Executive Budget appeared on March 19th.

One further interesting item. The Chair notices that a circular from a person interested in certain legislation announces the formation of a Club, dollar dues, with expectation of forty thousand members, and notes that the money that comes back to the Club is to be used primarily for lobbying purposes to get the Club's horse racing bill through the Legislature.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, to preside throughout the session.

Mr. PETROSKY IN THE CHAIR

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. VAUGHAN and THOMAS.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 34

In the House of Representatives, March 1, 1955.

Turtle Creek Valley, a highly industrialized community in the western part of the Commonwealth, has been reoccurringly ravaged by the merciless waters of extensive floods. These floods have caused sickness and dealth to our citizens and have caused property damage running into millions of dollars. Damage has been so great that many inhabitants and also large industrial plants such as Westinghouse Electric Corporation and Westinghouse Air Brake Company are contemplating moving out of the valley. Such a move would be disastrous to the Turtle Creek Valley and highly detrimental to industrial advancement of our Commonwealth. To prevent further loss of life and property and to remove the impediments to expansion of industry in this area, it is necessary that these floods be controlled, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly recommend that the Flood Control Committee of the Department of Forests and Waters make a thorough study of the flood conditions in Turtle Creek Valley and make an immediate report of how these conditions can best be remedied, and that appropriate legislation be promptly passed by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth and by the Congress of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Secretary of the United States Senate, to the Chief Clerk of the United States House of Representatives, and to the Senators and Representatives for Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. EWING and COOPER.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 35

In the House of Representatives, March 1, 1955.

The one hundred one billion dollar road improvement program recommended to Congress by the President, if adopted, will be used only on interstate highways.

It is to the credit of this Commonwealth that it has spent many millions of dollars on the Penn-Lincoln Parkway in Allegheny County, in order to facilitate travel from east to west and from the west to the east, in this highly industrialized center in western Pennsylvania.

This parkway and the work done on it has shown real effort and ingenuity on the part of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania citizens in the promotion of modern highway transportation.

Unless the Penn-Lincoln Parkway is designated as an interstate highway, Allegheny County the industrial heart of western Pennsylvania will be left with only old route 30 as the only interstate highway going into it from the east, and then going west into West Virginia, the starting point of the newly industrialized south and a link to the great west.

If the Penn-Lincoln Parkway is designated as an interstate highway, and thus made eligible for completion with the aid of Federal funds, the industry of western Pennsylvania and the neighboring State of West Virginia will receive a tremendous boost, through the completion of a newly modernized highway artery which will provide transportation both east and west taking a large portion of the traffic from routes 22 and 30 and aid in providing easy tronsportation to the southern and western United States thus helping an easy interchange of the essentials of commerce which is so highly important to this Commonwealth if it is to maintain its leadership as a center of commerce; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That this General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereby strongly urges the Governor of Pennsylvania, United States Senators Martin and Duff, the four Congressional Representatives from Allegheny County, and the State Secretary of Highways, to take necessary steps to make available Federal funds from the forthcoming program recommended by the President of the United States for aiding the completion of the Penn-Lincoln Parkway; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to United States Senators Martin and Duff, the Governor of Pennsylvania, the four Congressional Representatives from Allegheny County and to the State Secretary of Highways.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in the Evening Sun, Hanover, Pennsylvania, Tuesday, March 1st, a yesterday's newspaper, I read on page 4 to my great disappointment a Harrisburg Associated Press news item which stated in part, as follows:

> "Lieutenant Governor Roy E Furman broke a tie vote to return to committee a Republican plan opposed by Democrats to give farmers full refunds of taxes paid on gasoline used in agriculture machinery."

Now you will recall that it was I who started the move in this Legislature for a full or 100 per cent gas tax refund for agriculture by preparing amendments and offering them as amendments to the bill that provided only for a one-half gas tax refund for agriculture.

I believed then, as I believed in former Sessions of this General Assembly, and as I believe now, that if there is good reason for a one-half refund of the gas tax to the farmers, there is good reason for the whole gas tax refund to the farmers for fuel used in agriculture production. But does the present administration reason that way?

Well, the Governor of this Commonwealth during the campaign year of 1954 stated while speaking in Scranton on April 21, 1954, that he favored giving the farmers of Pennsylvania a 100 per cent gasoline tax rebate for acreage in full production.

In the 1951 regular session as well as in the 1953 regular session of this Legislature the Governor, as State Senator at that time, introduced two bills for a 100 per cent tax refund for agriculture.

Now, Mr. Speaker, are we to believe that the Governor has now repudiated his two stands as State Senator as well as his 1954 campaign position? What is the situation at this point?

Now my House Bill 140 to let the farmers, without buying a permit, fish in their artificially constructed farm ponds is still in Committee. I am also wondering what the situation is on this bill?

It is about time something is done for the farmers of this Commonwealth.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1955. No. 20.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 7, 1955.

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our gracious Heavenly Father, who in times past did lead our founding fathers forth into this fair land, give us guidance to follow in the rich heritage which they bequeathed to us.

Bless our State today; defend our liberties and preserve our unity. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those who are in authority. Hasten the coming of Thy Kingdom and its righteousness. Put an end to international strife and bloodshed. May peace come to reign in the hearts of men everywhere.

Through Jesus Christ, Saviour and Lord, we pray, now and evermore, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. WATSON, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr PECHAN asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am very happy to report, after talking to the wives of both of these gentlemen, that both of them are progressing very nicely and are improving rapidly. Senator Propert is now at home, and Senator Van Sant is still in the hospital but the cast has been removed from his leg.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 16
LAID ON THE TABLE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and laid on the table:

DELAWARE RIVER

In the House of Representatives, February 16, 1955.

The Delaware River has been an important factor in the development of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It has been used in the transportation of raw materials and products to and from the Commonwealth to all parts of the world.

Because of the size of sea-going vessels and the great volume of shipping, the Delaware River fails to meet present day needs and to play a greater part in the progress of this Commonwealth, the channel in the Delaware River should be deepened.

The Governor, George M. Leader, and the several members of Congress from Pennsylvania have worked diligently and with perseverance in soliciting the Federal Government to use its facilities and funds to deepen the Delaware River; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly commend the Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania for the stand they have taken in the matter of the deepening of the Delaware River; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact legislation providing for the deepening of the Delaware River at Federal expense; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 21
LAID ON THE TABLE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and laid on the table:

LIMITATION ON THE IMPORTATION OF FOREIGN RESIDUAL FUEL OIL

In the House of Representatives, February 22, 1955.

The importation of residual fuel oil has assumed such stature as to be a matter of great concern to a large economic segment of the American population.

These oil imports adversely affect the sale of coal from both deep mining and strip mining operations.

Incalculable damages has been inflicted on the bituminous and anthracite coal industries through closing of existing mines and permanent loss of valuable coal property already developed, and on the national economy because of unrestricted importations of residual fuel oil from foreign sources.

The importation of high quantities of foreign residual fuel oil causes the loss of millions of dollars in wages of coal miners in both bituminous and anthracite regions, the loss of employment by many railroad workers, and injures and in many instances destroys small business enterprises located within the trade area of mining communities which depend upon the production and sale of coal for their prosperity.

Unemployment in anthracite and bituminous areas serve as a blot upon the American economic scene, and can be rectified to a large degree by eliminating much of the competition afforded by foreign residual fuel oil.

Existing tariffs, as well as trade agreement legislation and policies afford wholly inadequate protection for the great American anthracite and bituminous coal mining industries, which have played a great and indispensable role in the development of our great American economy and way of life; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to provide for an investigation of the need for an adequate limitation upon the quantity of foreign residual fuel oil to be hereafter imported into the United States, in order to avoid further loss of employment in the United States, impairment of the anthracite and bituminous coal industries, and unwise dependence on foreign sources of fuel, contrary to the best interests of this nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 7, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 14, 1955, at three-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 14, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

ESTABLISHING THE "BENJAMIN FRANKLIN SESQUI-BICENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA"

Messrs. CHAPMAN and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 7, 1955.

Benjamin Franklin in his long service to the peoples of the world, made outstanding contributions to better understanding among nations; working tirelessly in the field of diplomacy, public service, science and the arts.

Benjamin Franklin was a member of many of the world's foremost societies of his day, which do now plan with other societies associations and institutions to honor the 250th Anniversary of his birth in 1956, with an International Celebration dedicated to the furtherance of better understanding among all peoples.

In addition to his national and international services, Benjamin Franklin was also a pioneer public servant of the Colony and State of Pennsylvania — as clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly, member from Philadelphia, deputy postmaster, representative from Pennsylvania and other Colonies to the Court of Great Britain and later at the Court of France, delegate of the Assembly of Pennsylvania to the Second Continental Congres, assisting in the draft of the Declaration of Independence, President of the Convention which framed the Constitution for the State of Pennsylvania, and State President for three years; therefore be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in grateful memory of the services of Benjamin Franklin, join with those who would honor the 250th Anniversary of his birth; and that a commission, to be known as the "Benjamin Franklin Sesqui Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania" be established, to consist of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, five members of the House of Representatives, who shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House, five members of the Senate, who shall be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate, and five citizens who shall be appointed by the Governor. This commission shall coperate with the Franklin Institute of the State of Pennsylvania in extending the warm and cordial hospitality of this State to all who are working for better international understanding in memory of Benjamin Franklin. It shall also be the task of the commission to sponsor the production and distribution of editorial material on Benjamin Franklin that may be sent to the newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations of all cooperating countries, so that they may have adequate information on the many phases of Benjamin Franklin's life and teachings.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, one of the most important pieces of legislation enacted by past Members of the Legislature is about to be carried out by the Health Department of our Commonwealth; namely, the Stream Purification Law or the Pure Stream Law. As Mayor of the city of Duquesne, besides being a Member of this body and a Member of the Local Government Commission, I realize the handling of the sewage problem is a major one and is causing as much worry to me and to other municipal officials throughout the Commonwealth as the Governor's worry of finding $400,000,000.

Mr. President, just recently the Municipal Authority of the city of McKeesport, by virtue of its creation by City Council of the city of McKeesport in 1949, has performed certain services to date relative to the proposed construction of a Sewage Disposal System to be located within the corporate limits of the city of McKeesport, in accordance with legislation enacted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prohibiting the discharge or flow of sewage into any of the waters of the Commonwealth. Bids were recently received by said Municipal Authority for the said proposed construction of a Sewage Disposal System, as aforesaid, which construction would necessitate the borrowing of the sum of $5,400,000 by means of a bond issue to be repaid over a period of forty years, the total cost of amortization of said loan, exclusive of any annual operating costs to be incurred, would amount to approximately $10,000,000.

This tremendous cost to the city of McKeesport is cause of grave concern which must be repaid by annual charges against local industry, business and thousands of domestic consumers of water. The imposition of annual charges for sewage disposal will contitute an undue hardship and severe financial burden upon local industry, business and domestic consumers of water in the city of McKeesport. Every municipality within the Commonwealth is faced with the same serious problem of sewage disposal as is McKeesport and the proposed additional financial obligation facing industry, business and the general public should be called to the immediate attention of our Pennsylvania United States Senators and to the General Assembly of our Commonwealth, with the express hope and desire that Federal and State legislation be enacted at once whereby political subdivisions of Pennsylvania would be granted substantial aid toward the construction of their sewage disposal plants, thereby alleviating the heavy financial responsibility now contemplated upon industry and the local citizenry throughout the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the city of Washington, Pennsylvania, has a suit pending in the courts concerning their sewage problem which is of grave importance to its citizens. They do not realize the immensity of the financial burden they will be subject to until the construction of their plant is completed. A group of interested citizens of the city of Washington has been fighting with the Authority over the tremendous amount of money to be spent over a period of years, which may more than triple the initial cost of their sewage disposal system. We are expecting a decision to be handed down most any time in Washington.

In view of the foregoing, Mr. President, I believe it would be far more important to take care of the health and welfare of our Commonwealth by postponing the deadline for the completion or the starting on construction of sewage disposal plants, for the reason that during the last couple of years other processes have been developed greatly reducing the cost of such construction and maintenance of said plants.

Mr. President, just recently the Health Department granted a developmental permit to the Borough of Rosemont, Pennsylvania, to build a plant under a new process which is in the making now.

Mr. President, it is my hope that the deadline for the construction of sewage disposal systems be postponed for at least two years, so that an effective report can be made at the next Session of the General Assembly. In the first instance, when the Pure Stream Purification Law was put into operation, the theory behind the whole program was to obtain aid and assistance from the Federal Government, but along came the Korean War and everything went for defense. The legislation enacted by past General Assemblies was of such a nature that it is impossible for the municipalities to comply with the law and the deadline set up by the Department of Health.

Mr. President, as Mayor of the city of Duquesne, I cannot see how Duquesne can successfully promote a redevelopment plan and construct a sewage disposal system. We could not borrow enough money, and yet our financial position is sound and within a very short time we will be out of debt. Our councilmanic borrowing power would not be sufficient to undertake a redevolpment program along with the construction of a sewage disposal unit. I am sure if these two projects were placed before the voters of my community to be financed by the issuance of bonds, they would be defeated. And this is true with the majority of the communities throughout the Commonwealth.

Now, Mr. President, I am not opposed to the Sanitary Stream Purification Law, but to make it mandatory that every municipality throughout the Commonwealth must obey the law before a certain specific date is like saying to someone, "I want $5,000 from you by next September or else." It is as simple as that. Now, how to carry out the rules and regulations of the Pure Stream Purification Law, involving stupendous expenditure of sums of money by municipalities of the Commonwealth, demands serious and careful consideration by the General Assembly. It is clear that such an undertaking by any municipality is far beyond its financial capacity, without placing a tremendous financial burden on its citizenry. I maintain that the State and Federal Governments should take cognizance of the plight that faces every municipality of the Commonwealth, and that financial aid must be forthcoming.

I might add, Mr. President, that within the last six months, Doctor Edward R. Weidlein, of the Mellon Institute, issued a long prepared statement by the study group of that institution, saying that at the present time they had found no way to overcome the mine water running into the streams of the Commonwealth. That is just one problem.

Mr. President, in the city of McKeesport, alone, according to a schedule made by one of the largest dairies in the city, it would cost the dairies $16,000 a year under the present setup. That is just added taxation forced upon not only the small industries, but the people themselves.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am offering this resolution, and ask that it be referred to the proper committee.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

URGING THE SANITARY WATER BOARD, OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, TO POSTPONE THE TIME REQUIRED FOR CONSTRUCTION OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEMS.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare:

In the Senate, March 7, 1955.

The problem of pure streams and waters is one of the major problems confronting political subdivisions in Pennsylvania.

The cost of purification has spiralled to the extent where taxes so burdensome as to be confiscatory, must be levied by political subdivisions in order to meet presently prescribed time limits upon the discontinuance of sewage discharge and the time in which erection or construction of sewage disposal facilities must be effected.

It is therefore, of great importance, in order to stabilize the fiscal positions of political subdivisions faced with the problem of sewage disposal, to grant additional time for the completion or starting of construction of sewage disposal plants, in order that new processes recently developed which will lessen the burdensome expense thereof can be used, and the political subdivisions be relieved of the prospects of disobeying the law or defaulting on debts; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the time presently required for the construction of sewage disposal systems by the Sanitary Water Board in the Department of Health be postponed from the present times fixed, for a period of two years; and be it further

Resolved, That the Sanitary Water Board report to the next regular session of the Legislature suggestions, facts and recommendations as are then available in regard to changes which should be made in present legal requirements as to the time allowed for the completion or start-of sewage disposal plants; and be it further

Resolved, That such facts as shall be available in regard to the necessity for State aid and the possibility of Federal aid in construction of sewage disposal plants by political subdivisions be embodied in the report of the Sanitary Water Board.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WAGNER and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 215, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," changing the basis for reimbursement on account of rentals payable to the State Public School Building Authority, municipality authorities and nonprofit corporations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT and BLASS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 216, entitled:

An Act approving, ratifying and enacting into law the Great Lakes Basin Compact; making the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a party thereto; creating "The Great Lakes Commission"; providing for the members thereof from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; providing for the carrying out of the purposes of the compact; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 7, 1955.

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

God of our fathers and the God of all centuries, to Thee we look for guidance. Thou didst dwell with them, Thou art still with us. For the faith that was in them we praise Thee. It did not fail them; it will ever be our stay and strength.

Eternal God, we pray now that the Representatives of the people of this Commonwealth shall be under Thy allseeing eye. Grant that in all their deeds and purposes they may behave in true courtesy and honor. Let them be true and just in all their dealings. Let their motives be transparent to all. Let them be generous in their judgment of others. Keep them from moral weakness of spirit; from timidity; from hesitation; from fear of men and dread of responsibility.

To Thy most gracious care and watchfulness we commend them and all their loved ones. Keep them safe in soul and body and give to each power, joy, strength, peace and restfulness; through Jesus Christ our common Lord and God. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. ZIEGLER and KROMER.

RESOLUTION No. 36

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1955.

In the interest of the health and welfare of the citizens of Pennsylvania, it is imperative that appropriations to our State-aided hospitals be made in the amount necessary for their continued effective operation. As the cost of living has increased for individuals, so too the cost of maintaining our hospitals has increased. Unless the amount now proposed for the maintenance of State-aided hospitals is substantially increased, it will result in a serious impairment of the medical and surgical services rendered to and the maintenance of persons entitled to free service who are treated in these hospitals; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives respectfully suggests that the Governor in his budget recommend the appropriation to the Department of Welfare for State-aided hospitals be increased fifty per centum.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 317, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction for payments to school districts on account of rentals payable to municipal authorities and nonprofit corporations.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, with permission of the House I would like to have my remarks cover not only House Bill 317 but also House Bill 318 which immediately follows this particular bill, because I intend to make the same motion on both bills.

My reasons for making this motion to recommit are as follows:

The Governor has previously stated that there will be a deficit this biennium of $89 million. I believe he stated it was caused by a deficiency of revenues as were estimated in the budget of our previous Governor, and also due to the fact that it will be necessary to pass before the end of this biennium $40 million in what he considers necessary deficiency appropriations.

We have already passed a bill granting a deficiency to the Department of Public Assistance in the amount of $15.6 million. Unanswered is the question, in view of the deficiency forecast, of $89 million or the deficiency in the revenues that will come in as forecast erroneously, you say, by our previous Governor.

The question is where are you going to get the money for the $15.6 million deficiency appropriation already passed to the Department of Public Assistance?

Today we have two additional deficiency bills on our calendar. The one is for $11,711,000 for school authority rentals; the other bill covers deficiencies to the Department of Internal Affairs, Labor and Industry and so forth, which total $12,898,000. I am discussing both bills in the aggregate and they will total some $24 million as I will point out later.

The question recurs again: Where are you going to get the money for these deficiency appropriations which total approximately $25 million?

I want to remind the House that Article IX, Section 4, of the Constitution says that the State of Pennsylvania cannot create a debt in excess of $1 million, or the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any time $1 million.

These two bills, as I say, total $24,598,062 and of this amount, according to the Governor's message of January 25, 1955, (and I want you to listen to this carefully) $17,966,116 of this $25 million represented by these two bills is for liabilities that will not be due until after May 31, 1955. So, of this total of $24,500,000, deducting the $17.9 million, actually only $6.6 million is a deficiency due and payable in this biennium.

I have inquired around this state Capitol since I have been back here this week of people who have been here for a long time. One person said: "In my twenty-five years on Capitol Hill I have never heard of carrying back into one biennium liabilities which will not be due and payable until the next biennium."

I know what the answer is that the Governor will give. You said that you want the $17.9 million now so as to get these funds on the accrual basis. Let me ask you if this is the thing to do? I say it is unsound because this should be done next biennium if you are going to put the state on the accrual basis and not to do it now as it will only aggravate an already bad financial condition, as you have pointed out. In other words, you are asking for $17.9 million of money to be paid in this biennium in view of the fact that you have already announced there is going to be an $89 million deficit and you have not as yet shown us where you are going to get the money in this biennium, as required by our Constitution.

I say to the House that the only reason the Governor, your party, is asking for $17.9 million now is just to further attempt to embarrass the previous administration by adding on to a deficit which you say exists an additional sum of $17.9 million which you certainly should not foist upon this biennium as no provision has been made for it in the budget or in any contemplation last session when we were here.

As I previously said, the Constitution says that only a debt of $1 million can be contracted to cover losses in revenue. I am sure the new Governor does not want to do anything that is as unlawful as that. If not, then why ask for $17.9 million you do not have, to pay until next biennium? I believe some of it is in the month of August. For your information, the items that you are asking for which are not payable until the next biennium, are $6.7 million for school authorities, $967,000 for State Retirement Funds, $7.5 million further for State Retirement Funds in a different fund, and $2.6 million in another retirement fund, all of which is money which is not due and payable until the next biennium.

Now then I say where are you going to get the money, the $25 million expressed by these deficiency appropriations? I think last week we found out where you are going to get the money. House Bill 506 has been introduced which reduces the appropriations to education for this biennium from $348 million to $323 million, or a total of $25 million, which is almost exactly the sum of these two bills on this calendar today. In other words, you are going to ask the various school districts in Pennsylvania who are going to be short-changed for the balance of this school year, to go to their bankers and borrow money in order to carry them through for the rest of the school year and into the summer. You are going to then take money, $17.9 million, and pay to bankers on authority rentals, and so forth, and retirement funds, which, as I say, are not due, to the detriment of our school districts. I don't know which school districts are going to be penalized. I am sure when I get back home after several weeks and my school board finds that they are not going to get their money, I am going to have some answering to do, and that is true of everybody in this House. We are all going to have to answer our school districts back home.

Therefore, I have made this motion that these bills shall be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for further study.

On this side of the House we do not believe you know what you are doing. You don't know where you are going and you have no plan here that is sensible. In sending these bills back to Committee for further study, we feel that between now and May 31st, by vigilance on our side, we are going to save your Governor from a very, very embarrassing fiscal situation which you all know about.

In your campaign last summer you kept preaching and preaching about a deficit. You have been in office since January when we came in here and organized. Your Governor has been in office since January 18th, and as near as we can find out nothing tangible, sensible or practical is being done about facing this dilemma between now and May 31st.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the membership of the House to vote down this motion to recommit House Bill 317 and I shall speak against any motion relating to House Bill 318, if such a motion is made.

As I gather from the remarks of the gentleman from McKean, he is complaining that we are asking for the passage of a deficiency appropriation bill at this time in the amount of $11,711,000, for the Department of Public Instruction. He says this amount of money does not have to be paid during this biennium. In that he is correct, but we believe that a deficiency appropriation should be made in the biennium in which the deficiency is created or occurs and that is exactly what is being asked in House Bill 317.

It is true we will not have to pay during this biennium more than $5 million and that the balance of this appropriation can be paid during the next biennium. However, the obligation is one which was created in this biennium, and I think it is proper that the deficiency appropriation be made during this biennium, whether it is paid during this biennium or not.

The gentleman complains that we should wait until the budget message is in and the tax program, and so forth, but I say that we must make these deficiency appropriations when they are needed.

He also asks where is the money coming from to meet these deficiency appropriations? The answer, as he has indicated, is the fact that we are deferring $25 million of presently appropriated funds until the next biennium from the Department of Public Instruction. We expect the bill to do that to be before us very soon and, as the gentleman knows, we cannot appropriate more during this present biennium than the estimated revenues call for. Were we to pass the deficiency appropriations in this amount without deferring the $25 million appropriation which is already on the books, we would be going beyond the law as laid down by the Supreme Court of this state. We are not going to break any laws. We are going to do this because this is what we think should be done, and whether the gentlemen on the other side agree or not, we are going to make deficiency appropriations apply to the biennium in which they were created or they occurred.

We did not create these deficiencies; we did not underestimate revenues, and we did not overspend in any departments because we were not in control of the government. If the gentleman has any complaints to make about the need for deficiency appropriation being passed at this session, he should go back to the people who were in control of this government before we took over and complain to them.

It is true that certain funds need not be paid before June 1st of this year, and it is a good thing that they need not be paid because the cupboard was pretty bare when our administration took over. It is our job to finance the needs of this Commonwealth and to find the money which is not available to us from the revenue bills passed by the preceding administration.

We do not like the job any more than you would like it, but the people elected us and we have the job and we are going to do it. I do not think it behooves the minority to complain about the fact that we are going to meet the obligations they created. That is all we are doing by passing these deficiency appropriation bills. We have to find the money to finance it and we will find it. We are going into every corner of the fiscal structure of this state government to find money to finance these needs, and we are going to go into it thoroughly. It may take us some time to find out all the facts and all the figures so that we know what the exact financial condition of this state is. When we do have those facts we are going to make them public, we are going to have the public understand just how bad things were and what is going to have to be done about the situation.

I think there is no merit whatsoever in the motion to recommit House Bill 317 and I ask that it be voted down.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is right in all of the things he has just said. It should be called to his attention, and I would like to call it to the attention of everyone, that he has admitted there is no need for $17 million to be used in this biennium.

Those figures which he has agreed to come from the Governor's own public release. If he and the majority wish to take the responsibility to the school boards over this state, and that is exactly what he is doing, when he is taking $25 million and holding off those appropriations, if he is going to take that responsibility and make those school boards go out and borrow money and they will have to in many instances and pay interest, we also call to his attention that none of that money can be paid in the next biennium until probably July 15th, because it takes at least five to six weeks to get tax anticipation notes through. If on his own statement, he has admitted that the $17 million is not needed, and he is willing to take that responsibility, Mr. Speaker, that burden is on the majority. When those school boards back home have to borrow money, and we are only making this a matter of record because some of them will have to, please do not blame it on us the minority.

The gentleman was very brave in his statement when he said that it is the responsibility of the now minority, that when we criticize we should remember we had the responsibility. That is perfectly true, but I have yet to find too many votes against any appropriations on the other side of the House during the 1953-1954 biennium for schools. I have yet to find too many votes on the other side of the House for any tax bills that were passed to meet this deficiency. If there is a deficiency, it is because of under-estimation, and I want to remind the gentleman that is not an error of character or an error of anything else, it is very difficult for any of us to predict on a two-year future. The responsibility for the borrowing of the money, the responsibility for the interest charges, I hope the gentleman will recognize, are his if he admits that the $17 million is not needed until after May 31st.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I would like to inform him that the machinery for borrowing money in this Commonwealth on tax anticipation notes can be set up and created in such a manner that the borrowing, if necessary to help any school district, can take place on June 1, 1955. It is not necessary to wait until that date to start the machinery in order to borrow money to pay school districts. He would like very much to leave the picture with us, and with the general public, that school districts are going to suffer under our proposed deferring of $25 million. I am advised that the third and fourth class districts will rceive their money. The only ones not receiving it will be first and second class districts.

I am further advised that there are other funds available in the hands of the Department of Public Instruction so that any district, if it is financially embarrassed, can get its money from the Department of Public Instruction even though we defer the $25 million.

I say again the passage of House Bill 317 making a deficiency appropriation in this biennium is not going to cause a hardship on anybody. It is a deficiency which belongs in this biennium and that is why it is being done the way it is. We are not going to pay out the amount over $5 million because that is all that is needed to be paid during this biennium, but the deficiency is being placed exactly where it belongs, in the lap of the last administration.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Joint State Government Commission for the payment of general expenses.

And said bill having read at length the second time ang agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 68, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 of the act, approved the twenty-second day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 620) entitled "An act directing the recorder of deeds of each county of the Commonwealth to refuse for record all deeds or other transfers of real estate, or interest in real estate, unless a certificate is attached to said instruments giving the precise residence of the grantee or grantees named therein; and requiring a list thereof to be delivered to the proper board of revision of taxes, or other officials charged with the assessment of real estate," by requiring the certificate of the grantees to contain their complete post office address.

And said bill having read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 19 as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 6 1951 (P. L. 69) entitled "An act relating to the rights obligations and liabilities of landlord and tenant and of parties dealing with them and amending revising changing and consolidating the law relating thereto" permitting distress of personality at any time and on any day in certain cases

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak against the motion to recommit, and for that purpose I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia County, who made the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as you made this motion to recommit, I would like for my benefit, as well as for the benefit of the other Members of the House, to know just what is your purpose in having the bill recommitted?

Mr. SHERMAN. For further study.

Mr. AGNEW. Is there any portion of the bill that the gentleman does not understand or which he has objection to?

Mr. SHERMAN. That should be left to the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. AGNEW. Does the gentleman not feel that the Judiciary Committee gave due consideration to this bill at the time it reported it out of Committee?

Mr. SHERMAN. The Judiciary Committee probably did, but I believe it needs further study and possible amendment and correction.

Mr. AGNEW. Does the gentleman have any specific objection to this proposed legislation which he would care to make at this time?

Mr. SHERMAN. I believe that should be left to the Committee.

Mr. AGNEW. I repeat, does the gentleman believe that the Judiciary Committee did not give due consideration to this bill in Committee?

Mr. SHERMAN. I believe further study of this bill is required, that is my reason for recommitting the bill to the Judiciay Committee.

Mr. AGNEW. Will the gentleman explain for the benefit of the House just what this proposed bill, House Bill 19, attempts to do?

Mr. SHERMAN. I am not here at the present time to debate the bill. I only made a motion to recommit it for further study. It requires no debate at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would advise the gentleman from Allegheny that the merits of the bill are not now pertinent, only the motion to recommit.

Mr. AGNEW. May I speak against the motion to recommit, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may discuss the motion to recommit, provided he does not discuss the merits of the bill.

Mr. AGNEW. I would ask respectfully the Members of the House to vote "no" on this motion to recommit for this reason. The Judiciary Committee reported the bill favorably and it is my understanding that there was no objection to it in Committee. The Judiciary Committee is well represented by able attorneys from both sides of the House.

This bill has no partisan or political significance. I do not believe it should be made a matter of party policy either way.

I would ask the House to read the very simple amendment that has been proposed to the landlord and tenant Act. Ask yourselves and your own consciences if it is a constructive piece of legislation.

I was prepared at this time to defend the merits of the bill, I understand, and I found out for the first time that I am not now permitted to do that.

I can only ask the House to vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

It is my honest belief that this is a constructive piece of legislation. It has no partisan or political significance. I believe it is necessary legislation for the purpose for which it was offered.

I would like to elaborate upon that to this extent. The reason the bill was offered is to permit a levy by a landlord on the furniture of a tenant after 7:00 p. m. in the evening, when the tenant who is delinquent in his rent is actually moving out of the premises.

The laws that now stand do not permit this levy to be made . . .

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. READINGER. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is speaking on the merits of the bill and not on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

The Chair has been very indulgent, but it is not proper at this time to discuss the merits of the bill.

Mr. AGNEW. I am merely explaining what the bill is, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That discussion would not lie within the range of why this bill should be recommitted.

The Chair would ask the gentleman to confine his remarks within that range.

Mr. AGNEW. Apparently the only thing I can do, Mr. Speaker, is to ask the Members of the House to vote "no" on this motion to recommit.

In all fairness to the Members of this House, I think the bill should be debated upon its merits, and the only way it can be debated upon its merits is to bring it to a roll call vote on third reading and final passage.

I respectfully ask the Members on both sides of the aisle to vote "no" on this motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote, one hundred and one Members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-nine in the negative, the motion was agreed to and the bill recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 114, Printer's No. 47 and

House Bill No. 173, Printer's No. 48

were passed over at the request of The SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 242, as follows:

An Act amending the act of July 28 1953 (P L 723) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second class amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" changing provisions relating to incompatability in office of civil service commissioners

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1955. No. 21.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 8, 1955.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM H. KELLY, Pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Lewisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Lord, our Lord, how excellent is Thy Name in all the earth. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever Thou didst form the earth and the world, yea, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God. Thou art great and greatly to be praised.

We would acknowledge Thy Lordship in our lives today. May the welfare and the well-being of the State of Pennsylvania be enhanced by the deliberations of this body today.

God grant that Thy will may ever be done and Thy divine purpose be carried out above party and personality, for the best interests of the State.

Help us, O God, to always seek the right instead of the wrong, to ever walk in the pathways of righteousness, justice and brotherhood. Always in Thy Name, we pray, Amen.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, March 7, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 14, 1955, at three-thirty o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, March 14, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock, p. m.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 111, RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 111, with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE LAURELTON STATE VILLAGE

In the Senate, February 22, 1955.

Harry Shapiro, the Secretary of Welfare, has accused the Board of Trustees and the Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, a State institution, of condoning "inhuman treatment" of patients. Frederick Maue, President of the Board of Trustees, and Dr. Effie C. Ireland, Superintendent of Laurelton State Village, have denied the charges and requested an impartial investigation to clear their names.

These charges cast reflection upon the integrity of all public officers and must create serious doubts and grave apprehensions among the people concerning the good conduct of our government. An immediate impartial investigation of these charges is necessary in order to remedy this conduct, if true, or to protect the good name of our public officers and institutions, if false; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concurs) that the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Senate, and a committee from the House of Representatives, to be named by the Speaker of the House, in the interest of fair play, be authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all the charges made. The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the President pro tempore of the Senate be authorized to name a committee of four members of the Senate; be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives be authorized to name a committee of four members of the House of Representatives; and be it further

Resolved, That said joint committee shall make its report to the respective branches of the General Assembly within a period, not to exceed thirty days.

SENATE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 111

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 111.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

L. 1798), entitled "An act providing a fixed charge, payable by the Commonwealth, on lands acquired by the State and the Federal Government for forest reserves, or for the purpose of preserving and perpetuating a portion of the original forests of Pennsylvania, and preserving and maintaining the same as public places and parks; and the distribution of the same for county, school, township, and road purposes in the counties, school districts, and townships where such forests are located; and making an appropriation," increasing the amount of payments from the Comonwealth to counties.

He also, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 114, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," authorizing issuance of free licenses to certain veterans.

He also, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 138, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Forests and Waters to build a replica of Ole Bull's Castle on its original site in the Susquehanna State Forest to commemorate the settlement of the colony fostered by the famous Norwegian musician.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 27, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. Chapman, Berger, Mahany, Scott, Madigan, Blass and McMenamin on February 21, 1955, reported the same without amendment as follows:

RECOMMENDING THE RECONSTRUCTION AND IMPROVEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA-U. S. HIGHWAY No. 6

In the Senate, February 21, 1955.

Whereas Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 extends across the northern part of Pennsylvania from east to west and comprises an integral part of a transcontinental highway important to the commercial and economic life of State and nation; and

Whereas, Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 is also a military road being one of two of such vital east-west highways in the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 passes through one of the most scenic areas of our Commonwealth and is the access route for thousands of visitors who come from all parts of the nation and state to enjoy the hunting, fishing, and natural grandeur of the area; and

Whereas, the widening, straightening and complete renovation of said Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 would provide the shortest and most attractive highway from Chicago, Cleveland, Erie, and other large industrial and population centers to the urban industrial centers of the East, and as such is included in the proposed Federal Interstate Highway Program;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved that the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be requested to advance plans to make Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 a four lane, toll-free Highway to the end that said highway may form a real part of the vital defense system of trans-continental military highways, and to the additional purpose of further opening a vast area of the potential industrial, and existing recreational resources of Pennsylvania; and

Be It Further Resolved that the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania communicate such plans to the Director of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, to the end that the plans may be integrated and the reconstruction and improvement of Pa. U. S. Highway No. 6 be commenced with all the celerity consistent with proper highway improvement practices.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will be laid on the table.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 18, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LANE, from the Committee on Law and Order, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. DiSilvestro on January 23, 1955, reported the same with amendment as follows:

STATE-AIDED COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES TO WITHDRAW FROM AGREEMENTS RESTRICTING THE BROADCASTING AND TELEVISING OF ATHLETIC CONTESTS

In the Senate, January 25, 1955.

A controversy of national importance has developed between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and some of its members in the matter of bringing collegiate sports events to the television public.

The N. C. A. A. through its television committee has decreed that in each football season thirteen inter-collegiate football games commonly referred to as "games of the week" may be telecast. These games are usually between comparatively large universities and colleges from all sections of the country

In many cases, in fact, in most cases the television public has no interest in either the schools or the game itself, but has no freedom of choosing a game to view because no other game may be telecast.

In metropolitan areas many people who because of physical handicaps, age and employment are prevented from attending in person sports events in which their Alma Mater or schools to which they have attachments are engaged, and the only way they have to view these games is through the medium of television.

Viewing sports contests of colleges in which they have an interest would have a salutory affect on the very many persons who are institutionalized as well as the shut-ins and handicapped.

These are the ones who are really penalized by the rulings and arrangements of the N. C. A. A.

Interest in certain sports events in which colleges and universities are engaged should be the result of what the schools have to offer and certain sports events should not be foisted on the television public through arbitrary agreements; therefore be it

Resolved, That each college and university receiving appropriations from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania consider modifying all agreements restricting the telecasting of athletic contests so that the contests may be available for commercial television; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the president of each college and university receiving State appropriations.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will be laid on the table.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nomination, made by His Excellency, the Governor:

JUDGE OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 7, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate H. Clay Burkholder, Esq., 504 State Street, Lancaster, Lancaster County, for appointment as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the Second Judicial District of Pennsylvania, composed of the County of Lancaster, until the first Monday of January 1956, vice Hon. Oliver S. Schaeffer, deceased.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to introduce to the Senate of Pennsylvania has to do with suspension of operators licenses and so forth, and if enacted into law would substitue a new system for the revocation or suspension of licenses. This bill has been developed by the several automobile clubs of the Commonwealth, and is co-sponsored jointly by Senator Barr, Senator Dent, Senator Scott, and myself.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs, WADE, BARR, DENT and SCOTT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 217, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justice of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," providing for suspension of operator's licenses and learner's permits by the Secretary of Revenue on a point system based on offenses and violations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. SCHMIDT and WAGNER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 218, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 2 of the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 733) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue in school districts of the first class A by imposing a temporary tax upon certain classes of personal property providing for its levy and collection conferring and imposing powers and duties on the county assessing authority board of revision of taxes receiver of school taxes, school treasurer, board of public education in such districts and courts providing for compensation to certain officers and employes and imposing penalties" by providing for the method of valuation of taxable shares of stock in any regulated investment company.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Messrs. LANE and MALLERY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 219, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," extending the purposes for which certain companies may be incorporated.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 18, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 18, for consideration at this time.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR JOHN H. DENT AND CHARLES L. LATHERO

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am sure that you, as Presiding Officer of this body, as well as all of we Members here, regret that our Calendar is not sufficiently advanced so that we could be sitting here Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. I say this because, Mr. President, on Thursday of this week two eminent Members, one, the Minority Leader of the Senate, and the other, our esteemed Charles L. Lathero, the Senate Librarian will celebrate their birthdays.

Mr. President, I am sure that we all want to wish them luck and further express our regrets that our Calendar is not sufficiently advanced for us to sit here on March 10.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, on behalf of Mr. Lathero and myself, for the well wishes that he has just placed at our disposal. I assure the Members of the Senate that I have enjoyed the thirty-seven years of life that I have lived upon this earth, having spent two-thirds of it here with my illustrious colleagues.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR ROBERT D. FLEMING

Mr. KROPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I cannot help but be reminded, since the Senate does not work four days and we cannot give our personal best wishes to Senator Dent and our Senate Librarian, Charles Lathero, on their birthday, that Senator Fleming's birthday is today. He is just thirty-six.

The PRESIDENT. I did not realize there were so many young men in the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly want to thank Senator Kopriver, and the Members of this body, on congratulating me on my thirty-sixth birthday. The Chair realizes that there should be quite a few years added to that, but I have enjoyed my associations here in Harrisburg and thank you very much, gentlemen.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, my birthday will be on June 4th. I will be seventy-nine years old, and I do not think we will be in Session at that time. I would like to call it to your attention now.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

Mr. WOLFE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 220, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 23, 1949 (P. L. 1803), entitled "An act fixing the compensation and mileage of county auditors in counties of the sixth and seventh class," increasing the compensation of aduitors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 8, 1955.

The House met at 2:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and ever living God, Thou Who art eternal goodness, direct our hearts and minds so that we may hear Thee and reverence Thy heavenly moods and live expectantly this day.

We confess unto Thee that our lives are low vaulted; they are but broken echoes of what they ought to be. We confess unto Thee that many times we are kindergarten children playing with human relations. Come and live in us more richly, we humbly pray Thee.

And to the young Americans visiting us this day in this free Assembly, Oh God, breathe in them the inspiration of freedom and liberty even as they see and behold it in this Legislative Body.

Let Thy abundant life flow into our lives to cleanse, to heal, to commend that this day may be fruitful in goodness and Thy truth become a revelation of character. In the name of Jesus Christ, we pray. Amen.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. For some time the Chair has desired to talk briefly to the Members of both party caucuses.

With the consent of the Floor Leaders, the Chair will declare a brief recess, without objection, and we will convene in Joint Caucus.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the Chair will declare a recess for possibly fifteen minutes. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the approval of the Journal for Monday, March 7, 1955 will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 37.

In the House of Representatives, March 7, 1955.

The laws relating to justices of the peace and aldermen were conceived and executed for the important purpose of aiding our statutory and constitutional courts, where the judges are learned in the law, in the administration of justice in our society. Nevertheless the laws relating to these minor judiciary leave a lot to be desired in that the laws and their amendments contain numerous and perplexing inconsistencies that must be rectified by a careful survey, revision and codification which will insure an effectuation of their original purpose; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to survey, investigate and consider all the laws relating to the justices of the peace and aldermen, and to revise, amend and restate the minor judiciary laws in codified form; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation to carry the recommendations into effect, and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution constitute the complete directive to the Joint State Government Commission notwithstanding any resolutions heretofore adopted.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. KELLER and Mrs. KOOKER. (Concurrent) RESOULTION No. 38.

In the House of Representatives, March 7, 1955.

Certain schools within our Commonwealth are so situated that it is necessary for children to walk along side heavily traveled highways in order to get to and from school. Many of these highways are high-crowned and narrow and have little or no shoulders for the children to walk on, thus forcing them to walk on the highway or dangerously close to it.

Certainly no monetary value can be placed on the life of a child, and if a comparatively small expenditure may save a child's life or prevent a child from going through life maimed, or as a cripple, we should hasten to see that this expenditure is made. If additional width was acquired along these highways in order to provide a safe walkway for the children it would greatly reduce these hazardous conditions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby urged to acquire additional width along any portion of a State highway which lies between a public school building and the adjacent town or village and to construct walkways along these highways for the use of the public and particularly children.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. POLEN and McCANN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 39.

In the House of Representatives, March 7, 1955.

The sum of $378,480,814 on account of support of public schools, transportation of public school pupils, and school building subsidies was appropriated for the biennium 1953-55, and the sum of $12,887,062 in deficiency appropriations has been requested this session.

The Joint State Government Commission was directed to make a continuing study of the public schools of this Commonwealth by House Concurrent Resolution No. 79, Session of 1953.

All educational services should be provided in the most efficient manner.

Educational, administrative, and fiscal functions of the public schools of the Commonwealth are performed by individual school boards, joint school boards, county school boards, and the Department of Public Instruction.

No reliable information is available as to which of these agencies can best provide such services as instruction of pupils, transportation of pupils, education of special students, building facilities, and the levy and collection of taxes; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate the educational, administrative, and fiscal functions of the public schools with a view of determining which functions may best be performed most economically by each agency.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, March 7, 1955.

Benjamin Franklin in his long service to the peoples of the world, made outstanding contributions to better understanding among nations; working tirelessly in the field of diplomacy, public service, science and the arts.

Benjamin Franklin was a member of many of the world's foremost societies of his day, which do now plan with other societies, associations and institutions to honor the 250th Anniversary of his birth in 1956, with an International Celebration dedicated to the furtherance of better understanding among all peoples.

In addition to his national and international services, Benjamin Franklin was also a pioneer public servant of the Colony and State of Pennsylvania—as clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly, member from Philadelphia, deputy postmaster, representative from Pennsylvania and other Colonies to the Court of Great Britain and later at the Court of France, delegate of the Assembly of Pennsylvania to the Second Continental Congress, assisting in the draft of the Declaration of Independence, President of the Convention which framed the Constitution for the State of Pennsylvania, and State President for three years; therefore be it Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in grateful memory of the services of Benjamin Franklin, join with those who would honor the 250th Anniversary of his birth; and that a commission, to be known as the "Benjamin Franklin Sesqui Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania" be established, to consist of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, five members of the House of Representatives, who shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House, five members of the Senate, who shall be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and five citizens who shall be appointed by the Governor. This commission shall cooperate with the Franklin Institute of the State of Pennsylvania in extending the warm and cordial hospitality of this State to all who are working for better international understanding in memory of Benjamin Franklin. It shall also be the task of the commission to sponsor the production and distribution of editorial material on Benjamin Franklin that may be sent to the newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations of all cooperating countries, so that they may have adequate information on the many phases of Benjamin Franklin's life and teachings.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," providing for the appointment of auditors for joint school systems.

Miss LEIBY from the Committee on Education reported as committed, House Bill No. 339, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," providing jointure by joint boards to establish and manage vocational or technical schools.

Mr. LEONARD from the Committee on Labor Relations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 429, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1198), entitled "An act relating to employes and organizations thereof; defining labor disputes; prescribing the procedure by which and the conditions under which injunctions may be granted in such disputes, and the scope thereof; declaring certain undertakings and promises between employers and employes contrary to public policy and void; prescribing the nature of proof necessary in actions arising out of labor disputes against persons or associations prescribing the terms and conditions for bonds to be furnished prior to the issuance of injunctions; prescribing the procedure in case of appeal from granting injunctions; limiting the duration of temporary and permanent injunctions in case of labor disputes; and providing for the payment of costs; and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith," by removing certain restrictions on the application of the act.

Mr. MILLS from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 506, entitled:

An Act to amend an act, approved the twenty-second day of August, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (Appropriation Acts, page 54), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three," by changing the amount appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. OLSEN from the Committee on Cities—Counties Second and Second Class A, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the 7th day of March, one thousand nine hundred and one (P. L. 20), entitled "An act for the government of cities of the second class," establishing a department of water in said cities; providing for its officers and employees, and defining the powers, duties and jurisdiction of said department.

Mr. LOVETT from the Committee on Appropriations, re-reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 15, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 5, 1947 (P. L. 1335), entitled "An act to provide for an inventory of existing hospitals; for a survey of the need for additional hospital facilities; and for the development and administration of a hospital construction program, which will in conjunction with existing facilities, afford hospitals adequate to serve all people of the State; and appropriating money; establishing methods of administration and control; providing for compliance with the requirements of the Federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act and regulations thereunder authorizing the acceptance and expenditure of Federal funds in accordance with such requirements; and placing additional duties upon the Department of Welfare," bringing the act within the scope of the federal Medical Facilities Survey and Construction Act of 1954; and making an appropriation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in several sessions of the past, I have introduced letters from Oscar to Hiram and I desire to do that today. This letter is titled "From me to you," and is as follows:

"Dear Oscar:

In reply to your request to send check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible to do so. My shattered financial condition is due to Federal laws, sisters-in-law, county laws, liquor laws, mothers-in-laws, and outlaws.

Through these laws, I am compelled to pay a business tax, water tax, income tax, head tax, amusement tax, food tax, furniture tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, sales tax, meat tax, carpet tax, and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed.

I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, meat license, not to mention a marriage license and a dog license.

I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life—to women's relief, the unemployment relief, and the gold diggers relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city and including red cross, black cross, purple cross, and double cross.

For my own safety, I am required to carry life insurance, property incurance, liability insurance, flood insurance, fire insurance, and old age insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, examined, re-examined, informed, reformed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly, that for the miracle that happened, I could not have enclosed this check. The wolf that comes to many doors nowa-days, just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them, and here is the money.

Sincerely and disrespectfully yours,

HIRAM."

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section 3 Article IV of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting the Governor to succeed himself

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof

That section 3 Article IV of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended to read

Section 3 The Governor shall hold his office during four years from the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election and shall be eligible to the office for the next succeeding term

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill.

Before I give you the reasons why I am against the Governor succeeding himself, I am going to just briefly state, as I understand it, some of the historical reasons for having in our Constitution at the present time that the Governor shall not succeed himself.

It, of course, all came from colonial times when the governors of our colonies were sent over from the mother country and they proved to be for the most part tyrannical governors. They were sent over here to administer the laws of the Crown; the acts that were passed by the Parliament in England to enforce punitive taxes, raise an army and have the colonists keep the army of the province.

The people of the eastern seaboard, particularly when we adopted our national Constitution after 1776 and met in constitutional conventions to draft state constitutions, almost to a province put in the provision that the governor should not succeed himself, because of the tyranny that they had suffered under previous governors.

Our own state Constitution in 1790 contained the provision that the governor should not succeed himself.

The Constitution of 1874, with the experience since 1790, also contains the provision today that the governor shall not succeed himself

As a member of the Committee on Interstate Cooperation representing this House I have had the privilege of attending several conventions of legislators throughout the country. A good share of the discussion in these different conventions, the panels, have been on the relationship between the governor and the general assembly and the people. I would say as a result of my study and my experience in attending these conventions I am of the opinion that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the most powerful chief executive as such in the entire United States.

That is quite a broad statement, and in the brief time that is allotted to me I will try to tell you why I think he is such a powerful Governor and why we should not have him succeed himself.

The Speaker today in our joint caucus very ably told us the power of the Governor over the budget. In my trips throughout the country I have found that in most states the budget is drafted not by the governor, as is the case in Pennsylvania, but by a budget commission, or by a legislative commission on the Budget. We are one of the few states where the Governor is, in effect, our budget officer. It is true we have a Director of the Budget appointed by the Governor, but really the Governor is the budget officer. That gives him tremendous power over the budget. It is his budget, not our budget. It is true it is submitted to us, but we have little time to go over and analyze and disset his budget.

It is given to the Appropriations Committee and the various Chairmen of the House Committees and the Senate Committees. They do hold hearings, but the hearings are brief, they are short. The department head only talks about an hour or so about what he is going to do in his department and why he needs the money. It is only given a cursory going-over and as a result the budget, in effect the Governor's budget, becomes the law of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MORAN. I rise to a question of information, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order, unless the gentleman from McKean will yield.

Mr. JOHNSON. I will yield, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, what are we on, what bill are we on right now? That may sound humorous, but just the same I would like to know.

The SPEAKER. We are on House Bill 83, Printer's No. 50, page 6 of the calendar.

Mr. MORAN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. May I interrogate the gentleman, if I am in order?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until the gentleman from McKean has finished his presentation?

Mr. MORAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was talking about the tremendous power of our chief executive over the budget of this Commonwealth.

After the budget has been adopted by the House and Senate, as I pointed out through a cursory examination of it, which of necessity can only be a cursory examination, as the Speaker has pointed out by reason of our limited facilities, the appropriation bill becomes the law of Pennsylvania.

We have vested in our chief executive the right to determine then whether the money shall be spent or not by the mere expedient of his either giving to the budget office, or not, an appropriation symbol. If the department head does not receive his appropriation symbol he just cannot spend the money. That is the tremendous power which the Governor has over the money even after we have ordained in the House and Senate that it shall be spent for a certain proposition or item.

Another power of our Governor that amazes folks elsewhere in Pennsylvania is the veto power that our Governor has over appropriations. As you know, after we have passed an appropriation bill, if the Governor cares to he can eliminate the appropriation out of the bill entirely.

Another tremendous power that our Governor seems to possess is that of granting deficiency appropriations to our several departments when we are not in session. No deficiency, as I understand it, can be incurred unless the Governor OK's it in advance. I grant you that they come to us later with deficiency appropriation bills, but we pass them with a pistol at our heads after the money has already been spent and the deficiency incurred.

Another tremendous power of our Governor is that which he possesess over our independent fiscal offices, the Treasurer, the Auditor General, the Department of Internal Affairs. You say they are indepéndent officers. I agree with you. But they could not function for one day if the Governor did not give them the money to run their respective offices. That is a tremendous power that the Governor has over those gentlemen whom we think are all subservient to the people, but actually they are subservient to the Governor.

Now let us take a look at the Highway Department. We Members of the General Assembly have nothing to say about how we are spending our highway funds. That is peculiarly within the power of the Governor. The Governor has a blank check to spend $400 million every two years. Do you realize that not a road in Pennsylvania can be built unless the Governor puts his name on the plan? We have absolutely nothing to say about that. The Governor can spend that money any way he chooses. It is a matter of history that the Governor in his control over the Highway Department can contract or limit the force of workers in the Highway Department at will.

The Governor has vast appointive and removal powers. When our new Governor was elected, you probably read in the paper the statement of Harrington Adams, our Chief Deputy Attorney General, that under the Administrative Code the Governor has practically unlimited power to remove officials, boards and department heads from office. We have approximately 60,000 state employes and with few exceptions the Governor can remove them from office. This is a tremendous power.

Think of his vast appointive powers in our surgical hospitals of the state, in our normal schools and all the various boards and commissions that function throughout the state of Pennsylvania. The power of the Governor is so vast in that regard that in his control over the Department of Public Assistance his power reaches into practically every home in Pennsylvania.

If you will pardon me, I will show you how it has worked out in modern times, the fact that the Governor could not succeed himself. I, of necessity, will have to be partisan in my remarks, and you will forgive me, but in order to make my point that will be a necessity.

Let us start with Governor Arthur James. He was elected by the people of Pennsylvania at a time when you all admit there was chaos in our state government. He restored order, he restored confidence in government, reduced the state budget and put the state back on an even keel. He was the man of the hour when he was elected Governor.

He was succeeded by now Senator Edward Martin. Edward Martin was the man of the hour when he was elected Governor of Pennsylvania. War clouds were hovering over this nation, over Europe, and the people very wisely elected a man as our Governor who would lead us through the perilous times of the Second World War. He, in effect, marshalled industry and made Pennsylvania the arsenal of democracy. One of the reasons I say that the war effort carried on so well was that we had a Governor in this state who knew how to do things in time of war.

He was succeeded by James Duff. The times needed a strong executive, a man to take us from a war economy into a peacetime economy. There were many things that had to be done in this state as a result of not being able to do them because of the war, such as extending the turnpike, bulding roads, building new mental hospitals, building new schools. Everybody knows that the then Governor Duff seized the problem with his great executive ability and had a very successful four years as Governor.

To do the many things that Governor Duff was called upon to do required a lot of money. For instance, the soldiers' bonus was passed during his administration and it is well known that no provision was made by us to finance it.

The people then selected a judge, a man of even temperament whom they thought would capably balance our budget, level off our appropriations and pay for the things that of necessity had to be done. I think those of you who will fairly appraise the accomplishments of the last administration in the building of new schools, roads and turnpikes will have to agree that it was a good administration. I say when the history of the last administration is written and you can fairly appraise the things that were done in this state, it will measure up as one of the best.

Now let us take the present time. Let us take our own new Governor Leader. Governor Fine without funds left many things undone. There is no question about that. The people last fall evidently felt it was time to change the ruling party and get fresh thinking as far as our state's affairs were concerned. By a large majority they elected our present Governor, George Leader.

My point is not to extol former Republican Governors nor to extol your present Governor, but to point out that in the last twenty years as far as this state is concerned, having these different men as Governors of Pennsylvania, I think has been a good thing for Pennsylvania. They have been just the men we seemed to have needed at the moment. The people of Pennsylvania seemed to sense that and put these gentlemen in office for that very reason.

In conclusion, as I said, I feel that we should vote against this constitutional amendment. The Governor of Pennsylvania should not be allowed to succeed himself. Our very system in Pennsylvania, the unlimited powers that we have vested in our Governor by legislation in this House and Senate year after year, has made it possible for the Governor of Pennsylvania to practically perpetuate himself in office. Every session since I have been here practically every bill that we pass says that this shall be done by the Governor, or by and with approval of the Governor. We have made him a powerful chief executive. again to repeat, one of the most powerful in this entire nation.

In view of that situation which exists in this state, I say that four years is long enough for anybody to be Governor of Pennsylvania. He can do just what he wants to do and put his platform over easily in four years.

By reason of the fact that we have made our Governor strong we have wisely put into our Constitution that he shall only have one term.

I ask you to vote against this bill.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to the gentleman's remarks relative to his opposition to this bill, and I have also looked up the setup in the different States throughout the Union, and I find that forty-three States permit Governors to be elected for more than one term.

If forty-three States do that, there certainly has not been any dictatorship or what have you in those States, and I would say that if Pennsylvania would reelect a Governor more than one term he would be a better Governor. Under the present setup a man comes into Harrisburg as Governor of Pennsylvania and he only gets his feet on the ground until he is out of office. There is no incentive for a man to be elected Governor in Pennsylvania for a four year term. He comes here and he brings his family, and he probably has children going to school, and before he actually gets set, he is out of office.

Mr. Speaker, due to the fact that quite a number of the Members here are absent at this time, I would ask that this bill be passed over until Monday.

The SPEAKER. Nothing is in order except the calling of the roll.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he believes the President of the United States is more powerful than the Governor of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will give you my opinion on that very thing. I will say, yes, that the President of the United States is a more powerful person than the Governor of Pennsylvania and we have very wisely limited him to two terms, just recently.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that it is unwise for the President of the United States to be able to succed himself at least one term, one time?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, my answer to that is this: the government of the United States, of course, is a tremendous government. It is big business personified. In the last few years, especially during World War II, since the war the activities of our Federal government have expanded beyond any idea that the original framers of our Constitution thought they would expand. We have bought rubber plants and the government is practically in business, and I say that as far as our national government is concerned, two terms for the President of the United States is probably a good thing, in view of the vastness of our national government and the problems that he might face, but I say that in a state like Pennsylvania, to repeat, with the powers that we have vested in our Chief Executive, I don't think it is a good thing for him to have more than one term until we go about our business and get some legislative control over the Chief Executive.

Mr. READINGER. May I further interrogate the gentleman and inquire whether he thinks the United States Congress has more control, more legislative control over the President of the United States than this General Assembly has over the Governor of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, of course, the system or the way they do things in Washington, I grant you, is quite similar to Pennsylvania although to answer your question exactly, I would say comparatively speaking the Governor of Pennsylvania has more power within his sphere of influence than the President of the United States does, within the similar sphere of influence.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman agree with me when I say that the President of the United States under existing laws, literally has the power to write a blank check for amounts running into millions of dollars, to designate those funds to be used to help other countries, for example?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, of course, we are operating in this nation of ours on a peacetime budget of—was it $39 or $40 billion—and of course, the President of the United States, through his Treasury Department and his departments, by reason of the budget bill and the appropriation bills, can spend vast sums of money, that's for sure.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, without the authorization of any act of Congress in addition to those on the books now, you do agree that the President can write or designate the expenditure of tremendous sums simply upon his own decision. Is that not a fact?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would say that if you are thinking now of "Marshall Plan" money, I can't tell you whether the "Marshall Plan" funds for foreign rehabilitation are ear-marked for a particular thing in a particular country, I can't say that. Des that answer your question?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it does. Does the gentleman still persist in his argument that even though the United States President is vastly more powerful than the Governor of Pennsylvania that the President should be allowed to succeed himself and the Governor of Pennsylvania should not?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, to repeat, I said that I won't agree with you that the President of the United States, within the same sphere of influence that our Governor has, is more powerful. I say that our own Governor is more powerful. I pointed out to you about highway funds, for instance, where we don't even give him a blank check, the money goes into a Motor License Fund and is turned over to the Highway Department. We have absolutely nothing to say about that in the General Assembly. And as I understand it, in the National Government every dollar is appropriated, and it is true probably within appropriations of these commissions or boards they are not vested with discretion as to how it shall be spent.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman believe that the present law relating to the disposition of Highway Funds is bad because it requires the Governor's approval?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, yes, as a matter of fact, I do. Last session we had a bill that I think we passed in the House here, and I believe you probably voted for it, wherein we would require the Highway Department to budget this money, and we would put our stamp of approval on the budgeting of the money, rather than having it just go into the Motor License Fund and then be transmitted to the Highway Department to be spent at the Governor's pleasure.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I will not add much more to this debate. It has been very exhaustively covered by the gentleman from McKean and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran.

I would, however, like to point out to the Members of the House that it doesn't seem to make much sense to me to allow the Chief Executive of our nation to be reelected by the people, and after all it is the people who are making the choice and not we legislators, if the people are willing to reelect a man because they believe he has been a good Governor, they certainly are not running any more of a risk than if they relect the President of the United States.

Now the gentleman from McKean has argued long and vigorously to tell us that the Governor of this State is too powerful. It seems to me that if that is the case, we should cut down some of the powers of the Governor and not try to correct the situation by saying he may never succed himself because he is so powerful that we do not want him for another four years. Certainly the next Governor will be just as powerful because he will operate under the same laws.

Mr. Moran has pointed out that forty-three States now provide that Governors may succeed themselves for one or more terms. I do not have the details on that but as he pointed out, if forty-three States think that is a good law, why should we take a position such as Mr. Johnson advocates.

I think we should pass this resolution. After all, it is still something that the people of Pennsylvania must vote on some day. If it does not pass this session and the 1957 session and then pass the vote of the people, it will never come into being. But we should let the people of Pennsylvania vote on the matter, and this is the time and the place to start doing it.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Sepaker, before going into several remarks on this subject, I might comment on Mr. Moran's statement about the number of States where the Governor could succeed himself. May I point out first that in a great many of these States the Governor has only a two year term. I also note from a book which I have recently received, which is recently off the press, called "The American State Legislatures" on page 165, it is stated:

> "Fourteen States do not permit the gubernatorial incumbent to succeed himself."

I think there is some variance. It is not forty-three States; but thirty-four.

Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 83, the bill to alter the Constitution to permit the Governor to succeed himself, is but one more item in the steady campaign which goes forward to chip away the restraints placed within our Constitution, restaints distilled from the wisdom of the ages that men might profit from the lessons garnered from the long struggle of mankind to gain dignity and human liberty.

These restraints are like the sailing directions for which mariners look to the coastal pilots of the various seas. From them, from these nautical compendiums of local watered seafaring lore, basically safe courses may be set up that ships may eventually make proper landfalls, free from misadventures.

These sailing directions, Mr. Speaker, are built upon vast compilations of navigational data and observations, often going back to the crude records of antiquity. They are formidably impressive compilations, authoritative and safe.

But in the same vein of comment, I crave the indulgence of this House to point out that our own Constitutional restraints are but safe, human sailing directions, built upon the ages of data of human currents and eddies of behaviorism throughout the tides of recorded history.

Our Constitutions, national and commonwealth, are the findings and conclusions of vast and exhaustive expeditions into and minute siftings of these records of history. They are the findings and conclusions of men of towering stature. And their recorded work should not be dismissed lightly.

Moreover, Mr. Speaker, the pattern of these Constitutional restraints, in many ways, emerged in the day of the ancients, and have recurred again and again down to the troubled, atomical ominous present.

Among these various Constitutional restraints, surely none can bode a more significant and far-reaching danger signal than the articles aimed against the seeds of tyranny. But chief among these articles, Mr. Speaker, is the interdiction against the Governor of this Commonwealth succeeding himself in office.

Here, Mr. Speaker, is a point rooted deeply in our own early Colonial experience. Certainly it is unnecessary to remind a Chamber so thoroughly American as this one, of the vexing, frustrating and demanding experiences of the local Assemblies of the thirteen original colonies with the Governor sent out by England.

Further, Mr. Speaker, every school child recognizes that one of the main reasons why Colonial Governors became so obnoxious in the eyes of the American colosists was the fact of their long, unbroken and unassailable tenure of office.

Now, at first, in Pennsylvania after the adoption of the Federal government, the fact that the governor was elected by popular vote, rather than deriving his power by appointment from across the seas, seemed to be a sufficient safeguard against a developing tyranny of the executive.

However, it is noteworthy how many times Pennsylvania governors came to succeed themselves during the early generations of the Republic. Plainly the framers of our present Constitution recognized back in 1873 a trend toward governors reaching toward perpetuating powers, the prelude to entrenched dynasties.

In great wisdom, therefore, these Constitution framers of eighty plus years ago nipped these budding shoots toward over-concentrations of executive power, toward possible incipent tyranny—and I should pause here a moment, Mr. Speaker, to remind this Assemblage that America has known brutal, violent tyranny at the state level no longer than two decades ago and no further away than where the Mississippi breaks through its gulf-coast deltas—but to resume my thought, Mr. Speaker, these solons of the seventies nipped such reachings toward overwhelming executive authority by restricting the governor to one, non-succeeding term of four years.

However, in order to reaffirm the American Constitutional philosophy of checks and balances between the three arms of government, these Constitution makers compensated for this curtailment of executive power. They compensated by increasing the governor's powers. In fact, today Pennsylvania's Chief Executive is one of the most powerful of the nation's forty-eight heads of State governments.

The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, cogently presented this picture. Few other governors exercise so wide and so untrammelled a range of prerogatives.

Naturally, it is my conviction that it would be a serious loss to free Constitutional government in Pennsylvania for the governor to be allowed to succeed himself.

I wish to add that if the sponsors of this House Bill 83 wish to conscientiously preserve our Constitutional guarantees, but are determined to have the right of self succession amended into the Constitution, then I suggest that they amend their bill.

I suggest that they amend it to reduce the powers of the Governor back to earlier outlines. I suggest further to be on the safe side in fending against executive encoachments from future gubernatorial dynasties, that they legislate to boost the Governor's salary and that they amend House Bill 83 to take away the Governor's veto power over legislation. The Governor of North Carolina has no veto power, for instance.

If the sponsors of this bill are determined upon continuing gubernatorial succession, then I say, Mr. Speaker, let the Governor be a Penn's Woods version of the French Presidency, long on protocol, ok, but armed with any power, never!

And lastly, it is perhaps quite fitting to quote the words of a true liberal who deserved the term long before it degenerated into a stigma of spuriousness. It was James Truslow Adams, in writing of a great Democrat, who noted a decade ago in his book "The Living Jefferson," these words:

> "Peoples do not usually willingly and knowingly in advance organize the totalitarian state or a dictatorship for themselves."

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I listened to an evaluation by the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, and I found it very interesting, but I find it very necessary as a Member of this House in 1937 to object to the statement that when Governor James was elected he was the man-of-the-hour because chaos existed in Pennsylvania.

I would like to take exception to those remarks because I believe that that administration rather than creating chaos started us upon a road which to a great extent we are travelling today. A new tax structure which was bitterly assailed at the time, and was bitterly assailed by Governor James when he ran for office, was adopted by the Earle Administration and that particular tax from that time to the present has been kept, item for item, during the administrations of these men-of-the-hour that we have heard about.

And then I want to remind you also that during that session, during that period of time, there were a million and five hundred thousand unemployed, including women and children, and that during that time no one went hungry, that during that administration with all of the unemployment we had no great strife and no one went hungry. And we had no violence. In spite of all of that tremendous relief load there was a smaller deficit at the end of the administration of Governor Earle than we have today.

I also want to remind the Members of the House, that while the succeeding Governors mentioned by the gentleman from McKean did create extensions to the Turnpike and did construct some Turnpike in Pennsylvania, the original turnpike bill is to be credited to the administration of Governor Earle. I think we have had some men-of-the-hour since Governor Earle, but we certainly have not had many minute-men.

We now come along to this present bill. For those of you who are familiar with this type of legislation I need not remind you, but for those who are not I want to state in fairness to the sponsor of this bill that this bill has been introduced in every Session of the legislature since Governor Earle's time. The sponsor of this bill had that bill introduced even though the Governor at the time was a Republican. This is not a new idea with the sponsor and is not a new idea in this House.

I think this bill reflects the highest type of democracy. If we have a Governor in Pennsylvania who is doing a good job, if we have a Governor in Pennsylvania to whom the people look with respect, if we have a Governor of this Commonwealth whom the people of the Commonwealth want to reelect then they certainly should have a right to do so, and I believe the Constitution limitation should be removed.

I must agree with the gentleman from McKean, and our Speaker, that we in the Legislature have allowed some of our rights, some of our prerogatives, to be usurped by the executive branch. I believe that we in the Legislature should try to take back those particular powers, and if you will note among the resolutions for constitutional amendment I have offered one which will take away one of the most serious powers which the Governor has usurped and that is the power of veto which this Legislature should have. When the Governor vetos a bill in the dying moments of the Legislature after we have gone home, we have no opportunity to over-ride that veto. I believe the Constitution provided justly that the legislature should have a right to over-ride a veto, but by practice over the years we have allowed all of our important legislation, or a considerable portion of it, to be passed in the last weeks, in the dying weeks of the session, and as a result the Governor has taken the power of veto and has become absolute.

While I agree we have lost some of those powers to the Governor I still believe that the people of Pennsylvania should be allowed to elect or reject any Governor for a second term. I believe that this is fundamental democracy, that the people themselves should decide who should be the Governor and should not be hamstrung by constitutional objections.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I listened with profound respect to the reasons why we should vote against this resolution by my colleague, Mr. Johnson, to the scholarly interrogation of him by Mr. Readinger, and I believe that the most cogent reason why the Members of this House should vote against this resolution has not yet been stated.

If this constitutional amendment finally becomes law and it then becomes the habit and custom for a Governor to serve eight years instead of four, then the chances of each Member of this House of Representatives becoming Governor will be automatically cut in half.

Mr. READINGER. I simply want to say that the last reason given is the best reason I have heard for voting against this bill, and the only reason I have heard why we should vote against it.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 416), page 2, line 6, by striking out "on or about his person a" and inserting in lieu thereof: "any."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 416), page 2, line 8, by inserting after "weapon" concealed upon his person.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 97, as follows:

An Act amending the act of May one one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 114, as follows:

An Act to repeal Section 518 of and to add a new section 518.1 to the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 853) entitled "An act relating to taxation designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county purposes and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto and repealing existing laws" by eliminating all the provisions of the act which regulate the payment of the taxes pending appeals from assessments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 129, as follows:

An Act amending the act of June twenty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1145) entitled as amended "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class townships of the second class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" further providing for the assessment of taxes on personal property and penalties

Section 1 The act of June twenty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1145) entitled as amended "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class townships of the second class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" is amended by adding after section 2 a new section to read

Section 2.1 Failure to File Returns and False Returns If any taxable resident shall fail to file a return or fail to include in any return all of his personal property made taxable by a political subdivision pursuant to this act or shall file a return which is false incomplete incorrect or inaccurate the duly constituted authorities of the political subdivision shall make an assessment of the tax against such resident of the amount of tax for which such resident is liable or for which he is believed by the authorities to be liable to which estimated return the authorities shall add twelve per cent and the aggregate amount so obtained shall be the basis for taxation

The authorities shall notify by mail such resident of the estimated assessment If such resident is dissatified with the asessment so made he may on or before thirty days after such assessment present reasons supported by oath or affirmation for his failure to file a return to include all of his taxable personal property therein or for having made a return which was incomplete incorrect or inaccurate and the authorities shall if satisfied with the excuse so presented permit the taxpayer to file his own return and substitute said return for the estimated return made by the authorities In all cases where a false return has been filed by the taxpayer the authorities shall not relieve the taxpayer from the payment of the twelve per cent penalty but the estimated return shall be final except in those cases in which a true and correct return shall reveal a higher or lower assessed value than contained in the estimated return in which case the tax and penalty shall be based upon the true valuation

An assessment as provided by this section may be made by the authorities at any time within five years after any personal property owned held or possessed or alleged to have been so owned held or possessed by any resident should have been returned by him for taxation notwithstanding he shall have paid a tax assessed on the basis of returns previously made or filed and notwithstanding the authorities shall have made previous assessments against such resident In any such case no credit shall be given for any penalty formerly assessed and paid

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 11, as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Joint State Government Commission for the payment of general expenses.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1. The sum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Joint State Government Commission for the payment of wages and other compensation of the employes and for the payment of general expenses necessary for the proper conduct of its work for the balance of the fiscal biennium 1953-1955. Said sum shall be in addition to any sum heretofore appropriated to the Joint State Government Commission for said purposes.

Section 2. The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 68, as follows:

An Act to amend Section 1 of the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 620) entitled "An act directing the recorder of deeds of each county of the Commonwealth to refuse for record all deeds or other transfers of real estate or interest in real estate unless a certificate is attached to said instruments giving the precise residence of the grantee or grantees named therein and requiring a list thereof to be delivered to the proper board of revision of taxes or other officials charged with the assessment of real estate" by requiring the certificate of the grantees to contain their complete post office address

Section 1 Section 1 of the act aproved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 620) entitled "An act directing the recorder of deeds of each county of the Commonwealth to refuse for record all deeds or other transfers of real estate or interest in real estate unless a certificate it attached to said instruments giving the precise residence of the grantee or grantees named therein and requiring a list thereof to be delivered to the proper board of revision of taxes or other officials charged with the assessment of real estate" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That for the purpose of obtaining with acuracy the precise residence of all owners of real estate and persons having a taxable interest therein it shall be the duty of the recorder of deeds in each county whenever a deed or other transfer of real estate or interest in real estate hereafter executed shall be presented to him for record to refuse the same unless the grantee or grantees therein named have attached thereto and made part of such deed or transfer a certificate signed by said grantee or grantees or some one on his or their behalf setting forth the precise residence and the complete post office address of such grantee or grantees said certificates to be recorded with said deed and thereupon the said recorder shall prepare and deliver at stated intervals to the board of revision of taxes or other official or officials charged with the assessment of such real estate a list of the real estate or interest in real estate as transferred with the location of the same and the names of the grantor or grantors and the names and residences of the grantee or grantees with the date of recording

COMMITTEE APPOINTED UNDER SENATE RESOLUTION 111

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 111, adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives, the Speaker appoints as a Committee on the part of the House, Messrs. Boies, Kolankiewicz, Kornick, Tompkins.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. MILLS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. ROVANSEK asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. BAZIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. MILLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mrs. REIBMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by her.

Mr. VAUGHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION REQUESTED TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have permission to make a brief statement on the bill I am about to introduce.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request that the gentleman . . .

Mr. VAUGHAN. It is very brief, sir.

The SPEAKER. It is a very, very bad precedent. If everyone who desires to add additional sponsors makes a speech, we shall be here until January. The Chair would prefer that the gentleman send his bill to the desk with the additional sponsors but if the gentleman insists upon speaking the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Well, I don't want to be here until January, either, so I will sit down.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as the Members of the House know, the House in Resolution No. 6 directed the Committee on Conservation and Wild Life to make a comprehensive study of game, fish, forests and waters and their proper use and management in Pennsylvania and to submit recommendations.

I did not intend to make a report today. However, an article in a city paper compels me to make a few remarks to inform the Members of this House and the people of the State of Pennsylvania some of the progress made by that Committee and its studies.

In this paper today a statement is made concerning the San Juan rabbit on which the Conservation and Wild Life Committee has held considerable hearings, and has devoted considerable time to determining the status of that animal in Pennsylvania.

This statement I want to quote; it says:

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman file the statement, if it is very long, for the record?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to complete my remarks

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman refuses to file his written statement for the record, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House, I have no written statement, these are remarks. This statement appeared in a city paper,

> "While Pennsylvania officials take a hand-off or do-nothing attitude toward the menace of the San Juan rabbit in the Keystone state, the Ohio Division of Wild Life officials have announced that no more of these animals can be imported or released in the Buckeye state."

I want to say that implies that this Committee and the state officials of Pennsylvania have taken a lackadaisical or do-nothing attitude toward this problem, and that is wrong.

This Committee today has submitted a bill signed by ten members of this Committee to bar the importation and release of the San Juan rabbit in Pennsylvania until September, 1957, and that bill gives jurisdiction over the San Juan rabbit to the Department of Agriculture. After September, 1957, the Department of Agriculture, after conferring with the Pennsylvania Game Commission, shall have authority to do as it will about lifting the ban imposed in the bill.

I want to say at the hearings conducted by your Committee on Conservation and Wild Life, the Department of Health stated that it had no authority to ban that rabbit because it was disease-free; the Department of Agriculture stated it had no authority to ban that rabbit under present law; the Game Commission stated it had no authority over the introduction or release of that rabbit in Pennsylvania because it was a domestic rabbit and not a wild animal.

So, therefore, this article which infers that the Pennsylvania officials have taken a hands-off attitude is in error. Every department in Harrisburg is concerned vitally with that animal, but their hands were tied.

The bill, which I hope and the committee hopes will receive favorable consideration in this House and in the Senate and be signed by the Governor in due time, will aid in great measure in solving the problem.

PERMISSION TO FILE STATEMENT

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan desire to be recognized?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed at whatever length he desires.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, but I would just like to have this placed upon the record.

> During the prison riots two years ago, I found out that the prisons were undermanned. At that time, I presented a bill to give the guards a forty hour week, a three year increment period and a raise in pay. This was to keep what men they had and have others apply for the position of guard. At that time they were getting approximately $240 a month to start, going to $290 for top pay over a five year pediod.
> Before this bill had a chance to become law Governor Fine put all state employes on a forty hour basis and raised their pay ten per cent with a five year increment, raising the pay from $263 to $323.50 and putting them under the Justice Department. Up until five months ago these positions were all filled. At this time the Justice Department put the guards on a seven year increment which actually is a cut in pay, losing men again. This bill, if passed, would correct that and put them on a three year increment basis; the same as all state employes on civil service have now.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Does the Majority Leader desire to be recognized?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, are we arriving at the close of today's session?

The SPEAKER. We are nearing the close of today's session and the Chair understood there was some piece of business, or some bill, or something upon which Majority Leader desired to be recognized.

Mr. READINGER. Those matters have been taken care of, Mr. Speaker, but for those who have been asleep or have not been paying attention the last two days, I would like to announce that tomorrow will be a consent calendar day.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, March 9, 1955 at 10:00 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:49 p. m.) the House adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 9, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Fortress and our Strength, to whom else can we go but unto Thee, who has the words of eternal life? Strong Son of God, lend us Thy strength this day, so that amidst the host of things we may have to do or suffer we may not flinch or fail.

O Thou, who hast brought us to see the light of another day, gladden us with the thought of our inheritance in Thee. And give us to go bravely on our business all this day, remembering how rich we are in Thy love and mercy. Save us from discontent, from vain ambitions and from longing for things which are not good for us. Give us thankfulness for what we have and make us rich in happiness and inward peace. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Ziegler, to preside throughout this morning's session.

MR. ZIEGLER IN THE CHAIR

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, March 8, 1955, will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. FLINT and MOSCRIP.

RESOLUTION No. 40.

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1955.

The Pennsylvania U. S. Highway No. 6 extends across the northern part of Pennsylvania from east to west and comprises an integral part of a transcontinental highway important to the commercial and economic life of State and Nation.

The Pennsylvania U. S. Highway No. 6 is also a military road, being one of two of such vital east-west highways in the Commonwealth.

The Pennsylvania U. S. Highway No. 6 passes through one of the most scenic areas of our Commonwealth and is the access route for thousands of visitors who come from all parts of the Nation and State to enjoy the hunting, fishing, and natural grandeur of the area.

The widening, straightening and complete renovation of said Pennsylvania U. S. Highway No. 6 would provide the shortest and most attractive highway from Chicago, Cleveland, Erie, and other large industrial and population centers to the urban industrial centers of the east, and as such is included in the proposed Federal Interstate Highway Program; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be requested to advance plans to make Pennsylvania U. S. Highway No. 6 a four lane, toll-free highway to the end that said highway may form a real part of the vital defense system of transcontinental military highways, and to the additional purpose of further opening a vast area of the potential industrial and existing recreational resources of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania communicate such plans to the Director of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, to the end that the plans may be integrated and the reconstruction and improvement of Pennsylvania U. S. Highway No. 6 be commenced with all the celerity consistent with proper highway improvement practices.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1955.

There is an overtone of balance in the story of Tom Gola, who rounds out an amazing basketball career at LaSalle College this year.

During the 1951-52 season when Tom was a freshman, coach Ken Loeffler was widely quoted as saying, "Tom's poise is perhaps his greatest asset. The boy can do everything, and do it well." From high school days, Tom has developed all phases of his game so impartially that there is little agreement as to just what single ability of his has contributed most to LaSalle's 76-14 won-lost record during the past three years. M. C. A. B. statistics consistently show Gola to be near the top in every individual department but leading in none, while many feel that he deserves rating with the very best of all time in various intangibles of the game.

The system of basketball Ken Loeffler teaches at LaSalle is based on speed, size and the all-around, rather than specialized abilities of his players, and Tom Gola has fitted perfectly into this pattern of play. He is big and fast; he can play inside or outside; he is equally effective shooting over the defense or going around it, and, as Loeffler puts it, "is a man and a half on defense."

In the ninety games Tom Gola has played for LaSalle, he has developed, of course, but like everything else about Tom, his improvement has been quiet and gradual rather than sensational and meteoric. As a freshman, Tom collared 17.1 rebounds per game; as a junior, 21.7. During his freshman year he averaged 17.4 points, and had 23.0 during his junior season. Improvement is noted, too, in the fact that Tom was held under 10 points in five games as a freshman, in only three as a sophomore, and in none last year.

There is balance in Tom Gola as a student. His current 2.61 scholastic rating is almost exactly in between the average "C" and the Dean's Honor List standing. Since he entered LaSalle College, Tom has hovered in between the "brain" and the "average" classifications.

Tom's quiet determination goes along with a highly developed sense of dry humor; his fifty major basketball honors have left him completely unimpressed by his achievements, and his name next to almost every LaSalle College basketball record did not prevent his passing up a record-tying shot with only seconds to go in last year's Loyola game.

Heroics and Tom Gola are strangers, and, as far as a great will to win allows, Tom seems to be embarrassed by his court effectiveness. Only when the occasion rises up to demand it of Tom does he ever assume the epic role. His pass to Fran O'Malley that led to the tying score with four seconds left in last year's Fordham game in Buffalo, his 30-point output against Walter Dukes and Seton Hall in the 1952 N. I. T., his devastating all-around play during the final three minutes of the 1954 Eastern Regional N. C. A. A. finals against North Carolina State, and his tremendous individual effort in the 1952-53 season that turned Lafayette College's bid to upset LaSalle, all sent even veteran observers away shaking their heads.

The champion Explorers, and especially Gola, will be marked men during the coming season but, on past performance, that's about all Tom Gola needs to have his greatest year yet.

He was the first and only Pennsylvanian to be picked as an "All American Basketball Player" for three consecutive years; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate Tom Gola, student and outstanding basketball player of all time; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Tom Gola; c/o LaSalle College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

Serial No. 110

In the Senate, February 22, 1955.

On February 22, 1955, Pennsylvania State University celebrates its one hundredth anniversary as an educational institution.

As a land-grant university it possesses a unique position in the educational system of the Commonwealth, and has set a high standard of education and accomplishment which speaks well for the far-sighted of those instrumental in its establishment.

It presently has fourteen thousand students and over forty thousand alumni and sixteen hundred members on its faculty and research staff.

The growth of Pennsylvania State University from its small start as Farmer's High School, to its current preeminence as one of the nations leading universities which trains its students in a broad field of both theoretical and practical knowledge, is a tribute to its administrative officers, faculty, students and the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, (the House concurring), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates the Pennsylvania State University on its one hundredth anniversary and on its growth and accomplishments during this period of time; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the Pennsylvania State University and that a copy of this resolution also be sent to Jesse Arnelle, president of the student body of that University.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HARVEY P. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, March 14, 1955 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:35 a. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 14, 1955. No. 23.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 14, 1955.

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN C. MOORE, Rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Coudersport, offered the following prayer:

Most Gracious God and Father, we humbly beseech Thee, as for the people of this Commonwealth in general, so especially for this Senate now in Session, that Thou wouldst be pleased to direct and prosper all their works to the advancement of Thy glory, the safety, honor and welfare of Thy people; that all things may be so ordered and settled by their consultations and endeavors, upon the best and surest foundations that truth and justice may be established and sustained among us for all generations.

These and all other things needful for us, for our people and all men, we ask in the Name of the Master, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WADE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 221, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 27, 1923 (P. L. 858), entitled "An act establishing a State employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve; excepting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," by permitting certain contributors to change from the one one-hundred-sixtieth (1/160) to the one one-hundredth (1/100) class and defining the benefits to be obtained thereby.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. PECHAN and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 222, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred fifty three (P. L. 641), entitled "An act prohibiting the erection and maintenance of obstructions to the operation of aircraft in certain areas and prescribing penalties," by further defining an airport approach area and providing penalties for violation thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I am about to introduce an appropriation bill of considerable size, and I introduce it with the hope that it will not be necessary to spend one dollar of the proposed sum.

Mr. President, some time ago, the administration, in order to free itself of financial problems, decided to defer appropriations to certain school districts and, later on, tuition payments to some districts as they become due. It has been stated by the Governor, I believe, and I understand it has also been stated by the Department of Public Instruction, that they will not handicap any school district. Those affected will have enough cash on hand to carry over and there will be no resultant distress. However, necessarily or otherwise, there are a great many school districts in the State who are fearful that if tuition payments are deferred, they will have to borrow money to carry on their program until appropriations catch up.

For that reason, Mr. President, I am presenting this bill, appropriating money to reimburse, if necessary, school districts for interest they might have to pay on money borrowed to take the place of deferred appropriations.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WAGNER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 223, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction to reimburse school districts for interest paid on loans necessitated by deferment of Commonwealth appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not like to interrupt the proceedings in the Senate. However, in order that there be no misunderstanding, the implication by the introduction of this bill is that we intend to take from school districts amounts of money under the act, that we are proposing to set aside or rather to use $25,000,000 of school appropriations for deficiency purposes that we may embarrass some school district. Now, Mr. President, I want all the Members of this Senate to be reassured as to that particular aspect of the deficiency appropriations and the moratorium on paying out any more than is required for the necessary operations of the schools until the end of the biennium.

Mr. President, there is approximately $33,000,000 in the unspent school appropriations. We intend to set aside, or declare a moratorium on payment to local districts of approximately $25,000,000. Out of this $25,000,000 that we are now setting aside, we will pay to those distressed districts, or districts that are in need at the moment, the amounts that will keep them current.

Therefore, in order that there be no misunderstandings on the part of the Membership of this Senate, this particular act just introduced, prefaced by the remarks of the Senator from Schuylkill that he hopes that we will not have to spend one cent under this act, I want it clearly understood that there will be no need for the passage of this legislation if the calculations of the Department of Public Instruction and the Budget Bureau are accurate.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SCHMIDT, MILLER and HAYS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 224, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; providing for exemption of certain disabled veterans from certain taxes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Messrs. CHAPMAN and STIEFEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 225, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Health for the use of the Institute for Cancer Research, Incorporated, Fox Chase, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. WEINER, SILVERT, DONOLOW and MULLIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 226, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 20, 1953 (P. L. 1212), entitled "An act providing for the study of the problems of alcoholism; the treatment, commitment, rehabilitation and protection of persons addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic beverages; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts and the Department of Health; and making an appropriation," granting the Municipal Court of Philadelphia concurrent jurisdiction in Philadelphia with the courts of common pleas in the commitment of persons addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic beverages.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. LANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 227, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931, (P. L. 594), entitled "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways, authorizing their construction, maintenance, and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions; limiting the obligations of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways; conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities, persons, associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act," adding a new route in Washington County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. HALUSKA, MILLER and HAYS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 228, entitled:

An Act regulating and prescribing the working hours and vacation periods of police officers employed by any county, city, borough, town, or township having a regular police force consisting of five or more full time police officers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. HALUSKA and MILLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 229, entitled:

An Act regulating the number of hours of duty in any calendar week for paid firemen employed by boroughs and townships without diminution of existing salaries or compensation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the Philadelphia News, under date of March 10, 1955, carried an account of certain statements which were made by one of my colleagues in the Senate, Senator Donolow.

Mr. President, in that statement it appears that the following was said:

"It appears to me that undue influence has been exerted by the Republican members of this Senate committee in order to see to it that this resolution would not reach the floor of the Senate. This obviously was a move on the part of the Republican Party to cover up and withhold from the citizens of Pennsylvania the proof of years of misrule under the tenure of the former State athletic commissioners. It appears to me that this is an attempt to withhold from the public the tieup between the gamblers and members of the old City Hall gang."

Mr. President, Senator Donolow was talking about the resolution which he introduced in the Senate a month or so ago, which called upon the Senate to investigate the practices of the Athletic Commission and the practices of the Boxing Commission in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the Philadelphia Inquirer carried about the same story, except it contained a little bit of different language. It said that the Senator charged that "some politicians were high-pressured by the gambling element to use undue influence on Republican members of the Senate Committee on Law and Order to prevent the resolution reaching the floor of the Senate."

Now, Mr. President, it is not quite clear to me who the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Donolow, had in mind, certainly, that he is not accusing or indicating that any of his colleagues in this Senate are under the hand of some racketeers in Philadelphia or in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to keep this resolution from coming to the floor of the Senate for a vote.

Perhaps, Mr. President, I am as much responsible as any Member of the Senate in suggesting to the Chairman of the committee that he withhold action on this resolution, because last week I did happen to see Senator Watkins in his committee room and he told me that he thought they would consider that resolution that morning and, perhaps, would report it out. I told him at the time that I had had conversation with the Governor, and that the Governor had indicated to me and others that when we were going to consider his nominees for the new boxing commission, that would be as far as he cared to go. He was not interested in anything in the past in connection with boxing. The Governor thought perhaps there could be both good and bad brought out, and he was interested in the future of boxing. He asked us to go along with his nominees for the boxing commission, and we did here in the Senate take action and confirmed his new board.

Mr. President, I thought that with this new board in, if there was anything which they could uncover as to what had gone on previously which was bad or evil, certainly they would indicate that to us and if there were any grounds at all for any kind of investigation, we certainly would be glad to investigate them. We have had so many investigations here, and are now in the process of having one or two and we have some resolutions to investigate this and that and the other. If we took care of all the investigations, the Senators would have no time to do anything else. We certainly have other business that we have to take care of. If there are no grounds to these things, certainly we should not use up the time of the Senate to investigate things that do not need to be investigated.

Mr. President, I am not going into the merits of whether the investigation is good or whether it is bad; whether it is needed or not needed. That is surely within the hands of the committee and if they feel that an investigation is now in order, after Senator Donolow's statements, certainly I am ready to go along with it. However, I do think that something should be cleared here. Something should be clarified by the Senator who made these statements, if he made them and was correctly quoted. It should certainly be made clear that no Senator in this Senate, whether he be Republican or Democratic, is to be charged or to be made guilty of any misconduct of dealing with racketeers in order to kee any resolution which is sponsored by any Members of this Senate from coming to the floor.

Mr. President, if Senator Donolow can properly explain the statements which he has made, then I certainly will not pursue the subject any further.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President. I did not think that at so early a date in this Session I would deliver my maiden speech. However, I am compelled at this time to answer the Majority Leader on a subject of defense of the investigation of boxing.

Mr. President, may I say at the offset that the statement which was quoted from one of the newspapers was out of context? At no time did I attempt to put the reputation, the integrity or the morale of this body on trial.

Mr. President, I feel that the action which was taken certainly calls for comment. I also spoke to the Governor of this State, and I also spoke to the Attorney General of this State. Prior to proceeding with the introduction of the resolution, I was told by both gentlemen, after giving the evidence that I have in my file, to go ahead with my resolution.

I may say at this time, Mr. President, that the indignation taken by the Majority Leader as to the accusations against his party are certainly not in line. In 1950, the past Chairman of the Athletic Commission, Chairman Wiener, who was appointed by a Republican Governor, went before the Kefauver Crime Committee, at which time he said—at that time he was not the Chairman. There was then another Republican Chairman. Mr. Wiener said that Pennsylvania, and this is his testimony, boxing was being run by racketeers and gamblers, and that racketeers and gamblers had infested the entire athletic field as far as boxing was concerned. He even went a step further, Mr. President. Before that body, he testified that he called the Secretary to Governor Duff and told the Secretary to Governor Duff that there were racketeers, and he mentioned one man individually who was a racketeer and should not be in boxing in Pennsylvania. That is a matter of public record. That is a matter which the Kefauver Committee testimony will disclose.

Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion because this body has many thing to take up. However, if there is evidence, and I have showed it and I have files which will further display it, that during the past sixteen years the racketeers and gamblers have controlled boxing in Pennsylvania, then I say it is the duty and obligation on a nonpartisan basis—or bipartisan, if you please—to undertake this investigation. I do not think I, as a junior Senator, should be found in the position to stand up here and defend an investigation of boxing.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, do I understand that in any statement which Senator Donolow made for any newspaper or any place else, attacking the integrity of any of the Members of this Senate, that he was misquoted or something was put in that was not his intent?

Mr. DONOLOW. That is correct. It was taken out of context.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, strangely, that was the answer that my colleague from Crawford County gave in the House when he was interrogated on something which appeared in the newspaper a week or so ago.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 14, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 21, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 21, 1955, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 230, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to the procedure for amending the Consitution.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Berger, as you know and every Member of the Senate knows, the time is running out for enactment of an unemployment compensation bill containing amendments which will eliminate the danger of the so-called peril point amendments taking effect.

At this time I request that you give, if you can, the Members of the Senate a date upon which you expect to call a meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry to discuss this important matter.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, replying to the interrogation of the gentleman from Westmoreland County, I would preliminarily say that I would like to make the position of the Senate Committee on Labor and Industry crystal clear to the people of Pennsylvania as to the unemployment compensation bill, House of Representatives Bill No. 120, which is now in the committee.

Mr. President, we favor and have favored from the beginning of this Session, the increase in amount of payments from thirty dollars to thirty-five dollars a week, and an increase in the duration of payments from twenty-six to thirty weeks. These provisions of the bill will receive unanimous Republican support. It is with the fringe benefits that we take issue, and the bill has remained in committee due to the refusal of the Democratic spokesmen to consider any compromise for relaxation of these provisions thus far.

We firmly believe, Mr. President, that unemployment compensation is intended to tide over the worker who is out of employment through no fault of his own.

Mr. President, the embellishment of the law by providing for payments of a purely social nature, such as vacation payments, payments based on personal or marital considerations only, payments to people on pensions or Social Security, and payments based upon considerations other than those contemplated by the basic idea of unemployment compensation, will defeat the purpose of the law and deplete the fund.

We will consider the bill with these things in mind, Mr. President, and will offer amendments which are reasonable; but I repeat, we are entirely favorable to the increase in payments and increase in duration of payments.

Now, Mr. President, specifically answering the interrogation of the gentleman, I have on my desk a notation to the Secretary to announce a meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry on Tuesday, March 15, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., in Committee Room No. 536, on E Floor.

Mr. DENT. I wish to thank the gentleman at this time for answering the question.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, first of all I am sure that all of us are happy to know that the Republican contingent is inclined to go along with the Democratic amendments of thirty-five dollars a week and thirty weeks duration. I am also happy to note that there will be a meeting tomorrow to discuss the so-called fringe benefits.

The bill which is in the committee to date, Mr. President, has been given a great deal of misinformation and adverse publicity by certain groups in the Commonwealth who have refused to take into consideration factual figures which deal with proposed amendments. Mr. President, I think it important, before that committee meets, that this information be given to the Members of the Senate in order that there will be no misunderstanding when they vote tomorrow on the considerations now contained in House Bill No. 120.

The revised benefit formula, which raises the benefits from thirty to thirty-five dollars a week and increases the duration period from twenty-six to thirty weeks, has been estimated to cost under an economy of $180,000,000 of benefit payments in any one year; the new and complete cost of the added benefits which includes also the full duration amendment which, in explanation, does this. We say in this bill that when a claimant qualifies for unemployment compensation under the requirements of the law, he shall be eligible for the full time duration or thirty weeks if he stays unemployed. Including that very worthwhile provision, the entire cost of the benefit formula will be 19.66 millions of dollars. The alternative privilege of having fifty per cent of the full time weekly wage used as a basis for establishing the weekly benefit amount, when the highest quarterly wage formula imposes less than an intended right due to the individuals under the employment clause, will bring the highest quarter benefits under this law to a figure of 1.97 millions of dollars. Inclusion of the controversial bulk-back provision, which means that all claimants eligible under the present benefit formula would, if not able to qualify as per the revised formula, at least be entitled to a reduced benefit in terms of their eligibility rights under the present law, will cost 4.59 millions of dollars.

Vacation benefits, which appear to be the prime bone of contention on the part of the committee members which I have talked to and on the part of the opposition which has been so vocal in the newspapers, under stated conditions where no wages are paid by employers, which is the meat and the crux of the whole amendment, a plant-shut down vacation period, would cost 1.64 millions of dollars.

Mr. President, the fifth and last amendment is the allowance of benefits for unemployment during pregnancy if the worker is able and available, which, with present restrictions removed, would allow 6.01 millions of dollars. Therefore, it is estimated that the total cost of this legislation, based on a $180,000,000 benefit year, would be approximately 27.92 or slightly less than $28,000,000.

Now, let us take into consideration exactly what we are doing under this legislation. Under the rules of procedure which were dictated by the industry representatives in the amendments of 1949 and 1951, if we allowed the same provisions of the act to go into effect that they established themselves over our opposition, industry would be compelled to pay during this present year $230,000,000 in contributions.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, the Leader Administration is not indulging in idle talk when it tells the entire industrial world that Pennsylvania is going to be a healthy place for industry to operate in. Having that as the first consideration, the Governor, with his advisors both legislatively and department-wise, has evolved a schedule which cuts the maximum cost to industry from the $230,000,000 contribution base to $140,000,000. In order to achieve this and still play fair to those who are the beneficiaries of this particular piece of legislation, namely, the unemployed persons in Pennsylvania, and keeping before us at all times that this is not only legislation dealing in economics but one based upon the social aspect of legislation, we have to consider the increased needs and requirements of unemployed labor in the Commonwealth. Taking into consideration the many decisions which have been rendered by the courts of the land, we come up with a new and revised benefit payment year and schedule. Included in this benefit payment year and schedule we find the so-called fringe benefits, which have been adjudicated in the courts of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, we say to labor, who has a stake in the unemployment compensation reserve fund, that we are going to give increased benefits and rights to the unemployed persons of this Commonwealth to the tune of approximately $28,000,000, and then we say to industry in the Commonwealth, we are going to give you benefits to the tune of approximately $90,000,000. I believe that in fairness to those who have worked upon this piece of legislation that we have devised a piece of important economic and social legislation which will be far-reaching in its effects. I say to the Members of this Senate that this will probably be upheld as the greatest humane piece of legislation that has been presented to any State Legislature during the year of our Lord 1955. I believe that the committee ought to take all of these angles into consideration.

Mr. President, labor has willingly said, and all branches of labor have said, that they can see the justice of not imposing upon industry at this time the full weight of their own folly because it was industry's spokesmen who came before this General Assembly and asked that this formula, which we now must revise and we all admit we must revise, be imposed upon the industrial concerns of this Commonwealth. We told them at that time that when we would have a very bad benefit year in the Commonwealth, industry would rue the day they raided the fund.

Mr. President, there are those who question the stability of the fund under these amendments. They say that this will ruin the treasury, that this will demoralize the reserve fund, but they fail to say that in 1952, by an act of this General Assembly, we gave to industry in the Commonwealth $240,000,000 of credit which is directly chargeable to the reserve fund of the Commonwealth. Had we not done that, we would find Pennsylvania today in the position of having, at this time, $530,000,000 in the reserve fund of the Unemployment Compensation Fund. If we had that amount, Mr. President, we would not be faced with the necessity of passing immediate legislation to annul the so-called peril point amendments which were placed in the law by industry itself. At that time, I believe that industry was in good faith in so doing. They admitted that if they raided the fund at that time, and if the eventuality came up where by their actions they depleted the fund below the point of one and a half times any yearly benefit base, they, as industry, would be willing to be subjected to a tax of 2.7 per cent and that is the major peril point.

Mr. President, although industry now realizes that this would be the wrong time to assess all industry in the Commonwealth at a 2.7 per cent assessment, the Governor, too, realizes it and knowing full well that the prosperity and well-being of this Commonwealth depends entirely upon the actions of this General Assembly, he has publicly announced that he will support the General Assembly in their determination to see to it that industry is not overly taxed by any compensation law passed at this time.

Mr. President, I, therefore, beg of the committee not to tamper too much with the so-called fringe benefits because, in reality, they are not fringe benefits, but are the right and due benefits to those who are unemployed. Keeping in mind at all times that immediately when a person has been liquidated from the active payment benefits of the Unemployment Compensation Fund, they find themselves up against a proposal where either they must ask for public relief, which in the main is more costly to the taxpayers, including industry, than the unemployment compensation benefits are, or they must allow themselves to go into debt.

Now, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, keep in mind above all other considerations that this legislation was never conceived entirely from the angle or aspect of economics, but it was originally conceived with the idea in mind that it was social by nature, and being social by nature the question of economics must only rule when it comes to a position of soundness of the fund. We realize that these amendments which we have now inserted in the bill may cause us to stabilize the fund at somewhere near $350,000,000. There are a great number of students who believe that that is entirely too low for safety, and maybe it is, but we also must realize the conditions of our public affairs today and our economic well-being must come first in our consideration. Therefore, the Governor is like a man who has a sick family and who has been paying the cost of his family's illnesses with the reserve they saved, when the family was in good health and reserving a certain amount for sickness, and finally finds himself in a position when he must delve into the reserve fund to take care of his family and make it healthy again. Although he cannot continue to add to that reserve fund during the period of sicknesses, he hopes that when the sicknesses are over he will again be able to add to the reserve fund for the welfare of his family. And so it is with us today, we must make a decision based upon sickness within our body politic and having that in mind, I beg of you not to destroy the work of a committee who has worked diligently for at least four months trying to devise a compensation law which would fall in line with what the President of the United States is asking for, with what the Governor of Pennsylvania is asking for and with what common decency has asked for.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it is with some reluctance that I attempt to make some response to the Minority Floor Leader's comments on House Bill No. 120.

Mr. President, I have a great deal of respect for the Minority Floor Leader's judgment. He talks very smoothly; he has a remarkable memory. I invariably marvel at his fluency of speech. Words seem to come easy for him. He has a pleasant way about him. Unlike the Speaker of the House, he is not sarcastic nor caustic, but he kind of lets you down easy.

Mr. President, I rise here, taking courage from what I heard about the gentleman from Westmoreland and his early experience during his twenty-five or twenty-six years as a legislator. I understand that in those early days he did not speak too well, and on one occasion some gentleman from the House referred to him as the trailing end of an equine quadruped, whereupon the present Minority Floor Leader rose and said, "Well, I am at least six feet ahead of you."

Mr. President, it seems to me that this unemployment compensation bill is a good bit like the Chinese language, It is a little difficult to understand. The lawyers have this wording in very complicated language, so that it takes almost a lawyer to tell you what they are trying to say and sometimes they are not sure. It made me think of the girl who loved to knit sweaters. Somebody had invited her to a Chinese restaurant. She was always looking for new designs for these sweaters, and she saw on this Chinese restaurant menu some of the characteristics and figures which she thought would be ideal for a sweater pattern. She proceeded to work this design into her sweater. Everybody admired this until one day a chap came along who understood Chinese. He began to smile and wondered where she got the sweater. She told him that she had made it herself, and the design came from a Chinese restaurant. He said, "That is very amusing. Do you know what it says?" She said, "No, I do not." He said, "Well, I do understand Chinese and that means, 'This is a cheap dish, but delicious.' "

Mr. President, I think this House Bill No. 120 is a very delicious dish, but it is not cheap.

Mr. President, the purpose of unemployment compensation is to tide people over when they are out of work until they can find another job. It used to be called, I believe, eating money. It is not a dole and it is not a substitute for public assistance. Yet, I wonder whether some of us do not feel that it is.

Mr. President, in the Philadelphia Inquirer of March 6, I believe it was—this date is headlined March 5—the Secretary of Public Assistance, Mrs. Horting, said today, "Passage of the Leader Administration's Unemployment Compensation legislation now pending in the Senate would save $5,600,000 a biennium in relief costs." These figures were supported by the Secretary of Labor who sent copies of this letter, I believe, to some of the Senate leaders.

Mr. President, what does House Bill No. 120 do that might bring it over into what we might call public assistance or relief? I would like to quote some comparisons on these fringe benefits which the Minority Floor Leader mentioned.

The increase in the maximum payments to $35.00 a week is estimated by the Bureau, and that combined with the uniform extension of thirty weeks, to be 19.6 millions of dollars. We break that down into the cost of the $35.00 a week at 15.8 million, and the increase to the thirty weeks uniform duration to 3.8 million. However, by other figures which are available and by using 1954's experience, we arrive at a figure that the $35.00 maximum will cost us 29.7 million, that alone. How do we get that figure? Simply by going back over the records and showing that as the benefits increased each week, or per week, over the years, there was a consistent increase in the total amount of average unemployment checks. There were so many checks issued, ten million and some odd hundred thousand in 1954. If you multiply the estimated increase in weekly costs by that number of checks, you will arrive at a figure of around 29.7 million or $30,000,000.

The increase of duration to the uniform thirty weeks, which the Bureau estimates at about 3.8 million, we calculated at 19.2 million, and so on down the line. In each one of these estimates there are many of these things which the Bureau has not estimated because they have not got the facts. We cannot estimate those either, except by pure guess work.

Mr. President, let me just cite one case to you on the pregnancy issue. The Bureau estimates .06 million, $60,000, I think, as the estimated cost of benefits for pregnancy cases. That figure was based on the fact that there would be about 720 pregnancies, compensable pregnancies, during the year of 1955. If we assume—and I think this is fairly correct—that there are about a million and a half females employed in covered industry in the Commonwealth, it seems to us that 720 pregnancies is an awfully small number. We estimate that at 11.7 million as against $60,000. When you total up the two columns of the Bureau's estimate and what we arrive at, we get the Bureau estimate of about $28,000,000, as the Minority Leader has said, but the other figures show a total of $102,000,000.

That is the point, I think, of our disagreement on these things. I could give you some details of how we arrived at these figures, but it gets very complicated. As I said, this is a Chinese language.

The purpose of the administration, the stated purpose, is to attract business to Pennsylvania. We are in full accord with that. However, how can we do that if we are going to place a burden on industry, which we figure will amount to as much in a year as their present corporation taxes? I think in 1954 the corporations paid about $222,000,000. We expect contributions, according to the Minority Floor Leader, from industry of $140,000,000. However, according to other figures which are estimated, that is going to be nearer $180,000,000. Yet, we are adding somewhere between $30,000,000 and $102,000,000 additional fringe benefits to the cost which must come out of this fund.

The only thing we can see with House Bill No. 120 is that by the end of the year everybody is going to be paying the maximum rate of 2.7, and we doubt then whether there will be sufficient funds in the Unemployment Compensation Fund to meet the payments that are going out.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, first of all we must realize that when my worthy colleague is talking about the ten million odd checks, he is working on the basis of an economy of $267,000,000 of benefit payments.

Mr. President, our estimates, and from all sources from which we can work, show that the maximum benefit year this year would be approximately $180,000,000. Therefore, the difference between basing our estimates on $180,000,000 and $267,000,000 can very well answer the question that he proposes, as to the total maximum cost of the new benefits under this bill.

Secondly, Mr. President, it is assumed by the gentleman—and I think this is a delicate subject about which neither he nor I are too well versed, and that is the question of pregnancy and how many of the one million and some odd women are going to be in that particular predicament. However, Mr. President, according to our estimates here from past experience, the age group of women who are—might I say with apologies to all of you—susceptible to that particular condition is stated to be about 40,000 women, ranging between the ages of nineteen and thirty-seven. Estimating it entirely upon that, from past experience we find that the $60,000 that the Bureau has estimated as the additional cost, because of the removal of the restrictive covenants in the bill, will be about $60,000 in addition to the benefit payments that they would receive under the present act.

Mr. President, I did not say that the $60,000 would be the total amount paid for that benefit. It would be that in addtiion to, because of these amendments. I might go on to say, Mr. President, in order that we do not get too far afield from the Chinese sweater, that it might be interesting to all of us to note that sometimes a story does have a point that should be carried and remembered.

First of all, Mr. President, we can only take the estimates of the Bureau that is in charge of this particular phase of our government. It would be presumptuous on my part to come before the Senate with figures that I had worked out by my own calculations, when all of the figures needed to give an assumption or an assumed figure are contained within the Department's files. They have gone over the files carefully with their statisticians and I am inclined to say at this time that I, as a Member of the General Assembly, must of a necessity take the figures that the Department gives me, rather than the figures of any other particular group which, for its own reasons, would find an answer different from that of the Department.

Mr. President, might I state that past history has not found the figures submitted by these outside interests to be very accurate. At the time of the peril point amendments, I remembered the advice and counsel given by an older man than I in the field of unemployment compensation, and he was practically laughed out of court because they said that never in our lifetime would the condition come up when the peril point would be in effect. The adviser said that within a period of six years, the possibilities were very good that the peril point would become an acute problem. I find him right and the other interests wrong.

Mr. President, we cannot go before the people and say that we are giving them unemployment compensation when we deprive them of the so-called fringe benefits, which are very much a part of the entire picture. We must remember that when we deny the fringe benefits, we are taking out from in under the coverage of the unemployment compensation a certain group of citizens. We are saying to them, "We will give you $35.00 a week and we will give you thirty weeks." Then on the other hand, we close the door to a great number of claimants. It may be interesting to note at this time, Mr. President, from study, that already we find that something like twenty-eight per cent of all claimants are denied the rights now under the unemployment compensation act without further closing the door. Mr. President, we cannot go to them with an empty promise. We cannot say that we are doing this for them and then not do anything.

Mr. President, they tell a story about the man who bragged so much about the two colored flunkies that he had around his place, who were so fine in workmanship. They were always dutiful, and they did their work with perfection. It seems that one day he was coming into the room and he noticed these two gentlemen workers of his going up the steps, with their heads bowed and walking slowly. The one was walking with his head down and his hands like this, and the other one was walking behind with his eyes closed and his hands like this. He said to them, "Where are you two boys going and what do you think you are doing?" The one said, without turning around, "Well, Mr. Brown, we are carrying this trunk upstairs." Mr. Brown said, "Which trunk?" They both opened their eyes and looked around, and the one said to the other, "Good gosh, Jackson, we done forgot the trunk."

Mr. President, that is what is happening now. If you do not give them all the benefits, you are forgetting the trunk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President may I just make one or two more statements?

Mr. President, one of our difficulties with these estimates is that the legislative research bulletin, put out by the Bureau, at times calculates from April 1, 1955 forward, and at other times it uses the entire year as the basis or 1954. Now it is very difficult to tell from this whether they are calculating on a nine months' basis, making their estimates on that, or whether they are making them on a yearly basis. As a check, we took House Bill No. 120 and applied the provisions of that bill to the estimate that we could get of 1954, and we still come out with a minimum of $102,000,000 additional cost.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the basic problem of this unemployment compensation legislation is that we are up against a deadline, namely, the end of the first quarter or the end of this month, March 31.

Mr. President, it seems to be unanimous on the part of all parties that certain features of House Bill No. 120 are good and should be enacted immediately. I am referring to those provisions which take out the one and a half times peril point, and the increase in the weekly amount of benefits and the increase in the number of weeks of the benefit period.

We could talk from now until March 31 about various estimates and figures and costs, but that is not going to solve the problem of getting some action on it. It seems to me, Mr. President, that the one unknown factor in the entire formula, and the one which cannot possibly be estimated with any great degree of certainty, is how much will be drawn out this year. In other words, how bad will unemployment be in Pennsylvania during 1955?

Mr. President, from listening to the debate here on the floor, I am wondering if perhaps our Republican brethren are charging the Department of Labor in Pennsylvania with placing too much faith in the Eisenhower Administration's promises to wipe out unemployment. We have had a good many promises from Washington to the effect that the unemployment picture will be brighter during this year. Perhaps that has been taken into consideration by the Department of Labor in estimating the number of benefits which will be drawn. Here in the Senate in Harrisburg, our Republican Senators are stating that unemployment will be worse than the Department of Labor anticipates that it will be but, in any event, it seems to me that what can be done, and done this week here in Harrisburg, is to put this bill out of committee in as nearly as possible its final form.

Mr. President, I think that it is quite evident now from the hearings which have been held before the committee, and from what has been said on the floor, that there are sufficient votes to pass the bill with several of the provisions in it. I think that a great many of the Senators who are not on the committee would like an opportunity to vote on the bill this week, and, if necessary, the various fringe benefit provisions which are being discussed can be put in or taken out of the bill by a roll call vote on each and every one of them out on the floor.

It may be that such matters as the broad field of vacation pay periods, which has been described as highly technical and subject to legal interpretation by our various courts and other bodies that have to do with interpreting the act, might well be taken up in special legislation or in a separate act. It seems to me, however, that about ninety percent of this act has now been agreed upon by a sufficient number of people here in the Legislature to pass it, and give some answer to both the employers and the working people of Pennsylvania and some assurance that their benefits will not be cut and that the employers' taxes will not be raised automatically on April 1, if we do not take that basic action.

Certainly, also, Mr. President, another element which must be taken into consideration is that if the period is allowed to go by without the one and a half times formula being taken out of the bill, the Department itself has a tremendous administrative task of going over hundreds of thousands of accounts and calculating new rates for employers to pay. That is a needless expense, and it can be averted by action by this body within the next week.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish the Members of the Senate would bear with me for just a moment. I want to digress from the subject, insofar as the pertinent facts concerning the law are concerned, and make a few remarks which I think are important at this very moment.

Mr. President, it appears to me that the people of Pennsylvania ought to know the dilemma that the Legislature as a whole finds itself in on many occasions when important legislation is before us. Over the years, a few of us have tried upon occasion to place the position of a Member of the General Assembly of either branch into a category where that person might be more responsible, as it were, for the votes that he casts. It is not fair to the membership of the General Assembly to ask them, over the long periods of the General Assembly's Sessions, to come to Harrisburg time after time, week after week, and day after day, on a salary that works itself out to somewhere around nine dollars a day, and expect that Member of the General Assembly to be in full command of all of the fact pertaining to important legislation. I believe that we have outlived the day when a Member of the General Assembly could come to Harisburg, and work a period of about six weeks and go home and have his work accomplished for a period of two years.

Mr. President, we have before us, in one of the committees, a bill calling for a referendum on an Annual Session. Time and time again, some of us have noted that the importance of the work now performed by the General Assembly Members has gone far and beyond the small part time job that it once was and has become a full time activity. Therefore, if we make mistakes, it can honestly be said that they are mistakes of the head and not of the heart, because I do not believe that there is a Member in the General Assembly who wants to hurt either industry or the peoples of this Commonwealth by any vote that that individual casts in either branch. Many times, because of the inability to spend the time necessary to get into the subject of the legislation before us, because of the recurring need to earn a living for our families, we can be accused of voting without knowing what we are voting for.

Mr. President, in the days when this particular job was part time and low salaries, as it presently is, there were no such bills as unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation or occupational disease compensation. There was no such legislation dealing with the ramifications of education, and the highway systems of the great Commonwealth. Words have now been introduced into the Legislative Journal which were strange words, indeed, in the early days of this great body.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say to the Members of this General Assembly that although some of us are reaching the end of our political and legislative careers, there are a great many who are just at the threshold or the beginning. In fairness to them, this General Assembly ought to sit down seriously and decide upon a salary and expense schedule that will allow the Members of the General Assembly to tend to their duties in the way that the people expect them to. There are not many citizens in the Commonwealth who know that the Members of the General Assembly receive the magnificent sum of approximately $1500 a year in salary and $1800 a year in expenses, and that they are not permitted under the Constitution to raise their salaries commensurate with the duties that they perform. Those of us who may not benefit from it ought to take into consideration those who come after us, and if we want to now the truth about this kind of legislation, give us time to work on it without making personal sacrifices. The people of this Commonwealth do not expect us to pay out of our own individual income, which we are earning in our businesses and in our professions back home, in order to be servants to them. I believe the people want the kind of legislators who are paid for the services they render, and render services for the pay that they get.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Joint State Government Commission for the payment of general expenses.

Senate Bill No. 68, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 of the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 620) entitled "An act directing the recorder of deeds of each county of the Commonwealth to refuse for record all deeds or other transfers of real estate or interest in real estate unless a certificate is attached to said instruments giving the precise residence of the grantee or grantees named therein and requiring a list thereof to be delivered to the proper board of revision of taxes or other officials charged with the assessment of real estate" by requiring the certificate of the grantees to contain their complete post office address.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

An Act amending the act of July 27, 1953 (P. L. 641), entitled "An act prohibiting the erection and maintenance of obstructions to the operation of aircraft in certain areas and prescribing penalties," redefining an airport approach; changing the obstruction area.

be recommitted to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was greed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" by changing the provisions concerning service of notice to taxables upon change of assessments.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. FLEMING offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec 15), page 3, line 6, by inserting after "her": "by registered mail with return receipt requested."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 92, Printer's No. 33, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, the question of personal privilege relates to an attack made upon me when the presentation of this bill was first made about two or three weeks ago. I waited until today, when the bill was on the floor, before I would make my remarks without taking up the time of the Senate uselessly. I do not object to the bill going over in order, but I wish to speak on personal privilege at the moment.

Mr. President, when I first affixed my signature to this bill, together with my colleagues, Senators Watkins, Watson and Dent, I was under the impression that there was nothing harmful in asking the people of Pennsylvania to say "yes" or "no" as to racing in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, on the morning of the 9th of February, at around eleven o'clock, on my telephone, Dewey 4-4707, I received a call from New York. I inquired of the operator as to who was calling, and she said, "Reverend Forney." I said, "Put him on." Then someone said, "This is Reverend Forney." I said, "Yes, Reverend, how are you?" He said, in a belligerent and loud threatening voice, "I am going after you.' Well, you can imagine what I told him.

Mr. President, I took that as a threat, but I did not know just what kind of threat it was meant to be, assault and battery or what, because there is so much that can happen when a person makes a statement like that, especially if he has an assemblage. Sometimes someone else who is present, and hears such remarks, will take it upon himself to do what is in the mind of the person who makes the threat.

Mr. President, our telephone conversation continued and I asked him, "What are you doing in New York? You are only ten blocks away from my home. Who is there?" And, Mr. President, I ask it now, who was there? Who was he speaking to? Who was in the same room with him at the moment that he was talking? Why was he putting up that big bluff? Did he threaten other Senators and other legislators in the past as he did then? Did he use that tone of voice in the past, when legislation was before our General Assembly for the betterment of our State?

Mr. President, I ask you at this moment, does Reverend Forney have the courage to tell me, and tell the people of Pennsylvania, who was in that room? If there were any racketeers in that room, I am fearful of my life. If there were men in that room who are men of integrity and honesty, I am not fearful. Who were the people in the room in New York when he was speaking to me?

So I said, "Reverend, I had a lot of respect for your father. He was a gentleman and when he spoke to you, he spoke to you in modulated tones. I transferred my friendship and my respect from your father to you when he left this earth." He said—he made a few remarks that I do not like to make and I said, "I am calling the newspapers and informing them that you threatened me."

Mr. President, at this moment, I would like to introduce the evidence, as contained in the newspapers as to his threat to me, where he admits the blast, but he denies any threat of violence to me. I would like to have this inserted in the Journal of the Senate. This is the only thing I wish to say, and all of the time I wish to take of the Senate.

Mr. President, I quote:

"I told him that I am in favor of this Democratic process and that nothing else is involved in this question.

"I told him that if he is against horse-race betting and that if this question gets on the ballot, he has the right to go out and work against it at the election."

Mr. President, why would he work against me? Why does he want to go against me? How does he intend to reach me? Does he intend to reach me by bullets? Does he intend to reach me by punches? Does he intend to reach me by wrestling with me? How does he intend to reach me? Mr. President, I say he is a disgrace to the fine people of Pennsylvania, and to the fine people of the ministry. I say to them, "get rid of him, because he makes more enemies than friends and he does not know how to conduct himself in the American way.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, together with the newspaper articles, will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

The following is an excerpt from The Patriot, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, February 10, 1955:

RACE BILL FOE ADMITS VERBAL BLAST
MINISTER DENIES THREAT OF VIOLENCE TO SPONSOR

By RUSTY COWAN

The Rev. Melvin Forney today admitted that he had told Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro (D-Phila.) that he was "coming after you." But the general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance denied any threat of violence to the co-sponsor of a bill calling for a referendum on horse race betting.

DiSilvestro charged that the Rev. Mr. Forney had "threatened to go after me," and had "bothered my wife," with a telephone call. DiSilvestro backed down on the latter charge and said he was "misunderstood" when he referred to one call that Mrs. DiSilvestro received from the Rev. Mr. Forney.

When contacted by the Patriot to find out the nature of his telephone talk with DiSilvestro, the Rev. Mr. Forney said:

"I talked to him this morning. I had read his cracks about a lobby against horse racing. I wanted to ascertain whether he had been correctly quoted because I wanted to write an open letter to him and then publish the letter."

When asked if he had told DiSilvestro that he was "coming after you," Fortney told the Patriot:

"I said that 'I am coming after you' but I told him that I wasn't talking about anything physical."

Meanwhile the Monahan Report to the Governor of New York showed that the Empire State gained $24,870,000 from harness racing at Yonkers, the Roosevelt Raceway, Saratoga, Vernon, Hamburg and Batavia. In addition three times that amount was added to the coffers of the state of New York from flat racing at Belmont, Jamaica and Aqueduct.

That means that New York received a total of $100 million from pari-mutuel racing and directly contradicts past estimates of $30 or $40 million dollars.

The Rev. Mr. Forney also explained that by "coming after you" he meant that he would attack the stand of DiSilvestra favoring a referendum on horse racing. The general secretary added that he did not mean he would try to take the issue to the polls in an effort to defeat DiSilvestro.

He added:

"I was amazed at the language and ill temper he displayed and amused by it. But I didn't like it. It's a ricidulous thing."

DiSilvestro, who was contacted by telephone by the Patriot, repeated his charge that the Rev. Mr. Forney "threatened to go after me." He added:

"I'm inquisitive about what he meant by that. He created doubt as to intentions. Does he intend to fight against me or the bill?

"Does it mean that he is going to make a personal attack on me? The only issue to me is the bill.

"I may not be in favor of legalizing pari-mutuels but I am in favor of giving the people the right to vote on the question."

DiSilvestro added that the Rev. Mr. Forney had only called once on Tuesday night and he was "misunderstood" when he was quoted as saying that the Rev. Mr. Forney "bothered my wife" by the call. The Philadelphian added: "We'll talk to anyone."

The bill, co-sponsored by the minority leader of the Senate, Sen. John Dent (D-Westmoreland) and two Republicans, Sen. G. Robert Watkins of Delaware County and Sen. Edward B. Watson of Bucks. The bill calls for a referendum on the question of horse race betting, but even if passed would not be binding on the Legislature.

The Philadelphia senator said that no one knew whether he was in favor of pari-mutuels or not because he hasn't expressed his opinion publicly. However DiSilvestro is widely known to be a fan of horse racing and told the Patriot: "I think racing is fun. It's a great sport."

In introducing his bill, DiSilvestro charged that opponents "would go on a crusade." He added that he was "referring to invisible forces using subterfuge."

The churchman said:

"In my letter I was going to say that the only lobby I knew about working against pari-mutuels is the church lobby. I feel that he has insulted Protestant churches by his statement.

"I challenge him to name any other lobby. If not he is talking about the Protestant church."

To which DiSilvestro answered:

"I was far removed from insulting Protestant churches. Many of my best friends are Protestants. All I have to say to him is that if the shoe fits, put it on."

Although DiSilvestro refused to name the hidden force, he still said it existed.

The Rev. Mr. Forney, an ordained Baptist minister, is also chairman of the Federated Legislative Committee, which he identified as a "group fighting against these things (legalized betting)."

The Rev. Mr. Forney gave as the reason his organization opposed the referendum:

"We are against it on the basis that they will try to pressure the thing through. We wouldn't have a chance if they tried pressure."

The senator said that he told the churchman "not to resort to underhand threats but to come out in the American way and oppose horse race betting in the American way."

And DiSilvestro added:

"A lot of people want pari-mutuel betting and a lot of others don't. The way to decide is the American way, by putting it to a vote."

The following is an excerpt from The Evening News, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, February 8, 1955:

State Senator Names Minister

RACE BILL AUTHOR REPORTS "THREAT"

Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro (D-Philadelphia) said today the Rev. Melvin M. Forney, executive secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, "made threats against me" in connection with his co-sponsorship of a referendum horse-race bill in the Senate yesterday.

"He said he intended to go after me and made other detrimental statements against me and the people with whom I am associated and who are my friends," the senator said in a statement telephoned from Philadelphia to the Capitol newsroom. He did not attend today's Senate session.

"I told him that he is nothing but a paid lobbyist and that he better not try to 'go after me'," DiSilvestro said. The Rev. Mr. Forney is a well-known figure in the legislative halls.

DiSilvestro said the Rev. Mr. Forney made the "threats" in a telephone call to him today from New York.

"I asked him how he knows how I stand on the question of horse-race betting,' DiSilvestro continued.

He said he explained to the minister that the bill which he co-sponsored with Democrat John H. Dent and Republicans Robert Watkins and Edward Watson, provides only for a referendum to determine whether the people favor legalized betting in Pennsylvania.

DiSilvestro's Reply

"I told him that I am in favor of this Democratic process and that nothing else is involved in this question," DiSilvestro said.

"I told him that if he is against horse-race betting and that if this question gets on the ballot, he has the right to go out and work against it at the election.

"I am a Senator elected by the people of my district and I am not going to tolerate paid lobbyists making threats against me."

The following is an excerpt from The Daily News, February 12, 1955:

MISDIRECTED EFFORT

Charges by Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro, Philadelphia Democrat, who says he was threatened for introducing a measure in the Pennsylvania Legislature providing for a pari-mutuel racing referendum, require investigation. Whether the threats were made by a representative of a religious group has no bearing on the major issue which, clearly, is whether a legislator is to be subjected to such attacks because he is doing his duty in representing his constituents.

It is the contention of church groups, opposed to pari-mutuel betting at race tracks, that such wagering is immoral and, therefore, they are within their rights in fighting it. On one point they are correct, namely that they have a right to protest if they feel sincerely that track betting is wrong. On another point, they are incorrect. Such betting today is no more of a moral issue than is another form of entertainment.

Gambling, per se, becomes a vice only through abuse. This is true of many other way in which people indulge themselves. Eating too much food can lead to the sin of gluttony, but it is not wrong morally to feed hunger. It is necessary for life. Too much play can lead to the sin of sloth, or laziness, but if a person does not have some play he shrinks and shrivels and no longer is the image and likeness of his Maker. The examples number in the thousands.

A religious group should devote itself to expanding the worship of God, to the improvement of democracy and to the advancement of human liberty and individual dignity. These things are inherent in the Gospels. Such a group has no authority, nor right, to attempt to prevent, through pressure, the exercise of the people's duties in using the ballot to make known their mandates. Such pressure, in itself, seeks to negate one of God's greatest gifts to man, the exercise of a free will. Furthermore, it is undemocratic, striking at the foundation of American principles based upon that God-given freedom.

Who can deny that Pennsylvania needs the money now being taken out of the Commonwealth to feed the hungry maws of other adjacent States through pari-mutuel betting at race tracks they have auhorized? Approval of such tracks and wagering here will go far to ease the fiscal burden upon Pennsylvania's people. It is, therefore, their right and duty to express their opinions on the issue at the polls.

Senator DiSilvestro's measure is proper and it should be enacted without further interference, threats or subterfuge.

The following is an excerpt from The Philadelphia Inquirer, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, February 10, 1955:

FORNEY IN CLASH ON RACING BILL

Inquirer Harrisburg Bureau

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—State Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro (D., Philadelphia), clashed today with the Rev. Melvin M. Forney, general secretary of the Lord's Lay Alliance, over the legislator's sponsorship of a bill to legalize horse race betting in Pennsylvania.

The DiSilvestro bill, co-sponsored by three other Senators—a Democrat and two Republicans—provides for a State-wide referendum at the November election to determine whether wagering shall be allowed at tracks.

Replies To Protests

DiSilvestro replied to protests by Mr. Forney that the bill merely provided for a referendum to determine if the people "want to sanction legalized betting in Pennsylvania."

The horse-race bill has been referred to the Senate Law and Order Committee, chairman of which is Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R., Del.), one of the four sponsors. The two other members who sponsored the bill were Minority Leader John H. Dent (D., Westmoreland), and Sen. Edward B. Watson (R., Bucks).

Plan Action Next Week

Watkins said his committee would consider the race bill next week and possibly amend it to advance the referendum date to the May 17 primary election.

If the bill meets legislative and gubernatorial approval and the voters authorize legalized betting, the Legislature will then be required to adopt enabling laws supervising racing in the State.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 14, 1955

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Gracious God how wonderful are Thy ways and purposes. Thou art unchanging in Thy goodness. Our prayer this day is one of thanks for all the men and women whose names may be forgotten but who by their honesty, purity and sympathy have helped make our country great in goodness. To none who has sought freedom to worship Thee in his own way have we ever denied the privilege of citizenship; and equal rights and opportunities have been withheld from no one.

O God we pray that Thou wouldst give wisdom, faith, courage, and vision to these representatives so that they may be worthy trustees of the responsibilities to safeguard and improve the family, home, community, country and world. Direct their thoughts and efforts in such a constructive manner that they may be the builders of a better state, of a purer nation and of a neighborly world. Grant us all Heaven's benediction. We pray it in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Monday, March 7, Tuesday, March 8 and Wednesday, March 9, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair was about to call the Minority Leader to the desk. The Chair wishes to call his attention to the fact that the head of this mallet is slowly coming off. The Minority Leader is requested to fix this instrument or come to the desk and preside with it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I will be very brief in my remarks, Mr. Speaker, and say that we would be only too glad to repair the head of the gavel, but unfortunately I am afraid more heads are coming off around here than just the head of the gavel. There are a lot of people losing their heads, believe me.

The SPEAKER. The thing is fixed. Simple operation, but the Chair is no mechanic.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 99, Printer's No. 55,
House Bill No. 100, Printer's No. 56,
House Bill No. 101, Printer's No. 57,
House Bill No. 102, Printer's No. 58,
House Bill No. 103, Printer's No. 59, and
House Bill No. 104, Printer's No. 60,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 111, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 349) entitled "An act requiring political subdivisions to refund taxes and license fees erroneously and inadvertently paid thereto and giving a right of action against such political subdivision for the recovery of such taxes and fees upon their failure to make such refunds making the provisions of the act retroactive and repealing existing laws" by further prescribing what taxes or license fees may be refunded or sued for

Section 1 Sections 1 and 2 of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 349) entitled "An act requiring political subdivisions to refunds taxes and license fees erroneously and inadvertently paid thereto and giving a right of action against such political subdivision for the recovery of such taxes and fees upon their failure to make such refunds making the provisions of the act retroactive and repealing existing laws" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Whenever any person or corporation of this Commonwealth has erroneously or inadvertently paid or caused to be paid into the treasury of any political subdivision directly or indirectly any tax or taxes on real or personal property or any license fee or fees under an assumption that such taxes or license fees were due and owing when in fact such taxes or license fees or a part thereof were not due and owing to the political subdivision then in such cases the authorities of the political subdivision upon due proof of any such erroneous or inadvertent tax or license fee payments are hereby directed to draw their warrant on the treasurer of such political subdivision in favor of such person or corporation to make refund out of the public funds of such tax or taxes or license fee or fees to which the political subdivision has no valid claim Provided however That no such refund shall be made sooner than the first day of September one thouand nine hundred forty-four and in no case shall any refund be made of taxes or license fees paid to the political subdivision more than six years prior to the discovery of such erroneous or inadvertent payment

The provisions of this act shall be construed to include taxes paid upon real estate assessments which erroneously contained buildings which had been previously destroyed or torn down but whose destruction was not noted by the assessors and was included in the assessments

Section 2 In the event of refusal or failure on the part of authorities of the political subdivision involved to make any such refund of taxes or fees so erroneously paid into the treasury thereof then the aggrieved person or corporation shall have the right to recover the sum involved subject to the limitation herein provided by instituting an action in assumpsit in any court of competent jurisdiction within the county wherein such political subdivision is located

Section 2 Section 3 of the act is hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—0

NOT VOTING—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I request that the Chair returns to House Bill No. 99 on page 8 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 99, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 3 1923 (P. L. 134) entitled "An act making the proceedings of the conventions of the Departments of Pennsylvania of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Spanish War Veterans a part of the public records of the State and providing for their publication and distribution" including the Italian-American World War Veterans of the United States Incorporated among the veterans' organizations entitled to the printing of convention reports

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KOLANKIEFICZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by inserting after the part word "corporated": "the Polish Legion of American Veterans, U. S. A., and the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 15, by inserting after the part word "porated"; "the Polish Legion of American Veterans, U. S. A., the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 100, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23 1931 (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" including the Italian-American World War Veterans of the United States Incorporated among the veterans' organizations for which certain appropriations may be made

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, line 5 of Title, by inserting after "Incorporated": "the Polish Legion of American Veterans, U. S. A., and the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2403), page 2, line 15, by inserting after "Incorporated": "and to each post of the Polish Legion of American Veterans, U. S. A., and to each post of the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I have just been told that the other side did not receive copies of these amendments, and I would like to add that these amendments incorporate two national organizations here in the United States, namely, the American Veterans of the United States of America and each Post of the Polish Army Veterans Association of America. Now, that incorporates those organizations the same as the Jewish War Veterans, the Irish War Veterans, the Catholic War Veterans, and so forth.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority Leader object to these amendments?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we do not object to them, but we did not see the amendments and I am trying to get them cleared with some of the Members who can give me some advice on them. There were no amendments submitted to me or the Minority Whip.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will pass these bills over. In all instances when bills are to be amended, copies of the amendments should be furnished to the respective Floor Leaders.

Does the Majority Leader desire to be recognized at this time?

Mr. READINGER. Just very briefly, Mr. Speaker. I wish to apologize to the minority for failure on my part to ascertain whether they had received copies of these amendments before they were offered.

The fault is entirely my own and I apologize for it. If the minority would like all of these bills passed over temporarily for any length of time, we shall be glad to do so, so they will have ample time to study the amendments to determine whether they are in agreement with them or against them.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If the gentleman has no objection to holding these bills until tomorrow and give us the amendments so that we can look them over, it will be perfectly all right with us.

Mr. READINGER. I have no objection to their being passed over until tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. The bills will be passed over.

Mr. READINGER. Will the Minority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I would like to know whether the minority desires action taken in reverse on the two bills which have been amended.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if it meets with the gentleman's approval, if tomorrow we have to bring these bills back, if the amendments on the rest of these bills do not meet with our approval, we could ask at that time to bring them back.

Mr. READINGER. That will be agreeable, Mr. Speaker.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE (H B 83)

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 83, Printer's No. 50, entitled:

"A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section 3, Article IV of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, permitting the Governor to succeed himself."

was defeated on final passage Tuesday, March 8, 1955, be reconsidered.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 83, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section 3 Article IV of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting the Governor to succeed himself

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof

That section 3 Article IV of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended to read

Section 3 The Governor shall hold his office during four years from the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election and shall be eligible to the office for the next succeeding term

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr Speaker, I simply wish to call to the attention of the House, in case somebody has been conferring and has not been paying attention, that this is the bill which would allow the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to succeed himself if the next Session of the Legislature passes the same bill and the public should vote in favor of it in 1957.

I thought perhaps some of the Members had forgotten what House Bill 83 was. I simply give you this for your information.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. FILO.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 114, entitled:

An Act to repeal Section 518 of and to add a new section 518.1 to the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 853) entitled "An act relating to taxation designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county purposes and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto and repealing existing laws" by eliminating all the provisions of the act which regulate the payment of the taxes pending appeals from assessments

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 518 of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 853) entitled: An act relating to taxation designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county purposes and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto and repealing existing laws" as amended by the acts approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 674) and the fifteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1007) is hereby repealed absolutely

Section 2 The act is hereby further amended by adding thereto immediately after Section 517 a new section to read as follows

Section 518.1 Appeal to Court from Assessments Collection Pending Appeal Refunds Any owner of real estate or taxable property in this Commonwealth who may feel aggrieved by the last or any future assessment or valuation of his real estate or taxable property may appeal from the decision of the county commissioners acting as a board of revision or the board of revision of taxes or the board for the assessment and revision of taxes or the Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review in counties of the second class as the class may be to the court of common pleas of the county within which such property is situated or the County Court of Allegheny County as the case may be and for that purpose may present to said court or file in the prothonotary's office or in the office of the clerk of the County Court of Allegheny County within sixty days after the county commissioners acting as a board of revision or the board of revision of taxes or the board for the assessment and revision of taxes or the Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review in counties of the second class as the case may be have held the appeals provided for by this or any other act of Assembly and acted on the said assessments and valuations a petition signed by him his agent or attorney setting forth the facts of the case and thereupon the court shall proceed at the earliest convenient time to be by them appointed of which notice shall be given to the county commissioners acting as a board of revision or the board of revision of taxes or the board for the assessment and revision of taxes or the Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review in counties of the second class as the case may be to hear the said appeal and the proofs in the case and to make such orders and decrees touching the matter complained of as to the judges of said court may seem just and equitable the costs of the appeal and hearing to be apportioned or paid as the court may direct Provided however That the appeal shall not prevent the collection of the taxes complained of but in case the same shall be reduced then the excess shall be returned to the person or persons who shall have paid the same Upon final disposition of the appeal the amount found to be due the appellant as a refund may at the election of the taxing district be set off or credited against any future taxes assessed against appellant in the same taxing district Provided That where such taxing district is unable to thus credit all of such refund or any balance thereof in any one year the court may upon application of either party ascertain and determine how much of said refund shall be credited in that year The aforesaid proviso shall be construed to apply to all refunds that are now due or may hereafter become due as the result of appeals from assessments that have not been finally determined or adjusted at the time this act takes effect

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall apply to all appeals now pending in the court of common pleas or in the County Court of Allegheny County as the case may be and to all appeals hereafter instituted

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It wa sagreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill and make a brief statement.

The SPEAKER. Which sponsor?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Whichever sponsor prefers to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. Will either one of the sponsors of this measure consent to be interrogated? The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I understand that Mr. Agnew is merely co-sponsoring it and it is primarily a majority measure. I would prefer interrogating a member of the majority party.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. FILO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, is this bill an outgrowth of the decision of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in the case of United States Steel against Allegheny County?

Mr. FILO. To some extent that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, does not this bill as it states on page 3, line 2, apply however to all tax appeals in the Commonwealth?

Mr. FILO. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in what respect does this bill change the present law concerning appeals from tax assessments?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I might say that this bill clarifies the rights of taxpayers when taking an appeal from an assessment of property. At the present time there are two laws on the books and they are conflicting.

I might add this, that this legislation is recommended by the Legislative Reference Bureau as a clarification.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose this bill and ask the Members on both sides of the House to vote against it.

The general county assessment law of 1933, which is applicable to all tax assessments in the Commonwealth, originally provided that when a property owner's tax assessment was raised he could appeal from the increase, but nevertheless he had to pay the full amount of the tax into court. The court would then decide how much was reasonably free from dispute and pay that amount to the taxing body. In every case, of course, that was generally the amount of the old assessment and could be considerably more.

The balance was then held in escrow pending the outcome of the appeal, and if the taxpayer was successful the money was immediately repaid to him. The reason for holding the funds, of course, was for the protection of the taxpayer so that he could get his money back immediately if he proved successful in his appeal. Otherwise he would have to sue the municipality to get it back.

I might say parenthetically that a great many tax appeals are successful because they are an expensive type of case, involving experts, and a taxpayer does not usually appeal unless he feels reasonably convinced he will win.

In 1935, as the gentleman stated, two amendments were made to this law. Both amendments however, retained the safeguard that I mentioned. The first amendment of July 12, 1935, abolished payment into court, but it provided for payment under protest to the tax collector who was then required to deposit twenty-five per cent of it in a separate account for the benefit of the taxpayer pending the outcome of the appeal. Part of this twenty-five per cent could even be spent if the court permitted it.

The second amendment of 1935 reenacted the original law permitting payment into court with the safeguard of having so much of the fund as was reasonably free from dispute again paid to the taxing body.

In 1951 Allegheny County in a case concerning the United States Steel Company tried to contend that neither amendment provided that and also that the original act did not apply to the case. They contended in that appeal they were entitled to all of this money and they did not have to set up any special account for the benefit of the taxpayer.

In connection with this argument the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in ruling against Allegheny County said, "We disagree with this ingenious but specious interpretation." The Supreme Court held that the funds had to be escrowed.

House Bill 114 presently before the House is now an attempt to do exactly what the Supreme Court said you could not do. This is an attempt to abolish both safeguards in the two forms of appeal and provide that the taxing body gets the entire amount of the money.

I agree that there may be a few cases involving Allegheny County, and perhaps others, where substantial amounts may be held in escrow, but I say that is no reason to remove a very real safeguard for the rest of the Commonwealth.

As I said before, at least the amount of last year's taxes is paid immediately to the taxing body so that you cannot argue there is a great loss to them.

I say that the resolution is to speedily determine tax appeals rather than to remove the safeguard to the taxpayers.

Furthermore, there is no time limit set in this bill within which these funds are to be returned if the taxpayer succeeds in his appeal. Today and for at least twenty-two years since 1933 the funds have been returned at once because they are available. Under this bill if the municipality spends the funds there is no way to compel the municipality to increase the millage next year to refund it.

This bill would also result in additional litigation at great expense to the taxpayer to get this money back. He would have to sue the municipality.

I say in conclusion that we should take one of the two amendments which are on the books, I do not care which one, and protect the taxpayer from this unfair bill.

I urge all the Members to vote against it and request a slow roll call.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I can say this, that the Supreme Court did not clarify the situation as to these two prior acts. I can tell you that this bill does safeguard the taxpayer and the taxes can be returned. I can also say that under the present act the County of Allegheny at one time had $1.5 million tied up in escrow.

I think this is a fair bill. No one loses by it. It is a clarification and I think we will all benefit by it. I hope that everyone can support it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the statement just made, the Supreme Court did clarify the situation by saying that the second amendment applied, and that is the amendment that is in effect in this Commonwealth now, namely, that the fund is paid into court, the court determines how much is reasonably free from dispute and that amount is paid to the taxing body immediately.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, in further clarification of the bill and as a co-sponsor of it, I would like to urge the Members on both sides of the House to support it for this reason: the bill does no substantial injustice or even an injustice that is substantial to any taxpayer. The taxpayer is completely protected.

The bill, as I understand it, is designed primarily to guard against this situation that has arisen primarily in Allegheny County where there have been tax assessment appeals mostly by large industries and involving primarily the tax on machinery. In a good many instances the county of Allegheny has had a lot of money tied up, but I am not too much concerned about that. The sites of these industries are in small boroughs and townships, and the borough or township and school district tax has also been tied up in court.

You must remember, Mr. Speaker, that some of these small boroughs and townships get well over half of their real estate tax money from the large industrial sites that are within their corporate limits. There have been several instances in Allegheny County where money tied up on a tax assessment appeal by the largest taxpayer within the borough or township has caused the governing body of that borough or township and its school district to borrow money in anticipation of that revenue. The present custom under the act has caused substantial injustice in respect to these small municipalities.

In respect to a refund ordered by the court, the municipality, I admit, does have the option of either paying the refund or crediting the amount of the refund against the next year's tax. The only fault I can see with the bill is that it does not provide interest on the refund to the taxpayer.

Once again I say this bill cannot cause any improper or substantial injustice to any residential taxpayer. The main purpose of this bill is to prevent the tying up of large sums of money in court while tax assessment appeals are being heard in the courts.

The taxpayer under the present system has to pay the money anyway. He pays it into court. He still has to pay the money under this procedure; he pays it to the municipality under protest. Since it has absolutely no effect on the amount of money being extracted from the taxpayer, I think the bill does rectify a fault in the present Act. Therefore, I believe it is a good bill and I urge the Members on both sides of the House to vote for the bill.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to hear it. I understood that this bill was to be passed over and I was surprised that it was called up.

I am glad that the last gentleman admits there is some injustices in the bill. This bill gives the municipality an alternative, namely, of either applying the taxes to next year's bill or refunding them. The municipality does not even have to refund the taxes under this bill.

The injustice comes up in this respect, if the taxpayer sells his property while the appeal is pending, then he cannot get it back at all. And I say that it is unfair to the great majority of taxpayers in this Commonwealth.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. MIHM offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1955.

March 14 marks the fifty-fourth birthday of the Honorable George J. Sarraf.

Representative Sarraf, known to all of us as "Doc," was born in Pittsburgh on March 14, 1901, the son of John and Helena Sarraf. While in school, surprising as it may seem from his present appearance, "Doc" Sarraf was an outstanding athlete, excelling in football, basketball, baseball and track, and he later played semi-professional football and basketball.

"Doc" is a veteran of both world wars and a leader in many civic and political organizations. A medical practitioner by profession, Dr. George J. Sarraf has indeed been an angel of mercy. His able, conscientious and efficient treatment of all persons in need of his service has made him loved by everyone, and particularly by the poor.

This short, chunky, spectacled gentleman is known and respected by all of us for his fair treatment of one and all, his benevolence, his forceful speaking and his nimble wit. The lack of gray matter on the exterior of his cranium is certainly compensated for by the abundance of gray matter within.

It has indeed been an honor to have "Doc" Sarraf as a member of the House of Representatives for the past 21 years, and we are looking forward to many more years of friendly association with him. His ability and qualifications as an assemblyman and as a leader, combined with his fine sense of humor, make him a person never to be forgotten; therefore be it

Resolved, That in honor of Dr. George J. Sarraf's fifty-fourth birthday, and in appreciation of his services, the House of Representatives extends to "Doc" its most sincere birthday greetings, and its warmest wishes for continued success and honor; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to transmit a copy of this resolution, certified under the seal of the House, to one of its most capable leaders, the Honorable George J. Sarraf.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Dr. Sarraf, on this, his twenty-sixth birthday.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, and my good friend, Marty Mihm, I notice that the Speaker has got me down to twenty-six; Marty in the presentation says I'm fifty-four.

I want to thank both of you. I am fifty-five. Believe me, I don't want to take up the time of the House, but I really appreciate this immensely. I didn't expect it, I didn't know whom you were talking about in some of the praises you were giving me there, but I want to thank every one of you much.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WEIDNER. HOUSE BILL No. 588.

An Act prohibiting the holding of more than one elective office of the Commonwealth or of any political subdivision by the same person.

Referred to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

By Mr. GOLDSTEIN. HOUSE BILL No. 589.

An Act to regulate nominations and elections for offices of councilmen in cities of the second class; providing for non-partisan nominations and elections for said offices; abolishing certain existing methods of nomination in such cases and the use of party or political names or appellations at elections with respect to such offices; imposing certain duties upon county boards of elections, and election officers and clerks; and prescribing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

By Mr. MUSTO. HOUSE BILL No. 590.

An Act amending the act of July 29, 1953 (Appropriation Acts 19, No. 24-A) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Mines for the sealing and dewatering of and extinguishment of fires in abandoned coal mines," authorizing the use of the funds for flushing mine voids in certain cases.

Referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

PERMISSION TO EXTEND REMARKS ON RECORD

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, because of the lateness of the hour I will submit my remarks to be placed upon the Legislative Journal of today.

> Mr. Speaker, I desire to read one of the many letters which I have received throughout this Commonwealth in support of my House Bill Number 239. This letter comes from the Hummelstown Field and Stream Association, and states as follows:
> "In regard to your House Bill No. 239 concerning the fishing in unstocked streams between March 14 and April 15, I would like to say that the some 500 members of the Hummelstown Field and Stream are backing you 100 per cent.

As one of our members put it 'the original Bill caused more trouble and confusion then it was actually worth.'

We feel that the sport of too many fisherman in Pennsylvania is being ruined unnecessarily at this time of the year and that your amendment can correct this present situation.

Sincerely yours,

Lawrence E. Peters, Secretary"

Mr. Speaker, I am still asking this 1955 Legislature to correct that law by passing my House Bill No. 239 now in the committee on Fisheries of this House. Remember all fishermen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania cannot fish after 12 o'clock tonight in any stream, whether it is or is not stocked with trout, until April 15 even though these persons have bought and paid for a license to fish in this Commonwealth, excepting rivers, pools, and lakes. Is it just to have the people pay for the privilege to fish and then another law that states that these people cannot fish without reason? It has been stated that the law was to prohibit the possible taking of trout before trout seasons. That reason cannot exist where the stream is a warm water stream or a non-trout stocked stream. There is no expense of posting which streams are stocked with trout under House Bill No. 239 since I provided for lists of the streams to be furnished with the license. I say that many fishermen of Pennsylvania are looking with gloom on this House tonight for not having taken action on House Bill No. 239. We Should do something immediately to restore the sucker fishing season to the people of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. CURWOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. GIBSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. FLINT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO USE HALL OF HOUSE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the use of the Hall of the House be granted for the purpose of holding induction ceremonies for the Secretary of Internal Affairs elect, Genevieve Blatt, on Tuesday, May 3, 1955, at 11:00 o'clock, E.S.T.—12:00 o'clock D.S.T.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1955. No. 24.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 15, 1955.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JOHN C. MOORE, Rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Coudersport, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Whose power is infinite and wisdom all-knowing, so guard, guide and govern the hearts and minds of these Thy servants that they may prove themselves a body desirous to seek Thy favor and glad to do Thy will.

Enlighten their minds more and more with Thy truth and understanding, and may Thy guiding hand go before and follow them and lead them into pathways of justice and truth. Empower these Thy chosen servants that they may manifest to those who have entrusted them with authority of government, that they serve Thy people in Thy faith and fear.

May the decisions before Thy servants be weighted with Thy divine wisdom, so that the people whom they govern may know that they follow Thee, the true and only God Who has created us to know and do Thy will, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 113, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. Lane and Holland on March 1, 1955, reported the same with amendment as follows:

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE PENNSYLVANIA TRAINING SCHOOL AT MORGANZA

In the Senate, March 1, 1955.

The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza is purportedly reminiscent of ancient and generally outmoded practices in its treatment of female prisoners.

Recent reports from reputable sources state that the girls at Morganza are confined in cells with inadequate heating, clothing, food and no toilet facilities. Conditions such as these are certainly not in furtherance of the new and enlightened concepts of training school techniques which our Commonwealth has adopted; and therefore it appears an investigation is necessary to ascertain the truth of these reports and to determine how these conditions can be best remedied.

These charges cast reflections upon the integrity of all public officials and must create serious doubts and grave apprehensions among the people concerning the good conduct of our government. An immediate, impartial investigation of these charges is necessary in order to remedy these conditions, if true, or to protect the good name of public officials and institutions, if false.

In order to aid in the development of the program of this administration in cooperation with and approved by the Department of Welfare for the enlightened treatment, cure and rehabilitation of these unfortunate patients; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That in the interest of fair play the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint four members of the Senate, two of whom shall be Republicans and two Democrats, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint four Members of the House, two of whom shall be Republicans and two Democrats, who together shall constitute a joint commission and be authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of all the charges made and to hear all suggestions of an enlightened and progressive program for the proper operation of this institution.

The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before them. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation at the earliest possible date before the adjournment of this Session of the General Assembly.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 115, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Kopriver, Jr., on March 7, 1955, reported the same without amendment as follows:

URGING THE SANITARY WATER BOARD, OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, TO POSTPONE THE TIME REQUIRED FOR CONSTRUCTION OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEMS.

In the Senate, March 7, 1955.

The problem of pure streams and waters is one of the major problems confronting political subdivisions in Pennsylvania.

The cost of purification has spiralled to the extent where taxes so burdensome as to be confiscatory, must be levied by political subdivisions in order to meet presently prescribed time limits upon the discontinuance of sewage discharge and the time in which erection or construction of sewage disposal faeilities must be effected.

It is therefore, of great importance, in order to stabilize the fiscal positions of political subdivisions faced with the problem of sewage disposal, to grant additional time for the completion or starting of construction of sewage disposal plants, in order that new processes recently developed which will lessen the burdensome expense thereof can be used, and the political subdivisions be relieved of the prospects of disobeying the law or defaulting on debts; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the time presently required for the construction of sewage disposal systems by the Sanitary Water Board in the Department of Health be postponed from the present times fixed, for a period of two years; and be it further

Resolved, That the Sanitary Water Board report to the next regular session of the Legislature suggestions, facts and recommendations as are then available in regard to changes which should be made in present legal requirements as to the time allowed for the completion or start-of sewage disposal plants; and be it further

Resolved, That such facts as shall be available in regard to the necessity for State aid and the possibility of Federal aid in construction of sewage disposal plants by political subdivisions be embodied in the report of the Sanitary Water Board.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CHAPMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I am about to introduce a Pound Bill for the protection of homeless dogs and for the humane, sympathetic treatment in their disposal.

Mr. President, the Dog Law of 1921 calls for the destruction of dogs, which is usually accomplished by shooting, after ten days retention in the pound, and prohibits vivisection for scientific purposes. It is beyond my comprehension how the Humane Society of Pennsylvania has allowed this Dog Law to continue since 1921.

Mr. President, this bill is also for scientific research in laboratories and hospitals in this Commonwealth, which has been supervised and certified by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. President, through animal experimentation, a great many discoveries have been made in anti-biotics. One is the treatment of advanced infections and poisoning Insulin has been discovered which has prolonged the lives of persons suffering with diabetes. Globulin has been discovered for the prevention of poliomeylitis with paralysis, anti-toxin for diptheria, tetanus, rabies and the bubonic plague. Discoveries have been made for the advancement of a cure and for treatment of patients with leukemia, which is cancer of the blood, and the lives of many patients have been prolonged for years through this treatment.

The cure of stenosis of the aorta, or mitral valve, and the transplantation of ducts and blood vessels and diseased conditions have prolonged the lives of thousands of patients in the past few years. Since the dog's heart is more like the human heart than any other animal, through experiments on the dog's heart by dissection, many malformations and collateral circulatory disturbances have been studied and through the use of the knowledge obtained many blue babies, which previously could not have survived, were saved.

Mr. President, medical science has accomplished more in the last fifty years than in all previous history.

Mr. President, I wish to present to the Chair a bill which is sponsored by myself and Senator Derk.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. CHAPMAN and DERK read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 231, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1921 (P. L. 522) entitled as amended "An act relating to dogs, and the protection of live stock, poultry, and game birds raised in captivity from damage by dogs, providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture, providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors; regulating the keeping of dogs, and authorizing their destruction in certain cases; providing for the protection of licensed dogs, and for dogs temporarily imported for trial, show, and breeding purposes; prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners; providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock, poultry, and game birds by dogs and for live stock killed, by or dying from, rabies and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs, and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth, imposing powers and duties on certain State, county, city, borough, town, and township officers and employes, directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury; and providing penalties," regulating and prohibiting the impounding and killing of unclaimed dogs until first offered for sale to medical schools; hospitals, laboratories or other scientific or educational institutions.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Messrs. McCREESH and McGINNIS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 232, entitled:

An Act to select and adopt the Great Dane as the official State dog of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. WHALLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 233, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses. bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing, certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," providing for the use and administrative control of uniform summons and information forms prescribed by the Secretary of Revenue for use in cases involving traffic violations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

SENIOR CLASS OF SHADE HIGH SCHOOL, SOMERSET COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I am happy to present to the Senate the Senior Class from the Shade High School, in Somerset County. These students are here under the direction of Miss Maurer, Mr. Swartzwelder and Mr. Brubaker.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to state that the Senate is happy to have the constituents of Senator Whalley here with us today. We hope you will enjoy your visit.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WATSON (By request) read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 234, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1929 (P. L. 1237), entitled "An act affecting marital relations; prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," making hopeless or incurable mental illness a ground for divorce and providing for service of complaints and alimony and for support and maintenance and for costs and certain fees in such instance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. SCOTT and BANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 235, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 566), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of and in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry, the Workmen's Compensation Board, Workmen's Compensation Referees, and deans of medical schools; creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues; establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board; imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases; making an appropriation; and prescribing penalties," by including tuberculosis within the meaning of the term occupational disease in the occupation of nursing.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Messrs. DENT, MAHANY, FLEMING and RUTH read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 236, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 27, 1923 (P. L. 858), entitled "An act establishing a State employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employes serve; excepting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," defining annual salary and providing for superannuation retirement of members of the General Assembly.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, the last few days we have been talking about millions and multimillion dollars, and I hope the Senate will bear with me today. I want to talk about a mere fifteen or sixteen thousand dollars.

Mr. President, on March 7, the Governor of Pennsylvania sent to the Senate three nominations for the Board of Censors. I believe, in his campaign and in his desire to effect economy, he could start right now and save some sixteen thousands of dollars in the running of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because, if I read the newspapers correctly and hear what has gone on in the Supreme Court of the United States correctly, the Board of Censors at the present time has no duties in Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania statute provides, and I quote:

"The Board shall examine or supervise the examination of all films, reels or views to be exhibited or used in Pennsylvania, and shall approve such films, reels or views which are moral and proper; and shall disapprove such as sacrilegious, obscene, indecent or immoral, or such as tend in the judgment of the Board to debase or corrupt morals."

In 1952, Mr. President, the United States Supreme Court, by a decision, determined that the State Board of Censors had no right to rule on that which was sacrilegious; that it was in contradiction to certain articles of the Federal Constitution. On January 18, 1954, they further ruled that they had no right to take action on anything in regard to that which would be obscene or indecent.

So I would submit to you, Mr. President, and to the Governor of Pennsylvania, if this will get to him, that at the present time there are no duties for his Board of Censors to perform and it might be well if he, in his wisdom, would recall the three names that he has sent over to the Senate of Pennsylvania for confirmation, that we will have made a start on the economy move of his and that we can save at least $16,000. I recognize that that is a small amount but, nevertheless, it is definitely a start in the right direction.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell the Senate the date of the court decision which eliminated the duties, as it were, of the present Board of Censors?

Mr. FLEMING. The United States Law Week, National Survey of Current Law, says that it was on January 18, 1954, in the case of Superior Films, Incorporated vs. Ohio and Commercial Pictures Corporation vs. New York.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly.

Mr. President, it appears to me that if the savings which the gentleman is talking about are serious enough to be considered in the face of the lack of so-called duties of this Board, it would have been proper for the preceding administration to have eliminated the Censor Board back in January 1954, when the decision which he talks about now was rendered.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that all of us recognize the fact that if this present Board has been sitting for a whole year doing some kind of duties, the necessity for naming a new Board has been predicated upon the fact that you have an existing Board of Censors who have received pay from the Commonwealth. Are we to understand that the present Board of Censors are not performing any duties, and that the State of Pennsylvania has been paying them without doing any work? If that is the case, is it not proper then to surcharge somebody for these wages or salaries which have been paid out?

Mr. President, if they had been working, then it is perfectly plausible that the present Board of Censors who have been named ought to continue and do the same work which is being performed now.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly agree with the Minority Leader of the Senate that the last administration was derelict in its duties when it did not abolish the Board, or at least dismiss the Board of Censors, when this decision was made in the United States Supreme Court.

Mr. President, I would also submit to the gentleman from Westmoreland that Governor Leader has surrounded himself with so-called brain trust, and certainly they should have seen that he should not have kept on with the mistakes of the last administration. The fact remains that on March 7, he did submit three names to continue that Board, whose powers are absolutely nonexistent. I am only suggesting to him that he recall these three names, and make a start in this economy move and we can save at least $16,000.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am happy about one thing. I think that all the rest of us, in that last year in the heat of the campaign, called attention to the fact, in Pennsylvania, that the then present administration was bungling along and was making great serious mistakes; that it was inept and that it had failed to perform the duties and functions of a properly constituted administration. I am happy to hear this morning that the gentleman on the other side, at this late date, agrees that is was not just campaign oratory, but that it was based on fact and that our opposition to the preceding administration was sound and well-founded. I think that that admission alone is worth the discussion and the time of the Senate which we have taken this morning.

Mr. President, in regard to the so-called Board of Censors, I believe that all of the Members of the Senate are aware of the public statements that we are presenting legislation which will add to the duties of the Board of Censors. There has been a drive by the ministry all over the State of Pennsylvania, from all denominations and faiths, in order to help curb the so-called juvenile delinquency. There has been a drive on to eliminate obscene literature and comic books, which have nothing in point except to arouse within a youngster certain irrational emotions. We have taken a long look at the problem and we believe that this Board of Censors, made up of three dignified, intelligent and able women, would be the proper Board in which to rest this responsibility.

Mr. President, we not only have legislation re-enacting the duties which are now being performed, regardless of the Federal decision, but the Censor Board has been looking over those pictures which have been presented to the people of Pennsylvania for public viewing with the idea in mind, and the duty in mind, if you please, of eliminating obscenity and pictures which may be harmful not only to the youngsters but as well to adults. They have been performing that duty. They are not being discharged because they failed to perform their duty, contrary to the innuendoes which might be taken from the remarks of the preceding gentleman. They have been performing that duty and they have been properly paid.

Many times a court decision is not the last word. In fact, this morning, in your Committee on Labor and Industry, they refused absolutely to take into consideration the court decisions relative to unemployment compensation, and said that court decisions means nothing and that it is the action of the Legislature which counts. Therefore, referring right to the arguments presented by the Republican Members of that committee, we find ourselves at the same point here.

Mr. President, it would be a serious mistake to take the brakes off at this time by abolishing the Censor Board and allowing the industry, which is responsible for the public viewing of certain motion pictures in this Commonwealth, an open road to present to any theatre any type of a picture which they so desire. Many of us know that, over the years, they have made pictures in some of the independent theartre production studios which never were intended for public viewing. We also know that after that court decision, Pennsylvania was subjected to a release of certain pictures which would have better been left unreleased and retained in the dark dungeons where they came from in the first place. I believe that we ought to continue the Censor Board, even though it is operating under the laws of this Commonwealth without, as the gentleman has so properly stated, the blessing and rights which were taken from them by the Supreme Court decision.

However, Mr. President, they are performing the duties which this Legislature outlined for them to perform. They are sitting on theatre censor meetings, and they are condemning pictures which are not fit to be seen just as if the decision were never rendered because, in the eyes of the industry itself, they welcome the Censor Boards' comments upon their pictures and the Censor Board's approval or disapproval because they, too, have a valuable industry and they, too, want to keep it, to the best of their ability, clean and healthful. The industry does not want these itinerant picture makers, who work and operate out of a back barn on some back acreage somewhere, and come out with a nasty, deplorable, despicable kind of a picture and call it entertainment; one that befouls the very atmosphere that it is shown in.

I do not want to be part nor party to any move on the part of this Senate which will eliminate the restraint which we now hold by having in action a Censor Board which costs, yes, approximately $16,000 a year. Why, the take for one night's showing of a vulgar picture will more than double that amount, and the take in the next few months until we correct the situation by the proper legislation will be tremendous. Millions of dollars will be taken from innocent people who are drawn like a magnet to something which is foul, and exactly that will happen unless you continue in operation the present Censor Board, with or without benefit of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. President, this is an entity of its own. This is the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and we are practicing and enjoying certain rights inherent in our State Government under the Federal Constitution. We say that the Censor Board is in operation properly and that it has the right to review, and is reviewing, and has been reviewing the pictures that are offered to the public in this great Commonwealth, under the Health and Sanitation Laws if nothing else in this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, we intend to increase the duties of the Censor Board, not to decrease them. We intend, under the legislation now being prepared, to give them the absolute censorship over the literature which is presented to our children in the public newsstands, and in the public stores and magazine racks. We are going to stop, if we can, the influx into Pennsylvania of the literature which has been condemned in many States and has found itself a dumping ground in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We worry about the morals of elders when we talk about giving the people of this Commonwealth the right to vote on a subject which is controversial, such as horse racing, Mr. President, and yet we allow, to run rampant among our midst, degenerates who know nothing or care nothing about the rights and the privileges and the decency of children and allow them to turn loose upon the Commonwealth obscene literature that should never be allowed to be printed, let alone to be sold or displayed.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to the elimination of the present Censor Board. I do not object to the elimination of its membership because they, too, knew that they would be eliminated on November 2, and no one but a narrow person would try to use this type of an underhanded attack to keep these particular appointments of the Governor from being confirmed in this Senate. I think that the proper thing for the Senate to do is to bring out the names advocated by the Governor, and to bring them up for a vote in this membership.

Mr. President, I want to warn the Members on the other side of one thing. Many, many years ago, not too many in the lifetime of some of us who are in the membership, but many years as measured against the total time, we had another group of Senators who found at every turn a way to put a roadblock in the way of the administration, and what they did was to practically eliminate themselves as a powerful force in the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, we do not want the Republican Majority eliminated; we want the Republican Members of this Senate to be strong and vigorous and to fight everytime for the things which deserve and compel a fight. However, Mr. President, this is a cheap, tawdry trick. It is not one that measures up to the ability and the mental prowess of the gentleman who presented the case.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I recognize the futility of trying to get the last word in with Senator Dent. However, I would like to say to him that I know of nothing which is more final than a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. Until such a time that the Supreme Court of the United States, itself, reverses itself, I know of no other court of appeal to which you might go.

Mr. President, my suggestion merely was that here was the vehicle by which we could save $16,000. Certainly, as the gentleman suggests, if greater powers are to be granted to the Board of Censors, I think possibly the Governor has put the cart before the horse. Let us have that legislation first, and then let us determine whether or not a Board of Censors is necessary.

Mr. President, I still say, and I believe, that most of the people of Pennsylvania will agree with me, sir—that when there are no duties to perform and that the Supreme Court of the United States has said that they are powerless to perform the duties which we have set up for them to do, I think the people of Pennsylvania will agree that we are wasting our money when we pay salaries to a Board of Censors. If that is cheap and tawdry, then I would suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that he make the most of it, because I would say to this body that I have not stooped to any cheapness on my part any further than he has in accusing me of it. I still stand by my original premise, that the Board has nothing to do and that the names, at the present time, should be recalled by the Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it seems to be a favorite expression with the other side anymore that when, in the course of my duties, I take the floor in answer to something, the first remark that comes up is, "I do not expect to get the last word in with the gentleman from the other side, Senator Dent." I might advise you that I have been married to a young lady for the past twenty-five years and if you want to learn the formula of how to get the last word in, talk to her.

Mr. President, would the gentleman from the other side say that if they do not present the names to the Senate for confirmation or non-confirmation, is it not true that the present members of the Board of Censors continue in office and that, therefore, there is not a cent saved by anybody? Is it not true that this action is only a delaying action and that the present members are being paid on the first and fifteenth, or whatever the pay days are in the Commonwealth? If you allow these names, which have been sent over by the Governor, to rest in the Committee on Executive Nominations from now until Christmas, will the present Board of Censors still draw their pay? Is it not a question of who might be drawing the pay and not of the elimination of the Board itself? What action must be taken to eliminate the Board?

Is the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, prepared to say that the Board is resigning today; that they are no longer porforming any of the functions of their office? If they resign today, would it not have been more proper, if his arguments are right, that they resign January 4, 1954? Was he not a Member of this Senate during this year, and some three months of time, when they were drawing their pays for what he says was nonperformance of duties? If that is true, then the remark that I made was not accusing him of perpetrating the trick, but plainly stating that it is a delaying trick which might be termed by some to be cheap and tawdry.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would certainly say that at the present time it would be up to the Attorney General of Pennsylvania to rule on whether or not they have any duties. However, I have made one suggestion to the Governor of Pennsylvania and if, as the gentleman from Westmoreland says, the present Board stays on,

I would suggest to the Governor that he dismiss them forthwith because they are performing no duties.

Mr. President, I have no desire to hold three Republican members of that Board on. If they are on today, I would say that the Governor would be well thought of in Pennsylvania if he immediately dismissed them.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes, for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, previous to the recess, there was a discussion in regard to the Board of Censors. I have here the Administration bill and for the benefit of the Senate, the Supreme Court decision, which Senator Fleming was referring to, was handed down on May 26, 1952, almost three years ago. It was known as the "Miracle Case."

Mr. President, I want to further advise the Members of the Senate that the Board of Censors is one of the few boards which is a paying board for the State Government. Mrs. Carroll, the present President of the Board, has informed the people whose names have been submitted to the Senate for that Board that in her time of handling the Board of Censors she has handled over $3,000,000.

Mr. President, I have with me — if anyone cares to read it but I will not take up the time of the Senate— the duties of each and every person who is employed by the Board of Censors. As you know, the act which established the Board of Censors provides that for the examination of each film, reel or set of views of 1,200 lineal feet or less, the Board shall receive in advance a fee of $2.00, and $2.00 for each duplicate or print thereof, which must be applied at the same time and by the same person.

Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Allegheny County, Senator Fleming, meant what he said today, that he thought we could save the Commonwealth money. I must tell him now that if we abolish the Board of Censors, I think it will cost the State hundreds of thousands of dollars for each year.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. BARR and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 237, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and further amend the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 534), entitled "An act relating to motion-picture films, reels, or stereopticon views or slides; providing a system of examination, approval, and regulation thereof, and of the banners, posters, and other like advertising matter used in connection therewith; creating the Board of Censors; and providing penalties for the violation of this act," by authorizing the disapproval of any reel film or view which is obscene or incites to crimes of violence and by repealing certain sections of the act.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly accept as fact that which Senator Barr said, that the Board of Censors does collect certain moneys. However, I would still suggest to the Governor that if they are collecting money in the form of some kind of a fee — I just forget the expression that Senator Barr used, but it evidently is a fee that is charged to the showing of films in Pennsylvania — Then, definitely in my opinion, that should be a function of the Department of Revenue and it could be collected by the Department of Revenue. I would still suggest that that function be given over to the proper department in Pennsylvania, the Department of Revenue or, if that would not be the correct department, if they wanted to put it in the Department of the State Treasurer, it would be all right. Either one of them would be all right. However, the Board of Censors, from the standpoint of censoring at this moment, has nothing that they can censor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not know how familiar the gentleman is with the Supreme Court decision. I am not too much of a movie-attender myself. However, each one I go to, I still see the stamp of approval by the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors. They are still collecting the money.

Mr. President, I will sustain from talking any more about, it because I know that there are some other things we are going to talk about before the Session is over. I would suggest that my good friend, Senator Fleming, come over and examine all the information I have available about this Board of Censors on my desk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. I will be glad to, if Senator Barr will come over and examine the information which I have.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I am about to offer a resolution, and I would just like to explain it briefly.

Mr. President, House Bill No. 120 has now been reported from committee, as amended, and it will probably involve considerable debate in the next week or so.

Mr. President, this resolution which I am about to present removes the peril point from the present unemployment compensation law and pledges the General Assembly to enact appropriate legislation.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

PLEDGING THAT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY WILL ENACT CERTAIN UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION LEGISLATION AT ITS PRESENT SESSION

Mr. KESSLER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry:

In the Senate, March 15, 1955

While the danger is imminent that at the end of the current quarter all unemployment compensation contribution rates may be increased automatically to 2.7% and compensation payments reduced automatically to $20 a week and a total of twenty weeks or $400, whichever is the lesser, there is an extremely wide difference of opinion between the Department of Labor and Industry and employers as to the actual necessity for an icrease in the schedule of contribution rates.

In order to resolve this difference accurately and intelligently a careful and time consuming study is necessary before a law removing the danger can be adopted; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That, notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (d) and (e) of section 404 of the Unemployment Compensation Law, as amended, limiting the amount of compensation payable to an employe for a week of unemployment, and the total amount of compensation payable during a calendar quarter, if on March 31, 1955, the balance in the Unemployment Trust Fund to the credit of Pennsylvania falls below one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less refunds during any twelve consecutive months, the General Assembly authorizes that compensation shall be paid to each eligible employe in the full amount provided for in the "Table Specified for the Determination of Rate and Amount of Benefits" set forth in section 404 of the Unemployment Compensation Law as amended September 29, 1951 (P. L. 1580), even though at the end of the calendar quarter the balance in the Unemployment Trust Fund to the credit of Pennsylvania is less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less any refunds during any consecutive twelve months.

Resolved, That, notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (c) of section 301 of the Unemployment Compensation Law, as amended, fixing the rate of contributions for all employers at two and seven tenths per centum when the balance in the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Fund at the end of a calendar quarter is less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less any refunds during any twelve consecutive months within the last one hundred twenty consecutive months, the General Assembly authorizes that contributions be received from employers entitled to an adjustment according to the schedule of rates provided in subsection (c) of section 301, without regard to whether or not the foregoing contingency has taken place.

Resolved, That the General Assembly pledges that it will enact at its present session appropriate legislation (1) removing the limitation on weekly compensation and total amount payable during a calendar quarter when the balance in the Unemployment Trust Fund to the credit of Pennsylvania falls below one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less refunds during any twelve consecutive months, (2) removing, as of January 1, 1955, the provision for increase of the rate of contributions of all employers to two and seven tenths per centum when the balance in the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Fund falls below one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation, less any refunds during any twelve consecutive months within the last one hundred twenty consecutive months, (3) validating all payments made to employes and all contributions received from employers as authorized by these resolutions, prior to the enactment of legislation providing therefor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not like to legislate in reverse. We know that House Bill No. 120 has been reported to the floor with amendments. Tomorrow, we will have our amendments attempting to restore the bill to somewhat the form in which it came over from the House.

Mr. President, speaking for the Democratic Party, we are here and ready to work. The House of Representatives, as you know, has been working three days a week. The Senate has been working about a day and a half. This, in my opinion, is one of the most important pieces of legislation and time is of the essence.

I would suggest to the Majority side that when the Senate adjourns today, we agree to meet tomorrow and make, if you want, House Bill No. 120 a Special Order of Business. Then we can argue and debate the amendments on both sides of the aisle. We are here to do our job and, as you know, this must be done by April 1. I do not know what the other side has been doing, but we have been studying this unemployment compensation act since the polls closed last November. We are of the opinion that that was one of the major things that caused the defeat of the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am shocked at the effort to dispose of the most important problem facing the people of Pennsylvania with a simple resolution. We might just as well, by this action, take the Constitution and tear it into shreds and throw it out the window.

Mr. President, I think that this body should get down to work, and get this unemployment compensation bill through just as quickly as possible by an act of the Legislature and not by a resolution.

CALENDAR

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 14, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 89, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" by changing the provisions concerning service of notice to taxables upon change of assessments

Section 1 Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 65) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 15 At least thirty (30) days' written notice shall be given to any taxable person whose assessment shall be changed at any triennial assessment or between triennial assessments in a manner which would mean an increase in the taxes on such real estate if the same tax rate should prevail setting forth any change which has been made and the time and place set for hearing objections thereto

Such notice shall be served by the board or any member thereof or by an assessor or by any other person authorized so to do by the board upon said taxable person [if he or she can be found in the county] or may be mailed to him or her by registered mail with return receipt requested or served upon an adult person residing upon the property in question [in case the taxable person cannot be found in th county]

When no service is made upon the taxable person or upon an adult person residing upon the property assessed said notice shall be deemed to have been properly served if tacked or conspicuously posted upon the property assessed and a copy thereof mailed to the last known address of the taxable person

No defect in service of any such notice shall be sufficient ground for setting aside any assessment so made upon proof thereof being made the taxable person shall have the right to a rehearing before the board relative to said assessment and to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas as hereinafter provided

And said bill having ben read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 115, as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 21 1943 (P L 302) entitled as amended "An act providing for the admission of children to and their education and maintenance in and their discharge from the Scotland School for Veterans' Children prohibiting discharging children or taking children from said school or children from leaving the same without an order of the Board of Trustees of the Scotland School for Veterans' Children and prescribing penalties" extending its provisions to children of veterans of armed conflicts

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 1 act of May 21 1943 (P L 302) entitled as amended "An act providing for the admission of children to and their education and maintenance in and their discharge from the Scotland School for Veterans' Children prohibiting discharging children or taking children from said school or children from leaving the same without an order of the Board of Trustees of the Scotland School for Veterans' Children and prescribing penalties" amended May 24 1951 (P L 351) is amended to read

Section 1 The Board of Trustees of the Scotland School for Veterans' Children shall admit to the Scotland School for Veterans' Children under such rules and forms of application as it may adopt children over six (6) and under fourteen (14) years of age of parents who have resided in this Commonwealth for a continuous period of not less than five years immediately prior to application for admission of such children or prior to the death of the last survivor of such parents and one or both of whose parents has served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war or armed conflict in which the United States has been is now or may hereafter be engaged or in any movement or campaign in connection therewith or resulting therefrom and has died in such service or has been honorably discharged therefrom

Preference in admission shall be as follows (1) Children both of whose parents are dead (2) Children whose fathers are dead and whose mother are living (3) Destitute children not being in either of the two foregoing classes

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 92

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 92 just passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. MAHANEY. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Can you tell the Senate why this motion is being made and why the reconsideration is being asked for?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, inadvertently, I was thinking about a meeting that we were going to call, and the last thing that I recall was that we were on the Third Reading Calendar. I was thinking about some things we were going to do after we completed this calendar. Inadvertently, when Senate Bill No. 92 was called up, I neglected requesting that it go over in order. The chief sponsor of the bill, Senator Watkins, is not here, and I think he certainly should be here when this bill is considered on Second Reading.

It was by inadvertence that I did not request that the bill go over in order, and I surely hope that you, after so many years of very nice consideration to all the other Members of the Senate, will not throw any objection to us reconsidering this bill.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly. Of course, as usual, we Democrats are always gentlemen.

Mr. President, I just want to say that one of the sponsors of the bill, I am sure, would not object to it passing because I understand he put it in for that purpose. He certainly would not object if the Senate graciously passed the bill on Second Reading.

However, speaking on the mechanics, Mr. President, I do not think that anything will be gained by putting it back on the Second Reading Calendar, because a decisive vote must be made sooner or later on this piece of legislation. Nevertheless, if the gentleman feels that this action was taken without his being aware of it, there is only one thing we can do and that is to allow him to have his day in court so that he may consider the bill a little longer on the merits, I hope.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, do I understand that my good friend, the Majority Floor Leader, was busy doing other things at the time or was he trying to give us a break?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, can I say "yes" to both?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Say the latter and then I will remove my objection.

Mr. MAHANY. I cannot very well say that, Senator, because it was through inadvertence. I was looking out over the faces of my colleagues here instead of paying attention to business. Frankly, I am going to admit that. I though we were still on the Third Reading of Senate Bill No. 115, and the Presiding Officer has a way of going through this thing so fast that by the time I woke up over here, we had passed Senate Bill No. 92 on Second Reading. Can I confess anything further than that?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, the Majority Leader has been so charitable at different times, I think I will remove my objection.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I think it should be said, in fairness to the understanding which is sought here, that the intention was to make a motion yesterday to recommit this bill to the Committee on Law and Order for the purpose of a public hearing. One of the Republican sponsors of the bill asked that that motion not be made. He asked that the bill be left in its present position. As a matter of courtesy, that was agreed to. However, it was understood by all on this side of the Senate that when an effort would be made to move this bill up, the motion would be made and debated to recommit it. So, there is certainly an understanding, not only implied but I think expressed, that it should stay in its present position until Senator Watkins, who is absent, returns to the Senate before the next move is made, whatever it may be.

Mr. President, I think that is why the Majority Leader was so concerned about the bill staying in the position in which we found it when we went in Session today. It almost has to stay that way under the circumstances, in fairness to all concerned.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would suggest to the other side that they count the Members of the Senate when they have these agreements, and take this half of the Senate into consideration.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have just learned, also, that Senator Watkins, one of the sponsors of this bill, did make a telephone call here today and requested that his good friend, Senator Watson, have the Majority Leader request that this bill go over in order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the horses don't run any faster than we do, there never would be a race anyway.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am a little suspicious that there is a movement on here to hold this bill in front of us. I have received a number of protests to this bill from church groups and I received many letters in favor of it. I was amazed at the propaganda that has been submitted here, I guess, to all of us by church groups. I was amazed that they accuse any person who attends a horse race as being a sinner.

Mr. President, I have attended many a horse race. I have driven horses, owned them and driven them at all the fairs in Pennsylvania. I want to say that I have seen many a church member at those races. I have seen ministers and priests at these horse races.

Mr. President, in this propaganda it is also charged that betting is a sin. I have searched the Bible, and I cannot find where attending a horse race is a sin or that betting is a sin. Every person who takes out an insurance policy makes a bet. Every person who buys a share of stock makes a bet. To be accused in this Senate of being a sinner, just for submitting a bill that allows the people back home to decide whether they want horse racing or not in this State, does not seem very fair.

Mr. President, there are thousands of people who go to see the horses. Most of them do not bet. I have always heard that a child who loves a horse will be a good citizen. If we do not have horse racing in Pennsylvania, a lot of our children will never see a horse.

So, Mr. President, I hope that this bill will not be kept around here to allow propagandists to stir up and make accusations against we Senators on this floor.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I regretted momentarily that I was inadvertent in letting this bill slip by. However, after hearing Senator McGinnis' talk, I am glad we had the opportunity of listening to him. We would not have had that opportunity otherwise.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

And the question recurring, Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 92, Printer's No. 33, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 112, Printer's No. 34, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 242, Printer's No. 43, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 116, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE
